Fina Selected Third Circuit Chief Judge

David W. Fina

Circuit Judge David W. Fina has been selected as the next chief judge of the Third Judicial Circuit. He was elected to the post by his fellow Third Circuit judges, and he will replace the current chief judge, Circuit Judge E. Vernon Douglas, when Douglas' 2-year term expires on June 30. This will be Fina's first term as chief judge.

Fina was admitted to the Florida Bar in March 1984 and he spent more than 20 years as a Third Circuit assistant state attorney. In March 2005, he was appointed to the bench by Governor Jeb Bush to replace retiring Circuit Judge Thomas J. Kennon, Jr. His judicial assignments have included felony cases in Columbia County, felony and civil cases in Suwannee County, and civil cases in Madison County.

As chief judge, Fina will be responsible for the administration and supervision of the courts and ensuring timely disposition of cases within the Circuit. Fina's office will remain in Live Oak at the Suwannee County Courthouse.

"It's a true privilege to serve the people of the Third Judicial Circuit as their next chief judge," said Fina. "I am honored to be selected by the judges of our county and circuit courts. We are facing challenging economic conditions combined with ever increasing court dockets. My goal is to ensure access to justice for our citizens and members of the (Florida) Bar. I look forward to working with the clerks of court and others in our judicial system in an effort to obtain the best, most efficient, and effective judicial branch of government."

The Third Judicial Circuit serves the people of Columbia, Dixie, Hamilton, Lafayette, Madison, Suwannee and Taylor counties.

Woman Arrested For Battering Law Officer

By Jacob Bemby
Greene Publishing, Inc.

A Greenville woman was arrested for battery on a law enforcement officer and for stealing a beer on Thursday, June 16.

According to a Madison County Sheriff's Office report, Deputy Kevin Odom responded to a report at a theft at H&R Grocery in Greenville. When Odom arrived, he spoke with Bashu Kundanbhai Patel, the store's owner.

Patel told Odom that Amanda Sue Mathis, who had an active trespass warning for the store, entered the business and grabbed a Natural Light beer can out of a round cooler inside the store and walked out.

Patel stated that he yelled for Mathis to pay for the beer as she walked out, but she refused.

While Odom was searching for Mathis, he ran into one of her cousins and told the cousin that he needed to speak to Mathis about stealing a beer.

Amanda Mathis

referring to a case that Odom had worked a couple of years prior where Mathis attempted to serve a warrant on Mathis and Mathis fought him. On that occasion, Mathis hit, kicked, scratched and attempted to bite Odom.

A short time after Odom spoke with the relative, he was notified by dispatch that Mathis was walking on Main Street in Greenville. Odom noticed that she was holding what appeared to be a beer can.

When Mathis saw Odom, she immediately threw the can in the roadway and stepped on the side of the

"She probably high. You know how she get when she's on that mess," the relative said.

Odom advised Mathis' relative that all he had on Mathis this time was petit charges, but if Mathis acted up, he was going to charge her.

The relative replied, "'Yeah. She could act up like she did last time,"

Celebrate Freedom In Madison County On July 4

By Bryant Thigpen
Greene Publishing, Inc.

"One Nation Under God, I Love This Land," is a line from a song by Gold City titled "I Love This Land," that sums up Fourth of July celebrations. Americans gather for family cookouts and firework displays to honor and celebrate freedom. Freedom did not come easy, it has taken the lives of many soldiers, and because of their sacrifice, America celebrates Independence with appreciation. The event is titled God and Country: Fourth of July Celebration.

On Saturday, July 4, fireworks will be displayed at dark around 9 p.m., over Lake Frances in Madison. Starting at 7 p.m., some of the finest local talent will take the stage around the lake and will entertain guests until the start of the fireworks.

The Fourth of July Celebration is sponsored by Johnson & Johnson, Fellowship Baptist Church, Madison County Community Bank, Madison County Ministerial Alliance and the City of Madison.

When the sun's turned down low, families are gathered at Greenville's Haffey Hayes park, it's the event that everyone has been waiting on. On Saturday, July 4,

Body Exhumed At Oakridge Cemetery

Photo Submitted

Forensics investigators work to exhume the body of a hit and run victim. The victim was killed in August 1980 and still has not been identified.

Oakridge Cemetery in the City of Madison was the scene of an exhumation that had the purpose of identifying a hit and run victim from August of 1980.

A forensic team from Ft. Myers, led by Dr. Heather Walsh-Haney, Ph.D. of Florida Gulf Coast University came to Madison to assist the Madison County Sheriff's Department in identifying the person hit and killed by an unknown driver on Hwy 90 between Madison and Greenville almost 29 years ago. Also with the team was Amy Stump of Green Cove Springs, who is a forensic artist.

Tina DeMotsis, detective with the Madison County Sheriff's Office, had researched and directed this cold case endeavor. When the remains of a person was unearthed in the unmarked section of the cemetery it was determined that it was not the victim for which they were looking. This temporary disappointment may be overcome when the team returns to Madison for further work possibly as soon as next week.

