City to buy Woodruff Ave. property

Cadle: 'It's a slippery slope we're getting into'

By Brian Hughes brianh@crestviewbulletin.com

At its last meeting of 2011, the Crestview City Council agreed to purchase a lot down the street from City Hall. With councilman Phillip Berezo the only holdout, the council voted 4-1 to direct city attorney Ben Holley to prepare a contract to purchase the property at 378 W. Woodruff Ave.

At its Oct. 24 meeting, the council had approved 3-2 purchasing the quarter-acre lot at no more than its $29,907 appraised value.

Owner Billye Carter had offered to sell the property to the city in early October. Told by Administrative Services Director Mike Wing that the city was not in the business of buying unwanted real estate, Carter contacted council member and real estate agent Robyn Helt.

While stressing Carter is not her client and that she would not benefit from the sale, Helt said the property could be valuable to the city, perhaps as a parking lot, given its proximity to City Hall, the Florida A&M University pharmacy school and main fire station. Fire Chief Joe Traylor said his department had no interest in the property.

Other uses for the property might be a skate park or branch library, council members have said. At most, the land could provide 32 parking spaces if used as a parking lot, Public Works Director Wayne Steele estimated. Council member Ben Iannucci calculated the cost per parking space would be about $25,000 by the time the lot is cleared and paved.

At the Oct. 24 meeting, Helt said the parking lot could be a revenue stream for the city if it had parking meters on it or if spaces were leased to FAMU students or staff. The revenue could be double the ad valorem taxes, Helt said.

Mayor David Cadle urged the council to be cautious.

Operation Santa provides toys to children

Santa got help this week compiling lists of presents for children in the Crestview FamiliesFirst Network. The organization spearheaded Operation Santa, a toy drive to provide holiday gifts for every child in the agency's care.

The Crestview service center for FamiliesFirst Network of Lakeview, a division of Baptist Health Care, helps children who have been removed from a violent or an unsafe home environment, some of who have been placed into foster care.

"Some of the children are with relatives or families whose incomes cannot be stretched to provide for the holidays," said Carrie Lawson, FFN family support worker. "Kids included in the Operation Santa wish list

Twin Hills Park landmark dismantled for safety

By Brian Hughes brianh@crestviewbulletin.com

It's featured on everything from the city of Crestview's website home page to brochures, maps and welcome guides, but recently, the bridge over the pond at Twin Hills Park was removed by Public Works staff members. While it had looked as graceful as ever from the outside, its supporting pilings were rotting from the inside out.

"What we found, the posts, which are called pilings, that go down into the water that support the bridge, the interior of the posts are rotted away," Public Works Director Wayne

Poinsettias, holly, other holiday plants can pose a danger to pets

By Paula Kelley paulak@crestviewbulletin.com

New plants brought into a home over the holidays can pose a danger to pets.

Just ask Niceville resident Julie Spears, who arrived home to find that her miniature Doberman pinscher, Bossy, was sick.

"She was laying on the kitchen tile with a white foamy throw-up all over her face and the floor," Spears said.

It turns out that Bossy had eaten part of a poinsettia Spear's mother-in-law had sent her for Christmas.

Spears took Bossy to an emergency veterinarian and the 3-pound dog stayed overnight for monitoring and IV fluids.

"We took her home and she would not even go around the fireplace," Spears said. "The plant went with us to the vet, because you are told to take what you think was the poisoning source. They asked if I wanted it back and I told them that I love

News BRIEFS

Motorcyclist killed in U.S. 90 accident

By Brian Hughes
brianh@crestviewbulletin.com

A 46-year-old DeFuniak Springs man was killed while riding his 2007 Yamaha motorcycle in the wrong lane of U.S. Highway 90 in east Crestview.

Robert Earl Manning was traveling westbound in the inside eastbound lane of U.S. 90 Friday night when he was struck near Hillcrest Road by a 2001 GMC Yukon SUV driven by 36-year-old Shannon Renee Bexley, also of DeFuniak Springs, according to a Florida Highway Patrol report.

FHP investigators were unable to determine why Manning, who was wearing a helmet, was traveling in the wrong lane. An FHP media release said toxicology tests on Manning are pending to see if alcohol was a factor.

Bexley was wearing her seat belt and was not charged in the accident, though her vehicle sustained $7,000 in damage. She was taken to North Okaloosa Medical Center with minor injuries.

1 killed in I-10 wreck

From staff reports

An Alabama resident was killed in a two-car wreck on Interstate 10 east of the Holt exit early Friday.

James Stevens Nolte, 59, of Robertsdale, Ala., died at North Okaloosa Medical Center after he was transported there with serious injuries, according to a news release from the Florida Highway Patrol

A passenger in Nolte's car, Robert Jason Joyner, 38, of Summerdale, Ala., was listed in serious condition at North Okaloosa Medical Center.

The driver of the other vehicle, Jerry Luther Maul-den, 28, of Crestview was not injured.

The crash occurred at about 5:10 a.m. in the west-bound lanes of the interstate, about four and half miles east of Log Lake Road, the release states.

The front of Maulden's vehicle struck the back of Nolte's and caused Nolte's vehicle to run off the road, troopers reported. When Nolte's vehicle reached the shoulder, it overturned and struck several trees, according to reports.

Everyone involved was wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash.

Charges are possibly pending a full investigation.

FHP to target drunk drivers

Special to the News Bulletin

The Florida Highway Patrol will join thousands of other law enforcement and highway safety agencies in Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over, a nationwide campaign targeting impaired driving through Jan. 2.

During the 2010 Christmas and New Year's holiday travel period, approximately 35 percent of the traffic fatalities in Florida were alcohol related, according to a FHP press release.

"Impaired driving continues to be a priority for law enforcement in the state, and the Florida Highway Patrol will be intensifying enforcement during the holidays," said FHP Director Col. David Brier-ton. "Our goal is to create the safest possible driving environment by modifying driver behavior — and helping drivers make better decisions."

