Court DIGEST

MATTHEW BECK/Chronicle
Angela Stanton speaks Monday with Circuit Court Judge Richard "Ric" Howard at her arraignment hearing. She was arraigned on several charges involving inappropriate behavior with youth.

Teacher pleads not guilty to sex charges

Angela Jean Stanton, the Citrus High School substitute teacher accused of performing a lewd act on a student and sending inappropriate photos to him and one other boy, was arraigned Monday.

Stanton, who had posted bail on a $12,000 bond and appeared in court without an attorney, told Circuit Court Judge Richard "Ric" Howard she was in the process of hiring Tavares lawyer Jaimie Spivey.

Stanton, 50, also pleaded not guilty to state-filed charges of lewd and lascivious battery on a person between 12 and 16 years old and two counts of showing obscene material to a minor.

Howard scheduled the Inverness woman's next court hearing for March 12.

Stanton is accused of sending nude Snapchat photos of herself to two boys during the spring and summer of last year.

It's alleged she also performed a sex act on one of the boys at his home when he was 15.

Stanton was hired by the Citrus County School District Jan. 3 as a short-term substitute teacher in Citrus High School's athletics programs.

Stanton was not teaching the boys she's accused of communicating with, but was involved with the high school — prior to her employment there — through other extracurricular activities, Assistant State Attorney Shannon Schlarf said.

If convicted by a jury as charged, Stanton could be sentenced to between just under eight years and 25 years in prison, according to Schlarf.

Schlarf told Howard on Monday she's in the process of filing an additional charge against Stanton for showing obscene material to a minor, bringing Stanton's maximum potential punishment to up to 30 years.

NEWS BRIEFS

Fire damages Inverness home on Sunday

A fire ruined an Inverness home early Sunday morning but spared those inside.

Firefighters with Citrus County Fire Rescue (CCFR) and the Inverness Fire Department were dispatched at 1:22 a.m. to a house off of South Snapp Avenue, where a crew from the Kensington Station arrived to find smoke coming from the building, a CCFR report states.

Responders, including firefighters from stations in the Inverness Highlands and Floral City, were able to confine the blaze to the master bedroom, controlling it at about 1:34 a.m.

A family of three and a pet were able to escape unharmed. No injuries were reported.

Damages made the structure unlivable, and the American Red Cross was called to help assist the family. CCFR is ruling the fire's cause as accidental.

CHS evacuated after 'electrical situation'

Citrus High School was evacuated Monday afternoon after what the Citrus County School District termed in "an electrical situation" in one building on campus. As of Monday afternoon, the Inverness Fire Department was working to determine the cause. No students were harmed during the situation or the event, the district said.

Anyone with questions is urged to call 352-726-2241.

TDC to weigh trailhead at today's meeting

Tourism officials Wednesday will once again debate the feasibility of using $150,000 of bed tax money earmarked for special projects to help pay the remaining cost of a new trailhead at the corner of County Road 486 and Shimmer Terrace.

The Citrus County Tourist Development Council (TDC) tabled discussion at last month's meeting because four of nine members were absent.

County commissioners in December approved spending $449,980 to build the trailhead. The bulk of that will be paid for through $150,000 matching grants from the Florida Department of Environmental Protection and the county.

The trailhead would include bathrooms, pavilion, parking, tables and other amenities.

The TDC meeting starts at 9 a.m. in Room 166 of the Lecanto Government Center, 3600 W. Sovereign Path.

Price of gas takes a 5-cent retreat

What goes up comes down, and that includes gas.

After rising 8 cents two weeks ago, the average price of gas in Florida is down a nickel, to $2.25 a gallon.

"Drivers continue to find gas prices that are well below what they paid this time last year," said Mark Jenkins, spokesman for AAA-The Auto Club Group. "Low oil prices have helped keep gas prices relatively low so far this year. However, prices should bounce higher this spring, as demand climbs and refineries switch to a more expensive-to-produce summer-blend gasoline."

Jenkins said AAA forecasts the national average to peak around $2.75 per gallon by Memorial Day weekend.

Tim Tebow Foundation sponsors event for those with special needs

The 14-year-old had just finished getting her hair styled and was prepping for the Tim Tebow "Night to Shine" event in Ocala. It was Jamie Barnett's night to shine — along with about 100,000 other teens and young adults with special needs all over the world.

Friday was the fifth annual Tim Tebow Foundation's Night to Shine prom event with venues at 655 churches in 25 countries.

Jamie, 14, attended the event at One Life Fellowship in Ocala.

On Friday afternoon, she had her hair and makeup done at Town N Country Beauty Salon in Crystal River, dressed in her hot pink prom dress and posed for pictures.

Her dress, a gift from the Sassy Nannies Red Hat Society group, featured a cap-sleeve lace bodice and net skirt, perfect for twirling.

She also wore silver shoes that sparkled and long white gloves.

"I look cute!" she said when she glimpsed in the mirror. "I'm amazing!"

Jamie's mom, Debbie Thompson, learned about the Night to Shine from her sister-in-law and that the nearest location to Citrus County was Ocala.

"We went to the church and learned more about it, and then on Nov. 1 we sat by the computer to sign up — it fills up right away," she said.

Her neighbor, one of the Sassy Nannies, got the ball rolling for the group to pay for Jamie's dress and also for her hair appointment.

County to consider asking FWC to keep spraying

Citrus could lose hundreds of thousands of dollars to combat aquatic weeds

MIKE WRIGHT
Staff writer

Citrus County commissioners may want the state to pause before it stops funding for the aquatic plant management program.

Commissioners at their meeting Tuesday will discuss whether to send a letter to the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission in opposition to the state's plan because the county would lose hundreds of thousands of dollars in funding to combat weeds that choke navigable waterways.

The item is an addition to the regular agenda because the FWC meets Feb. 21 in Gainesville to discuss the issue.

FWC on Jan. 24 issued a temporary "pause" to aquatic management programs throughout the state. Officials said they wanted to gather input and data from herbicide treatments over the past 12 months.

The pause has an immediate impact on Citrus County's aquatic plant management program, the proposed letter to FWC states. FWC contributes $1.2 million to the county, of which $878,091 is used for

Show a tribute to the music of the '30s and '40s

It was music, music, music with high-stepping class and glitzy glamour out at the Art Center as dad and daughter Flury and c o m p a n y brought us Fran Charnas' "All Night Strut" with its glorious show-stopping music of the '30s and '40s.

Ruth Levins
AROUND THE COMMUNITY

With Danielle Flury-Downey as the music director and dad Richard Flury, tenor; Chris Patti, bass; Tina Pannachione-Alfieri, alto; and Bethann Clinton, soprano; and the fabulous orchestra starring Sharon Beckwith on sax, Jim Eters on clarinet, Shelley Bednarski on sax and clarinet, Ernie Mazurkiewicz and Don Rowe on trumpet, Pat Johnson on trombone, Fred Hilpert as percussionist, Barbara Shellenberger on string bass and director Danielle on piano, it was more than a blast from the past. It was a celebration of the era that brought us time-honored, memory-making music.

It was a glorious time when blues and bebop, jazz and jitterbug took us through the Depression and World War II in elegant style and sophistication. First performed in 1979, the "strut" still draws crowds worldwide with its timeless music of all the show business greats.

What a journey through musical history. In Act I, we heard "Chattanooga Choo Choo" from 1941, composed by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren. Dressed in dazzling black-tie attire, the fabulous four began their "strut" with show-stopping flair.

The 1931 Cab Calloway hit "Minnie the Moocher" followed, with added special effects of a Power-Point depiction of the era added to further place us in that historic time. With exquisite four-part harmony and the orchestra on stage as well, we were brought into the experience of a night on the town gloriously.

From 1930, we heard the Depression-era's "Brother Can You Spare a Dime," by E.Y. Harburg and Jay Gorney, as one of the company journeyed into the audience with his tin cup. Famed "In the Mood" was next, arranged by Joe Garland, a song that graced America's ballrooms. Written in the 1930s, you can count on filling any dance floor when an orchestra plays it.

Next, from 1933, written by Wesley "Socks" Wilson, we heard a wild one, "Gimme a Pigfoot and a Bottle of Beer," and from 1939, the enchanting "A Nightingale Sang on Berkeley-Square," composed by E. Maschwitz and Manning Sherwin, starring Richard Flury.

