Failed robber charged with attempted murder

Suspect shot 4 times

By Gregory A. Phillips

ORANGE PARK – A Green Cove Springs man who survived a shootout with police on Monday is in custody where he faces a charge of attempting to kill a law enforcement officer.

The Orange Park Police Department charged Jarvis Tyrone Lee, 27, of Green Cove Springs, on June 3 following the June 2 shootout in Orange Park. Lee also faces one count each of discharging a weapon into an occupied vehicle, possession of a firearm by a

Residents concerned about toll road, routes

By Eric Cravey
Managing Editor

OAKLEAF – Russell Gautreaux recently learned a tough lesson about how slowly the wheels of government turn when he unearthed a 1950s-era state map showing the intersection of Interstate 10 and State Road 23.

His 'aha moment' arrived when he read the words "Future Toll Road" printed on the map alongside the thoroughfare that has, for years, been referred to as Branan Field-Chafee Road, or State Road 23.

Fast forward to May 28 when Gautreaux, a Florida Department of Transportation maintenance engineer based in Jacksonville, is placed in a room with more than 200 Oakleaf area residents who want to know how the soon- to-be reality toll road – now dubbed the First Coast Expressway – will impact their lives when completed.

"One man basically changed his mind here today," Gautreaux said. "After we talked about the tolls and he did some calculations, he figured it wasn't going to cost him as much as he thought."

Oakleaf residents asked FDOT about tolls and alternate routes to escape paying them.

Gautreaux and other officials involved in the massive 7.3-mile, $84.8 million project to build Northeast Florida's long-awaited and first-ever toll road met May 28 at an open house designed to field questions about the project. Held at the OakLeaf Village Club Room, the four-hour event was

New evacuation maps could mean changes for Clay

By Debra W. Buehn

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Clay County emergency planners are rolling out a new set of evacuation maps and zones – the first in nearly a decade – for the 2014 hurricane season.

The new data, which provides for not just the wind speed and direction of a hurricane, also takes into account the storm surge and fresh water flooding that can cause tremendous threats to residents and property, said John Ward, deputy director of Clay County Emergency Management. The result of improved technology, the information comes from the National Hurricane Center and FEMA.

"This is much more refined than what we used to have," Ward said.

The new technology goes so far as to detail

‘Fizz, Boom, Read’ greets kids and summer

By Mike Ford
Correspondent

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – When school lets out for the summer, Clay County’s younger residents have time to invest in recreation and nearly anything else they might want to become involved with. To help give them structure and keep their minds busy, Clay County Public Libraries are providing a summer reading program that will arm them with much more than just books.

Offering a wide variety of events beyond storytime for little ones, the program for kids of all ages will run from June 9-July 19 at each branch. Special guests who bring animals, such as lizards and snakes, as well as others who perform magic, balloon-twisting, music and more will rotate between the branch locations, but the program schedules will vary at each of them.

Nonetheless, reading is the focus. Kids will be asked to set goals and track their reading through the summer. The books and events will tie into a science and engineering theme, including the chemistry that makes things fizz and go “boom.”

Virginia Duncan leads the children’s programs in Orange Park. She says summer reading is designed to intellectually-stimulate children while on their summer break from school.

“Reading sparks their interest in reading for pleasure and that’s our mission statement. If we have a Doctor Who party, for example, we use that as an incentive to get them to read by reading Doctor Who books,” she said. “So, not only does it keep them out of trouble, but it provides the intellectual stimulation and vocabulary skills the schools focus on.”

CLAY TODAY FILE

Jennifer Parker, manager of the Green Cove Springs branch library, and her staff are reading to share the 2014 Summer Reading program with Clay County students.

Jennifer Parker, the branch manager in Green Cove Springs, agrees that library science, as it relates to children, serves to reinforce the school system’s efforts when classes are in session.