FHP auxiliary and reserve troopers will augment the patrol during the heightened travel periods.

The patrol offers these tips to make your holidays safer:

- Plan ahead.
- Use a designated driver.
- If you are impaired, call a taxi, use mass transit or call a friend or family member to get you home safely.
- Call *FHP (*347) to report intoxicated or aggressive drivers, or if your vehicle breaks down and you need assistance. To request immediate emergency services, dial 911.

PREPLANNING IS ALWAYS A GOOD IDEA...
And right now, it's more important than ever.

In these tough economic times, it's more important than ever to make your funeral prearrangements. That's because preplanning protects your family from unexpected expenses and financial hardship.

Plus, planning ahead allows you to decide exactly what kind of services you want—which means your family won't be left to make difficult decisions at a stressful time.

Don't put it off another day. The best time to prearrange is right now.

"I still have concerns about the city getting into the real state business, buying property that we have no plans for," Cadle said. "It's a slippery slope we're getting into. This is taxpayer money we're talking about. I'm a little bit worried about what the future holds for that lot."

"I appreciate the mayor's position," Helt responded. "But we don't know what we can do with the property until we own it. First, we got to have the egg before the chicken. We have no plan because we don't own it."

Council member Tim Grandberry reminded the council that Okaloosa County has actually been selling off surplus property rather than acquiring it.

"It is in the best interest to purchase it," Helt said, to "preserve future revenue streams."

In other matters, the council:

- Voted unanimously to move Public Works water meter readers into the Utilities Billing department.

- Unanimously approved extending a $1 a year lease to the Sharing and Caring food bank off Wilson Street.

- Set a Jan. 9 workshop at 5 p.m. to receive Renaissance Group consultants' recommendations for the city's long-range transportation plan.

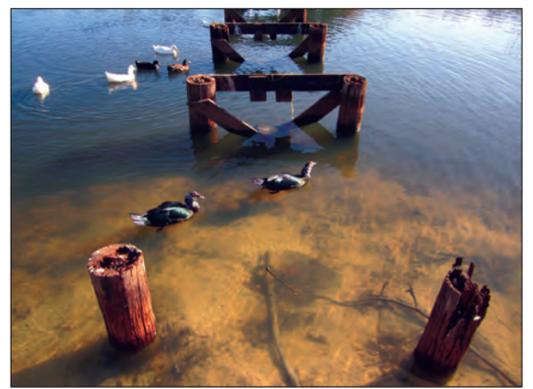

- Unanimously passed a resolution urging the Public Service Commission to deny, and the Florida Legislature to repeal, the Early Cost Recovery statute allowing electric utilities to charge customers in advance for possible nuclear power plants that may never be built.

- Unanimously appointed James Sanders and Malcolm Haynes to the Planning and Zoning Board; voted 4-1 to appoint former city councilman Bob Allen to a full term on the Crestview Housing Authority Board, with council member Phillip Berezo voting nay; and unanimously appointed Patricia Soldano to the Retirement Board to replace Finance Director Patti Beebe, who said her workload precludes her from attending all of the board's meetings.

Steele told the city council at its Dec. 12 meeting. "The more we looked, the more we chipped away, what we found was the posts are just hollow. The bridge was actually sagging."

The estimated cost to rebuild the popular bridge, which has been a landmark in the park for more than 40 years and is often used as a backdrop for wedding photos, is $34,285, Steele said. He questioned if initiating the project should be a priority.

"I have the money but I don't feel this is an absolute need," Steele said. "If we don't experience any unforeseen building issues through the year, at the end of the year I might could appropriate the money and come back to the council for permission to rebuild the bridge."

Steele said the figure would cover constructing a basic bridge that would not have the stately gazebo in the center. It would "meet minimum requirements and not build it as elaborate."

One of the challenges is that Americans with Disabilities Act regulations would apply to a new bridge as a "public pedestrian walkway," incurring greater expense, Steele said. In addition to having to be accessible to the mobility impaired, it must also be accessible to the visually impaired.

Council member Ben Iannucci counseled frugality with taxpayers' money.

"Mr. Steel is right on target," Iannucci said. "We don't need to be spending money right this second."

However, Administrative Services Director Mike Wing said, because Twin Hills Park falls within the Community Redevelopment Agency district, replacing the bridge could qualify for CRA repairs and improvements funding.

"I think it's symbolically going a step backwards for our community" not to immediately replace the bridge, council member Robyn Helt said. "I want this to be a very forward-thinking council. We're in a position where it's in our hands to put it back. I don't think it should be just sticks sticking out of the water."

Helt suggested recruiting 34 businesses to contribute $1,000 each to rebuild the bridge. "I think we owe it to our citizens to find some creative ways to get it done," she said.

Steele acknowledged concerned park users have been asking for the bridge to be replaced.

"I've already had many calls asking, 'When's the bridge coming back?' 'When are you going to get started?'" he reported.

"I want to look for creative ways to get that bridge rebuilt," Helt said.

have caseworkers who know each situation and want them to have a Christmas this year."

In September, FFN began to seek sponsors for each child in the program. Children on the list were "adopted" by churches, businesses, organizations and interested individuals who wanted to provide them with Christmas gifts.

"You sneak toys in and put them on top of the dryer and the foster parents hide them away for Christmas Eve," Lawson said. "Of course they wrap something to go under the tree as well. But the caseworkers enjoy seeing the families get all excited even before the kids do."

Children in the FFN programs range from only a few months old to 18 years old.

"We can do this for these children who are already having a rough time in life because there are good, caring, concerned people in this community," said Jeanna McBride from FFN. "We are so thankful for our community. These children will have smiles on Christmas day because people in Crestview care."

"Santa needed these things," said FFN's Mary Culbertson. "Many of the families who have these children are living paycheck to paycheck. They want to put Barbie under the Christmas tree but they have to pay the electricity bill to keep the lights and the heat on in the house. Not only would these children be housed, fed, warm and safe this Christmas, but they will also be happy."