With exquisite tux and shimmering ball gowns, the World War II medley of 1938-1943 continued to thrill us time and again, with "Give Me Jive" by Johnny Mercer, Phil Moore's "Shoo Shoo Baby," the incomparable war-era "White Cliffs of Dover" by Walter Kent and Nat Burton, "You're a Lucky Fellow" from 1941, the famed "Comin' In On a Wing and A Prayer" by Harold Adamson and Jimmy McHigh, and Frank Loesser's "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition," concluding the first act with 1938's "I'll Be Seeing You."

With nostalgia at its peak, we basked in the show's stunning array of song after song, moment after moment of divine remembrance of movies that have brought the music to us and starred our favorites, bringing fame and fortune to many.

Act II began with soloist Chris Patti singing "Ain't Misbehavin'" — a 1929 hit by Walter Waller, Brooks and Razaf. (Kudos to the choreographers on this set.) Chorus lines to perfection!

We swooned to: "Dream," Johnny Mercer's hit of 1944; "Beat Me Daddy, Eight to the Bar," by Don Raye, a jumping-jiving 1940 hit; the fabulous "Tuxedo Junction," by Erskine Hawkins; and "Jukebox Saturday Night," of 1942, by Al Stillman — all favorites of the bobbysoxers into the 1950. (I recall Friday night dances after the football games at the local Lions Club hall dancing the night away to many of these tunes in my '50s high school days.)

"As Time Goes By," by Herman Hupfield, a 1931 hit, recalled the theme song from Bogart and Bergman's "Casablanca." This night of nights at the Art Center concluded with "Hit That Jive," by Skeets Tolbert and Johnnie Alston, and "It Don't Mean a Thing (If It Ain't Got That Swing)" by famed Duke Ellington.

The whole town is talking about this amazing array of songs that depicts the heartbeat of America that lives on in memory. Thanks, Art Center cast and crew, for bringing us back once more to the wonderful 1930s and 1940s!

COURT

According to the prosecutor, a third boy came forward and told Citrus County Sheriff's Office investigators that Stanton also sent him nude photos.

Schlarf said she would not be seeking a warrant from Howard for Stanton's arrest on the new felony, saying she did not present a flight risk.

Sheriff's detectives arrested Stanton Jan. 23, the same day a Citrus High School administrator reported Stanton to authorities after learning of the allegations the day before. School district officials fired Stanton the day after her arrest.

Alleged yacht thief teeters on five-year prison offer

A Wildwood man accused of stealing a yacht from a Crystal River marina for a trip along Florida's Gulf Coast last May will get another opportunity to end his case.

Brad Jay Ellcey never told Assistant State Attorney Nicole Morris at his Monday court hearing he was rejecting her plea offer to serve five years as a habitual felony offender for his second-degree grand theft charge.

However, Ellcey did ask Morris to agree to a minimal prison sentence, but the prosecutor would not offer anything less for the 37-year-old and nine-time convicted felon.

Judge Howard also took Ellcey's silence as a rejection, and ordered him to return next Monday to start his trial.

If convicted by jurors at his expected one-day trial and found to be a habitual felony offender, Ellcey possibly faces a sentence of up to 30 years, Morris said.

After bailiffs took him away, Ellcey met in the holding cell with his attorney, Rick Dozier, who was able to get Howard to set a final plea-or-set hearing for Wednesday.

Morris said the U.S. Coast Guard apprehended Ellcey last May after boarding the stolen vessel off of Sand Key in Pinellas County. Its owner reported it taken from moorings at Pete's Pier Marina in Crystal River on May 7.

"I wasn't operating the boat at the time," Ellcey told Howard.

Ellcey told authorities boarding the vessel he got permission from the owner, his friend, to take the boat from where it was docked in Homosassa, Morris said, adding the real owner does not know Ellcey.

Man facing unavoidable life sentence

Derrick Joseph Belanger decided at his Monday court hearing to stand trial next week to defend himself against allegations that he invaded his ex-girlfriend's home April 19, before choking her and putting a gun to her head.

If a jury convicts Belanger of burglarizing a dwelling

while armed, and Howard qualifies him as a prison releasee reoffender and habitual felony offender, the judge must sentence the 33-year-old Inverness man to life in prison, according to Assistant State Attorney Kevin Davis.

Belanger also faces charges of possessing a firearm as a convicted felon and domestic battery by strangulation.

He was arrested April 24 on accusations he broke into his ex-girlfriend's Inverness home on the night of April 19, choked her and put a gun to her head before a witness broke up the incident and Belanger ran away, his arrest affidavit states.

Davis said it will take one day to try Belanger's case.

Fundraiser a smashing success

Community comes out for Team HOPE

Special to the Chronicle

The celebrity bartender event for local cancer patient Colleen Washburn Snellings at Burkes of Ireland on Feb. 7 was a great success. Colleen Snellings is battling metastatic breast cancer.

"This was the largest crowd and largest fundraiser that has been held at Burke's in 12 years," said Denise Burke, owner of the Crystal River pub.

The event was hosted by Team Hope and coordinated by team captain Michele Snellings. Team Hope is one of numerous teams that make up Nature Coast Cancer Crusaders, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization in Citrus County helping cancer patients in the community.

Celebrity bartenders for the evening were Dr. Joey Bennett and Dr. Wade Phillips. Their tips alone raised $3,133.54. Music provided by Neil Shaw of Shaw Line Band rocked the house at standing room only. Total proceeds for all donations thus far — an incredible $12,234.85.

Team HOPE volunteers, pictured left to right: Curtis Cleary; Joe Fielding; Michele Snellings, team captain; James Winborne and Keith Ward. The celebrity bartender event raised $12,234.85.

"Team HOPE has set the bar in this community that as cancer fighters we and our amazing volunteers and supporters are unstoppable as we 'Never Give Up HOPE' in the fight against cancer," Michele Snellings said.

"It's all about the cause," she said. "We want to thank all our supporters, family, friends and the community as we support Colleen and make a difference in this cancer fight. Due to such an overwhelming response of support, we will be announcing a second celebrity bartender event, with more details coming soon," she said.

Tell the city about it, and give a neighbor a chance to get some recognition.

Crystal River is now accepting nominations for its new City Beautification Award, which will be presented to a home or business owner each quarter, highlighting the upgrades to their property and thus the community.

This is the city's first phase of its city-wide beautification initiative.

"Nominees may be a business or resident that has made a significant improvement to their property and enhanced the overall appearance and improved the quality of life for the residents of the city," a city news release states. "These improvements may include: complete remodels, property clean-ups, landscaping, painting, etc."

Nominations, including for one's own property, can be sent in by individuals or an organization.

Photos of the property that showcase the improvements must be included in the applications, which are available online, at www.crystalriverfl.org, or for pickup at City Hall, 123 NW U.S. 19, Crystal River.

Two hospitalized following three-vehicle crash last week

BUSTER THOMPSON
Staff writer

Two motorists were hospitalized last Tuesday after a driver made an improper U-turn in front of another vehicle at a State Road 44 intersection near Inverness.

Michael Everett Mead, 54, of Leesburg, veered his blue Kia Sedona around from westbound lanes of S.R. 44 to eastbound lanes of the roadway at about 7:05 p.m. at the intersection with Tighe Drive, according to a recently released

Florida Highway Patrol (FHP) crash report.

Mead's maneuver under a green light put his vehicle in front of a white, eastbound Hyundai Sonata, driven by 17-year-old Serenity Celeste Smith, of Inverness.

According to FHP's report, the Hyundai's front end collided with the right side of the Kia, which then rotated clockwise and came to rest in eastbound lanes of S.R. 44, facing north.

The impact also pushed Smith's Hyundai backward into the front of a green, eastbound Ford Expedition driven by 33-year-old Amber Jean Headley, of Inverness.

Nature Coast EMS transported Mead and

Smith to Citrus Memorial Hospital to be treated for non-incapacitating injuries, FHP's report states.

None of the other five people involved, including a 1-year-old boy, were injured.

FHP cited Mead with making an improper or unsafe U-turn, and did not cite Smith because she was injured in the initial crash.

Rap artists and women take center stage at Grammys

LOS ANGELES — Rap artists and women have felt shunned by the Grammy Awards in recent years. But this year, they both took center stage.

Childish Gambino's disturbing look at race relations, "This is America," won record and song of the year on Sunday's telecast. It was the first time a rap-based song won both of those awards, considered — with album of the year — the recording industry's most prestigious.