“The main reason we do this programming is to prevent what some have called ‘summer slide.’ We want to keep kids on-track and libraries are the educational backstop,” Parker said.

An event is planned for every day of the week except Sunday during the program. Duncan said her branch will show movies for all ages on Mondays, followed by various games on Tuesdays. While this includes video games, it will also include card games and board games. Kelly Bohannan is the children’s services supervisor at the Fleming Island branch. She says like other activities, game day makes the summer reading program interactive in a way that embraces the whole family because kids can play board games with their grandparents. She also encourages grandparents to accompany kids to the library to hear local musicians.

“We have several music performers and we like to schedule those events because schools often don’t teach music anymore because of a lack of funding,” she said.

The branches will conduct various storytime events for different age groups. In Orange Park, there will be pre-school and baby storytime on Fridays, while the Green Cove Springs branch will have storytellers come to the library for Sleepy Storytime on Monday evenings. That will be followed on Tuesdays with Terrific and Scientific, which will feature outside presenters such as those who will bring various reptiles and people from the Wings of Dreams Aviation Museum in Keystone Heights.

“We’re trying to bring in presenters who will give the kids cultural experiences because it might be difficult for some families to get up to Jacksonville and some kids may not be otherwise exposed to some of these different things,” Parker said.

Duncan said the program typically draws fewer high school students than elementary-age children, but 50 teenagers turned out last summer. She said most teens don’t know the library has offerings that would interest them. Unless they are working, though, teens may want to know the movies the library will show are all new. Bohannan said the library at Fleming Island will show movies on Fridays and she is intentional about showing new films because it is expensive for families to go to the movies these days, while the library can show them without a box office charge after the movies are released on DVD and Blu-ray.

For a complete list of each branch’s program schedule, visit the library’s web site by using the search words “Clay County Public Library” or go directly to www.ccpl.lib.fl.us and click on the link to download the schedule from the home page.

convicted felon and aggravated fleeing.

Prior to being booked into the Clay County Jail on Tuesday, Lee was listed in critical condition at UF Health hospital in Jacksonville where he was airlifted after the police chase and shootout that ended on Park Avenue. Police shut down traffic on Park Avenue from the time of the crash until 4:15 p.m. on Monday and re-routed drivers to Plainfield Avenue and River Road.

Lee was shot four times by Orange Park Police Department Sgt. Joel Grant, the agency’s first officer-involved shooting since April 2007. Grant was placed on three days of administrative leave with pay in the wake of the shooting, which is under investigation by the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

Lee allegedly attempted to rob the Check Cashier business at 644 Park Ave. in Orange Park next to Aron’s Pizza at 9:48 a.m. on Monday morning. However, his robbery was interrupted by Orange Park Police Department officers who were summoned to the location. Lee attempted to flee in a maroon 2001 Oldsmobile, but was confronted by an OPPD officer at the intersection of Loring and Plainfield avenues. Police said he fired a small caliber weapon several times before turning back towards Park Avnue. The officer’s vehicle was struck, but no one was injured.

Upon intersecting with Park Avenue, Lee turned north and attempted to evade police. At the median turn section near the Race Trac convenience store, Lee attempted a u-turn in the 800 block of Park Avenue where his car collided head on with Grant’s police cruiser. Lee’s car was also struck from behind by another police cruiser. Grant fired four shots into the vehicle driven by Lee, who was struck each time.

“Lee entered the business with his face covered and displayed a handgun. They [employees] either hit an alarm or called us and gave us a vehicle description. That’s when our officers saw [the vehicle] and began pursuit,” said Gary Goble, OPPD police chief.

In a media briefing, Goble said he did not think Grant acted inappropriately in shooting Lee.

“I can confirm FDLE is investigating this officer-involved shooting. The investigation is active and in the early stages. Our role is to determine the facts of the shooting and once we have done that, agents will turn over their information to the State Attorney’s Office. The State Attorney’s Office will determine whether or not any charges should be filed,” said Gretl Plessinger, a spokeswoman for FDLE.