Officials with FamiliesFirst were concerned that, with the sluggish economy, some children on the wish list would not receive presents, but that fear appeared unfounded on a recent day when the presents were scheduled to be dropped off. Community leaders, church members and employees of area businesses unloaded boxes piled high with Polly Pockets, Nerf dart guns, Disney princess dolls, jackets, boots, cars and trucks. Bicycles were unloaded in pink and blue, racing-red, yellow and monster green.

The workers' smiles indicated their willingness to be Santa's elves on toy drop-off day.

"I look forward to this every year," Lawson said. "This day fulfills my own Christmas happiness. Wow, just look at all these things that will go to these kids."

Community Arts CALENDAR

BRM Farewell Concert

DEC. 22 • The Crestview High School band will offer a "Farewell Concert" before leaving for the Rose Parade in Pasadena. The Big Red Machine will perform at 10:30 a.m. at Jack Foster Stadium. The public is invited to attend. There is no admission fee, but donations toward the band's expenses will be gratefully accepted. Call band director Jody Dunn at 689-7181 for further information.

Symphony Chorale auditions

JAN. 2-6 • The Northwest Florida Symphony Chorale will hold individual auditions for new singers during the first week of January for the 2012 concert season. Tenors and basses are especially encouraged to audition.

The Chorale, a new vocal ensemble under the direction of Northwest Florida State College music professor Lois Van Dam, rehearses at 6:30 p.m. Tuesdays in Tyler Recital Hall of the Mattie Kelly Arts Center. Spring semester rehearsals begin Jan. 10.

The ensemble's repertoire for the spring includes "Missa Choralis" by Franz Liszt and "Te Deum" by Johann Hummel. The Chorale will perform with the Northwest Florida Symphony Orchestra as well as in an independent concert. Contact Van Dam at vandaml@nwfsc.edu or at 729-6009 to arrange an audition time or for further information.

Wine for the arts

JAN. 15 • Show your support for the local arts at the Okaloosa Arts Alliance's fourth annual Wine & Hors d'oeuvres Reception from 2-4 p.m. Jan. 15 at the Magnolia Grill of Fort Walton Beach, hosted by restaurant owners Tom and Peggy Rice.

There will be live entertainment by the Pyramid Players and Fort Walton Beach High School, and multiple drawings for chances to win tickets to local events. There will also be an OAA member information table. Tickets are $15 or two for $25 and will be available at the door. All proceeds will benefit the Okaloosa Arts Alliance. For ticket information, contact Amy at info@okaloosaarts.org.

Let the community know about your arts or entertainment event. Submit listings for the Community Arts Calendar to brianh@crestviewbulletin.com or call 682.6524 at least two weeks before your event.

Choral concerts correct the holiday attitude

By Brian Hughes
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Sometimes we need a nudge to adjust our Christmas attitudes. My focus, sadly, as the holidays approach has been entertaining visitors from France, writing Christmas cards and getting the decorations up. (Thankfully I shop all year, so no need for Black Friday foolishness for me!)

I think there was supposed to be something about a babe in a manger somewhere in the mix, too, but, I'm ashamed to say, my mind was often elsewhere. Thankfully, I attended two of my three favorite Christmas concerts this season, and thanks, especially, to the 125 talented young vocalists in the Crestview High School chorus, my seasonal attitude has been favorably adjusted.

Though I missed the Okaloosa Chamber Singers' always-lovely Christmas concert, I did savor the intimate joy of Schola Cantorum's "Jingle, Bells." Dr. John Leatherwood's mix of sacred, classical, secular and contemporary selections provided an evening of gorgeous music.

A stately rendition of "O Come, O Come Emmanuel" launched the concert. Highlights included Scheryl Fink's lovely solo on the "Canticle of Mary" and the rousing "To Him We Sing," after which, Leatherwood noted, "Everybody likes some loud music every once in a while."

"P.D.Q. Bach's" tradition-inspired "Throw the Yule Log On, Uncle John" was merrily performed, evoking laughter as the chorus bypassed the comma in the title and Leatherwood provided "chica chica booms" and "sis boom bahs."

Cards posted and the tree up, I could relax and relish the CHS chorus' concert last Thursday. It, too, had a perfect mix of old and new, secular and religious and several doses of humor on the program.

The ladies in Destiny opened the evening with a glittering quartet of songs including "We Need a Little Christmas" from the musical "Mame" that segued smoothly into "Mister Santa." Chanticleer followed with wonderful pieces, including an a cappella rendition of "Dance of the Sugar-Plum Fairy" from the "Nutcracker," punctuated by marvelously fun light effects.

Truly breathtaking performances of "In the Bleak Mid-Winter" by the Women's Choir and the Men's Choir's "Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming" stunned the sometimes-rowdy audience into appropriate behavior. (Sadly, choral director Kevin Lusk needed to provide audience etiquette lessons, reminding some members, "It's not like a basketball game where you scream and shout.")

"The Twelve Days After Christmas" by Frederick Silver was a laugh-filled send-up of my least favorite traditional carol, the endless "Twelve Days of Christmas." When I heard, "The first day after Christmas, my true love and I had a fight. And so I chopped the pear tree down and burned it just for spite," I knew it'd be fun.

Chorale's beautiful "Twas the Night" and "What Child is This" helped set the mood for the traditional massed choir finale, the "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah." As chorus alumni took to the stage to join in, I could feel the warm Christmas spirit flowing.

As Lusk wrought that last, lusty "Hallelujah!" from nearly 140 voices, my Christmas attitude stood corrected. Bring on the eggnog! Bring on the gift-wrap! And a big rousing "God bless you, every one" to our exceptionally talented high school chorus, for providing the needed kick in my parrump-a-pum-pum that shook off the holiday angst.

Financial guru says less is more this Christmas

By Tawra Kellam
Special to The News Bulletin

After laying down my last women's magazine telling me how to be less stressed during the holidays, I'm even more confused and stressed than ever. On one page, I'm told to take time for myself and indulge in a lovely spa bath. As I turn the page, I'm told to give all my friends and family homemade ornaments. Then there are articles telling me how not to gain weight at Christmas parties. Isn't that like telling a 3-year-old child to not get dirty while making mud pies?

