New park in memory of Somer

By Stephen Kindland
Staff writer

ORANGE PARK – Town council members have agreed to name a town-owned patch of land “Somer’s Sunshine Park” in remembrance of Somer Thompson, a 7-year-old child who police say was abducted and murdered inside a house just two blocks from the proposed site.

The council also agreed to hold a dedication ceremony at the “pocket park” on the southeast corner of Gano and Debarry avenues on Friday, Oct. 21 – the exact date two years ago when Somer’s body was discovered at a Southeast Georgia landfill. A time has not been set, but the event will be open to the public.

Somer Thompson Town Manager Cindy Hall said during a town council meeting held on Tuesday, Oct. 4 that the proposed park – which also sits walking distance from the slain child’s home -- will have a sign, a few benches and a short walkway that will create “a peaceful area to sit and relax.”

“That would be our goal,” Hall said. “It’s not a big park, so it wouldn’t be developed into anything else.”

The planned dedication is in addition to a live oak tree town officials planted in Somer’s memory at Clarke House Park on Kingsley Avenue last April.

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Perfect weather, live entertainment, a 45-minute parade and the smell of sweet potato pie, collard greens and fried ox tail drew a record crowd to the 10th annual Soul Food Festival.

More than 7,000 people strolled the grounds or sat under canopies at Vera Francis Hall Park, feasting on plates piled high with white rice, greens, barbecued ribs and other soul food favorites on Saturday, Oct. 1. Virtually everyone enjoyed a full day of music, street dancing and socializing with friends old and new, according to organizers who agree the festival was by far the best in its 10-year history.

In 1913, Clay County Sheriff Cherry murdered in woods at Yellow Water

For several decades after the Civil War, Clay County danced around the edges of complete civil disorder. In the years between 1885 and 1917, of the eight men elected to serve as sheriff of Clay County—three were killed in the line of duty and two went missing under suspicious circumstances. The migration south from exhausted forests in Georgia and Alabama of the turpentine industry brought gangs of abused and desperate workers full of hopelessness and anger into the county to exploit the rich pine forests. With law enforcement sparse and potential victims isolated, criminals, derelicts and miscreants were attracted south and into Florida like ants to a picnic.

People were afraid, they were armed. Mothers outside of Middleburg tended gardens with toddlers playing around their ankles and a shotgun within reach. When men gathered on the courthouse lawn in Green Cove Springs to talk business or play checkers it resembled an armory with the Remington rifles leaning against stumps, trees, and crates.

In August of 1911, Sheriff James Weeks at age sixty lay on his death bed and the fear and violence in the county was approaching the boiling point. Young Shelt Cherry was generally proclaimed as the most likely to keep the lid on the pot.

He was charming and charismatic, a man of his word. But those eyes --- one pale blue the other pale gray - could harden into a killing gaze.

July 6, 1913, turned out to be gray and overcast. Before sun up, Sheriff Cherry drove a buggy west out of Green Cove Springs accompanied by a deputy on horseback. They were headed up to a troublesome turpentine camp at Yellow Water near the Duval County line to check on some things.

Near Middleburg, they turned north and approached the camp about 6 AM. As the story goes, Cherry arrived ahead of the deputy and spoke with one of the camp owners who stood on the porch of the commissary.

Allegedly, they were approached by a drunken turpentine worker carrying a shotgun and Cherry attempted to question the man. As Cherry stepped from the buggy, turning his back on the shotgun, the turpentine worker is supposed to have shot him down in cold blood. Regular normally law-abiding citizens were afraid and angry at losing not just a sheriff but a friend --- and, momentarily, their hope and good conscience.

SPECIAL TO THE CLAY TODAY

On July 6, 1913, Shelt Cherry became the third Clay County sheriff killed in the line of duty in less than eight years.

By noon, the accused killer, Rosco Smith, was riddled with over 500 bullets the newspapers claimed. But there were no answers only questions. Some say Cherry was not murdered but politically assassinated. That the turpentine worker was set up and probably never pulled the trigger. The the owners of the camp had bragged that if Cherry ever stepped on their property again he would end up dead.

But the questions were not officially asked. People were too ashamed at what they had already learned about themselves and their neighbors and not anxious to learn more.

'Pink bra' fundraiser is Oct. 15 in Orange Park

ORANGE PARK -- Hundreds of Clay County residents -- including breast cancer survivors -- are expected to take part in this year's "Put on Your Pink Bra" 5K walk to raise money for the American Cancer Society on Saturday, Oct. 15.

The non-competitive walk is the cancer society's signature event nationally, and is scheduled to begin at the Orange Park Kennel Club on Park Avenue (U.S. Highway 17) across from Wells Road.

Thousands of walkers taking part in similar fundraisers throughout Florida will sport pink bras representing a personal breast cancer journey or the journey of someone they know as part of the campaign.

Registration for the Orange Park event begins at 7:30 a.m. The walk starts at 9 o'clock.

Florida ranks third in the nation for the number of new breast cancer cases and the number of related deaths, according to the American Cancer Society. One in eight women living in Florida will be diagnosed with breast cancer during their lifetime.

Last year, Making Strides Against Breast Cancer participants raised $139,000 in Orange Park. The ACS hopes to exceed that amount this year. Information and registration form are online at www.putonyourpinkbra.com.

GCS Council gives city manager high marks

By Debra W. Buehn

GREEN COVE SPRINGS -- City Manager Danielle Judd received high marks from city council members Tuesday in their first official review of her work since she took over the post in January.

The review of Judd's performance came after a council directive was made in April that established goals for the new city manager and called for her to "periodically" submit a report to the council on her progress.

At Tuesday's regular city council meeting, Judd turned in a detailed 34-page report that covered both the numerous goals set as well as city-wide accomplishments from January 1 to Sept. 30. The report covered everything from revitalization plans for the city's U.S. Hwy. 17 corridor to the place-

Guest Column

BCC should restore funding

As Sheriff of Clay County, I am very proud of the work CCSO has done both operationally and financially for the past seven (7) years. But it might surprise many to know that even though most costs have risen in the last seven years, as it stands today, the approved 2012 operating budget for CCSO, excluding employee health insurance, is basically the same as the first budget I submitted as Clay County Sheriff in 2005 of $36,800,000. I don't know of many law enforcement agencies that can say that.

On September 27, 2011, the Clay County Board of County Commissioners voted to increase the millage but, in a separate vote, cut the Sheriff's Office budget by $2.5 million.

During the years between 2005 and today, all agency cost increases were absorbed through innovative programs, downsizing, outsourcing, civilianizing and volunteerism. Those increases are familiar to all Clay County citizens in our personal lives when we pay for food, fuel and doctor visits. The Sheriff's Office faces those same increases on a larger scale dealing with inmate food and medical care, insurance and fleet fuel costs. All unfunded mandates from the State of Florida have been absorbed, most notably those related to monitoring sexual offenders and predators. Raises for employees in 2005 and 2006 are also included in that number. CCSO employees have not had raises since October 2007 but did have their salaries reduced by 3% this year by the State Legislature.