Woman Arrested For Forgery

By Jacob Bemby
Greene Publishing, Inc.

A Madison woman was arrested for forgery and for having an open container on Friday, June 26.

According to a Madison Police Department report, Sgt. Jimbo Roebuck observed Amy Lee Nusbickel, 24, sitting in the parking lot of Farmer's Co-op. At that time, he pulled into the parking lot behind the vehicle and activated his blue lights.

Amy Lee Nusbickel

Nusbickel began to drive off and made a U-turn in the parking lot. Roebuck yelled at Nusbickel to stop. She stopped and exited her vehicle. She told Roebuck that her driver's license was suspended.

While searching the purse on her shoulder, the officer located a Capital City bank check. He contacted the man whose account the check was drawn on. The man informed Roebuck that the check had been stolen and he had not signed it.

Nusbickel was arrested and transported to the Madison County Jail.

North Florida Plans July 4 "TEA PARTY"

Volunteers across Northern Florida are organizing a T.E.A (Taxed Enough Already) party to be held on the 4th of July at Forest Capital Park in Perry, Florida, on U.S. 19 from 10:30 a.m. until noon.

The T.E.A party is a national movement to protest the spending of trillions of dollars "which will leave future generations with a huge debt they must pay" according to one of the local organizers, Jan Hopkins. "It's time to let the voice of the silent majority in this country be heard across the country."

Another organizer, Bob Root, added that "uncontrolled spending and the trend towards bigger government are contrary to our Constitution and the intent of America's founding fathers. As Americans, our elected leaders can do better than this."

Nationwide, rallies are being promoted through grassroots organizers and volunteers, all to be held on Independence Day - July 4. The rallies are expected to occur across the nation. This one is being held for residents of Jefferson, Madison, Suwannee, Lafayette, Dixie, Levy, and Taylor Counties.

For more information from a national perspective, visit www.teapartyday.com. Locally, those interested in participating can visit the website of www.taylor-teaparty.com or call the organizing committee at 850-584-4404, 850-584-4455, or 850-223-1266 X-0028.

Local organizer, Charles Parker, summed up the effort best by stating "when it comes to actions by our Government - Silence is Consent - and it's time to be heard."

Collection Sites To Begin Closing On Sundays

In an effort to offset the 2009-2010 loss of $200,000 from the small county grant, awarded by the Department of Environmental Protection, the County Commissioners voted at their regular meeting on June 3 to begin reducing collection center hours on Sundays beginning on July 5. The Coordinator, Solid Waste and Recycling Department, has submitted its draft budget for the 2009-2010 fiscal year and all line items have been closely scrutinized to address budget reductions. The cost reduction efforts identified by Coordinator Jerome Wyche clearly shows that the reduction of services on Sunday's will have minimal impact on citizens but a major impact on the expenditure of available funding. Citizens are requested to be cooperative and understand the effect of the funding loss. Madison County, compared to some other small counties with less than 100,000 people population, will still be able to deliver quality services as opposed to some counties having to layoff employees, if not losing their entire program. Following are some helpful hints that may be of assistance to citizens entitled to dispose of their waste at the collection sites:

Making Bricks Without Straw

(1) So all the congregation lifted up their voices and cried, and the people wept that night. (2) And all the children of Israel complained against Moses and Aaron, and the whole congregation said to them, "If only we had died in the land of Egypt! Or if only we had died in this wilderness! (3) Why has the LORD brought us to this land to fall by the sword, that our wives and children should become victims? Would it not be better for us to return to Egypt?" (4) So they said to one another, "Let us select a leader and return to Egypt." Numbers 14:1-4

The United States of America was founded on Christian principles and one of those principles is freedom. We did not want to be taxed unfairly and not represented. We were under the thumb of King George III in England and were not getting the things due us. Before that, our ancestors had left England for Holland and then for the United States because they were being denied religious liberties. Today, we find ourselves in the same two situations with our leaders.

The denial of religious liberties is becoming more and more absurd. Soon, they will be going into churches and telling pastors what they can and cannot say. They will be telling the congregation what they can and cannot sing. They will begin telling people how and whom they should worship.

Is this America?

It's not the America that I know and love.

After Moses led the children out of Egypt, they began to grumble. They had been slaves there, yet they had been freed. They wanted to choose a leader and go back into slavery.

America does not need to return to Egypt. We do not need to go back to slavery and to the shackles of the king who taxes us unfairly and tells us how to worship.

The workingman today feels like he is making bricks without straw. I know. I feel that way many times myself and it doesn't help that the government is demanding more and more from us and denying us so much.

On Saturday, July 4, let us remember why those brave men signed the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. Let us give thanks to Jesus Christ that we are no longer in bondage and pray that we do not return to it.

Thumbs Up For Madison Hospital

I have recently been a patient at Madison County Hospital and I would like to make a statement about my care there.

I have been in larger hospitals, but I did not receive the same quality of care that I received in this same small town hospital.