To top it all off (and the part I like the best) is after they tell us how to get rid of stress and not gain weight, they give us 10 pages of recipes for Christmas cookies made with real butter and cream that are decorated so elaborately in the pictures that it probably took a trained kitchen staff of 10 a week to make one cookie.

Doesn't anyone live in the real world any more? If you are like me and can't stand that kind of stress, try some of these Christmas ideas from www.LivingOnADime.com to help you have a relaxed and Merry Christmas.

Don't overspend

It may be tempting to fixate yourself on the sparkling look in little Johnny's eye when he sees that $300 play car under the tree. Advertising people are really good at feeding many parents' fantasies of their children thinking that mom and dad are the peaches and cream for shelling out the cash and looking fondly back on the moment for the rest of their lives. In reality, most kids have lost all interest in that particular toy long before the credit cards are paid off.

When we were growing up, my mom pulled out all of the stops at Christmas to make it as wonderful for us as she possibly could. The funny thing is that now that we are grown, the things we remember the most fondly are Mom's red jello salad (made with Red Hots — yummy!) and sitting together and reading the Christmas story before opening our presents. I can't remember what presents I received, but I always look back fondly on the Christmas story.

Do a few things well

Instead of trying to do everything and ending up depressed with how it all turns out, focus your energy on a couple

LIVING ON A DIME: BUDGETING TIPS

Between high gas prices and consumers' sense of a financial squeeze in a struggling economy, it seems as if a nice Christmas is out of the picture this year. Not so, says Tawra Kellam, editor of www.LivingOnADime.com. To prove it, here are a few tips to make Christmas memorable without breaking the bank.

- Go potluck — You buy the turkey. Have everyone else bring the side dishes and drinks. If you buy just the turkey, it will only cost you about $5-10 to feed everyone for a large family gathering.
- Don't give gifts, or give of things that are the most important to you. You may be tempted to extravagantly decorate every room in your house, but if you don't have the time or energy, focus on one room, like a living or family room. If your entire house is beautiful but you have to go see a therapist when it's all over, the romantic mystique will be lost. Trust me, I know about this one from personal experience.

Limit cookie baking

Don't try to make 15 different kinds of cookies like Martha. She may look like she is Superwoman, but did you know she has a lot of people who help her? How much help do you get with your baking? I mean real help, not your 5-year-old who makes everything twice as difficult for you. This is great for grandma, but you have to see your daughter every day, and grandma can send her back when the house is sufficiently covered in flour. Again, pick your two or three top favorite cookies to bake and celebrate the fact that you had few enough priorities that you remembered to put the sugar in them.

- Make memories, not more junk — Most kids get more than plenty for Christmas from grandparents, aunts and uncles. If you can only afford one gift for your child, make it a memory. Wrap a note in a box with instructions for a treasure hunt. Send your child all over the house with clues and then have the real gift sitting under the tree when they return. Simple, but a great memory for them.

like she is Superwoman, but did you know she has a lot of people who help her? How much help do you get with your baking? I mean real help, not your 5-year-old who makes everything twice as difficult for you. This is great for grandma, but you have to see your daughter every day, and grandma can send her back when the house is sufficiently covered in flour. Again, pick your two or three top favorite cookies to bake and celebrate the fact that you had few enough priorities that you remembered to put the sugar in them.

Everything doesn't have to be homemade. I know that we advocate making your own stuff, but Marie Callendar's makes some great pies that you can pass off as homemade if you want to soothe your guilty Martha Stewart conscience. In 20 years, your kids will look fondly back on it as the best pie they ever had. But seriously, if you are making things homemade just to save money, remember that some things like candies and pies are often more expensive to make homemade, especially if you cut your finger while slicing the apples. Don't ask me how I know. Just trust me on this one.

These aren't the only things you can do to reduce your stress, but if you stick to doing a few things well, you can truly relax and enjoy the season with your family. In the end, they would rather have fond memories of their time with you than memories of how strung-out mom was after she burned the cookies.

Limit activities

Think of the holiday season as triage for activities. Don't commit to do too many things. One or two parties during the holiday season will make you get all tingly in that "It's a Wonderful Life" kind of way. One or two parties a week may send you over the edge, especially if you have kids. (Refer to my therapist comments above.)

This also applies to all of those appealing looking activities around town like Victorian Christmas events, Christmas celebrations at the zoo or winter carnivals. One or two can be a lot of fun, but too many will ruin the fun.

Special to The News Bulletin

More than 200 presents gathered by employees at the Okaloosa County Sheriff's Office were loaded up and delivered to help ensure many local children have a merrier

Christmas. Sheriff's chaplains and Sheriff Larry Ashley sponsored an agency Angel Tree program. School resource officers in local schools identified 31 students and sheriff's staff joined forces to ensure those children's Christmas wish lists would be fulfilled. The truckloads of packages were delivered to area schools, where school resource officers coordinated with local parents or guardians to pick up the packages.

EXTENSION CONNECTIONS

Invasive exotic plants

By Brooke Saari
Special to the News Bulletin

Northwest Florida is home to many unique habitats, including upland, wetland and marine. These habitats, housing a variety of plants and animals, make this area one of the top six biodiversity hotspots in the country. For this reason, protecting these areas has become very important. One of the biggest threats to our natural areas in all parts of Florida has become invasive species, both plant and animal.

More than 4,000 plants have been identified in Florida and, of those, more than 1,180 are non-native plant species. A non-native or exotic species is classified as any species that does not naturally occur in an area, typically introduced by human activity. Exotic species are able to outcompete many natives, causing habitats to degrade and animals to leave. Exotic species can introduce diseases that can destroy economically important plants. Species from all over the globe have made it to Florida environments and have degraded or taken over the home of our native species.