Rick Beseler
Clay County Sheriff

During that same period of time every effort was made to save money all year so that a cash carry forward of unused money could be used as a reserve account to roll forward into the next year's budget. Each year that cash carry forward averaged over $1 million. No "use it or lose it" end of year spending sprees ever occurred out of respect for the taxpayers' money. Since law enforcement has many unknowns each year, such as a natural disaster or a major crime that taxes our manpower resources and requires massive overtime expenses, a built-in reserve is a necessity. That reserve is now gone and, with it, the ability to ensure proper and necessary staffing in the event of a catastrophic occurrence.

Clay County is one of the safest communities in Northeast Florida and when crimes do happen the offenders are twice as likely to be caught here than the state's average because of CCSO's 44 percent crime clearance rate. We can't continue to deliver this kind of top rate service, however, when adequate funding is not available. The first responsibility of government is to protect its citizens; all else is secondary. I urge the Clay County Board of County Commissioners to restore adequate funding to its law enforcement agency so that the outstanding men and women of CCSO can continue to keep Clay County one of the safest in the country.

Black bear in Camp Blanding study suspected of pilfering food at MacClenny home

Special to Clay Today

CAMP BLANDING -- The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) has received reports about a black bear in the MacClenny area, west of Jacksonville, this week.

"The bear apparently broke into a home at 2 a.m. Monday and grabbed food items, including a birthday cake," said Karen Parker, FWC public information coordinator.

An FWC biologist went to the scene Tuesday to assess the situation.

"There was a well-used trail behind the house and quite a bit of garbage that had been spread around by the bear. Remains of the birthday cake also were scattered on the ground," Parker said.

Wildlife officials have set up a culvert trap and baited it with cupcakes, since this bear seems to like cake, according to Parker.

"The bear has been part of an FWC research project on Camp Blanding and is outfitted with a white collar and two ear tags. Biologists are monitoring the bear. It's easy to identify," Parker said.

According to the tracking information at 5 a.m. Tuesday, the bear has moved several miles south of MacClenny and is on the south side of Interstate 10.

"We are attempting to capture the bear," Parker said. "Relocating this bear is not an option. Public safety is our No. 1 concern. When we catch it, we will euthanize it. We do not want the bear entering another house."

Black bears normally are too shy to risk contact with humans, but their strong food drive can overwhelm the instinct to get away from humans.

"When bears have access to unnatural food sources such as pet foods, garbage, barbecue grills, birdseed or livestock feed," Parker said, "they quickly learn to associate people with food."

Properly storing or securing garbage is a proven method of discouraging bears. Bird feeders and barbecue grills should be stored in a secure place, such as a garage or a sturdy shed.

Place garbage cans outside on the morning of pickup, rather than the night before. People can encourage their neighbors, community or local government to use bear-resistant trash containers or dumpsters. "People can also help by feeding pets indoors or bringing in dishes after feeding," Parker said.

If you see a black bear, remain calm. Don't run away. Walk calmly toward a building or vehicle and get inside.

"If you have children or pets, bring them inside. Encourage the bear to leave. Bang pots and pans, or blow an air horn or whistle. The more stressful the encounter with you, the less likely the bear is to come back," Parker said.

If a bear is in a tree, leave it alone. Remove people and pets from the area. The bear usually will come down and leave when it feels safe.

If the bear is threatening the safety of humans, pets or livestock or is causing property damage, report it to the FWC at 888-404-FWCC (3922).

Residents can find out more about living with black bears at MyFWC.com/Bear.

Special to Clay Today

JACKSONVILLE -- Audrey Moran has been named Honorary Chair of the 17th Annual Susan G. Komen North Florida Race for the Cure®, announced Bruce Grob, Executive Director of the North Florida Komen Affiliate.

This year's event will be held on Saturday, Oct. 22, at the Jacksonville Fairgrounds.

The Susan G. Komen North Florida affiliate is part of one of the largest and most effective organizations in the country working to put an end to breast cancer. The Race for the Cure is a 5K walk/run that places emphasis on breast cancer survivors and families of loved ones who have struggled with the disease. The event is expected to attract 5000-6000 participants and volunteers.

When asked why she would take on this role just she is beginning a new chapter in her professional life as a senior executive

Breakfast kicks off United Way of N.E. Florida Campaign in Clay Co.

Special to Clay Today

FLEMING ISLAND –United Way of Northeast Florida held its annual Clay County leadership breakfast Thursday, Sept. 29, officially beginning the county's annual giving campaign.

United Way of Northeast Florida, serving Baker, Clay, Duval Nassau and northern St. Johns counties, held its annual kickoff last week in Jacksonville and announced a goal of $25.5 million for 2011-2012. The organization's vision is to create positive, sustainable change in Clay County and throughout the Northeast Florida region by keeping students on track to graduation, helping families achieve financial stability, and providing tools to lead a healthy and engaged life.

Breakfast attendees at the VyStar Credit Union Service Center in Fleming Island learned more about United Way's focus on the building blocks of a good quality of life – education, income and health – and how they will guide the organization's future work in Clay County.

Terry West, president and CEO of VyStar Credit Union, is chairing this year's campaign. "I'm excited to lead this year's campaign; it will be a challenge for all of us in Clay County and North Florida," said West.

"There was a tremendous amount of excitement last week when we announced our overall goal and I want to make sure that we keep the momentum going in Clay County and across our five-county region throughout the year."

Nearly 53,000 residents in Clay County received assistance through 41 United Way-funded programs last year, and over 1,500 households received free tax preparation assistance, which resulted in $1.6 million in refunds to the county's economy.

"Clay County has always been a very important part of our overall campaign and has great impact partners at work here," said Connie Hodges, president of United Way of Northeast Florida.

Gas prices fall 6 cents in area

Special to Clay Today

JACKSONVILLE -- Average retail gasoline prices in Jacksonville have fallen 6.1 cents per gallon in the past week, averaging $3.31/g yesterday. This compares with the national average that has fallen 5.9 cents per gallon in the last week to $3.46/g, according to gasoline price website JacksonvilleGasPrices.com.

Including the change in gas prices in Jacksonville during the past week, prices yesterday were 69.0 cents per gallon higher than the same day one year ago and are 25.1 cents per gallon lower than a month ago. The national average has decreased 20.3 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 73.3 cents per gallon higher than this day one year ago.

"Motorists are certainly delighted that average gasoline prices are at their lowest since early March, but compared to prices a year ago, motorists are still feeling a pinch at the pump," said Patrick DeHaan, seniors analyst. "It's great to see gasoline prices falling, but at the same time, prices a year ago were nearly 75 cents less per gallon."