Meanwhile, at press time, Lee remained in jail where he is being held without bond. According to court documents, he has previous convictions for multiple counts of burglary, grand theft and criminal mischief.

Mother, son duo graduate in lock step

ORANGE PARK – Cheryl Grant approached the podium, pulled out her smartphone, held it up, smiled and asked her St. Leo University classmates to squeeze in for a photo.

The working mother who had delayed completing her college studies while raising four children wanted to capture a moment she often felt would never happen – graduating college with a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education, much less graduating with honors, as well as graduating with her youngest son, Colby Grant.

"Colby has been my inspiration and I am so proud of him and thankful we are pursuing the same goal," she said at the May 30 commencement at the Thrasher-Horne Center for the Arts main stage. "I am living proof that if you dream a dream long enough and put in the time and work that is required, even your wildest dream will come true."

Grant's entrée into education began the day her first child started school.

In raising her kids, Grant, 50, has served as room mom, yearbook publisher, Girl Scout leader and a member of one school's school improvement committee. She boasts about having made 600

U.S. Air Force training completed by Clay residents

SAN ANTONIO – Three Clay County residents were among a recent basic training graduation class at Joint Base San Antonio-Lackland in San Antonio, Texas.

The airmen completed an eight-week program that included training in military discipline and studies, Air Force core values, physical fitness, basic warfare principles and skills.

Airmen who complete basic training earn four credits toward an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force. Here are the three graduates:

Eric M. Shipley

Air National Guard Airman 1st Class Eric M. Shipley, son of Lynn and Bert Shipley of Fleming Island, is a 2010 graduate of Fleming Island High.

Air Force Airman Sean P. Ferris, son of Kimberely J. Ferris of Fleming Island, is a 2011 graduate of Orange Park High.

Air National Guard Airman Kahill R. Bowen, son of Lavoshia and Carlos McCracken of Orange Park, is a 2012 graduate of Oakleaf High School.

Former Clay students graduate from U.S. Naval Academy

ANNAPOLIS, Md. – Two Clay County residents recently graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy and were commissioned to the rank of ensign.

Graduation and commissioning is the culmination of a four-year program of academic, military and physical training designed to produce combat leaders for the Navy and Marine Corps. The Naval Academy's Class of 2014 graduated 1,068 midshipmen, of which, 784 sailors were commissioned as Navy ensigns and 265 marines were commissioned as Marine Corps 2nd lieutenants.

Founded in 1845, the U.S. Naval Academy is a four-year military service academy that prepares midshipmen morally, mentally and physically to be professional officers in the Naval service. Midshipmen learn from military and civilian instructors and participate in intercollegiate varsity sports and extracurricular activities. In addition to a rigorous academic program, they also study subjects like leadership, ethics, small arms, military drill, seamanship and navigation, tactics, naval engineering, weapons and military law.

Midshipmen also train at naval bases and on ships in the fleet every summer. Upon graduation, midshipmen earn a Bachelor of Science degree in a choice of 25 different subject majors and will go on to serve at least five years of exciting and rewarding service as commissioned officers in the U.S. Navy or U.S. Marine Corps.

Navy Ensign Stanley E. Hollins, son of Stanley E. and Asparsa A. Hollins of Orange Park, graduated with a bachelor of science degree and was commissioned to his current rank. Hollins is a 2009 graduate of Middleburg High.

Navy Ensign Albrey L. Felder Jr., son of Audrey A. Felder and Albrey L. Felder Sr. of Orange Park, graduated with a bachelor of science degree and was commissioned to his current rank. Felder is a 2009 graduate of Orange Park High.

The Parental Opportunity

by Emil Knowles

Sometimes it may seem that the fun of parenting is never ending. You are a proud parent of a newborn child and embrace the child with your heart. The challenges of parenting require us to guide our child while providing parameters for them to develop into physically and emotionally-healthy adults. Communicating with your child sets up the stage that will assist parents and family as a whole as the child progresses from childhood to adolescence to adulthood.