These exotic species have become a landscape-wide problem, which requires a team approach to combat. Whether you are a private homeowner, land manager, farmer, forester, or in any other field that owns or manages property, exotic species management is something that should be on your radar. By recognizing the role we all can play, no matter how small or large makes a great impact on the battle that can be made in controls. The University of Florida IFAS Extension, an equal opportunity institution, participates in groups such as the Six Rivers Cooperative Invasive Species Management Areas (CISMA) that bring together multiple players on all levels from private citizens to public organizations and local to federal agencies, to work together on large scale solutions.

There are many forms of information available to help learn about the controls for invasive exotic plant and animal species. It is time to fight for our native habitats and those natural resources we hold dear, so our future generations can have the same enjoyment as we did.

If you would like more information on your local CISMA group you can visit www.floridainvasives.org. For invasive species information you can contact your local extension office.

Sisterhood renewed Council votes to renew sister city membership

By Brian Hughes
brianh@crestviewbulletin.com

As preparations ramp up for a 2012 visit by nearly 40 guests from Crestview's French sister city, including 20 students, the Crestview City Council voted unanimously to renew membership in Sister Cities International.

The relationship formally "twins" Crestview with Noirmoutier-en-l'Île, an island town off the west coast of France.

During discussion at the Dec. 12 council meeting, Jim Mills, president of the Crestview sister city organization, officially announced the Oct. 25 - Nov. 7, 2012, visit. Fundraising in Noirmoutier for the trip has been going on in earnest for many months, Mills said.

"They've been working for a year and half to come here," he said. "The students' goal is to not require their parents to have to pay anything in travel expenses."

Mills explained that the French students will be matched with host families of members of the Crestview High School French club. Adult visitors stay with host family members of the sister city organization. When Crestview residents visit Noirmoutier, they, too, stay with local host families.

City leaders spoke favorably of the sister city relationship, an extension of President Dwight Eisenhower's "citizen diplomacy" initiative that also led to the formation of the People to People ambassador program, from which several Crestview students have benefited.

"I agree with this sister city program," Council President Charles Baugh Jr. said. "Many of our citizens only get a European flavor when the lord mayor and people of Noirmoutier comes to visit or we go to visit them. I know our mayor is pleased with the brotherhood and sisterhood with our sister city in France."

Crestview Mayor David Cadle praised the formal and informal visits between the two communities, which recently included an eight-day visit to Crestview at the beginning of December by Xavier Relandeau and Christophe Audéon, who sought to escape the cold of early winter in France with a visit to Florida, but arrived on a day that dawned at 28

BRIAN HUGHES | Crestview News Bulletin

Members of Crestview's sister city organization held a farewell potluck dinner for visitors from Noirmoutier, France, at the end of their recent visit to Crestview. Guests included (clockwise from lower left) Jackie Ann Andrews, Crestview High School French teacher Chris Lanoue, Crestview sister city organization president Jim Mills, Isabelle Mills, and French guests Xavier Relandeau and Christophe Audéon.

"Those young men joined us at the airport when our new medical helicopter service was announced," Cadle said. "Our French friends have been involved in many aspects of our community."

Mills also told the council that 40 student singers and musicians from Northwest Florida State College, "about half of them from Crestview," visited Noirmoutier in the spring of this year and performed in several venues, including a concert that packed the Salorges, the town's main community center.

Citing the educational and cultural benefits of the relationship, council member Robyn Helt moved to renew Crestview's $360 annual membership in Sister Cities International.

The Big Red Machine performs during this year's Crestview High School Homecoming parade. The band will offer its "Farewell Concert" before leaving for Pasadena tomorrow morning at 10:30 a.m. at Jack Foster Stadium.

BRM gets plum Rose performances

By Brian Hughes
brianh@crestviewbulletin.com

As if being chosen to march in the Rose Parade next month wasn't honor enough, the Crestview High School band has been selected to be one of only four featured bands out of the 20 in the parade that will offer a brief performance at the reviewing stand.

"The band will stop, turn, face the cameras and play 'The James Bond Theme,'" band parent and booster Carolyn Smith said proudly. "They only found out 48 hours before Thursday's evening rehearsal. This is a big honor."

In a further honor, Smith said the band's Jazz Ensemble has been asked to perform for the organizers' Directors' Breakfast while in Pasadena.

"Our band was the only one invited to perform," Smith said.

The Big Red Machine has been practicing diligently as the days tick down toward their Dec. 28 departure for California. Rehearsals have taken the band to the Crestview

Bob Sikes Airport, which offered space enough on its vast apron to practice a tricky turn that has stymied previous Rose Parade bands.

"We're really excited — and scared," Smith said.

To show its appreciation, the BRM will perform a free "Farewell Concert" tomorrow morning at 10:30 a.m. at Jack Foster Stadium.

"The whole community is invited to come to the farewell performance," Smith said. "Our community has been so supportive."

NWFSC nursing graduates honored

Special to the News Bulletin

The nursing programs at Northwest Florida State College held a pinning ceremony Dec. 13 to recognize the 13 students who completed the Bachelor of Science in Nursing degree and 13 students who completed the Associate of Science in Nursing degree during the fall term. Associate of Science graduates are qualified to take the Registered Nursing licensure exam. Bachelor of Science in Nursing graduates are current RNs who completed the baccalaureate program.

Recognized at the ceremony with special awards were Meganne Peters Mannon of Mary Esther, with both the Clinical Excellence in Nursing Award and the Joe Davis, Jr. Nurses Care Award; Anastasiya Powell of Navarre, with the Academic Achievement in Nursing Award; and Monica Tyler of Navarre, who also won the Joe Davis, Jr. Nurses Care Award.

The NWFSC nursing faculty expressed special thanks to Fort Walton Beach Medical Center for donating the nursing pins for the ceremony.