First of all, I want to say that the nursing care was first rate, and the nurses and other members were caring and kind. The meds were dispensed on time.

Another thing that I noticed, the rooms were kept clean, neat and tidy. This attribute goes a long way toward a patients' feeling and well-being.

I hope everyone that has to be in this hospital will feel as I do about this caring place.

Thank you,
Doris I. Burdett

It's National Ice Cream Month

Summertime and homemade ice cream just go together. Nothing beats the summer heat like a bowl of ice cream, homemade is the best and most families will make a churn before the summer is over. Since July is National Ice Cream Month, let's look at the safest methods for making homemade ice cream. Eggs are often an ingredient in recipes, but in recent years, researchers found Salmonella infections were on the increase due to the use of raw eggs in ice cream.

Alice Henneman, Nutrition Specialist with the University of Nebraska Extension suggests you protect yourself from the danger of Salmonella infection by finding a homemade recipe using a cooked egg base, pasteurized egg substitutes or eliminate eggs altogether.

Egg substitutes, may be liquid or frozen, contain only the white of the egg, which doesn't contain fat and cholesterol and are readily available at the supermarket. These products have been pasteurized and work well in the place of raw eggs. Whole eggs can be used, but must be cooked to reach a temperature of 160° F when tested with a thermometer. At this temperature, the mixture should coat a metal spoon. For an eggless ice cream, try this recipe:

Eggless Vanilla Ice Cream

- 2 cups milk
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 cups whipping cream or half and half
- 2 teaspoons vanilla

Combine ingredients and stir briskly about two minutes until sugar is dissolved (Undissolved sugar crystals may be a cause of large ice crystal formation.) Pour into a 1 gallon ice cream freezer and freeze according to manufacturer's directions.

You can find a wide variety of ice cream recipes in cook books and on recipe websites. If the recipe calls for eggs, make sure there is a preparation step that cooks the eggs in a stove top custard before the freezing process. Otherwise use a recipe without eggs as an ingredient. Regardless of your choice, homemade ice cream is one of the highlights of summer. For more information on safe food handling practices, contact the Madison County Extension office.

Kids + Ice Cream = FUN

By Suzy Gardner

I remember vividly how my grandma used to make homemade ice cream. It was a family event. We'd all gather around while she loaded up the machine with rock salt, ice, and all of the ingredients. Then came the hard part - cranking, cranking, cranking...

Not so today - 20 minutes in an electric ice cream maker is all you need! It's easier than ever to create delicious, homemade ice cream. No rock salt, ice, or hand cranking is required! You simply whip up your 'batter', pour it into the maker's frozen tub, turn the unit on, and 20 minutes later you have fresh, homemade, custom flavored ice cream.

Kids love making ice cream! They love to help in the kitchen. This is a fun, family activity! Even more fun is the wacky flavors kids come up with. Try making peanut butter, banana dream, or chocolate chip cookie dough ice cream. Encourage them to be creative.

But don't limit your ice cream fun to just making and eating it. How? Craft with it! We'll show you how! And you don't really need an ice cream maker. Most of the following ice cream fun can be enjoyed without one. Simply use softened, store-bought ice cream in place of the homemade. Add some kids and common household items and you're ready to play. Enjoy!"

About Ice Cream...

1. The history of ice cream can be traced to the Roman Empire, China, and India.
2. Ice cream was introduced to England in the 17th century and to America in the 18th.
3. The first ice cream parlor in America opened in 1776.
4. Dolly Madison helped make ice cream cool when she served it as dessert in the White House at the inaugural ball in 1812.
5. In 1846, Nancy Johnson invented the hand-cranked ice cream maker, but she didn't patent it.
6. Each American eats an average of 23.2 quarts of ice cream, ice milk, sherbet, and other frozen treats every year.
7. More ice cream is sold on Sunday than any other day of the week.
8. Children under 12 and adults over 45 eat the most ice cream.
9. 98 percent of all households purchase ice cream.

'What Is So Rare As A Day In June'

"Step forth into this dewy early morn
So lovely, so refreshingly cool
Lightly the breeze caresses the trees
Sipping from dewdrops still on the leaves
So lilting the birdsong filling the air
And graceful the squirrels swinging from limbs.
Riches of kings cannot compare
To what God gives his children for free.
As I wrote this last Saturday, the first breeze in days made the front deck bearable and a rare day in June poem immediately came to mind.
For most of my life the lines,
'And what is so rare as a day in June?
Then, if ever, come perfect days;
Then Heaven tries earth if it be in tune,
And over it softly her warm ear lays."

We're so quickly brought forth at any appropriate time. However, today I was shocked when I couldn't remember the poem's well known author, James Russell Lowell - and even more surprised that I did not remember that those unforgettable four lines were just a part of the poem, "June," which is itself from "The Vision of Sir Launfal."

I think I need to go back to school! I've never forgotten, tho, that my most favorite poem, "Thanatopsis" by William Cullen Bryant, also has some unforgettable lines. The poem, like "June," is long, but the last nine lines are easily remembered. I've never forgotten them nor the author's name.