Kacey Musgraves won top album and matched Childish Gambino with four Grammys total. A year after many women felt left out of the Grammy telecast, they delivered the night's most memorable performances. The best new artist winner, British singer Dua Lipa, also cast major shade on the outgoing recording academy president.

Lady Gaga and Brandi Carlile won three Grammys apiece, and former first lady Michelle Obama was a surprise guest at the top of the show on CBS.

Childish Gambino, the stage name of actor Donald Glover, and another prominent rap nominee, Kendrick Lamar, both declined invitations to perform or attend Sunday's show. Some rap artists feel the Grammys have been slow to recognize how the genre now dominates popular music.

Ludwig Goransson, a songwriter and producer on "This is America," said backstage that he was surprised the victories were so historic. Just listening to the radio, watching the culture and seeing how many rap songs are downloaded is evidence of rap's impact.

Associated Press

Lady Gaga poses Sunday with her awards for best pop solo performance for "Joanne (Where Do You Think You're Goin'?) and best pop duo/group performance and best song written for visual media for "Shallow" at the 61st annual Grammy Awards at the Staples Center in Los Angeles.

"It's about time something like this happened with the Grammys as well," Goransson said.

Cardi B became the first solo woman to win best rap album, although Lauryn Hill was the lead singer of the Fugees, which won the same award at the 1997 Grammys. Cardi B was so nervous accepting the award that she joked, "Maybe I need to start smoking weed."

She looked anything but rattled earlier, when her rendition of "Money" was among the night's performance highlights. Janelle Monae delivered a smoking version of her hit "Make Me Feel"; St. Vincent and Dua Lipa's duet on "Masseduction" was steamy; H.E.R. turned heads with "Hard Place"; and Carlile sang an inspired version of her hit "The Joke."

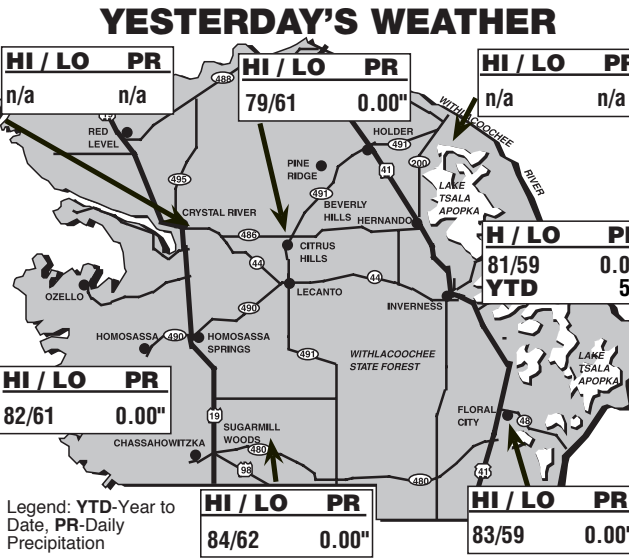

Being part of a big night for women was huge to her, Carlile said backstage after the show. "I'm a kid from the '90s and Lilith Fair, you know, and those women were just dominating those platforms," she said. "They were dominating those arena and amphitheater stages. They were getting record deals. They were becoming record executives themselves. They completely controlled the airwaves. They were on the radio. And to watch that backslide for the last 20 years has been heartbreaking. Tonight, it gives me hope as a mother of two young daughters."

When she accepted her best new artist award, Dua Lipa pointedly said, "I guess this year we really stepped up."

That was a reference to outgoing Recording Academy CEO Neil Portnow, who said women needed to "step up" when he was asked about the lack of women in top categories in 2018. He later acknowledged it was a poor choice of words and delivered another mea culpa on Sunday's show.

made an appearance Friday to see Jamie in her dress.

“Once a year we do something in the community, and when this was presented to us, we liked the idea,” Nasser said.

As Jamie sat in the chair while hairdresser Marian Casteel put the girl’s long hair in an updo, she talked about her big night.

“I’m going dancing,” she said, “and meet new friends.”

She added that at the end of the prom, Tim Tebow, the former University of Florida quarterback and Heisman Trophy winner, would make an appearance via video and say, “You’re all kings and queens!”

“Everyone gets a crown,” she added.

The Night to Shine event, always on the Friday night before Valentine’s Day, is an opportunity for people with special needs to experience a prom, centered on God’s love for them.

Each honored guest is driven to the doors of the church in a limo or other luxury car — Jamie chose to arrive in a Mustang convertible — and then walk the red carpet while paparazzi snap pictures and a cheering crowd welcomes each of them with applause and high fives.

Guests are paired with a volunteer buddy who stays with them the whole time, ensuring they have a good experience, from dinner to dancing and even karaoke.

Parents and guardians have their own area where they, too, are given the royal treatment, Debbie Thompson said, including a complimentary massage.

“It’s so much more than a prom,” Tim Tebow said in a news release.

The idea started years earlier when Tebow was 15. As the son of Christian missionaries, the family had gone to the Philippines, where Tebow met Sherwin, a boy who had been born with his feet on backward. The boy was viewed by the people in the remote village as “cursed” and was treated as an outcast.

“Sherwin impacted my life more than anyone I have ever met,” Tebow said. “It was then that my passion grew to help people. That’s why in 2010, I was so excited to create the Tim Tebow Foundation with a mission to bring faith, hope and love to those needing a brighter day in their darkest hour of need.”

The original idea for a Night to Shine was for one event held at one church, but that first year in 2015, 44 churches in 26 states and three countries hosted the inaugural Night to Shine as 15,000 volunteers came together to honor the 7,000 prom guests.

“The look on Jamie’s face was pure happiness,” Debbie Thompson said in a telephone call Saturday morning. “After we got home, she didn’t go to sleep until after midnight. She kept saying how amazing it was and asking, ‘When’s the next one?’” contractual plant management services.

“These funds have allowed us to not only manage invasive plants like water hyacinths and hydrilla, but to also remove ‘tussocks’ throughout the Tsala Apopka Chain-of-Lakes that not only block navigation, but also pose a flood potential,” the letter states.

Whether the board votes to send the letter is another thing.

Commissioner Brian Coleman, whose agenda the item appears under, said the state should already have the science available to know whether herbicide treatment is a danger to wildlife and humans.

Jeff Kinnard

“I think this issue needs to be decided by science, not political pressure.”

“Even in that year’s time, hydrilla is going to inundate our lakes,” he said. “We’re going backwards.”

Board Chairman Jeff Kinnard, however, said he doesn’t want the county pushing FWC in an area where it does not carry expertise.

“I think this issue needs to be decided by science, not political pressure,” Kinnard said. “I don’t want FWC to make a decision that’s harmful to our surface waters because they got letters from 67 counties to reinstate funding so we can keep spraying.”

Tuesday’s board meeting begins at 1 p.m. in the courthouse, 110 N. Apopka Ave., Inverness.

In Memory of
Rebecca E. Westhall
The Lighthouse

The Lighthouse is now empty,
It wasn't always so.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
The keeper no longer there.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
Its light no longer shines.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
It weathered many a storm.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
But still it stands a symbol of what was.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
Still it sparkles thru the ages.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
How I wish the keeper still there!
The Lighthouse is now empty,
The structure empty and bare.

The Lighthouse is now empty,
A shell of what once was.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
The beautiful light dimmed.
The lighthouse is now empty,
A reminder of what once was.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
How it hurts to see it so.
The Lighthouse is now empty,
Still I love it so!
The Lighthouse is now empty,
How I wish the tide would take me away,
to be with the keeper, back in memories day.

US stock indexes end mixed ahead of US-China trade talks

DAMIAN J. TROISE AND ALEX VEIGA
AP business writers

Wall Street capped a day of mostly listless trading with a mixed finish Monday as gains in industrial companies, banks and energy stocks outweighed losses elsewhere.

Small-company stocks fared better than the rest of the market as investors shifted focus away from the tail end of a relatively strong corporate earnings season and looked ahead to key trade talks between the U.S. and China later this week.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Stephen Mnuchin is leading a delegation set to meet with Chinese officials on Thursday and Friday. The talks are aimed at resolving a trade war that threatens to stunt global economic growth, in part by raising prices on goods for consumers and companies. The situation could get worse when a truce on tariffs expires in early March.