Since 1880, graduates of U.S. schools of nursing have received pins from their nursing director that identifies them, even more conspicuously than their diplomas, as distinct representatives of their institution. The tradition of the nursing school pin has evolved for more than a century, with origins dating to 1855 when Florence Nightingale, the founder of modern nursing, received a specially designed brooch from Queen Victoria. SPECIAL TO THE NEWS BULLETIN like a regimental badge, the pin was a testimony to Nightingale's allegiance, character, purpose and inspiration for her service to soldiers during the Crimean War. The pin received by Nightingale further represented the medieval practice of heraldry as a badge of identity, training and prestige in the 19th century.

These Associate of Science in Nursing graduates, as well as their Bachelor of Science colleagues, were honored at a recent Northwest Florida State College pinning ceremony.

From your friend, Tionna Dortch

Dear Santa,
I was wrong about my second Christmas list and I like the things better that are on my first Christmas list. Christmas is not about the presents. It is about Jesus Christ's birthday. I would like a Lego star wars drop ship walker and a Lego castle king's castle.
From your friend, Tyler Cameron

Reed to play in FACA All-Star game

Crestview offensive lineman chosen for North-South match

By Randy Dickson
randyd@crestviewbulletin.com

Earl Reed will play his last high school football game today when he takes part in the Florida Athletic Coaches Association North-South All-Star game in Sebring.

Reed was at a loss for words when trying to describe how much it means to him to play in the prestigious game.

"I can't explain what it means," he said. "It's a dream come true."

"It shows you what a lot of hard work can do."

Crestview coach Kevin Pettis said as best he can tell, Reed is the first Bulldog invited to the FACA game since Matt Sanders was extended an invitation to the game in 2007. Sanders declined the chance to play the FACA game so he could participate in the Pensacola Sports Association All-Star game that was being played the same night.

Reed didn't have to worry about making a similar decision because the PSA game was played Friday night.

Pettis said the nomination and selection process is fairly simple.

Coaches get together and nominate players on their team who they believe deserve to play in the game. The coaching staffs of the North and South squads then select their rosters.

EARL REED

Pettis said Chad Lashley, who recently resigned as the Navarre head coach, is on the North staff and played a role in Reed being selected for the game.

Reed isn't the only player with ties to the Panhandle in this year's game.

Navarre running back Dwayne Carter II, Pensacola Catholic safety Ladarion Young and Pace offensive lineman Michael Campbell also have been named to the North team.

Pettis said Reed is his fourth player to be selected for the FACA game.

Last year his son, Trey Pettis, and Pop Saunders represented DeLand in the game.

Pettis said Trey still stays in touch with many of his teammates from last

The greatest gifts of all

By Randy Dickson
randyd@crestviewbulletin.com

I love this time of year as we step back and reflect on the more important things in life.

I know many of you celebrate the Christmas holiday — Holy Day — as I do, remembering the birth of the Christ child more than 2,000 years ago. Some of you might come from other faiths and celebrate the season in a different way.

I think all of us would agree that this is a time of year when we should set aside our differences and truly seek that ideal of peace on earth that is so often missing in today's world.

No matter what you believe, I would dare say that one of the things all of us enjoy the most about the Christmas season is the sharing of gifts. With that thought in mind, I'd like to step away from being Randy Dickson, sports editor to become Randy Claus. If you've seen me out and about the community, you will agree that I definitely have the body to play the part. Ho Ho Ho!

So allow me to tell you some of the gifts I would give our coaches and teams, if in fact I could give such gifts.

The first gift I would give would be a first win to Baker's new boys soccer team. It's never easy starting a program, and it is even more difficult starting a program in a sport that isn't particularly popular in this part of the world.

Randy Claus commends Baker coach James Kerrell and his assistants for taking on a daunting task and hopes that win comes soon.

My next gift would go to veteran volleyball coach Kathy Combust in the way of a district championship for the Crestview volleyball team. Combust established herself as one of the best coaches in the state in her almost 20 years at Baker and was willing to put her reputation on the line by taking over a Crestview team that has struggled in recent years.

I'm sure she can turn things around for the Bulldogs, but it would be nice if the gift of winning was

Paxton girls down Laurel Hill

By Randy Dickson
randyd@crestviewbulletin.com

PAXTON — An improved Laurel Hill girls basketball team kept things close the first half of play Friday night with District 1-1A power Paxton.

The Hoboes only trailed 27-23 at the half, but the last two quarters belonged to the Bobcats as Paxton pulled away to an impressive 73-52 win.

"In the second half, we stopped fouling and doing stupid things," Bobcat coach Steve Williams said. "We made some dumb decisions in the first half and were shooting too many threes. We got back to our inside-out game and worked the ball better."

"In the second half, our four inside players played well."

Laurel Hill used its distinct size advantage to full measure in the first half as Maeson Piper scored 11 of her team best 17 points as the Hoboes (5-5, 1-4) kept things close.

Laurel Hill could have easily had the lead at the break if not for 10 missed free throws.

In the second half, the Bobcats (7-2, 5-0) used their quickness and discipline to get the ball inside and turn the tables on the Hoboes.

Alyssa Dupree led the Paxton charge scoring 13 of her 22 points in the second half.

Laurel Hill's Kasey Harrison guards Emily Murray of Paxton.

Defense sparked the Bobcat second-half surge.

Before the surge though the Hoboes pulled to within a basket when LaQuetta Williams scored on a layup to open the third quarter and cut the Bobcat lead to 29-27.

A basket by Maegon Newborn pushed the lead to 31-27, and then Dupree went to work.

Using a three-quarters of the court trap, Paxton forced Laurel Hill into turnover after turnover that led to easy baskets on the way to a 10-0 run.

Rebecca Ferreira hit a 3-pointer to finish off the run.

Laurel Hill finally picked up a score when Sara Schulmeis-

Chad Zessin powers Paxton past Hoboes

By Randy Dickson
randyd@crestviewbulletin.com

PAXTON — Senior Paxton post player Chad Zessin can once again claim family bragging rights over the Christmas holidays.

Zessin scored 25 points to lead Paxton to a 65-50 win over Laurel Hill in District 1-1A play. The Hoboes are coached by Zessin's uncle, Kent Zessin, and feature Chad's cousin, Tyler, in the starting lineup.