DOE announces Literacy Week contest

Special to Clay Today

TALLAHASSEE — The Florida Department of Education, in partnership with Florida's First Lady Ann Scott and the Florida Department of State announced the 2012 Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida! Public Service Announcement (PSA) contest focused on the theme "Take the Lead and Read."

Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida! is a weeklong celebration of reading and literacy that will take place Jan. 23-27, 2012. Students from Conley Elementary in Leon County and Westside Elementary in Columbia County, two schools that participated in the First Lady's Summer Literacy Adventure, traveled to the Governor's Mansion to help kick-off the PSA contest.

"Our annual literacy PSA contest provides a creative and fun way to engage students in the educational process and remind them of the importance of reading in their daily lives," said Florida Education Commissioner Gerard Robinson. "I applaud Mrs. Scott and our partners at the Department of State for being such advocates in Florida's literacy efforts and for continuing to work with us to introduce exciting approaches to student learning."

During the event, Mrs. Scott also recognized the students for their support and participation in the Summer Literacy Adventure, where they collectively pledged to read more than 3,400 books. As a part of the Adventure, Mrs. Scott visited 17 sites, including public libraries and state parks, to encourage students to read throughout the break.

"As a lifelong reader, I am thrilled to share my love of reading with Florida's students," said Mrs. Scott. "This is a fun and easy activity that each of us can share with our children and I encourage our families to spend a few minutes reading daily with each other."

The 2012 Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida! PSA should be no longer than 26 seconds and must be postmarked no later than Nov. 18. Students from elementary, middle or high schools are eligible to participate, with winning schools selected and announced during Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida! in January. Sponsors for the contest include Daytona International Speedway and Scholastic Publishing.

Troublesome deer munching roses

By Raymond H. Zerba Jr.,
Extension Agent IV, Clay County

Q. I live near a large wooded area and have a major problem with deer feeding on my roses. I've used everything people have suggested from smelly sprays, to moth balls, to human hair, to bars of soap, but nothing seems to work. Short of fencing my yard off or getting rid of the roses, what's the best thing for me to do?

rose beds using this. Chargers are available now that can either be plugged into an extension cord or can run on a battery. A single wire can be run through a hole in PVC pipe inserted in the ground at 4-5 feet high. The pipe will act as its own insulated fence post. There are certain seasons when deer will be more active. During those times, keep the fence turned on. Once they get shocked a few times, they'll probably not even come to the fence when it's turned on or off. To be more effective, use a charger designed to fence in livestock rather than pets. These fences do not put out enough charge to seriously hurt the deer or a person, but they are unpleasant. Just be sure to turn this off before you work your roses!

Note: If you live in a residential community, it's important to post signs that indicate the fence is charged. Such signs can be bought at most supply houses that sell the fencing material.

Italian cypress are pretty, but disease is killing them in state

Q. I have two large Italian Cypress trees at the corners of my house. My problem is they are dying from the bottom up and even though I keep spraying with fungicides, more branches die the minute I stop spraying and then nothing grows back into the dead areas. They look terrible – what should I do?

R. Italian Cypress (Cupressus sempervirens) – also known as the Mediterranean Cypress, Tuscan Cypress, Graveyard Cypress and Pencil Pine where Italian cypress were once very popular in the state, but many Florida nurseries have stopped selling them.

once used a lot in our part of the state until a disease became widespread on them that causes the dieback you are describing. Because of this many nurseries have stopped selling them, but there are still people planting more because they are very beautiful evergreen trees that have that tight "columnar" form which helps accent formal walkways, gardens, or in your case the corners of your house. With time however, they often grow too tall and overpower what a person was trying to accent. For this reason they really have limited value in most residential landscapes.

This might be OK were it not for the fact that our climate and soil in this part of Florida just does not suit them. The normal Mediterranean climate (where they are from) is much drier than Florida. Here in our often poorly drained soils, the heavy summer rains we see keep the ground wet for days leading to root rot on many of these.

In the weakened state that results from this, they seem particularly susceptible to several foliar diseases we just lump together and call the "Juniper Blights" because they also attack other plants such as Juniper, Arbor Vitae and Leyland Cypress. On the Italian Cypress they seem to get really bad.

While spraying with fungicides such as those containing copper seems to slow the spread of these foliar diseases, once a branch browns, all you can do is cut it off the afflicted plant – which you must do to slow future spread of the pathogen. As you have noted however, in doing this the lower portions of the plant are slow to regrow new growth – if at all. Not much you can do about it.

Bottom line – a no win situation – this will be a constant problem for your Italian Cypress trees that can only get worse as the plants become more and more unattractive in the landscape. Your call but I would bite the bullet now and just remove them.

Soul

"I attribute that to all of the entertainers, the volunteers, the city of Green Cove Springs and all of our sponsors," an elated Felecia Hampshire said. "It takes all of them to make something like this successful."

"I was amazed," she added. "We're used to three or four thousand people, maybe."

Hampshire said a $1,200 grant from the county's Tourist Development Council helped boost attendance because the money was used to expand advertising to include TV spots on Black Entertainment Television.

Highlighting the entertainment was the platinum-selling 69 Boyz, a hip hop group from Jacksonville best known for its 1994 hit, "Tootsee Roll." Others, including Orange Park vocalist Nalani Quintello and a zumba aerobics dance group from Starke, had people up and moving as well.

The zumba demonstrations proved so popular that Hampshire wants to invite other groups to next year's event.

"I'd love to have a zumba dance-off," said Hampshire, a city council member who celebrated her 51st birthday on Saturday. "Maybe we could invite four or five groups."

Music and dancing weren't the only reasons people spent the day at the park, named after a well-respected city resident and longtime Clay County educator who died in 1977.

Sonia King Daniels said she moved from Green Cove Springs several years ago, but has attended the last two festivals and plans to come back next year.

"It's awesome," she said minutes before the Parade of Pride began its march down Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard. "It gives me a chance to see old family and friends."

Standing next to her, Oshawn Chandler watches for two of her children who are marching with the Green Cove Springs Junior High School band.

"I've been here every year and it's great," she says with a smile. "I like the community atmosphere."

Lee Bentley, director of the city's planning and zoning commission, said everyone he has talked to agrees that festival organizers could be on to something big.

"Many of the festival patrons were impressed," he said. "Those people were really into the soul food. They had some great entertainment and all the vendors were very pleased."