Emil Knowles

When you consider that the teen years are a period of intense growth, not only physically but morally and intellectually, it's understandable that it's a time of confusion and upheaval for many families. Despite some adults' negative perceptions about teens, they are often energetic, thoughtful, and idealistic, with a deep interest in what's fair and right. Although it can be a period of conflict between parent and child, the teen years are also a time to help kids grow into the distinct individuals they will become.

Parents should have an open mind when talking to a teenager. Children decide how they feel about themselves partly by how their parents react to them. A lot of teenagers have told me that they already know what their parents are going to say so they don't bother going to them with an issue. This is called mind reading. There are pitfalls of a teen being a mind reader and making assumptions of what their parents may or may not say, but where has the teen gotten that impression? When a child or teen opens up to you, refrain from telling them what to do at every turn and provide them with a safe environment to voice their concerns or just for a talk.

Setting the scene for a talk is important. Examples of this could be while driving in the car, cooking dinner, playing games – such as a board game or billiards, – fishing or some other activity with little or no distractions.

Can a phone call wait or is it more important than the connection you're having with your child? Has the parent ever been in a conversation with someone and they answered a lengthy telephone call or kept looking at their watch? If your child can see that you have his or her attention, he or she will feel valued and will open up to you more. That undivided attention is the optimal time to connect with your child or teen and a time to better understand them.

While communicating with your child, the child may view this as a trap to talk. Parents should not just notice the problems teens are having, but also provide them positive feedback. Children and teenagers respond better to positive feedback. Provide the positive feedback in a way that reinforces the way that your child feels about themselves and to help create a sense of autonomy. Communicating values such as honesty, self-control and respect for others while still allowing the teenagers to have their own space is important. By doing so, a child or teen may feel less trapped and the interaction could be turned into a parental opportunity.

The lead article about Big League Dreams that appeared last week, incorrectly stated that Virginia Hall is a partner in the development company that donated the land where the facility was to be built. Also, Mike Price conducted the first BLD audit for the BCC, not Tom Platt as stated in the article.

Letters to the Editor

Is Big League Dreams really dead?

I don't know who has the job of Oracle at Delphi these days but when they retire, I want it.

As soon as I read the article last week that the Clay County Development Authority had been struck with a lightning bolt of common sense and pulled the plug on the potential debacle of the Big League Dreams project, I predicted that this was not necessarily the end of this overpriced production.

Although the potential $19 million carrot at the end of a very lean stick was threatened to be removed from those who so cherish Corporate Welfare, the pretend entrepreneurs who feel they have a birthright to that cash will not go into that long goodnight easily. And to dangle their own carrot, they promised dozens of part time jobs at minimum wage pay.

Never mind that the whole project seemed to be mentored by Zero Mostel from the movie "The Producers." Remember that? The whole concept was the fleecing of investors by producing a play using other people's money. This is the same type of thinking that Wall Street bankers embraced in 2008. And to this day, the resultant meltdown of the economy has not produced a single indictment for that fiasco. Yet, despite the fact that the project was killed because the price tag had ballooned in cost by at least another $6 million, the Secret Cabal of Landowners (who, for the record, still will not come out into the light and identify themselves) have stated, ac-

Stop bashing Common Core

As a 20-year Navy veteran and former Clay County public high school History teacher of 18 years, I am tired and disgusted with the nonsensical, baseless attacks against Common Core State Standards, known in our State as the Florida Standards, running rampant in Clay County.

The Florida Standards are straightforward, academic benchmarks in Math and English-Language Arts outlining the basic skills and knowledge our children in Florida's public schools should master by each grade level.

While Florida's previous statewide academic standards were more rigorous than those in most states, they were not rigorous enough.