I have always loved poetry and love to try my hand at it now and then. But I'll never be a Tennyson - "Charge of the Light Brigade" - nor an Alan Seeger - "I Have a Rendezvous With Death" - nor a Walt Whitman - "O Captain! My Captain!" - and certainly not a Longfellow - "A Psalm of Life."

But, perhaps I can try to follow the charmingly simple and serene pastoral path of Kilmer's "Trees" since I love nature.

Remember when I said, "N. Korea defies the world-keep tuned?" Well according to Yahoo news, "North Korea now threatens to wipe the USA off the face of the map." A rant and rave in Jacksonville says, "Would that pip squeak over there like to give it a try? Mr. President, what are you going to do?" He's going to talk, that's what and that's what he's best at doing.

Two separate headlines in this weekend's paper were "Non-Meddling" Obama Provides Poor Leadership"-Ann Coulter- and "People Have Mixed Emotions About Obama's Performance"- Susan Estrick. Susan said, "Liberals are happy, conservatives are unhappy, and people in the middle aren't sure how this movie is going to end." Neither am I. Amen.

Have a wonderful weekend, folks, and, if you happen to see Willie Carter, ask him about the serious car accident last weekend on the Hart Bridge in Jacksonville, which not only ruined a great fishing trip for him and some friends, but has left him 'all stove up and feeling quite poorly.' And please don't ask him to do any mowing!

Madison County CRIME BEAT

ALL SUSPECTS SHOULD BE CONSIDERED INNOCENT UNTIL PROVEN GUILTY IN A COURT OF LAW

Man Nabbed On Weapons And Paraphernalia Charges

A man was arrested on paraphernalia and weapons charges on Saturday, June 27.

According to a Madison Police Department report, Patrolman Reggie Alexander saw the suspect, Nathaniel Burnett, 44, riding a bicycle south on Range Avenue. The suspect was carrying something under his arm.

Alexander turned to make contact with Burnett and he managed to catch up to him at the end of South Horry Avenue.

After making contact, he saw the suspect holding a computer monitor and DVD player under his arm.

Burnett dropped a crack pipe on the ground while Alexander was interviewing him.

Burnett was also carrying a box cutter, which he told Alexander he used for his protection.

Burnett was arrested for possession of drug paraphernalia and possession of a concealed weapon.

Odom asked Mathis to walk over to his vehicle and tell him what happened.

"I didn't steal nothing. I don't steal," said Mathis.

Odom then asked Mathis about the active trespass warning against her for H&R Grocery and Mathis told him the warning was old.

Odom asked Mathis to turn around so he could handcuff her. She refused, saying she was not going to jail. She became agitated and began yelling and cursing. A large crowd (approximately 60-70 people) began forming.

Odom ordered Mathis on the ground because she had been violent in the past with him. Mathis refused and cursed Odom. Odom took his Taser out of the holster and gave her several commands to get on the ground. She still refused.

Mathis turned around and started to walk away. At that point, Odom deployed the Taser. She stood up during the whole cycle.

Odom ordered her to get on the ground again and she refused, so he deployed the Taser again. This time, Mathis went down, face up.

Odom ordered her on her stomach, which she refused. Odom reported that she appeared to be trying to get up, pulling out the prongs from the Taser. Mathis was still violent and after Odom finally got her restrained, she was argumentative and cursed during the trip to the jail.

While at the jail, it was learned that Mathis had more than two convictions for petit theft, making the theft of the beer a felony.

- Consider removing and separating recyclable items from your household waste
- Consider disposing of your waste on Fridays, Saturdays and Mondays
- Consult your collection site schedules and visit other open sites as disposal alternatives
- Consider feeding leftover foods to pets, if appropriate, but do not collect household waste for entire weeks as it promotes larva growth especially in the summer months

Prevent water from settling in your bags of household waste as it adds to unnecessary weight. Consider tying up waste in small bags and collecting them in larger bags that are tightly tied when making your drop-offs.

In spite of the budget shortfalls, the Solid Waste and Recycling Department is committed to providing continued quality services to the citizens of Madison County. For additional information, please feel free to call 973-2611.

State Correctional Officer Indicted on Federal Child Pornography Charges

United States Attorney Thomas F. Kirwin, Northern District of Florida, announced today that Paul Black, 42, of Century, Florida, was indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of the possession of child pornography. Black is a Sergeant at the Century Correctional Facility. He made his initial appearance before United States Magistrate Judge Elizabeth Timothy today in federal court. A trial date has been set for August 3, 2009.

Black is accused of using online file sharing software to download images and videos of child pornography. If convicted, Black faces a term of up to ten years imprisonment and a lifetime term of supervised release.

This investigation was initiated by the Computer Crime Unit of the Escambia County Sheriff's Office and supported by the Pensacola Police Department, the United States Marshals Service, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and other members of the North Florida Child Pornography Task Force. The case is being prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney David L. Goldberg.