“The problem is, if this trade issue goes on long enough, it will metastasize itself to our economy,” said Sam Stovall, chief investment strategist at CFRA.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average fell 53.22 points, or 0.2 percent, to 25,053.11. The S&P 500 index rose 1.92 points, or 0.1 percent, to 2,709.80. The Nasdaq composite added 9.71 points, or 0.1 percent, to 7,307.90. The Russell 2000 index of smaller-company stocks gained 12.59 points, or 0.8 percent, to 1,518.98. European markets finished higher.

U.S. indexes spent much of the day wavering

INFRASTRUCTURE

Statewide plan makes great sense

New Florida State Senate President Bill Galvano's decision to create an infrastructure committee to design an intermodal plan through the "spine" of the state is good idea.

Galvano, a Republican from Bradenton, has tasked the committee and its chair, Tom Lee, R-Thonotosassa, to develop a timeline and funding mechanism. He said he wants to extend the Suncoast Parkway to the Georgia state line, connect the Florida Turnpike to the Suncoast Parkway and build the Heartland Parkway connecting Polk County to Collier County.

His plans not only include roads but other infrastructure needs like broadband, and water and sewer. He sees it as a strategic vision to plan for population growth and "revitalizing rural communities."

Galvano's plan puts common sense back into the discussion of building roadways. Adding a piece here and there allows critics to pick apart plans and slow progress as they hype the "road to nowhere" mantra. With interconnectivity and additional infrastructure needs planned, its benefits are much more clearly stated.

His support helps reinvigorate the conversation and spurs state leaders to develop and share a vision for Florida's future. Taken individually, each of these road projects has met with opposition. When melded into a statewide intermodal plan, it will be able to shape a more prosperous future for many rural communities that will be better connected to one another and commerce centers. Additionally, it will enhance safety, particularly in the event of a mass evacuation scenario when millions need to move quickly from the path of a hurricane.

Florida is a massive state and continues to experience high population growth. Now is the time to plan for the future.

THE ISSUE:

State Sen. Galvano pushes parkway.

OUR OPINION:

Planning for Florida's future makes sense.

Complain to the business, not Sound Off

I'm calling (about the Jan. 31) Sound Off in reference to the person who said "Shouldn't smoke in some jobs." She's complaining that at the nursing home, the smoking was so bad where her mother is, she had to get out of the room. So instead of complaining to the Chronicle, my question to you is: Did you complain to the administration of the nursing home? I have my mother in a nursing home. When something don't go right or it's out of whack, I stay on top of it and I complain and make sure it's taken care of. So apparently, my first question to you is, did you complain to administration staff? That's my first question. If you didn't, you should try that instead of complaining to the Chronicle first. Then put in your input. And I agree about smokers — I agree entirely — but you need to take responsibility and complain. If your mother's in that facility and if people's not doing their work right, they're getting paid to do a job. I totally agree with you that if they reek of smoke, they should not be allowed to come into the room. But you need to complain to administration and nip it in the bud. That's your responsibility.

Any dog dangerous if you're not careful

I'm calling in response to yesterday's (Jan. 31, page A9, Sound Off about) pit bulls and how they're built. The caller failed to mention that dachshunds and Pomeranians have not only attacked people, they've killed infants. Try to tell those parents that those dogs aren't dangerous. If you kicked it, my dog, he would definitely bite you and I guarantee he would do severe damage. He's 110 pounds of pure muscle. His head and his teeth are bigger than any pit bull I've ever seen and he doesn't like people that he doesn't know. So you can ban and kill all the pit bulls you want, but dogs like mine would still be out there. So it's not the breed; it's the human activity. And he's lucky his buddy's dog was friendly because if it wasn't, that would be provocation enough to get bit. And that's what happens most of the time when people get bit. They do something to provoke the attack — not saying always, but a lot of the time. So don't be misled to think that it's a breed issue or a size issue. It's the interaction between the species.

LETTERS to the Editor

Thanks for your opinion

(Mr. Langevin), you start your "Letter to the Editor" in the Chronicle's Jan. 27 edition with, "I disagree with Mr. Locher's contention with respect to Mr. Fleshman's letter ('Two sides should work together,' Jan. 19, page A8) that we should give more credence to the uneducated in dealing with life's non-theoretical journey."

Please, sir, reread my article. Nowhere did I say/ imply that we should give "more credence" to the "uneducated." Nowhere in my article will you find the word "uneducated." It is my opinion that "education" comes in many forms, a few of which are: preschool through higher education environments, on-the-job training, and even learning through one's own mistakes.

Therefore, when I described people with Ph.D.s in life's non-theoretical journey, I by no means indicated that they were "uneducated." I did write that in my opinion our education system is dominated by liberal-leaning educators and that students spending a long time in our education system will be liberal biased when leaving their educational environment.

I will quote the closing statement from my Jan. 19 article that seemed to offend you: "My only wish is that educated Ph.D.s and Ph.D.s in life's non-theoretical journey could have a meeting of the minds and resolve our country's real life issues."

Hopefully, even you and I, Mr. Langevin, will be able to say we found a way to work together for the betterment of this country and its citizens.

No reproducibility, no science

Chris Cuomo and Don Lemon sneered at President Trump's "stunning climate change" denial. In an "Intro to Meteorology" class it was stated that the problem with macrosystems as compared to microsystems is control of variables and quantifying the variables involved in the process. With physics and chemistry, they can establish control over a limited number of variables and perform tests gaining useful information. With meteorology, or climate, there are too many variables. The objective in meteorology is not to control the climate, but simply to produce useful predictive models.

As an example, scientists know a lot about the biology of agricultural plants. If meteorologists could better predict the weather during the growing season, farmers could optimize the varieties of seeds planted and the application of various inputs to maximize production. As it is, extended forecasts are useful, but not perfect.

Climate should be seen in the same light. We can't control it. We shouldn't even be trying. The issue is how to prepare and adapt to the changing conditions. If the range for growing grains or citrus is shifting, that would be useful information. If the sea levels are rising, that would be useful information. Not because we can stop the sea level from rising, but because we can move out of the way.

Einstein said, "no amount of experimentation can ever prove me right; a single experiment can prove me wrong." Not everything is subject to scientific experimentation. If a variable cannot be isolated and a hypothesis tested, it cannot be proven true or false. Economists understand this. In certain ranges, lowering taxes increases tax receipts. But it doesn't work for 100 percent taxation. At 100 percent taxation, we'd have to surrender every dime earned plus past savings for government largesse.

As Einstein said, an experiment can support a theory but can't prove a theory right. We learn by trial and error, and when our theory proves to be wrong, we devise a better theory. Used to be the sun revolved around Earth, and the proof was the sun rising in the east and setting in the west. Then we learned the earth spinning around the sun causes the illusion of sunrise and sunset.

We are engaged in a process of insanity and it must stop, for the sake of this country and all Americans. It is our responsibility and our duty to future generations that we get this done. No more excuses, no more political talking points; the time has come to accept responsibility as citizens and elected leaders to address this serious issue.

President's speech was a home run

Well the State of the Union was great. I hope the Democrats see what the American people want.

It is not just what they want — we need a wall, like it or not. Too many immigrants are coming into our country. They are draining all of our resources and the schools are overcrowded with the illegals. Enough already — close the door until you have room for them to come to our country legally.

We need to take care of our own Americans and veterans first. ... The president is doing a good job even if you do not like him. It does not matter if you are a Democrat, Republican, or independent. You have to admit President Trump hit it on the exact mark. Just maybe, we can get back the values we once had and lost: Bringing God back into our lives. Only then you will see things change for the better.

Go USA! No socialism/communism — it is the same thing. Seventy and 90 percent taxes and free everything? If it is so good, what happened to Venezuela? It is time for everyone to wake up!

Writer's words powerful testament

What a powerful (guest column) by Sheila Jacobs on Jan. 30 in "Other Voices" (page A8). People often don't think about what happens to an auto-mobile crash victim after the fact. People go through months of medical treatment. Often, injuries cause permanent disabilities. Mental anguish can last a lifetime, especially when someone is killed. I think letters like this should be published more often and shown to the young people in school when they are getting their license.

What do you

Wednesday's Chronicle's little (editorial Jan. 30), "In retrospect, city's tactics were excessive." You think?...

Thank you for a terrific letter

I'm calling Feb. 1, 2019. I'm calling about the letter that John Turi wrote and I'm calling to thank him for the beautiful letter that he wrote that clearly depicts Trump with his positive and negative views. I think it was an extraordinary

Now abolish the other nonsense

Finally, something decent out of government. Our new Governor DeSantis is going to abolish Common Core (front page, Feb. 1). Unbelievable. Now abolish the Department of Education, the IRS, the FBI, the CIA and the DOJ. Abolish all of these alphabet federal agencies and let the states regulate themselves.