REAL LIFE STORY

THE ROGUES DEFEATED. Mr. Jones' family hired us when he died. SITUATION: Mr. Jones was 86 with high blood pressure, heart disease, diabetes and partial blindness. He lived in a two room shack on his 5 acres on the St. John's River and his only source of income was a $600.00 monthly social security check. A rogue investor found him and loaned him $50,000.00 and took a mortgage on his property by telling him that no payments would be due. After a year when Mr. Jones became ill, the investor demanded payment unless he signed a contract to sell for $150,000. He signed. A rogue church member learned of the situation and offered a purchase contract for $175,000.00; he signed. LEGAL ENTANGLEMENT. The investor sued for foreclosure or in the alternative, to enforce his purchase contract; the church member sued to enforce her purchase contract. Then Mr. Jones died. His family hired us and the property went into probate. RESULT: Both purchase contracts were voided and cancelled; the foreclosure was delayed long enough to sell the property for fair market value and then the $50,000.00 loan was repaid without interest and the family received their inheritance. This could have been avoided.

Barbara Betker brings a blast from the past

By Jean Abell
Correspondent

PENNEY FARMS -- Penney Retirement Community (PRC) resident Barbara Betker turned 80 on Sept. 8.

That is not remarkable. About half of PRC residents have done that.

What is unusual is the bash that Barbara threw for over 100 people – family, friends from other places, PRC residents, a housekeeper and her family. In her cottage apartment? Well, no. Barbara's heart is at least as big as Barrows Hall, and that's where 14 tables were set up to hold her many guests. It didn't happen on Sept. 8 because Barbara's special friend Marilyn Hollowood was traveling in Peru and Ecuador. But on Saturday, Oct. 1, Marilyn was back, and the Blast from the Past took place. Barbara had planned it with her granddaughter, Lisa, who lives conveniently on Fleming Island. Barbara's daughter Margaret, Lisa's mother, came from California with her husband, Leo; her other daughter is even farther away, in Hawaii.

The Blast from the Past started with the theme of movies. On the punch table stood an elaborate papier maché movie camera of the old days. Four short movies were shown on the screen. A large poster on the wall showed a collage of movie stars from the 40's. There was also a grayscale composite of many stars crowded together, together with a paper inviting each guest to identify as many as possible. At a given point in the program, Lisa's son Aaron, with some help from his mother on those unfamiliar names, read out the answers. There were prizes for the winners. And there were door prizes. And there were all sorts of good things to eat, in vast quantities. There were also song sheets, and time to sing those beloved oldies like Yellow Rose of Texas, Red River Val-at Clarke House Park on Kingsley Avenue last April. More than 40 people, including Somer's mother, Diena Thompson, and Diena's father, Phillip Bowling, took part in the Earth Day observance, which included placement of a memorial plaque at the base of the tree.

Bowling, who serves as vice president of The Somer Thompson Foundation, requested that the pocket park – a triangular shaped parcel that measures less than an acre – be dedicated to his granddaughter in October, which Clay County commissioners have designated as S.T.O.P. Month. S.T.O.P. is an acronym for Stop the Offenders and Predators.

The Somer Thompson Foundation was formed in March of 2010 to develop and distribute child abduction prevention materials, monitor child safety legislation and provide financial and emotional support to families who have lost a child to a predator.

Council members agreed to name the park shortly after listening to a brief presentation made by Hall.

"How can you say no to that request?" Mayor Pete Morgan said.

Somer was kidnapped on her way home from Grove Park Elementary School on Oct. 19, 2009. Clay County Sheriff's Office investigators believe that area resident Jarred Harrell, who was 24 years old at the time, lured her into a vacant Gano Avenue house and sexually assaulted her before asphyxiating her and placing her body into a dumpster that subsequently was taken to the Chesser Island Road landfill near Folkston, Ga.

The discovery ended a two-day, community-wide search that drew national attention.

Harrell was arrested in Meridian, Miss., in February of 2010, and has been held in isolation at the Clay County Jail ever since. He also faces molestation charges involving another child, and will go to trial in that case Jan. 30 after a pretrial conference set for Jan. 17.

Harrell, who also faces multiple counts of possession of child pornography, has entered a plea of not guilty in the murder case. A trial date on the kidnapping and murder charges has not been set, but is expected to be held sometime during the first quarter of 2012.

Also on Tuesday, council members agreed to proceed with a plan to improve the aesthetic appearance in certain areas of the town – particularly the commercial corridor on Park Avenue.

The proposed plan – which town administrators didn't want to lay out in detail until the council approved the concept – would create an "abatement budget" of $15,000 to $20,000 that would allow the town to make repairs and cosmetic improvements to non-residential properties that have been abandoned or neglected.

The town then would place a lien on the property, and the cost of any materials or work performed on the buildings would be reimbursed by the property owners before – or at -- the time of sale.

General Services director Alaina Ray told council members she believes an abatement budget would go a long way in improving the town's image.

"We don't have anything that really addresses the way [neglected buildings] look," she said. "We don't have anything in our codes" to force owners of dilapidated property to improve their appearance.

Ray said priority would be placed on non-residential buildings "visible from the street," and that property owners would be given a chance to make repairs and improvements on their own before the town takes action.

"We would use common sense," she said.

Ray and the town manager said they will present the council with a detailed plan in the near future.

Barbara

Rose of Texas, Red River Valley, Don't Sit Under the Apple Tree.

Barbara had provided for professional entertainment. A clown named Mr. Bill circulated through the room blowing up balloons and transforming them into crazy hats for unsuspecting guests. Barbara had one, of course, and wore it while she and George Harris, in a shimmering top hat, sang Side by Side with great gusto. It seems that both of them volunteer at meal time in Beyer House and enjoy entertaining the residents there with their songs.

A family friend named John Williams (not the PRC resident) sang and provided canned music.

PRC residents Nita Blackstock and Charlie Koch (in a round black hat) played the piano. Luana Golinski and Jean Mueller, aided by Barbara's family members and friends, kept the refreshment tables full and the guests well satisfied.

MC Sandy Geiger introduced Paul and Sandy Bue, Brenda Hamilton, Bill Marschall, who told anecdotes of those now long-ago days--VJ Day at the end of WWII, making pickles, Major Bowes' Talent Show, the little house out back.

She also welcomed to the platform Aaron and his big sister, Lauren, each of whom gave a little poem expressing their thoughts about Grandma: "She sings funny songs, makes me laugh ... gives me big hugs, tells me stories about my life, most of all - loves me." Aaron also played The Star Spangled Banner on his guitar, while the audience sang along.

When 5 o'clock came, the planned entertainment was over, but Aaron was still bringing in more pizza, John and Lisa's husband, Bill, were still making music, and people started dancing - Marilyn's daughters, Michelle and Debra; Barbara and Marilyn. Dolly Koch sang the hilarious Antioch Church Choir.

Barbara apologized profusely that for once she would not be going to the Pavilion at 6:20 Sunday morning to prepare the beverage cart and then help one or two people with breakfast.

Some other friends could not attend the party because they were singing in the Sweet Adelines that evening, and of course Barbara and family had to go hear them. Barbara, after that extravaganza of generosity, you can be excused one morning of your life.