How do we know? Graduates who enroll in Florida State College at Jacksonville immediately after graduation require remediation for skills they should have mastered in high school. Worse, more than 20 percent of Florida high school graduates cannot pass the military entrance exam.

When ill-prepared students take these cording to Debbie Ricks, that landowners will not even put up the difference in the cost. Just think about that for a moment.

A group that remains anonymous, insists they be allowed to use previously marked taxpayer money for road projects to benefit them and only them without having the good graces to do it in public. That is a marvelous definition of Chutzpah. Let's continue to Just Say No to the Zeros in our midst.

Another thing, once again Commissioner [Wendell] Davis has to be corrected when he says most people were "opposed to Big League Dreams, not the ball parks." No sir, we were not opposed to ball parks. We are opposed to using taxpayer funds for the ball parks. Big League Dreams is simply another opportunistic company existing on the foolishness of county officials who do not believe they are beholden to those who mistakenly put them in office.

The term, Big League Dreams was used simply as shorthand to describe the ill-conceived project. It is curious, however, that when Bo Higginbotham offered his idea in place of the BLD idea, it was soundly rejected. BCC stated they would only deal with BLD. Unfortunately, it will be a major problem for Mr. Higginbotham to find an appropriately-sized land area and he would have to purchase it. The landowner will not offer their land for anything other than what they they are already committed to.

I was encouraged, though, that perhaps saner minds might prevail at the May 13th BCC meeting when Commissioner [Diane] Hutchings made the statement "Government does not exist to create jobs." So true. But we have seen no further distancing of themselves from this project from the other three commissioners. Indeed, three of them flat out refuse to even talk with their constituents.

So, we must remain vigilant. The people who have been conspiring to use road bond funding to build their Field of Dreams for personal gain will continue to try to persuade their cronies to give it a second chance. Is it dead? Time will tell. Consider how long we were kept in the dark about this project in the beginning. I will believe it's over when I hear Meinhardt Raabe exclaim "It's not only dead, it's really, most sincerely dead!"

remedial courses, fail to join the military or complete vocational training, you and I as taxpayers foot the bill, and we're talking billions of dollars every year.

How? They earn significantly lower wages over the course of their lifetimes, and worse, become more likely to go on means-tested, taxpayer-funded government assistance. This translates into billions of lost wages and taxpayer dollars from our economy on an annual basis.

Detractors would have you believe that these standards are the Armageddon for public education, yet they ignore these simple facts by spreading irrational rumors and fear tactics.

They have no solutions or better alternatives. And even though they had ample opportunity to voice their concerns more than four years ago when our state board of education openly and constitutionally reviewed and adopted these standards over the course of several months, none was to be found.

Let me be clear: These standards are not a political manifesto. They do not usher in a national curriculum. They are not forced upon our state. And for God's sake, they do not influence children's sexual preferences!

You can read them for yourself at http://www.fldoe.org/BII/curriculum/SSS/.

If you as a parent or citizen are concerned about political bias in our classrooms, then direct your concerns to local education officials. They are the ones, after all, who are deciding what textbooks and materials our children are using in the classroom, not Washington.

I stand in solidarity with all who oppose a federal takeover of education. However, when a few dozen states get together to standardize standards, that makes perfect sense to me as a parent, retired educator and taxpayer.

In America, the land of opportunity, a child's ZIP code should not be the deciding factor for what expectations are leveled against him at school.

It seems opponents of these new standards should rather embrace complacency and the status quo's mediocrity instead of raise the bar for what we expect of our students.

I thank Gov. Scott, the state board of education and the legislature for choosing to keep these high stands in place. I also commend any local education officials who are committed to faithfully implementing these standards in our classroom. After all, their success depends on your good work.

The scare tactics must stop. Our children, their future and our state's long-term prosperity depend on us rising above the madness so they can have a shot of success.

Clay Theatre closes second time

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – After being open 18 months, Clay County's oldest movie theatre has closed for the second time.