Don't answer
those calls

If you receive a phone call on your landline from your landline, the same number Caller ID, do not answer it. It is a scam. We had it before and now they're starting it again. Good luck.

Don't fall for the county's nonsense

So county (commissioners) want another tax for roads. Don't fall for it. For decades, Citrus collected taxes for roads through impact fees from new construction, gas taxes, MSBU taxes and other taxes for infrastructure or roads. When I questioned the commissioners a few years ago as to where the road money went and suggested a state internal audit to find out, I was told that was old history. Meanwhile, the road to nowhere — (County Road) 486 — was expanded with sidewalks, traffic lights, landscaping, etc. Also, the county paid $2 million to Citrus Hills for Ottawa and paved it. Suggest residents contact state attorney's office and ask for an internal audit to track where the road taxes went. Do not vote for any new road taxes.

We have traffic problems

I'm calling Sound Off in reference to the (caller who said they) would like for people to stop complaining about deputies and sheriff, that they can only do so much and that drivers need to take responsibility. Really, lady or sir? You really need to get a life. How many people are really speeding? You say that there's road construction and you're tired of reading about the problem. The problem isn't that people are constantly complaining. Maybe your eyes are shut. Do you see any deputies on the road enforcing the traffic? And I don't want to hear that they're in other areas, because let me tell you, I worked in law enforcement and certain people are assigned to certain areas. And, yes, deputies are assigned to traffic control. It's called traffic control. So, yes, they should be out there. Apparently you must be blind because all you're seeing is people complaining about the sheriff's deputies. Now apparently there's more than many, many people complaining about this. So we're not blind and we're not stupid. I think you should take that word out. Maybe you might be blind because you just happen to love the sheriff's department. ... But the point is that there's numerous people complaining about the speeding. Look at the accidents. Well, when Sheriff Dawsy was here, we didn't have these issues. So stop making excuses for the sheriff's department and accept the fact that they are not doing their job and that is the bottom line. You made a statement that there's a lot of traffic out there. So don't you think that if there's a lot of traffic out there, that traffic should be monitored by a deputy? ... The point is — and you said it yourself — there's lots of traffic out there. The bottom line is, it should be monitored. You don't need to be blind or stupid for that. So I think you need to open your eyes and take a serious look because we have numerous people complaining in Citrus County.

Man's crime was heartbreaking

I would like to say how outraged I am at a judge for giving a man 10 days because he attacked a partially blind and mentally disabled man and threw him on the pavement and kicked him down and he gets 10 days in jail ("Homosassa man jailed for 10 days after Minion attack," Feb. 1, page A1). He should have got at least five years for that and I would say that if my own family did something like that. That is horrible and despicable and something needs to be done about that. If that was that judge's son, if that was that judge's brother, they wouldn't be giving him 10 days in jail. You can take my word for that. You know people that look down on those unimportant to them. It's a shame. We're not to have respect of those persons. This is awful. That made me want to cry for that man. I have a disabled grandson that was born with cerebral palsy, in a wheelchair, and I could imagine this cruel man picking him up out of his wheelchair and throwing him down on the pavement and kicking him while he's down. My grandson is legally blind, can't read, is partially paralyzed and kept at home by a loving mom and dad. I don't know what to say anymore. This hurts your heart. Thank you for letting me Sound Off.

Customer service is a lost art

Banks are getting worse and worse for customer service. You stand and wait in line with only one teller. Don't they have no customer relations no more? I guess they don't care. Just all about money.

Hot Corner: STAMP PRICES

■ On Jan. 31's issue of the Chronicle's front page, there's a story about "County residents react to record stamp price hike," and apparently there is an individual, you know, who was upset that she's going to mail 175 invitations and with the large jump in the stamp prices, my gosh, I guess it's going to really break the bank for her. The stamp prices went up from 50 cents to 55 cents. The jump has been announced, or was announced for literally months, all over the place. ... The stamp increase is going to cost her, for 175 invitations, she's going to end up paying $8.75 more than she would have paid. You also have to start thinking about those postal employees. You know, as everything goes up, they need to get a pay raise, too. And the equipment maintenance and all of that goes up. Nothing stays the same. A 5 cent increase on stamps is a very, very reasonable jump. I think that as far as I'm concerned, it's funny. That's all I can think of. It's really ridiculous.

■ I was reading in your paper this morning about the Postal Service being, as always, in the hole. The have a deficit of $3.9 billion. Isn't it funny how anything associated with the government cannot make money? It's sad. They need to close their doors and let the real mail service take over.

■ (The) post office raised the stamps 5 cents more. If they raised it 50 cents more, it wouldn't change the lousy service that we've been getting from the post office. ... Never know from one day or another whether or not we're going to get our mail, what time we're going to get it. ... (It) comes anywhere between 1 o'clock and 6 o'clock. There's no consistency whatsoever. Ten years prior, we had no problems. Now they raised the stamps and the postal service is down. As always, the government raises (prices) and we get nothing in return. People (have) got to walk into the Le-canto post office. Someone has to do something and straighten this mess out. It's been like this for years.

INVERNESS — Drivers from across the country got their first taste of race competition at the Little Gator Motorsports U.S. Legends Cars Winter Nationals at Citrus County Speedway on Monday. Over 140 drivers competed in the days' events that included seven different divisions throughout nine races.

It was estimated that nearly 260 spectators came out to watch the action.

Day two of the Little Gator Motorsports U.S. Legends Cars Winter Nationals has been moved to Wednesday, due to inclement weather that has been forecasted in the area throughout today.

cut short after Janson Marchbanks and Tommy Good forced the last and final caution of the 25-lap event.

Marchbanks and Good had battled for several laps before Marchbanks was able to take the lead with Good on the low side as the pair came to the start-finish line on lap No. 16. Good drifted high into the left rear tire of Marchbanks' No. 10 race car and forced him into the frontstretch wall.

The incident put both drivers to the rear of the lead lap for their part and Tyler Chapman was handed the win.

"I saw the bottom car turn up into the top side car," Chapman said of the incident.

Rounding out the top five were Cameron Bolin in second, Sam Butler third, Landon Rapp fourth and Aaron Mulrooney Jr. fifth.

Hunter Wright took the Semi Pro wire-to-wire to win the event uncontested.

"We had a pretty good start," Wright said from victory lane. "We'd been

District 6A-7 BOYS BASKETBALL QUARTERFINALS

On to the semis

MATT PFIFFNER/Chronicle

Crystal River's Daunte Gunter (24) drives to the basket for a score and is fouled by Weeki Wachee's Michael McMurray on the play. The Pirates advanced to Wednesday night's District 6A-7 semifinals with a 68-46 quarterfinal victory Monday at Crystal River High School.

Crystal River takes care of Weeki Wachee in district tourney opener

MATT PFIFFNER
Sports editor

CRYSTAL RIVER — It wasn't always pretty, but in the end, it was the result the Crystal River boys basketball team wanted.

The Pirates hosted Weeki Wachee in the quarterfinals of the District 6A-7 tournament on Monday and sent the Hornets home for the season with a 68-46 defeat.

The second-seeded Pirates (20-6) raced out to a 10-0 lead less than four minutes into the game and never led by fewer than eight points the rest of the way against the Hornets (2-23), who didn't beat a district opponent this season.

Crystal River gets Tuesday night off as the other two quarterfinals are contested at Lecanto High School. The Pirates will face either Citrus or Hernando in the semifinals on Wednesday at 6 p.m.

"It's a great thing, we get a chance to go over and scout. We get a night off. We've played a lot of games toward the end of the year," Crystal River coach Jim Ervin said.

A trio of Pirates — Daniel Nesby, Cayden Gunter and Ryan Helmdach — drilled 3-pointers in the opening period to help the Pirates build a 20-8 lead after one quarter.

Steven Thompson hit a pair of corner triples midway through the second period as the Pirate lead grew to 28-11 and a Daunte Gunter drive to the basket near the end of the half gave Crystal River a commanding 35-14 lead at the break.

The Crystal River lead grew to 23 early in the second half on a Cayden Gunter 3-pointer. A Vincent Post drive and dunk later in the third seemed to put the Hornets away.