An indictment is merely a formal charge by the grand jury. The defendant is presumed innocent unless and until proven guilty in United States District Court.

Maryland Man Sentenced For $535 Million Surety Bond Fraud Reaching Florida And Beyond

United States Attorney A. Brian Albritton announces that U.S. District Judge Marcia Morales Howard today sentenced William Raymond Miller (age 37, of Clarksville, Maryland) to 10 years and one month in federal prison for mail fraud and wire fraud. The court also ordered a personal money judgment of $22 million against Miller, and Miller forfeited to the United States several pieces of real estate— including his residence in Maryland and a condominium in Panama City, Florida -- a sports bar in Clarksville, Maryland, vehicles, computer equipment seized during a search of Miller's business in March 2008, and funds from various seized bank accounts. Miller had pleaded guilty on December 8, 2008.

According to the plea agreement, from 2005 until April 2008 Miller used several corporations to sell fraudulent surety bonds on construction projects throughout the United States. Some of the construction projects were for United States government entities, including the Federal Aviation Administration, the United States Navy, and the Army Corps of Engineers. Miller made it appear that he was issuing the surety bonds in the name of legitimate insurers, including Fidelity National Property and Casualty Company (a division of Fidelity National Financial Incorporated, which is headquartered in Jacksonville). Miller issued bonds with a face value of more than $535 million and received premium payments of more than $22.5 million during the course of the fraud.

New York State Insurance Superintendent Eric Dinallo said: "This investigation is a great example of how state and federal authorities worked together to solve a complex insurance fraud scheme and bring a perpetrator to justice. The New York State Insurance Department will continue its efforts to aggressively combat all forms of insurance fraud, and the Department appreciates the work of the U.S. Attorney's Office of the Middle District of Florida in pursuing this case."

This case was investigated by the FBI, Jacksonville Field Office, the Department of Defense Criminal Investigative Service, and the United States Army Criminal Investigation Command, which were assisted by the Florida Department of Financial Services, the New York State Insurance Department, and the Maryland Insurance Administration. It was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorneys Russell C. Stoddard and Bonnie A. Glober.

EMT AND PARAMEDIC PROGRAM HOSTS BED RACE

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

The financial challenges facing colleges and universities today is staggering. In spite of the obstacles, North Florida Community College continues to work diligently to maintain program availability, especially those programs that serve regional job demands. The EMT and Paramedic Program is one example.

Mac Leggett, EMS program coordinator at NFCC, joined fellow-staff and friends on Friday, June 26, to raise awareness and support for the program by hosting its First Annual Bed Race fundraiser. Teams of five, four handlers and one rider, grabbed a gurney and entered the campus tennis courts to run the course.

Students of the program from throughout the region were counted among the guests and contestants that attended the event, including visitors from Madison, Leon, Jefferson, Taylor, Hamilton and Suwannee Counties. One of the teams, ironically named the "Death Squad," impressed bystanders with their speed and dexterity in navigating the course. There were also refreshments to break up the hot day.

The Basic Emergency Medical Technician Program was developed to provide first-phase training in the career ladder of the emergency medical technician. To be employed with an ambulance service in the State of Florida, a student must be trained and certified through the EMS section of the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services. Successful completion of this course enables the student to apply to take the EMT State Examination. The program is four months (one semester) in duration and requires 330 clock hours.

The Paramedic Program at North Florida Community College was developed to fulfill the requirements to practice, under medical direction, the art and science of out-of-hospital medicine. The goal of the program is to provide the graduate with the knowledge, skill and professional attributes associated with an entry-level paramedic position. Graduates are trained to prevent and reduce mortality and morbidity due to illness or injury. Successful completion of this course will enable the student to take the State Registry Examination for Paramedics. The program is 11 months in duration and requires 38 credit hours. A four (4) hour Anatomy and Physiology course is also required for the program.

"These programs are exceptional resources for the community and NFCC is proud to offer them. The cost of tools and supplies associated with the program can be very expensive though, so we try to help anyway we can. Our first-annual bed race is a fun way to pass the hat and let the community know how much we appreciate their support," Leggett said.

Lindsey English Graduates From High School

By Jacob Bemby
Greene Publishing, Inc.

"Some people have farther to travel than others" was one of the exceptional highlights in the keynote speech given by her grandfather, Retis Flowers, at Lindsey English's graduation. Lindsey has come a long way, dealing with health and learning problems to get to the summit she is at today.

Midway Church of God was filled to overflowing Sunday afternoon, June 28, with family and friends who came to watch Lindsey, who turned 19 this Tuesday, graduate.

Lindsey's mother, Edna Doyle, and stepfather, Amon Doyle, coordinated the beautiful graduation service, which began with Lindsey's paternal grandfather, Pat Doyle, giving the invocation. Lindsey walked up the aisle to the front of the church, dressed in a blue graduation cap and gown.

Lindsey's sister, Amanda Doyle, read a poem written by their aunt, Regina Forrest. Regina also sang a song.