Dr. Ngoy, Mampunza address Penney Farms retirement community

By Jean Abell
Correspondent

PENNEY FARMS -- Barrows Hall or Penney Memorial Church hosts a program almost every Sunday and Wednesday evening September through May. Often the presenter is a resident; sometimes a speaker or musician is brought in from outside. But Sunday, Oct. 2, was special. The two speakers were Africans in the states briefly from the Democratic Republic of the Congo (DRC).

Dr. Ngoy, president of the Protestant University of the Congo, spoke in his mother tongue, Lomongo. Resident Ben Hobgood could translate fluently because he grew up speaking Lomongo, as his parents were missionaries there in the Lomongo speaking area. Ben became a Disciples of Christ missionary and the third president of the young University. His last year at the University was Ngoy's first. Both he and Dr. Ngoy also know French, English, and Lingala. Mrs. Ngoy came here with him. Their coming was a celebration of sorts, because just a year ago Dr. Ngoy was undergoing a kidney transplant in India.

Paint containers spill contents

MAXVILLE -- Clay County Fire Rescue personnel responded to a hazardous materials spill on Tuesday, Sept. 27, at County Road 218 and U.S. 301.

Firefighters responding around 5:30 p.m. discovered two ruptured containers of white roadway marking paint in the right southbound lane of 301 with the travel lane blocked and a semi that was transporting the containers pulled over to the right shoulder, according to a CCFR release.

No occupants were injured during the incident. The cause of the incident is still under investigation, CCFR said.

Special to Clay Today
Clay County Fire Rescue personnel responded to a paint spill on U.S. 301.

Fire officials caution residents of prolonged travel times in the 218/301 area while this incident is being mitigated.

Punch KO's sign holder

ORANGE PARK -- A man holding a sign along Blanding Boulevard was knocked out cold by a longtime adversary who spotted him while driving by.

David Michael Watson, 18, was knocked out cold during the confrontation about 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 2, in the unit block of Blanding Boulevard, according to a Clay County Sheriff's Office arrest report.

Watson, who lost several bottom teeth in the process, told deputies he was holding a sign for Gold Buyers when the suspect drove up and threw a bottle at him. As Watson was walking toward the car to get its tag number, the man jumped out and punched him, the report says.

He contacted the Sheriff's Office after regaining consciousness and told deputies he knew the suspect for over two months and that the two had an ongoing feud, the report says.

Kyle Anthony Smith, 22, of Orange Park is charged with felony battery, the report says.

Tattoo artist faces abuse charge

ORANGE PARK -- An Orange Park man is in jail on charges he gave tattoos to three minors without parental permission.

George Kevin Beine faces a felony count of child abuse as well as multiple counts of unlawful tattooing after his Sept. 30 arrest, according to a Clay County Sheriff's Office arrest report.

Beine, 30, is accused of giving the tattoos in the bedroom of his Bee Street North home to the three juveniles, one of them a 12-year-old girl who received a tattoo in her pelvic area, the report says. The girl told deputies that Beine was paid $20 to give her and the other two juveniles the tattoos.

Investigators also discovered that Beine had a Facebook page under the name "Kevin Price" and that he had recently been arrested in Columbia County, the report says.

A search of a bedroom in Beine's home turned up a tattoo gun and other related items, the report says.

Pregnant woman becomes enraged

GREEN COVE SPRINGS -- A pregnant Green Cove Springs woman upset with her boyfriend is now in jail on aggravated battery with a deadly weapon charge.

The 24-year-old woman refused to respond to a Green Cove Springs police officer when he arrived at a Joey Court residence on Oct. 3 and saw the woman chasing a man around with a metal pipe, according to a Clay County Sheriff's Office arrest report.

When the woman began walking toward the officer he drew his weapon and ordered the woman to drop the pipe, which she did. But she continued to scream at the man, Willie Dameron Goodman Jr., who is the father of her unborn child, the report says.

Still ignoring the officers commands the woman then grabbed her 10 month old child from bystanders while continuing to yell at Goodman, 24.

Officers then took Vilicia Annett Williams into the custody after a friend took the baby from her arms. She had to be placed in a violent offender seat after she began kicking the windows of the patrol car, the report says. Goodman told officers the woman became angry when he came to take his belongings from their apartment.

Officials continue local radon awareness efforts

Special to Clay Today

ORANGE PARK -- Oct. 17-24 is Federal Radon Action Week according to The Surgeon General.

Health agencies throughout the United States have joined forces to promote awareness of the leading cause of lung cancer for non-smokers. The American Lung Association, Centers for Disease Control, and National Cancer Institute all agree that radon is a National health problem and encourage radon testing during the October awareness drive.

Radon is a naturally-occurring, invisible and odorless radioactive gas. One in 15 American homes contains high levels of radon. Millions of Americans are unknowingly exposed to this dangerous gas. In fact, a recent study by Harvard University ranks radon as America's No. 1 in-home hazard. By taking simple steps to test your home for radon and fix if necessary, this health hazard can be avoided.

Radon gas is not isolated to certain geographical areas or home types. Radon problems have been detected in homes in every county of the U.S. It caused more American fatalities last year than carbon monoxide, fires, and handguns combined! If a home hasn't been tested for radon in the past two years, EPA and the Surgeon General urge you to take action. Contact your state radon office for information on locating qualified test kits or qualified radon testers. The federal commitment made by EPA, the General Services Administration, and the departments of Agriculture, Defense, Energy, Health and Human Services, Housing and Urban Development, Interior, and Veterans Affairs will focus efforts on radon reduction and mitigation in homes, especially those of low-income families, many of whom do not have the resources to make the simple fixes necessary to protect their homes and loved ones. Learn more about the Federal Radon Action Plan at www.RadonPlan.org.

Earlier this year, the federal consortium met with key leaders in the public health, environmental and private sectors to launch the federal action plan that includes both immediate and long-term steps to reduce radon exposure. Your media group can participate in this Nation-wide initiative simply by writing articles and broadcasting messages about this deadly gas and by promoting Radon Awareness Week. Again, the targeted week of the awareness drive will occur October 17th – 24th of this year. Learn more at www.RadonWeek.org.

Doctor

Ngoy was undergoing a kidney transplant in India. Those who know him praised God for his recovery and return to strength and activity.

Dr. Mampunza's mother tongue is Kikongo, as he comes from the area between the mouth of the Congo River and the capital city of Kinshasa, where American Baptist missionaries work. He spoke directly to the audience in English, though. He is the Dean of the Medical School of the University, having come there from a similar position with the government medical school. He preferred to work in a Christian institution training doctors who will go practice in the rural areas, where 80% of Congolese still live. The cities, with 20% of the country's population, are served by 80% of the doctors.