But Weeki Wachee caught fire from behind the 3-point arc — 10 of its final 13 baskets of the game were triples — to keep the game interesting. Bryon Recente hit six 3-pointers alone in the second half and finished with a game-high 20 points.

The Hornets got to within 13 early in the fourth quarter, but the Pirates were too much down the stretch and coasted to the postseason victory.

"We just could never get in a flow in the second half. I subbed early and often in the second quarter and in the third quarter also. We never got in the

Mickelson wins Pebble Beach again

DOUG FERGUSON

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. — Phil Mickelson is closing in on three decades on the PGA Tour and a half-century on Earth, and he still feels his best golf is good enough.

He was at his best at Pebble Beach, and no one had a chance.

A Monday finish brought on by rain and a freak hail storm was only a minor inconvenience for the 48-year-old Mickelson. He played two holes just as well as the previous 16 and polished off his bogey-free final round with one last birdie for a 7-under 65 and a three-shot victory over Paul Casey in the AT&T Pebble Beach Pro-Am.

Mickelson won at Pebble Beach for the fifth time, matching the record set by Mark O'Meara. He has gone 28 years since his first PGA Tour victory and his 44th, and he joined Tiger Woods as the only players to surpass $90 million in career earnings.

"It's a lot more work and effort to play at this level," Mickelson said. "And I have believed for some time that if I play at my best, it will be good enough to win tournaments. The challenge is getting myself to play my best. It's a lot more work off the course, it's more time in the gym, it's more time eating, it's more time focusing, it's all these things that go into it."

"And so it's gratifying to see the results and to finish it off the way I did."

Making it even more special is Pebble Beach, where he made his pro debut at the U.S. Open in 1992, where he won the first of his five titles in another Monday finish in 1998, this one in August because of rain. It's where his grandfather, Al Santos, was among the first caddies when the course opened in 1919, and Mickelson still uses as a marker the 1900 silver dollar his grandfather kept in his pocket to remind him he was not poor.

There was plenty of sunlight for the Monday morning finish, just no drama.

Mickelson, who started the final round three shots behind, never came close to a bogey and built a three-shot lead through 16 holes on Sunday night when it was too dark to finish, no matter how hard he lobbied to keep going.

The final round Sunday had been delayed at the start by one hour because of rain, and then sunshine quickly gave way to hail that covered the greens in a sheet of white and led to a two-hour delay.

Mickelson said he could "see just fine" even after sunset,

Knicks lose 17th in a row

Third-quarter run helps Pistons to win over Wizards

Associated Press

CLEVELAND — Collin Sexton scored 20 points and the Cleveland Cavaliers held off a late rally and sent the New York Knicks to their franchise-record 17th straight loss, 107-104 on Monday night.

Sexton hit two free throws with 17 seconds remaining to put Cleveland up by three. John Jenkins missed a 3-pointer from the right corner, but Dennis Smith Jr. grabbed the rebound and dribbled to the corner. He also missed a 3-pointer and Larry Nance tapped the rebound to midcourt as time ran out.

Nance and Jordan Clarkson each scored 15 points. Kevin Love had 14 points and nine rebounds in his second game since returning from foot surgery. The All-Star forward played 16 minutes, all in the first half. Love was 4 of 10 from the field, including two 3-pointers, and had nine rebounds.

Kadeem Allen scored a career-high 25 points for the Knicks. New York (10-46) has the worst record in the league, and has lost 25 of 26 and 30 of its last 32 games.

Pistons 121, Wizards 112

DETROIT — Andre Drummond had 32 points and 17 rebounds, and the Detroit Pistons extended their winning streak to four with a 121-112 victory over the Washington Wizards.

Blake Griffin had 20 of his 31 points in the first half for the Pistons, who haven't lost since blowing a 25-point lead in a home defeat against the Los Angeles Clippers on Feb. 2. Detroit began Monday tied with Miami for the last playoff spot in the Eastern Conference.

Bradley Beal had 32 points and 10 assists for the Wizards.

Pacers 99, Hornets 90

INDIANAPOLIS — Myles Turner scored 16 points and Thaddeus Young added 11 points and eight rebounds to help the Indiana Pacers hold on for a 99-90 victory over the Charlotte Hornets.

The Pacers have won six straight — all without two-time All-Star guard Victor Oladipo, who will miss the rest of the season with an injured right knee.

Kemba Walker scored 26 of his 34 points in the second half when the Hornets stormed back from a 16-point halftime deficit. Jeremy Lamb added 21, but it wasn't enough to prevent Charlotte from losing for the third time in four games.

Raptors 127, Nets 125

TORONTO — Kawhi Leonard banked home the tiebreaking basket with 4.2 seconds remaining and the Toronto Raptors edged the Brooklyn Nets 127-125.

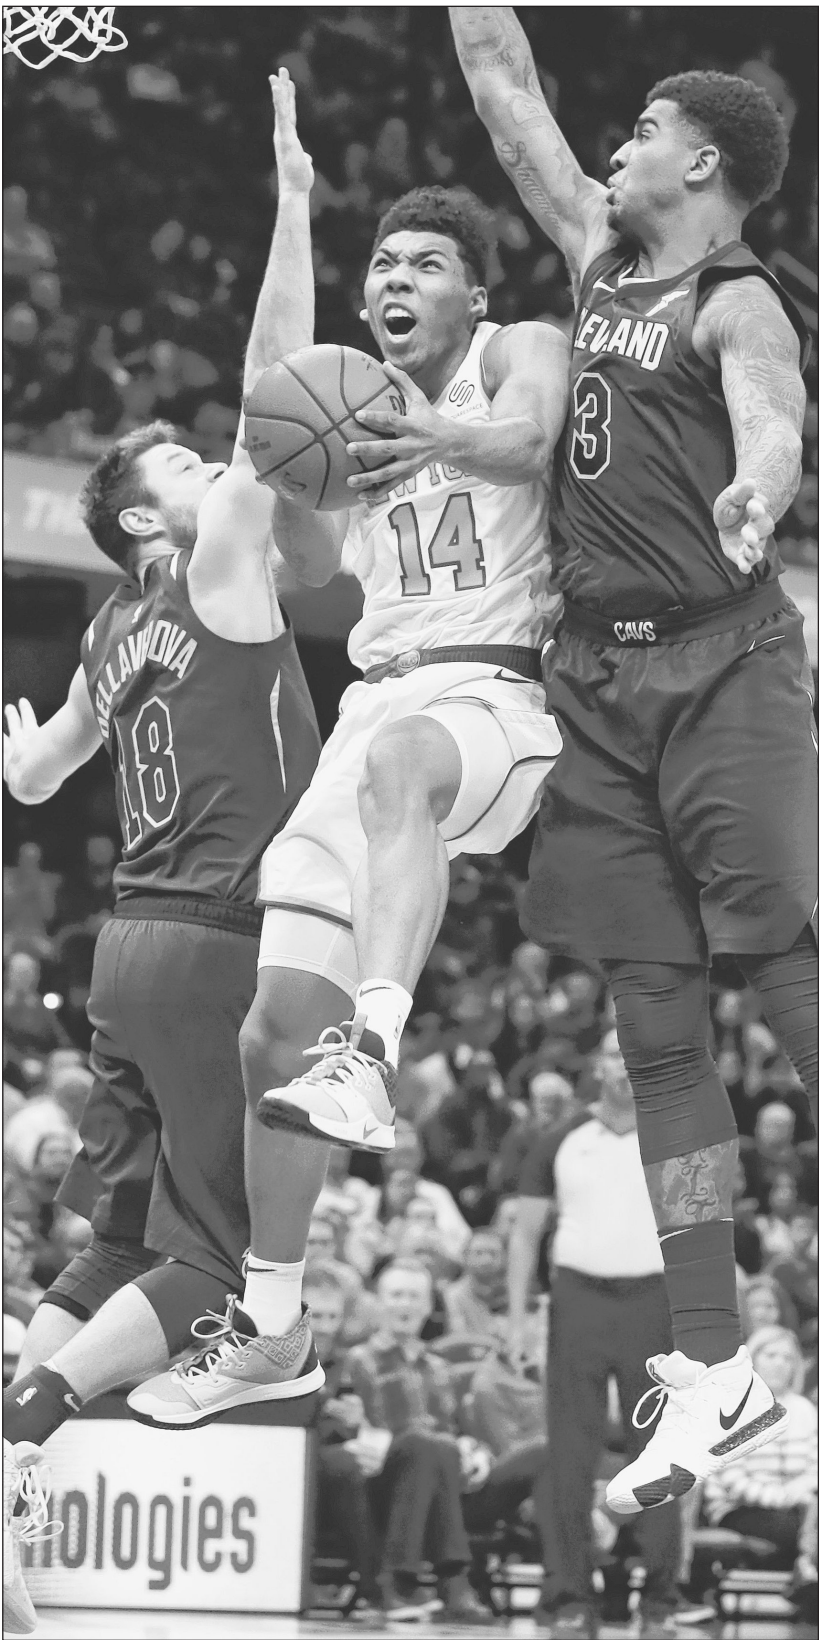

Leonard scored 30 points, Serge Ibaka had 18 points and 12 rebounds and Pascal Siakam scored 17 for the Raptors, who have won eight straight home meetings with the Nets.