Lindsey's grandfather, Retis Flowers, gave his stirring graduation message, peppered with advice from the Book of Proverbs. During the speech, he told how Lindsey had health problems and learning problems growing up. She began school at New Testament Christian Center. Margaret Taylor volunteered her time at the school.

She worked to help Lindsey learn how to read and it seemed that she would never succeed. One day, it was as if a light came on, and Lindsey was able to begin reading. Lindsey is still an avid reader today.

Following Rev. Flowers' speech, Joanna Neeley, rendered a song beautifully before Edna Doyle presented Lindsey her diploma. Everyone gave Lindsey a standing ovation.

William Key, youth pastor at Dowling Park Church of God, closed the ceremony with a prayer. He spoke about how he was so proud to have Lindsey in the youth group and how he and his wife, Amanda, and infant daughter, Allie Belle, loved her.

Lindsey's father, Brian English, attended with his aunt, Tina Deming, and Tina's daughter, Starr.

"Lindsey has come a long way," her grandmother, Janice Flowers, said after the graduation. She recalled how Lindsey had to undergo a battery of genetic I tests and that doctors said she would never progress past 4'9" tall. She currently stands 4'7".

Lindsey began school at New Testament Christian Center, then she attended Melody Christian Center until the ninth grade. She was home-schooled until she graduated.

"She is teachable," Janice said. "It just takes her a while to comprehend."

Lindsey attends Dowling Park Church of God, where she is in the youth group and on the drama team. Soon, she will begin helping in the nursery at the church.

"She is very good with kids," Edna said. "They all love her. She helps baby-sit her cousins."

Lindsey is a determined young woman.

"She keeps at something until she can do it," said Edna.

LifeSong To Appear At Sirmans Baptist Church

LifeSong, one of southern gospel's youngest trios, will be in concert at Sirmans Baptist Church in Greenville on Saturday, July 11, at 6 p.m. The concert is free, however a love offering will be received during the concert.

LifeSong has established their place in gospel music, with a rich style of southern gospel music, presented with refreshing young harmony. Their energetic performances have become notable, captivating crowds of all ages and sizes. Whether it's in a church, auditorium, civic center or fair, LifeSong delivers the same message, the same way.

Bryant Thigpen is 21 years old and sings lead for the trio. For nearly 10 years, Bryant has traveled with his family playing piano and bass guitar, before stepping up to the mic with LifeSong. Bryant has been nominated and won favorite "Bass Guitarist of the Year" three years, as well as "Pianist of the Year" and "Baritone Vocalist of the Year" by the readers of The Gospel Post. Bryant resides in Madison and is married to Samantha Thigpen.

Steven Gunter comes from Jacksonville, and brings an exceptional talent to the stage. Having traveled with many notable groups, Steven is an accomplished musician and emcee. Steven has been a part of LifeSong since its inception in 2008, and first joined as the baritone vocalist. Since then, Steven has stepped up to the tenor position, and is recognized for his powerful presentation on "Glory Road" and many more.

Ethan Brooks is 17 years old and is the newest member of LifeSong. Ethan completes the trio, singing the baritone part. Although new to gospel music, Ethan is capturing audiences with his smooth baritone voice and his heart for the ministry. Attending the Stamps-Baxter School of Music, Ethan was vocally trained by the best in the business, under the leadership of Ben Speer. Ethan makes his home in Thomasville, Ga.

"We're all a bunch of young guys, and we hope to reach young people through what we do," stated Thigpen. "It's our goal to make a difference in the lives of anyone who attends a LifeSong concert, on and off the stage."

In their first year, LifeSong has made great strides in gospel music. In 2009, LifeSong made headlines on Singing News.com (nation's leading gospel music publication) and Southern GospelNews.com, when they signed with a national record label, Lamp Music Group. Their first national project will be released mid July, and will feature the voice of legendary Naomi Sego Reader as a special guest.

The group will also release two singles across the country on the Lamp Music Compilation, and will be featured on the National Quartet Convention 2009 Sampler.

Happenings At Madison First Baptist Church

By Kristin Finney

What a beautiful service we had Sunday morning. We began with Debbie Bass singing, "Beulah Land." She was followed by music minister Jim Carey saying the offertory prayer. The worship choir then sang, "The Name of Jesus."

Pastor Ferrell's message came from 2 Timothy 3:15-17. These verses contain the letter that Paul wrote to Timothy. He shows that, even though you may have to walk through the fire, you can still make it to Heaven. The path isn't always smooth, and we may make mistakes along the way, but God doesn't give up on us, as long as we don't give up on Him.

Upcoming events at Madison First Baptist are as follows:

Vacation Bible School was this week. We would like to thank everybody that helped us on the long track of the Boomerang Express.

The new schedule for the Watchman on the Wall prayer ministry has begun. If you have any questions, please call Mrs. Judy Phillips.

The youth group will be leaving this Saturday, July 4, and will be gone through July 11 on their "World Changers" mission trip to Henderson, Ky. Please keep them in your prayers.

There will be a Beth Moore Living Proof live simulcast Aug. 28-29.