In 1959 the Congo Protestant University, founded by Methodists, Presbyterians, American Baptists, British Baptists, and Disciples of Christ working in cooperation, boasted three students and three professors, foreigners. After two moves it is now located in the capital city, where 7,500 students are served by 200 professors, all Congolese with doctorates from European or American universities. Dr. Ngoy earned his Ph.D. in Strasbourg, writing his dissertation on The Early Church Fathers.

Penney Memorial Church donates at least $3,000 a year to the University as scholarship aid for students whose families could never afford the tuition. Drs. Ngoy and Mampunza showed pictures of some of those students, of classrooms and buildings and equipment and visiting teachers, bringing their supporters up to date on the vision, present state, and needs of the institution. It includes Schools of Theology, Business and Economics, and Law, as well as the Medical School, only five years old. The first year 1500 students applied. The faculty chose 850 to come to the campus and take the entrance exam. Of those, 270 were accepted. The first year is preparatory, because secondary schools in the DRC vary greatly in quality. The next three years teach basic sciences, and finally, in the fifth year, the students actually study medicine. Then they are sent to large teaching hospitals in the bush for hands-on experience.

There may be less than 100 who actually graduate. They go out to the poor, hard-working people of the villages, of the hills and valleys, most of whom believe that disease is caused by sorcerers, some of whom can ride on crocodiles, casting spells – or turn themselves into crocodiles! What a challenge!

JAXUSA has official launch

Special to Clay Today

JACKSONVILLE – JAXUSA Partnership, formerly known as Cornerstone Regional Development Partnership, and the Northeast Florida Regional Council launched the Innovate Northeast Florida website and officially kicked-off the project. The website, www.innovatenortheastflorida.com, provides an overview of the project and invites residents and businesses to voice opinions about Northeast Florida's future economy through a brief online survey.

"The strategies resulting from this study will lead to our region's most targeted economic development initiative," said Innovate Northeast Florida co-chair Bob Rhodes, an attorney with Foley & Lardner. "To ensure that Innovate Northeast Florida represents the vision of all residents of our region, we want everyone to participate in the survey."

As part of the study, organizers are conducting focus groups and one-on-one interviews with government, civic and business leaders today through Friday, Sept. 2. Announced earlier this year and funded by the Economic Development Administration (EDA) and WorkSource, the study will help the region's economic development organizations identify the most promising business sectors that will stimulate future economic growth and create detailed marketing and business development implementation plans to grow those industries in the region.

"This project will ensure the alignment between our economic development efforts and workforce strategy," said Innovate Northeast Florida co-chair Elaine Johnson of Blue Cross Blue Shield of Florida, who also chairs WorkSource. "We need to have the right talent with the right skill-set ready when attracting companies to the region."

The survey takes approximately 10 minutes to complete. In addition, business managers and owners are invited to also answer a short set of questions related to the area's business climate. The business survey follows the resident survey and takes another five to 10 minutes to complete.

The deadline to complete the survey is Oct. 1, 2011. All survey responses will remain confidential, and no individual surveys will be shared with any outside parties. A summary of the survey results will be posted on the Innovate Northeast Florida website in November. Additionally, the website will be updated regularly with project news and reports. The Innovate Northeast Florida strategy is expected to be finalized in March 2012 and presented to the public in April 2012.

A team of national consultants are helping to facilitate the strategy, including Avalanche Consulting, McCallum Sweeney Consulting, the Council for Adult and Experiential Learning and Infinity Global Solutions.

"The study will allow us to focus our efforts on recruiting the top performing sub-clusters within the industries that currently dominate Northeast Florida," said Amy Holloway, president of Avalanche Consulting. "We will also look at how the existing targets are evolving and what new sectors will play a role in the region's future economy."

Faith Walk

By Rev. William P. Register

Pastor of First Assembly of God, Orange Park

David Livingstone was a great missionary to Africa. Secular historians have emphasized Livingstone as an explorer, but he was really a missionary with God’s heart for the lost.

Livingstone returned to his home in Scotland for a time of rest and speaking engagements sixteen years after his first journey into dark Africa. He was asked to speak to the students at the University of Glasgow.

In those days the undergraduates always heckled the speakers that came. They were going to greet this preacher with every kind of noise maker. When Livingstone walked to the speaker’s podium, his left arm hung limply at his side, having been almost ripped from his body by a huge lion. His face was furrowed with innumerable lines and was a dark leathery brown from sixteen years in the African sun. Bouts of African fever had racked and emaciated his body. His frail body bore the marks of attacks by jungle savages. Half deaf from rheumatic fever and half blind from other jungle assaults, he stood before them, the missionary/preacher - more than an explorer.

Shocked, the students stared and recognized that here was a man who had burned out his life for God. No noise maker was heard. There was a hush over the auditorium.

They listened in silence as David Livingstone told about his journeys. He told of the tremendous needs of the vast African population.

“You may ask what sustained me in the midst of these toils, hardships, and incredible loneliness,” he said. “It was a promise given me by a gentleman of the most sacred honor.

“It was this promise, ‘Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.’”

Golden Eagles roll past Raiders

By Dennis Bergin
Correspondent

FLEMING ISLAND - After losing a close game at Bolles last week Fleming Island head coach Jeff Webb was looking for someone to set the tone against cross-town rival Orange Park.

He found senior Craig Brodsky.

Brodsky returned an Orange Park punt 59-yards on the fourth play of the game to give the Golden Eagles an early lead and senior quarterback Dante Roberts did the rest in a 48-21 non-district win Friday night at Fleming Island.

"We called a safe return on that punt," Brodsky said. "The ball bounced right to me and I made a move and was able to get the corner."

Roberts, who completed nine-of-nine passes for 93-yards, connected with his cousin, Brontrell Roberts, on a six-yard score and added three rushing scores all in the opening half en route to a commanding 41-0 lead at halftime.

"He manages the offense really well," said Fleming Island head coach Jeff Webb.

Keystone's ground assault too much for Villages

Broncos, Knights, Panthers lose on road: Spartans take loss at home

By Horace Davis
Sports Editor

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – During the week prior to the Villages visit to Keystone, head coach Chuck Dickinson preached about taking care of the ball and eliminating costly mistakes, most notably blown assignments and drive-killing penalties.

The veteran coach in his 14th year got just what he was looking for last Friday in the Indians 35-19 victory, 279-yards rushing from junior tailback Alex Gonzales, two touchdown passes from QB Evan Harvey to Chase Julius, but possibly more importantly, just one penalty -- an intentional grounding call that came late in the game.

"The offense really got into a nice rhythm tonight," Dickinson said. "We did not miss any assignments and the offensive line was the big difference this week. They really came together as a group."

Keystone (2-2, 0-1) rushed for 322 yards on 50 carries, ran 62 plays in the game compared to just 37 by the Villages, with Gonzales as the workhorse.

The 5-foot-7, 160-pound tailback opened the scoring for Keystone on a 39-yard touchdown run which tied the game at seven -- he answered an 82-yard run by QB Chase Kelly on the Villages opening drive.