Raptors center Marc Gasol scored 16 points, 11 in the fourth quarter, in his home debut after being acquired in last Thursday's trade with Memphis.

D'Angelo Russell scored 28 points and had a career-high 15 assists for Brooklyn. Joe Harris scored 24 points and made a career-best seven 3-pointers, but the Nets lost for the fifth time in six games.

Rockets 120, Mavericks 104

HOUSTON — James Harden scored 31 points for his 30th straight 30-point game despite dealing with a shoulder injury, leading the Houston Rockets to a 120-104 victory over the Dallas Mavericks.

New York's Allonzo Trier (14) drives to the basket Monday between Cleveland's Matthew Dellavedova (18) and Marquese Chriss (3) in the second half in Cleveland. The Cavaliers won 107-104.

Harden, who had eight rebounds and seven assists, seemed to be a bit slowed early by the strained left shoulder that he injured on Saturday against Oklahoma City, making just one of his first seven shots. But he warmed up after that and finished 9 of 23, capped by his sixth 3-pointer with less than a minute left to put him over 30 and keep the streak going.

He's now just one game from tying Wilt Chamberlain for the second-longest streak of 30-point games in NBA history. Chamberlain also holds the top 30-point game streak with 65 in a row.

Luka Doncic had 21 points, 10 rebounds and eight assists for the Mavericks.

Bucks 112, Bulls 99

CHICAGO — Giannis Antetokounmpo scored 29 points and had 17 rebounds, Eric Bledsoe added 19 points and the Milwaukee Bucks outlasted the pesky Chicago Bulls 112-99.

Malcolm Brogdon added 17 points and Khris Middleton had 16 to help league-leading Milwaukee win for the seventh time in eight games and improve to 13-2 over its last 15.

Antetokounmpo recorded his 39th double-double of the season in his return after sitting out his fourth game of the season Saturday, against Orlando in Milwaukee, due to right knee soreness. The Bucks had their lowest scoring output of the season in that one as their six-game winning streak ended in a 103-83 loss to the Magic.

Zach LaVine finished with 27 points after scoring 17 in the first half, and Lauri Markkanen had 20 points and 17 rebounds to help Chicago stay close until the end.

Thunder 120, Trail Blazers 111

OKLAHOMA CITY — Russell Westbrook set an NBA record with his 10th straight triple-double, Paul George scored 47 points, and the Oklahoma City Thunder beat the Portland Trail Blazers 120-111.

Westbrook broke a tie with Wilt Chamberlain, who had nine straight triple-doubles in 1968, by finishing with 21 points, 14 rebounds and 11 assists.

George had 12 rebounds and 10 assists for the third triple-double of his career.

Damian Lillard scored 31 points and Jake Layman added 17 for Portland.

Timberwolves 130, Clippers 120

MINNEAPOLIS — Derrick Rose and Jeff Teague gave a beleaguered backcourt a needed boost and lifted the Minnesota Timberwolves to a 130-120 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers.

Rose scored 22 points and Teague added 19 for the Timberwolves, who played without the ill Andrew Wiggins. Rose and Teague both have missed significant time with injuries recently.

Lou Williams scored a season-high 45 points off the bench for the Clippers, making a season-best 16 free throws.

knowing darkness falls quickly on the Monterey Peninsula. Casey could barely see the 3 feet of grass between his ball and the cup on the 16th hole and said there was no way to complete two holes in six minutes. Mickelson was on the 17th tee, shaking his head when he heard the siren to stop play.

On Monday morning, he had a change of heart and said he thanked Casey for standing his ground.

“Paul made the tough call, but it was the right decision in that he protected himself and myself for the competition,” Mickelson said. “I just get in my own little bubble and I don’t see the big picture.”

It worked out well in the end. Mickelson finished at 19-under 268. Casey needed Mickelson to make a big blunder on the two closing holes, and there was little chance of that. Casey at least birdied the 18th for a 71 to finish alone in second, the difference of $152,000.

Report card on cancer

Cancer is one of the most dreaded diseases. In 1971, President Nixon declared war on cancer and created the National Cancer Institute. The question is: What did we accomplish since then?

Mortality rates from the most common cancers continue to decline across the United States, with several notable exceptions, including liver cancer and also uterine cancer in women. These findings come from the latest American Cancer Society annual report on cancer rates and trends, "Cancer Statistics 2019."

The report was published online Jan. 8 in "CA: A Cancer Journal for Clinicians." Overall cancer death rates dropped by 27 percent in the 25 years from 1991 to 2016. Most cancer deaths are from lung cancer; colon cancer and prostate cancer in men and breast cancer in women. Lung cancer alone accounts for a quarter of cancer deaths in the U.S. and this is highly uncommon if you do not smoke.

The incidence of lung cancer continues to decline twice as quickly among men than among women, a reflection of an uptick in smoking by women in some birth cohorts. The death rate for lung cancer dropped by 48 percent from 1990 to 2016 among men and by 23 percent from 2002 to 2016 among women. The decline in lung cancer deaths accelerated among both sexes in recent years.

Death rates for other common cancers, like breast, colon and rectum and prostate cancers, are declining by almost 40-50 percent.

The rate of liver cancer is increasing. This is disturbing because risk factors for liver cancer, which include obesity, excess alcohol consumption, smoking and hepatitis B and C infection, are all potentially modifiable. This liver cancer mainly affects baby boomers, and hepatitis C is a major culprit. Every baby boomer must get checked for hepatitis C and if you have it, the modern treatment is very easy.

For all stages of cancer combined, survival is highest for prostate cancer (98 percent), melanoma of the skin (92 percent), and female breast cancer (90 percent). In contrast, five-year survival rates are lowest for pancreatic cancer, at 9 percent; liver cancer, at 18 percent; and esophageal cancer and lung cancer, at 19 percent.

In general, we are winning the war on cancer. More therapies are being available, and more patients are surviving cancers than ever before. More advances in cancers are happening every day. We need to work harder on cancers with lower cure rates.

Toenail shape can create issues

Thin, flat toenails rarely cause issues if the nails are trimmed straight across or following the margin of the end of the nail across its entire width. Thick or curving nails can create pressure issues resulting in discomfort or pain. Curved nails can increase pressure to the nail margin, causing irritation and resulting in inflammation or reactive thickening of the skin, leading to a painful callus or corn. This is not a true "ingrown" toenail, but it can feel the same as pressure is the culprit. A true ingrown toenail results in an injury to the skin in the nail margin.

This only happens in one of three ways: inappropriate trimming, trauma or inherited characteristics. Toenails do change shape and consistency in life as inherited characteristics.

Dr. David Raynor
FORWARD

Ingrown toenails can be quite painful, as the nail acts as a dirty knife that advances forward and deeper daily with nail growth.

Removal of the ingrown portion of the nail is necessary for relief. Decreasing pressure in the nail fold can be achieved by skilled trimming with professional tools, but many times local anesthesia to the affected toe is necessary for patient comfort and anxiety. This requires injections to the toe, as there are no topical or "spray" options.

The side portion of the nail causing the issue can be removed either temporarily or permanently, depending on patient choice and medical history. Only rarely does the entire nail need to be removed.

There is no way to "train" the toenail to grow differently with a particular trimming method, wedging material into the nail fold or applying "Outgrow"-type products to the area.

Tooth might be saved

I met up with some good friends on a recent weekend.

Our friendship goes back to the days when Frankie and Anthony were in high school, about seven years ago.

Back then, Gary was told he had to have one of his two front teeth out and an implant placed. When I asked him why, he said some sort of re-sorption was going on.