If you are interested in placing flowers in the front of the church, contact Sandra at the church office.

We would like to invite you to join us for our services! Our worship schedule is as follows: Sunday school, 10-11 a.m. Sunday morning worship, 11 a.m.-noon. Sunday evening worship, 6-7 p.m., followed by youth dinner and fellowship until 8 p.m. Wednesday evening services begin at 6 p.m. for both the adults and youth and last until 8 p.m.

Our prayers this week go to Travis and Kyndall Page. Kloie Michelle was born June 10 and she weighs seven-and-half pounds. We pray that God blesses their new family member, and this new adventure they are facing. We would also like to pray for our youth group; they will be in Kentucky all week facing several different obstacles to help spread the world of God. We pray that they stay strong physically and spiritually.

God bless!

The Great War

By Alfa Hunt
Greene Publishing, Inc.

During World War I, between the years of 1914 and 1918, life remained fairly stable for Madison County.

Shortly after the War was declared on April 6, 1917, Company E, of the Florida National Guard, which was comprised of men from both Madison and Suwannee counties, was organized. In August, Company E was sent to training camp.

The official draft began in July 1917, and the first men drafted from Madison County were sent to a training camp in Columbia, S.C., in September. These men were Albert D. Reams, Lowell R Sanders, Arthur Newsome, Moye Whit-ty and James W. Lanier.

People who lived during the Great War saw a limit enforced on the goods they were allowed to buy. Limits were put on sugar, as well as on other goods. Drives were held to sell Liberty Bonds, and, according to historian Elizabeth Sims, Madison County exceeded its quota with each drive.

The price for postage increased to three cents for letters and two cents for postcards, but these prices reverted back to the original two cents and one cent in 1919.

An active chapter of the American Red Cross was organized in Madison, and the women who joined kept themselves busy making different articles for the war effort. Mrs. E.L. Anderson, who directed the women's work, reported that, in 1918, the women created 179 pairs of pajamas, 42 bed shirts, 440 undergarments, two flannel comforters, 130 comfort bags, 199 pairs of socks, six knitted helmets, four pairs of wristlets, 10 pairs of bed socks, two convalescent robes, 160 hospital bags, 50 shirts for refugees, 190 sweaters, 137 knitted wash cloths, five knitted mufflers, and 6,968 surgical dressings.

Workers were needed to build and aid in government war projects. An advertisement in the Nov. 2, 1917, edition of the Madison Enterprise-Recorder announced that hired laborers for the government would receive a premium wage of $2.20 per day for building temporary living quarters for the soldiers.

Before and after the war (and in some cases, during), young adults would entertain themselves by throwing house parties during the summer. Groups of young adults, sometimes all girls or all ones, usually a married couple, would sleep in the middle, where they were able to keep an eye on things.

Throwing these parties with friends and neighbors was one way to forget about what was going on across the Atlantic.

As in every war, it was illness and disease which wiped out many of the men in arms. In the Great War, it was usually pneumonia. Soldiers from Madison County who died were Henry M. Hodges of Greenville, at Camp Wheeler, Jan. 6, 1918; Robert Gayle of Greenville, who died in France, February 1918; and Homer Browning, who died in France, in October, the same year.

Apart from illness, there were also a few soldiers from Madison County who died in action. Among them were Carodine Braswell of Sirmans, killed in action; and Wesley E. Mazingo of Ebb, who died from his wounds, near the end of 1918.

In the same year, the Spanish Flu was spreading throughout the county and killing numerous people. Social functions were cancelled and citizens were urged not to meet in large groups so they would not be exposed. This put an end to the diverting social gatherings at Blue Springs and elsewhere for a while. Historians note that E.E. West of Jacksonville, who formerly lived in Madison County, was one of the victims of the pandemic.

Florida was selected for military flight training in 1917. This was due to Florida holding the second best record among the states for flyable weather. Arizona surpassed Florida, with Texas coming in third.

After the declaration of war against Germany, the United States found that its U.S. naval aviation was unprepared for any attack. Its strength stood at only 48 officers and 239 enlisted men. There were only 54 aircrafts, all of which were trainers, one free balloon, one kite balloon, one "unsatisfactory dirigible" and one air station.

Over the next few years, Pensacola, Miami, Key West and Arcadia would see heavy military traffic as the United States tried to prepare its naval aviation for the trouble ahead.

Lewis Morse of Madison County, fourth soldier from the left, visited the French seacoast while overseas during, and just after, World War I. This picture was taken at Biarritz, France, and shows how the children made friends with the soldiers.

boys, would go out for a weekend or a whole week to relax and to enjoy practical jokes and other pranks they could pull on each other. One of the more favorite spots was Blue Springs, along the Withlacoochee River.

At Blue Springs, there was a three-room cabin. The boys would sleep in a room on one end and the girls in the room at the other end, while the chap-ers, usually a married couple, would sleep in the middle, where they were able to keep an eye on things.