"Alex {Gonzales} had a dynamic game," Dickinson said. "Generally we run him between the tackles but tonight he was able to take advantage of some things. He did a nice job of getting to the perimeter."

In between the 31 carries for Gonzales and much needed breathers during the contest, fullback Bruce Kirksey added 55 more yards and a touchdown on ten carries.

"We found some success running behind Colton Cade, Andrew Stanley and tight end Matt Dickinson," The coach said. "Actually the whole group as a unit did a great job up front."

Even though Keystone was racking up yards and controlling time of possession, they led by just two points, 21-19 entering the 4th quarter.

Much had to do with the Villages long plays and quick strikes -- along with Villages QB Kelly's 82-yard TD run, he also struck through the air with a 50-yard strike to Chandler Holt and Tony Bryant added a 30-yard TD run to pull the Villages within two.

"Outside of a couple of big plays on their part, I think our defense did a good job of stringing things out and making a play when we needed it."

"He keeps his cool in the pocket and made big plays for us."

The Golden Eagles (4-1), defense held Orange Park to 53 yards of total offense and two first downs in the opening half. Cameron McCurry led the defensive effort with six tackles including two for loss all in the opening half while Brodsky added five tackles.

"We wanted to get up on them early," said McCurry. "We wanted to put the Bolles loss behind us and we did that tonight."

Sophomore running back Eddie Fuller rushed for a game-high 129 yards on 12 carries and a score for Orange Park (1-3, 0-1), all in the second half, against the Golden Eagles second-team defense. Fuller also caught a 13-yard TD pass from Calen Jackman.

"We weren't very physical tonight and it showed," said Orange Park head coach Danny Green, whose team was coming off a tough district loss against Ridgeview last week.

Fleming Island was able to rest all of its key personnel heading into district play next week.

"I am not use to watching that much football," McCurry said. "It was nice to get the win but now we must get ready for district play."

Fleming Island will travel to play undefeated First Coast in a District 2-7A game while Orange Park will travel to Middleburg in a District 3-6A game.

Boys of summer dedicate season

Submitted by Corey Allen

ORANGE PARK - This summer, coaches Scott Marabell, Bill Parham, and Luke Marabell saddled up a showcase baseball team of 20 young men from seven different schools throughout Jacksonville which was no easy task.

The purpose was not only to get the boys in front of as many college scouts as possible, whereby increasing their chances to play at the next level while earning a college degree, but to also pay homage to Lewis Marabell, the father of coaches Scott and Luke who passed away earlier in the year from leukemia.

In 2010, 83% of the high school seniors that were drafted in the State of Florida played for members of the Eastern Baseball Alliance (EBA).

The 18U CBC Riverhawks, a part of the EBA, included several former Clay County players from Fleming Island, like Grant Bigilin, Jason Chitwood and Austin Tuttle, while Kyle Bird, Dakota Higdon, Deric Sosa and Drew Weeks represented Clay High.

Other members from Jacksonville included Tyler Allen, Michael Babb, David Beck, David Bryant, Brandon Fleming, Chad Gibbons, Jake Jacob, Kyle Kennington, Nate Koslowski, Hunter Manning, Connor Marabell, Kris Molter, Chris Teifer and Chris Toledo.

While some of the boys have played with these coaches since they were 12-years-old, some just moved here, and yet others have been best friends since childhood, but this group of boys, the "I got your back" kind of boys, all with different personalities, and attitudes, came together and played with their hearts, as a team.

The camaraderie they possessed on the field was genuine and stout. They lost several players along the way due to college courses, injuries, etc. But their hard work, dedication and loyalty to one another remained steadfast.

In addition, these boys were coached by a set of coaches that know the game of baseball, from suicide squeezes to a guaranteed bet that once they got on a base, those boys were stealing the next one, more often than not, arriving safely.

The coaches believed in those boys, and the boys trusted those coaches. As a result, they won four championships, including, the Mizzuno Tournament, the 18U USSSA National Championship World Series, the Ben Stevens Tournament Classic and the EBA World Series.

This truly was a group of boys and coaches to be reckoned with; the love and respect for the game that just emanates from them all on the field is powerful. Obstacles were overcome and odds were beat. Friendships were made that will last a lifetime.

Memories were made that will remain in our hearts forever. So, congratulations boys! And thank you for everything coaches! Be proud of yourselves, you definitely deserve every second of it.

Stay committed and you will always be supported...play ball!

Jacksonville Jaguars invite fans to first-ever 'whiteout'

Special to Clay Today

JACKSONVILLE - The Jaguars are inviting their fans to take part in the team's first-ever "whiteout" game when they host the Cincinnati Bengals at EverBank Field on October 9 at 1:00 p.m.

The team will be wearing an all-white uniform when they take on the Bengals and the Jaguars are asking their fans to do likewise to create a "whiteout" at EverBank Field.

Macky Weaver, the Jaguars Senior Vice President of Sales & Marketing, said, "With the team wearing its all-white uniform against Cincinnati we thought this would be a great opportunity to show a unified front against the Bengals, so we're inviting all of our fans to take part by wearing white to the game."

Weaver added, "We have a number of seats still to sell for this game and we're asking all Jaguars fans to help us beat the blackout by getting a ticket to the game and joining our whiteout."

Fans can purchase a special Jaguars whiteout t-shirt at the club's merchandise stores and merchandise partners. The official whiteout t-shirts will be on sale for $10 at local Football Fanatics and Sports Mania stores.

The shirts will also be available at the JAGWEAR stores at EverBank Field during the Jaguars October 2nd home game against the New Orleans Saints, and from the West Touchdown Club JAGWEAR store on Friday October 7th from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

ORANGE PARK - Troy Britts, recently won the 11-year-old boys HyVee IronKids National Championship in Des Moines, Iowa making it consecutive wins after last year winning the 10-year-old boys division in the same event.

Britts won the regional in Orlando, FL and Raleigh, NC to qualify for the national competition.

Britts swims and runs cross country for St. Johns Country Day School while also preparing for competitions by training with the Jr. Hammerheads triathlon team, Jr. Velobrew bicycle club, Orange Park Striders running club and riding with Open Road Bicycles in Fleming Island.

This year's IronKids National Championship was changed from a triathlon to a dualathlon the day before the competition due to extremely cold air and water temperatures.

Even though Britts is a native of sunny Florida, the youngster arrived in Des Moines days prior to competition to prepare for the frigid water temperatures.

FLEMING ISLAND -- On September 22, 2011 a huge roar was heard over the passing thunderstorms in the Fleming Island area.

As the sky cleared the residents of The Terrace of Fleming Island, a skilled nursing and rehab center located at 1125 Fleming Plantation Blvd, and their families came out to the administrative parking lot for a tailgate party worthy of being at any stadium.