I immediately told him to get a second opinion with the endodontist I use. Because he did not want to lose his front tooth, he listened to me and went to my referral suggestion.

After consultation, he was told that there was a very good chance he could save his tooth from removal with some endodontic (root canal) treatment that included surgery.

Needless to say, he went ahead with this suggestion and had a great result.

The reason I bring this story up is that today, seven years later, he still has his own tooth with zero problems.

As I have said in the past, even though I have been working with implants for the past 25 years, I always prefer to save a patient's God-given tooth rather than commit them to an implant.

Of course, there are always exceptions that need to be taken into account on a one-on-one basis.

Along the same lines of this story, I just cemented a post and crown in a new patient of mine who was told the same thing—she needed to have her front tooth removed and either an implant placed or a bridge made.

In seeking out a second opinion, we came up with a plan that involved doing a root canal on the tooth, followed by preparing the tooth for a custom cast post and a crown.

I just cemented the post and crown this week and it turned out beautifully.

The moral of the story: An implant is not always the only way to handle a tooth that has been deemed unsalvageable.

It is my opinion that implants are an awesome way to replace one's missing tooth or teeth, but not before you have had a conversation with your dentist to be sure there is not another way to address the situation. Only after being fully informed of your options should you make a decision as critical as removing a tooth.

PATH TO WELLNESS

Learn about healing art of qigong, improve health

SHARON ANDERSON
For the Chronicle

In an effort to introduce qigong to more Citrus county residents, certified flowing zen qigong instructors Anne Young and Vickie Caligore invite anyone who's interested to attend an introductory workshop on the first Tuesday of any month and give it a whirl.

"Anne and I are eager to share qigong with the community," said Caligore. The hour-long classes are held at 10 a.m. every Tuesday at Unity of Citrus County, 2628 W.

Woodview Lane in Lecanto. The first-Tuesday introductory classes began in February and will continue indefinitely, she said.

"This first-Tuesday introduction is a prerequisite for weekly class attendance," according to a flyer from the instructors. "They will teach you all you need to know to begin your own path to better health, more energy and deeper relaxation."

"We will present the basics you need to join the weekly classes," Young explained. "Thereafter, you are welcome to join the ongoing Tuesday qigong classes."

"Qigong is an ancient Chinese healing art that harmonizes your qi (pronounced chee), or vital energy," said Young. It "is the grandmother of tai chi because it is much older and easier to do," she said.

Love that lasts: A nurse's recollection

It was a busy morning at the clinic, about 8 a.m., when a gentleman in his 80s arrived to have stitches removed from his thumb. He said he was in a hurry, as he had an appointment at 9.

I took his vital signs and had him take a seat, knowing it would be quite some time before someone would be able to see him. I saw him looking at his watch and decided, since I was not busy with another patient, I would evaluate his wound.

On exam, his cut was well healed, so I talked to one of the doctors, got the needed supplies to remove his sutures and redress his wound. While finalizing the task, I asked him if he had another doctor's appointment this morning, as he was in such a hurry.

The gentleman told me no, that he needed to go to the nursing home to eat breakfast with his wife.

As we talked, I asked if she would be upset if he was a bit late. He replied that she no longer knew who he was, and that she has not recognized him for more than three years now.

I was surprised and asked him, "And you still go every morning to be with her for breakfast even though she doesn't know who you are?" He smiled and patted my hand and, looking deeply into my eyes,

Jack Levine
4GENERATIONS INSTITUTE

said "While she doesn't know me, I still know who she is."

"Some 55 years ago we both pledged our love would last for better or worse. She doesn't remember that special wedding day, but I guess it's up to me to remember for the both of us."

I held back my tears until he walked away in his slow but determined gait, but as soon as he turned the corner, I cried with joy. That, I thought, is the kind of love we all want in our lives.

True love is not simply a feeling, it's a commitment. Love is not what we think of another person, it's how we act and what we do to make it real.

RAYNOR

Urban legends regarding toenails and treatments abound, but the only way to change the shape of the nail plate is to destroy the portion of the matrix or “root” of the nail creating the issue, be it pressure against the skin or a true ingrown toenail. Chemical matrixectomies are generally the standard for permanent toenail removal. Matrixectomies use either acids or bases to chemically denature the matrix so that the nail will not grow back on that side. They are less painful, have a higher success rate, have a lower postoperative infection rate and allow for normal bathing and shoe wear the next day. The tradeoff is they drain quite a bit while healing requiring daily cleansing and simple wound care and take a month or more to fully heal. Toenail discomfort can be a nuisance at minimum, but simple treatment can usually provide satisfactory results. There are options for temporary removal of ingrown toenails or permanent removal for repeat ingrown toenails or painful curved nails. Removing only the offending affected side(s) of the toenail is typically done, so the aesthetics of the nail are not greatly affected.

It’s also “faster to learn than tai chi and easier to do than yoga,” according to the flyer. “A part of traditional Chinese medicine and a cousin of acupuncture, qigong reduces stress, dissolves chronic fatigue and combines flowing movements, gentle breathing and mindfulness,” Young said. “People have had tremendous results from practicing qigong. Some examples include healing from major depression, back pain, anxiety attacks and balance issues,” she added. “Qigong is also great for people who are not athletic or have some limits to mobility,” the flyer reads. “Its form of meditative and expressive movements deepen relaxation, improve health and increase energy.” Participants pay a $5 donation per class, part of which the instructors donate to the church, Caligore said. After becoming certified flowing zen qigong instructors, the duo began co-teaching about three years ago in Citrus

County, Caligore said. They have also been volunteering to provide free qigong classes for medically approved veterans at the Lecanto VA Clinic, located across the street from Unity of Citrus, she said. Those one-hour classes start at 11:45 a.m. and are held on the second, fourth and fifth Tuesdays of the month, she said. For more information about qigong sessions, call Caligore at 352-382-0605.

Annie offers advice

Dear Annie: I have been married for 25 years. My husband grew up in a foreign country and has been drinking alcohol his whole life. He drinks beer the way I drink water. He is in the restaurant business and must be able to recommend wine to his customers, so giving up alcohol is not an option. The problem is that once in a while when he gets home, I will seriously question whether he should have driven home. We have been arguing over this forever. I used to argue he needed to stop drinking. Now I just say he should not drive home if he has had too much. My begging has not made a difference. I have explained that if he were to hurt himself or someone else, I would feel guilty that I did not do more to stop him.

Get up, get moving with Kings Bay Walking Club

Special to the Chronicle

The Kings Bay Walking Club gets residents moving and educates them on how to improve their physical, social, intellectual, emotional and environmental wellness.

The club will meet, walk, talk, share and build a cohesive wellness culture every Saturday morning at 7:30 a.m. Walkers of all abilities and ages are invited to join this free club. The group will be lead by Crystal River resident and certified medical exercise specialist and orthopedic exercise specialist Bill Coyle. Every week, he will lead an energetic, interactive and informative walk along the streets and sidewalks of the King's Bay area. Each walk will be 60 minutes in duration and modified routes will be available for beginner and slower walkers.

Well-behaved dogs on leashes and children in strollers are also welcome.

This will be an opportunity to improve personal/family wellness and connect with people in the community. Only heavy rain will cancel the group walk.

The group meets in the public parking lot across from Vintage on 5th (corner of NE First Avenue and NE Fifth Street).

For more information, text or call Bill Coyle at 201-281-4444.

HEALTH NOTES

YMCA to host bereavement group

The Citrus Memorial Health Foundation YMCA will host an ongoing bereavement group on Wednesdays at 10 a.m. This group is open to the public.

The death of a loved one is perhaps the hardest thing we have to go through in life. You do not have to walk this journey alone. The group is facilitated by Susan B. Quenelle, M.Ed., grief specialist with Friends of Citrus and the Nature Coast. Join us to receive professional support, share your story and meet others going through the same journey.

Therapeutic music session at the Y

The public is invited to join certified music practitioner Adele Jacobson, on Tuesday, Feb. 12, at 11 a.m. in the Healthy Living Center of the YMCA. Jacobson is trained in the delivery of therapeutic music bedside to critically ill, cognitively impaired or dying patients.

Therapeutic music is live music played one-on-one with patients. Scientific research and evidence demonstrate that music can reduce the amounts of pain and anti-anxiety medication needed in patients. It has also been shown that music speeds healing after surgery, and that therapeutic music can boost the immune system. Join us to learn more about this fascinating subject.