It didn't take long for the 6-foot-7 Chad to make a statement for the Bobcats. Chad got off to a quick start, scoring six of Paxton's 10 first-quarter points.

Chad's first field goal of the night came on a slam-dunk that brought a roaring cheer of approval from the home crowd.

Although Laurel Hill (3-4, 1-3) never led, the Hoboes kept things close most of the game.

Paxton's Dustin Geoghan gave the Bobcats (7-1, 5-1) a quick lead when he drained a 3-pointer less than a minute into the game. Laurel Hill's Travon Calloway answered with a 3-pointer of his own to tie the game with 6:35 left in the first quarter.

A free throw by Mason McCormick put Paxton up 4-3, and the Bobcats held the lead the rest of the way.

Chad Zessin scored Paxton's next six points.

Kent Zessin wasn't surprised by his nephew's performance.

"We knew that Chad was going to get his," Kent Zessin said. "He's a big kid and he's averaging a double-double (double figures in points and rebounds). We played pretty fair on him tonight."

A Calloway free throw and a field goal by Lane Strickland helped the Hoboes keep things close as Laurel Hill trailed 10-6 at the end of the first quarter.

Calloway hit a 3-pointer 55 seconds into the second quarter to cut the Paxton lead to 10-9. Back-to-back scores by Paxton's Austin Camley in a span of 12 seconds pushed the lead back to five points.

Laurel Hill picked up a score from Tyler Zessin to again cut the Paxton lead back to three points.

A few minutes later, the Bobcats went on a 10-2 run to push the advantage to 28-17.

Laurel Hill trailed 30-10

News & NOTES

West Florida downs Bulldogs

The Crestview boys soccer team lost to West Florida Tech 4-0 on Dec. 13. Crestview played strong in the first half, attack the Jaguar defense but was unable to find the net against a strong West Florida squad. The Jaguars broke open the game late in the second half with three scores. West Florida had 22 shots on goal compared to 12 shots at the net by the Bulldogs, who fell to 4-6-1 on the season. Things were better for the Bulldog junior varsity as Crestview took a 3-2 win. Caleb McDonald scored twice, and Timmy Bryant picked up the other Bulldog goal. Nate Gerrard had a strong showing in goal for the Bulldogs with 13 saves in 15 shots on goal as the JV team improved to 8-2-2. Crestview returns to action on Jan. 3 as the Bulldogs host with 1:09 left in the half, but the Hoboes refused to go away. A Tyler Zessin 3-pointer and four quick points by Tommy Calloway cut the Bobcat lead to 32-25 at the half. The teams traded scores throughout much of the third quarter as Paxton led 45-36 heading into the final eight minutes of the game. Just as he did in the first quarter, Chad Zessin took over in the fourth quarter. After a Strickland basket with 4:30 left in the game the Hoboes only trailed 49-43, but Chad Zessin scored eight points to lead a 16-7 run by Paxton that helped Bobcats pull away on their way to the win.

Paxton coach Jeff Bradley said the ability of his team to get up and down the floor and wear down the Hoboes was one of the factors in his team's success. "We have a little more depth, and we were trying to get them tired," he said. "I thought our depth helped us more than anything. "I thought our guys that started off played hard. I thought our bench, when we came out in the second half, gave us a boost." Geoghagan scored 12 points and Austin Camley 11 points for Paxton to join Chad Zessin in double figures. Marcus Bradley also scored nine points for the Bobcats.

Travon Calloway topped the Hoboes in scoring with 20 points. Tyler Zessin scored 13, and Tommy Calloway chipped in seven points. Despite the loss, Kent Zessin thought the Hoboes made progress. "We got within five or six in the fourth quarter, and Geoghagan hit a few shots and somebody else hit one," he said. "We went down a few times in a row and didn't hit anything, and that was it in the end. "I'm pleased with the efforts my guys showed tonight. They showed heart. They showed determination. Our goal is to get better every game, and I thought we did tonight."

Travon Calloway gives a head fake to a Paxton defender. Calloway led the Hoboes with 20 points in their 65-50 loss to Paxton on Friday. At right, Tommy Calloway scores a basket for Laurel Hill at the end of the first half.

ter connected on a basket from inside the paint. Schulmeister's basket made the score 39-27, but Laurel Hill was never able to get the score closer than 11 points. Paxton led 48-32 at the end of the third and kept a 15-point advantage throughout the fourth quarter. "Their pressure got to us because we weren't being disciplined," Hobo coach Josh Steele said. "It's a matter of not being mentally tough. "We have to learn to slow things down against the press and we didn't do that tonight." Dupree was joined in double figures for the Bobcats by Newborn, who had 10 points. Emily Murray and Lizzy Murray each had eight points. Williams was the only Laurel Hill player but Piper in double figures. Williams scored 14.

year's team and that those are the kind of contacts that can help young athletes the rest of lives. Pettis believes Reed's selection to the team will serve as an incentive for Bulldog players in the future. "I think it shows the kids that there is a reward at the end of the work," he said. "You don't just work and work and work and get nothing back. I think it means a lot to our program that we have someone from north Okaloosa County going down and playing in that game and the prestige that it brings." Pettis went on to say that Reed's selection in the game is a winning situation for everyone in the Bulldog athletic program. "It's a good deal for the program," Pettis said. "It's a good deal for Earl and his family. It's a good deal for Okaloosa County. "It's a big deal for us."

delivered quickly. For Combest's former volleyball team at Baker I would give the Gators that state title that has been so elusive for so long. I would give Baker football coach Matt Brunson another state championship to go with the titles he helped win as a Gator player and assistant coach. I would give Crestview football coach Kevin Pettis and the Bulldogs first a win over Niceville and then a district championship, and yes a state championship. I wish I could assure Tim Gillis and the Bulldog baseball team another district title. I guess I could give every coach and athlete a state championship, but we all know that's not the way life works. I do have two gifts I wish I could give all the athletes I cover night in and night out. The first gift would be the gift of love that encompasses more than relationships. The second gift is one of finding a life work that offers you contentment. If I could give you those gifts of love and contentment, you would have the tools necessary to be successful in life. Merry Christmas.