New Crop Varieties Highlight Field Day

The Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition will host its annual Field Day on Tuesday, July 7, in Moultrie, Ga. Alfalfa and new "fast track" cotton varieties will be the highlights of this year's 600-acre research farm.

Alfalfa is a new crop to the Expo this year. Field Day participants will get to see two alfalfa varieties that are both capable of growth in the lower southeast. According to Expo Farm Manager Michael Williams, "This will be a year to write down in the books because we have had such an unusual amount of rain at planting time." Nonetheless, Williams is positive that the alfalfa crops will be ready to cut by July, saying "Both varieties have been high yielders so far."

The "fast track" cotton varieties will offer interesting new options for cotton farmers. These varieties are expected to be higher yielders than last year's cotton varieties. The latest varieties of cotton, corn, soybeans and peanuts will also be available for growers to see.

Field Day will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Darrell Williams Research Farm, located at the Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition. Williams, longtime Expo Farm Manager, lost his fight to cancer earlier this year. The research farm will be officially dedicated in memory of Williams and his many years of dedication and service to the Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition prior to Field Day.

Executive Director, Chip Blalock, encourages farmers and agribusinessmen from all over the Southeast to attend the Field Day event. Blalock promotes participation in Field Day because: "Field Day is a great time for farmers to come in and gather information on the latest products in the lines of seeds, crop protection, irrigation and precision agriculture." Blalock goes on to say, "This is information that participants can use in planning for the rest of this season and probably more importantly, for 2010 and beyond." The Sunbelt Agricultural Exposition is committed to promoting education and implementation of the latest agricultural technology, research and equipment.

Young Farmers And Ranchers Gather For Legislative Session

The Madison County Farm Bureau Young Farmer and Rancher Committee recently held their Annual Post Legislative Session "update" meeting, and nearly 50 local farmers and elected officials attended.

Also attending were Jackie Smith and Nathan Riska, Congressional Aides from Congressman's Ander Crenshaw out of Jacksonville. Senator Bill Nelson's North Florida Legislative Director, Lynn Bannister, was also present to speak to the elected officials and farmers.

Representative Leonard Bembry, of Greenville, was the featured speaker for the evening, and he gave a "Session" update for the group. The most important issue was passing the state budget off which he is still a bit concerned with.

According to Willie Agner, Jr. Madison's Young Farmer and Rancher Chairman, this event is held annually to see how Agriculture fared for the year. There were a lot of issues facing our state, and with the current so-called recession on everyone's mind, our state did not fair too well. It seems that the state budget was balanced thanks in part to the state raiding many of the "Trust Funds" in Tallahassee. This could be a problem in the future, added Agner.

Several Madison County officials attended the meeting held at the County Agricultural Center.

Farm Bureau has had a history of being extremely involved with the Legislative process, at both the Federal and State level. We have lobbyists that work for Farm Bureau in both locations, said Agner. If any farmer in our county would like to become involved in this Legislative Process, and attend Legislative Meetings, they need to call the local Farm Bureau office in Madison. We are always looking for, and needing additional local spokesmen for Agriculture, added the Young Farmer.

Agriculture is still the most important industry in our county, state and nation. Farmers and ranchers need to be an active voice in the halls of Washington and Tallahassee, said Agner.

Cogon Grass Treatment Cost-Share Program Accepting Applications

Interested parties urged to respond before Aug. 1 deadline

By Michael Curtis
 Greene Publishing, Inc.

Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services issued a press release recently stating that the department's Division of Forestry will offer a pilot Cogon Grass Treatment Cost-Share Program to eligible non-industrial private landowners in several north Florida counties starting immediately. The initial focus of the program is to impede the spread of cogon grass (Imperata cylindrica), one of the world's worst weeds, from Florida into Georgia.

The nine counties sharing borders with Georgia — Baker, Columbia, Gadsden, Hamilton, Jackson, Jefferson, Leon, Madison and Nassau — will be the first priority. If funding allows, the program may be expanded to include Wakulla, Suwannee, Union, Washington, Calhoun, Liberty, Clay, Duval, Bradford, Holmes and Taylor counties.

In a separate component of the program, the Division of Forestry will partner with county road departments to facilitate the treatment of infestations along public rights of way, and in borrow pits used during roadway construction and maintenance.

The two-year cost-share program offers up to 75 percent cost reimbursement to qualified applicants for approved herbicide treatments of cogon grass infestations — up to $100 per acre for each year of treatment ($200 per acre total). Cost-share funds will be initially prioritized for and allocated to applicants with five acres or less of infested area, for a maximum cost-share of $1,000 over two years.

For an application and more information on program requirements and procedures, please visit your local Division of Forestry office. Contact information for the county forester office in your area is available at www.fl-dof.com.

Applications started being accepted on June 15 and will run to August 1, and will be evaluated and ranked according to the size of the area to be treated, the proximity of the infestations to parks or other protected natural areas, and the existence of a practice plan or multi-resource management plan for the property. This program is supported through temporary grants from the USDA Forest Service and will be offered only as long as funding is available.