A May 25 post on its Facebook page was the first warning of the impending goodbye.

"If you have not been to the Clay Theatre, Memorial Day is your last chance to visit this Beautiful Historic Theatre and see an American Classic for Memorial Day. It is with deep regret that we announce that the Clay Theatre will once again be joining the long list of Closed Businesses in Green Cove Springs. To those of you that have visited the Clay Theatre in the past 2 years, we want to say Thank You. If you have not, Memorial Day is the last chance to see what you have been missing !!!"

Again on May 29, it posted a 99-cent special showing of "The Monuments Men" with the words, "Say goodbye to the Clay Theatre" at the bottom of the photo.

And the final Facebook post, on May 31, said it all – "The Clay Theatre is Closed."

It opened Sept. 21, 2012 with the showing of the Disney film "The Odd Life of Timothy Green."

Brothers John and Charlie Watzke of New Orleans, who grew up in the movie theatre operation business in New Orleans, joined in with business partner Chad Edwards of Ocala to open the theatre in 2012.

When the new management opened, it pledged to offer the lowest-priced tickets in Clay County, which it did. Movies cost as low as $6 at the theatre, but that was apparently not enough to sustain business at the two-screen theatre.

ORANGE PARK – A nationally-recognized pizza chain has taken space inside a convenience store at the corner of Wells Road and DeBarry Avenue in Orange Park.

Little Caesars, at 1690 Wells Rd., takes the space previously occupied by Taco Del Mar, which closed about a month ago. It is connected from the inside of the Kangaroo Express store.

The addition of Little Caesars is part of the investments Kangaroo Express is making in its communities across the southeastern United States, including plans to open more quick-serve restaurants in stores, according to a news release.

Kangaroo Express convenience stores, operated by The Pantry Inc., are one of the nation's largest convenience store chains and the leading independently operated chain in the southeastern United States.

Little Caesars Pizza is the largest carry-out pizza chain in America and the fastest-growing pizza chain in the world, based on the net number of stores added 2008-2012.

Clay Realtor to lead state Republican Party

TAMPA – The State Executive Committee of the Republican Party of Florida elected Leslie Dougher to serve as the next chairman of the Republican Party of Florida at a meeting on May 31.

Leslie Dougher

She will assume the duties and responsibilities effective immediately. Dougher currently serves as Clay County Chairman and Chairman of the Chairman's Caucus.

Dougher, of Middleburg, is a life-long Republican, real estate agent and mother to one teenage daughter.

"I am honored and humbled to have been chosen by my fellow grassroots leaders to serve as the next RPOF Chairman. It was an honor to even be considered, and I am looking forward to getting right to work to make sure the thousands of volunteers across the state have the tools to be successful in November. We are united in one purpose – electing Republicans – and I am excited for the opportunities that are ahead for our party," Dougher said.

Dougher takes the position previously held by Lenny Curry who announced recently he is stepping down to run for mayor of Jacksonville.

"It has been a pleasure to serve the Republican Party of Florida these past two-and-a-half years and be a part of the success this party has seen. I am confident that Leslie will continue to lead our party in the right direction, and that RPOF will continue to be the best party organization in the country," Curry said.

Businesses on co-op lines targeted by scammers

KEYSTONE HEIGHTS – Clay Electric is warning its commercial accounts and business owners to be aware of scams being attempted by persons who demand immediate payment of delinquent bills.

The most recent scam attempts occurred last week in Putnam and Lake counties.

"Someone called a grocery store owner and said their bill was past due and payment was needed immediately," said Derek Hembree, Palatka District member relations representative. "In another incident, the owner of a Chinese restaurant was called and told that payment was required immediately or the power would be shut off."

Fortunately, both scam attempts were foiled when the owners called Clay Electric's Palatka District office and inquired about their bills.