SCREEN CAPTURES | News Bulletin

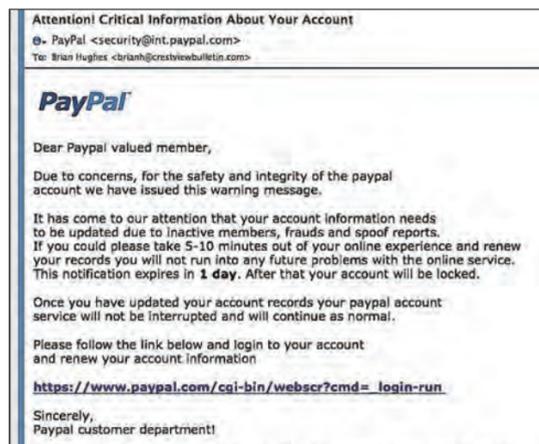

This spoofer was too lazy to even download American Airlines' logo. Airline reservations bear flight numbers, itineraries, reservation numbers, but not "order" numbers. Clicking the attachment probably downloads malware. But even more blatant is the obvious question: Did I actually book a ticket to New York on American?

Anyone falling for this blatant scam should have their computer privileges revoked. Glaring red flags include a "Director of Inspection" (no such title) with an email address in Germany (.de), lowercase L in Larry, the inaccurate reference to Atlanta Hartsfield Airport, the unnecessary "USA," poor grammar and punctuation, and metric weight that means little to an American.

Unless you actually have this item up for auction, receiving a spoof email like this should be a huge warning. The link to "view item" is phony and might activate malware (I didn't try it). Entering the item number into the real eBay site search feature showed there was no such item.

Notice this spoof email's poor grammar and punctuation, urgency, inactive hyperlink ("update your preferences here" should be a blue link) and senseless department name. ("Paypal customer department!" PayPal is spelled wrong, and what's with that exclamation point?) Never click on the link provided: go to PayPal in another browser window to check your account.

'Tis the season to be scammed

Naughty elves are lurking in cyberspace

By Brian Hughes

brianh@crestviewbulletin.com

You're checking your email when you discover an urgent message from a bank saying there's suspicious activity on your account. Ugh, just what you need during the distracting frenzy of the holidays. To clear it up, it says, you need to "update" your account information.

If you hit "delete," congratulations. You're a smart Web surfer. But sadly, many Internet novices click that fateful link. What they learn is a valuable lesson in not clicking suspicious links.

Sometimes the link brings up a form requesting personal information including account passwords and numbers that a bank already knows. But the link might download malware, nasty bugs that wreck havoc on a computer.

Though "spoof" emails look official, complete with logos and disclaimers like real company communications, many clues give them away as scams. Anyone can right-click on a website graphic and download a company's logo and use it to make a counterfeit page.

And as for those congratulatory messages that you've won a national or corporate lottery, they are as bogus as the messages telling you a diplomat is waiting at the airport with your "fund" (scammers seem to like the word "fund").

What's an Internet user, especially a newbie, to watch out for? Here are a few red flags:

- Banks, PayPal, eBay, etc. will never ask for your account information in an email. After all, they already know it.
- Many spoofs try to create a sense of urgency: "Your account will be suspended if you don't respond."
- Watch for bad grammar, poor punctuation, stilted phraseology, British-English terminology, and senders with strange names.

• You will never ever win an "online lottery." You have to enter a lottery to win it.

• Scam emails rarely, if ever, actually bear your name. If your long-lost relative's lawyer (often called a barrister in scam emails) is trying to contact you, wouldn't he use your name?

• The United Nations, FBI, CIA and Federal Reserve do not give away money.

Tempting as it is to click the link, stop and think, are you doing business with the company that sent it? Have you ever heard of the "relative" who died and left you a bundle?

Many times the email that warns your account is going to be suspended is from a bank or company you don't even do business with. But if it is your bank, never click on links or call phone numbers in the email. Call your bank on the phone number on your statement or the back of your bankcard (or log into your account the way you usually do) to check the validity of the message.

"Never respond to a suspicious email or click any links in the email message," eBay's security division warned in an email. "If you think you may have given out personal information in a spoof email or website, you need to take steps to protect your identity right away."

Crestview man faces grand theft charges

From staff reports

A Crestview man is accused of stealing copper

James Junior Jackson, 33, of the 600 block of South Wilson Street, is charged with three counts of grand theft and three counts of criminal mischief, according to a Crestview Police Department press release.

The charges stem from three separate incidents where air conditioning units were damaged or destroyed when the copper wiring was removed, police report.

Investigators with the Crestview Police Department's Criminal Investigations Division believe Jackson might have been involved in other similar cases in the area, the press release states.

Jackson was booked into the Okaloosa County Jail, where he is being held on a $9,500 bond.

Former teacher charged in sex case

From Staff Reports
www.crestviewbulletin.com

A former north Okaloosa County teacher has been charged with unlawful sexual acts with a minor and interfering with the custody of a minor. Amanda Leigh Cooney, 25, was served the warrants at the Okaloosa County jail where she was being held on other charges.

Okaloosa County Sheriff's Office Investigator Ralph Garrett said Cooney became involved with a former student during the 2010-11 school year at Okaloosa Academy Charter School in Fort Walton Beach and began having sexual relations with him in June or July at her home on Majestic Drive in Crestview.

The 16-year-old student ran away from home and moved in with Cooney in October, investigators said. Garrett said Cooney knew the victim's age but discussed having children with him.

Around Nov. 1, Cooney and the victim left Okaloosa County and traveled through several states, ending up in Ohio, where she and the victim were found in a motel room, according to law enforcement reports.

Cooney also has been charged by the Crestview Police Department with car burglary, petty theft, forgery and fraudulent use of a credit card.