The department heads, residents

Aaron Coppola, the administrator introduced his department heads, Victoria Johnson director of nursing, Lee Szczepura assistant director of nursing, Jodie Manning admission director, Ida Cribb business office manager, Cricket Granger activity director, Jackie Clark social service director, Luzviminda Fernandez

The Green Cove Springs City Council and the Greater Green Cove Civic Association were presented with 90 strings of LED lights by members of Junior Girl Scout Troop 608 at Tuesday's council meeting. The lights were part of the troop's project to help save money and power during the annual Parade of Trees by lighting 30 of the 150 parade trees with LED lights. From the left are Art Yeaman, president of the Greater Green Cove Civic Association, which is coordinating the 8th annual Parade of Trees holiday event; Emma Arsenault; Andrea Dziwulski; Cheyenne Vincent and troop leader Jackie Arsenault.

to Sept. 30. The report covered everything from revitalization plans for the city's U.S. Hwy. 17 corridor to the placement of trash cans and benches along Walnut Street near Spring Park.

Mayor Debbie Ricks called the report "impressive," adding, "You are to be congratulated."

Councilman Bob Page echoed Ricks' words, saying, "The city manager has done a great job of addressing the tough issues." Page particularly noted Judd's leadership on the city's recently passed $37 million budget for fiscal year 2011-2012, which, despite the tough economic times, maintained the millage rate at 2.57 ($2.57 for every $1,000 of assessed property value).

"It's a sound budget," Page said. "She's done an outstanding job."

Both Councilwoman Felecia Hampshire and Vice Mayor Pam Lewis also thanked Judd for her hard work, with Lewis especially praising Judd's professionalism and her ability to do her job with "tact and grace." Councilman Mitch Timberlake said even Green Cove Springs residents were taking note of Judd's performance.

"Citizens in the city have approached me and said they see a difference," he said.

Judd took on the reigns of city manager in late January, following the departure of her predecessor Don Bowles. Bowles had agreed to resign his post after narrowly escaping termination by the then-council after accusations that he violated election ethics by campaigning in the April, 2010, elections. Many city residents were extremely upset by what they saw as unfair treatment to the longtime former city manager.

In responding to the council's praise for her work so far, Judd said she especially wanted to thank the staff for their support. "I know it's been a tough transition for the staff, as all transitions are," she said, adding that she had "pushed them very hard" in trying to stay ahead of the demands of a tough economy.

In other action, the council approved the request of the Greater Green Cove Civic Association to coordinate the 8th Annual Parade of Trees celebration in Spring Park over the holiday season. The Civic Association did not request any funding support from the city either in the form of direct costs or in-kind services.

In a related move, the council and the Civic Association accepted 90 sets of LED lights to light 30 of the 150 trees used in the Parade of Trees. The lights were a gift from Junior Girl Scout Troop 608 as part of a project the troop put together over the past several months. The troop spent more than 300 service hours sorting and storing decorations from past parades, and then staging fundraisers in order to cover the $1,500 cost of the LED lights in an effort to save the parade both money and power.

Keystone

Dickinson pointed to a series of plays at the start of the third quarter as the turning point that gave the Indians momentum they were in dire need of.

Trailing 14-13, Dickinson decided to gamble on a fourth-and-inches play inside their thirty-yard line but was stopped, however, Keystone's defense rose to the occasion stuffing the Villages offense on three consecutive plays which resulted in a missed field goal attempt.

The offense then responded with an 80-yard drive that culminated with Kirksey finding the end zone from one-yard out.

"In my estimation that long drive was a big turning point," Dickinson said. "There was a huge momentum shift when they stopped us on fourth down, but we swung it back our way with that drive for a score. The offense really clicked all night but especially in the second half," Dickinson added.

Keystone will now travel to Umatilla looking for their first District 4-4A win and Dickinson's message to the team remains the same.

"We told them that this game was going to be won in the trenches, and this week will take the same type of effort."

After falling behind 14-0 by halftime, Ridgeview opened the season half with a 12-play drive that took just over four minutes and culminated with junior

However, three plays later, Wolford and Fullwood connected on a 70-yard TD pass, their third of the night and Ridgeview never recovered.

Pursuant to Section 194.035, Florida Statutes, each Special Magistrate appointed by the Clay County Value Adjustment Board (CCVAB) will hold two types of public hearings for the CCVAB.

The FIRST type of public hearing will be to consider whether

Legal Notice

Petitioners to the CCVAB who have filed their petitions untimely can demonstrate just cause justifying consideration of their late-filed petitions and whether they can demonstrate that the delay will not, in fact, be prejudicial to the performance of the Special Magistrates and the CCVAB's functions in the taxing process. These are referred to as Just Cause hearings.

The SECOND type of public hearing will be for those Petitioners who timely filed petitions or for whom the Special Magistrates have recommended just cause has been shown, and will relate to denials of exemptions, valuation of tangible personal property, and valuation of real property. These are referred to as denial hearings or valuation hearings.

The public hearing schedule is as follows:

Exemption Special Magistrate: William B. Ryan, Jr.

Just Cause hearings and denial hearings will be heard on the same day: Friday, November 4, 2011, commencing at 9:30 a.m. The make-up date is Thursday, November 17, 2011, commencing at 9:30 a.m.

Real Property Valuation Special Magistrate: James Toro, II

Tangible Personal Property Valuation Special Magistrate: Steven C. Tatro

Green Cove Springs, Florida

Following the conclusion of the hearings before all the Special Magistrate, the recommendations of the Special Magistrates will be submitted to the CCVAB for consideration at a duly noticed public meeting. In the event a Special Magistrate determines that just cause to hear a late-filed petition has not been demonstrated by a Petitioner, then the Special Magistrate will recommend to the CCVAB that it not consider the petition.

All interested persons are invited to attend the hearings before the Special Magistrates. A person deciding to appeal any decision made by the Special Magistrate alue Adjustment Board with respect to any matter considered at the hearing will need a record of the proceedings, and for such purposes may need to ensure that a verbatim record of the proceedings is made, which record includes the testimony and evidence upon which the appeal is to be based.

In accordance with the Americans With Disabilities Act, if special accommodations are needed to participate in this hearing, please contact the CCVAB at (904) 541-3857. “Now, robotic surgery provides faster recovery from lung cancer.”

—Nathan Bates, MD, Cardiothoracic Surgeon

Orange Park was the first medical center in the region to perform robotic assisted lung cancer surgery. The minimally invasive surgery allows for smaller incisions, less pain, shorter hospital stays, and quicker recovery. Orange Park has the most comprehensive lung cancer center in the region, providing patients with state-of-the-art diagnostic technology, highly trained specialists and the most advanced treatment options such as robotic surgery, radiation, chemotherapy and clinical trials. Lung cancer is curable if it is detected early enough.