Earlier this year, Clay Electric received reports that two commercial accounts in Clay County were the target of attempted scams. The two businesses reported someone claiming to represent the co-op contacted them about making payment on an overdue bill. In one case, a payment for more than $2,000 was requested, and the caller wanted the money "wired."

Clay Electric encourages the businesses it serves to be suspicious of anyone who calls and claims to represent the co-op and wants to be paid for an overdue bill. The cooperative does not collect past due amounts in this manner.

"If the caller asks you to wire money or use a prepaid debit card, that's a red flag," said Bruce McHollan, director of Clay's Information and Communication Technology Department. "If you have any doubt at all, hang up and call Clay Electric at 800-224-4917 and confirm if any payment is due."

Clay Electric sends a reminder letter and makes an automated reminder call when bills are past due. Members with residential accounts have also been subject to scam attempts during the past year that involved emails.

Clay Electric does not send emails that threaten or require immediate action to provide personal information.

New approaches at Animal Control

By Gregory A. Phillips
Staff Writer

PENNEY FARMS – In the past, Clay County Animal Care and Control was referred to as simply as "the pound," when it was referred to at all. The name had a ring of finality to it as most people only thought of it as a death camp for animals.

But a lot has changed in recent years, especially in the last seven months under the leadership of director Jennifer Broadhurst, D.V.M.

Building on years of work and input from the community, Broadhurst and her team continue to revamp the image of the shelter. The goal is to make the facility as a temporary stop on animal's way to finding its forever home and not a place to await their final hours on earth.

"We've had our euthanasia numbers drop quite a bit," Broadhurst said. "Part of the reason is the Friends of Clay County Animals. They started volunteering about two years ago and our dog euthanasia numbers really dropped down. A lot of that was due to social networking and just getting the dogs out there for people to see."

The numbers of animals euthanized has dropped precipitously from 2012

Hotel manager receives award

FLEMING ISLAND – Choice Hotels International recently honored Susan Soltys, general manager, for the Fleming Island Sleep Inn & Suites, with the 2014 Service Hero Award for her community involvement.

Susan Soltys

David Anderson, area director, Choice Hotels International, presented Soltys the award along with a luncheon on May 28.

The award read "Susan Soltys has a soft spot for children. After hearing that Communities in Schools for N.E. Florida was in desperate need of toiletries and clothes for needy children, Susan made it her mission to help. She got the staff involved in collecting clothing and helped find sponsors and donations for the organization's annual fundraiser.

Because of her efforts, each month, CIS has received boxes upon boxes of clothing, which will provide jackets, shoes, and toiletries for children in Clay and Putnam County. For this, Susan Soltys is a true Service Hero."

Soltys recently joined the board of director for Communities in Schools.

Tittle joins transportation department

JACKSONVILLE – The Florida Department of Transportation has a new media and community point person on board.

Ron Tittle comes to the Jacksonville urban region office as the new public information officer serving Clay, Duval and Nassau counties. He replaces Mike Goldman who recently retired.

Ron Tittle

FDOT has $817 million in construction projects underway in the Jacksonville area including the $160 million I-95 Overland Bridge project and Tittle will be responsible for communicating traffic impacts and pertinent information on these projects.

Tittle's most recent employment was with the Florida Department of Military Affairs, headquartered in St. Augustine, Fla. where he served during the past three years as deputy director of communications.

He is a 38-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force and Florida National Guard, rising through the enlisted ranks and retiring as a Lt. Colonel. He held various positions in his military career including director of public affairs for the Florida National Guard from 2001 to 2011.

"I'm thankful for the opportunities I've had with the military, particularly the Florida National Guard, and I'm excited about the next chapter in my life to work for such a professional, committed organization as FDOT," said Tittle. "My goal this year is to learn the various projects in the Northeast Florida area and work closely with elected officials, media, various organizations and the general public to not only let them know what FDOT is doing that may impact their lives but also for me to hear their concerns as well."

Meet T.C. Amato From part time to department head in 15 years

By Gregory A. Phillips
Staff Writer

ORANGE PARK – When you first lay eyes on T.C. Amato, you'll probably notice the easy going smile and the big arms.

Amato began his tenure with the Town or Orange Park in 1999 as an equipment operator for the town's parks and recreation department, but has since moved indoors to head up the town's economic and community development.

"We do a number of things. We handle all the permitting in the town, the zoning, planning as far as the comprehensive plan is concerned, and we do code enforcement and business tax out of this office," Amato said. "Tasha [Hyder] works [here] so we also do events out of this office as well."

A 1997 graduate of Middleburg High School, Amato played football for the Broncos where he endured the now-infamous "Bronos" prank. Several Middleburg students used diesel fuel to spell "Broncos" on the field of Orange Park High prior to the OP-Middleburg game. However, it didn't quite turn out like planned when they forgot the "C" in Broncos, so it ended up as Bronos on the field.

"I remember that. I think I was a sophomore at the time. It was like, come on guys, you just made Middleburg look worse," Amato said. "It would have been better if they hadn't done anything."

He then went on to the Florida Community College of Jacksonville in 1997 where he earned an associate of arts in business and public administration.

In 2001 Amato married his wife, Veronica, and now has three children ranging in age from 10 to 21-months-old. He and his family live in Middleburg, although Amato said he'd eventually like to relocate somewhere closer to mountains, perhaps Tennessee.

"I would like to live in the mountains, but my family lives here as does my wife's family," Amato said. "I've always liked life here."

Amato decided after attending FCCJ that he'd like to get into the working world. He looked around and found the equipment operator job with the town. While doing that job, Amato came to the realization that he did not want to be a laborer for the rest of his life and began working towards a bachelor's degree in business administration at Barry University.

Working for the Town of Orange Park while raising a family and working towards a bachelor's degree, Amato caught the eye of Gloria Neely, then head of the ECD. They decided on moving him inside to work in permitting and later working with Neely on zoning issues. As Neely approached retirement, she groomed Amato to be her replacement.

"For the last couple of years before she retired, she kind of turned everything over to me and taught me the ropes," Amato said.

He took over as the interim head of Economic and Community Development for Orange Park for almost a year before the new town manager hired someone else to be the regular head of the ECD and Amato was demoted to being the assistant again.

While this move stung, Amato still worked as hard as he ever did to perform his duties to the best of his abilities. It was that dedication to the town that landed him back in the same seat, only this time with the title of department manager.

"I put on my big boy pants and kept on working, doing what I always did and it ended up paying off," Amato said.

He continues to work to improve the town's services, as well as the customer service of his department. He plans put together a website listing all of the requirements needed for some of the more complicated permits so applicants can see exactly what paperwork they will need and only have to submit it one time to get their permit issued.

"I don't see a whole lot of change in the department. I look at some of the re-zonings that have come through recently and see the need for public comment on re-zonings to ensure that the growth of business in Orange Park can live hand-in-hand with the community feel of Orange Park," Amato said. "It's a juggling act, that's for sure."

Municipal Super Tuesday one step closer

By Gregory A. Phillips
Staff Writer

ORANGE PARK – Clay County's four municipalities moved one step closer to the creation of a Super Tuesday voting model for its next round of municipal election.

Clay County Supervisor of Elections Chris Chambless has been working for months to convince the leaders from Green Cove Springs, Keystone Heights and the Town of Orange Park to move their council elections to the same Tuesday as a cost-saving measure. Orange Park Town Council members voted at the June 3 meeting, 5-0 to direct staff to look into the potential cost savings for the town prior to moving forward with the concept.

"There would be no increase in cost [to Orange Park]. For instance, with regards to mailing out mail ballots, right now I don't know how much pre-sorting you do on your mailouts, but I would guess you're paying .48 cents if you have a meter or .49 cents if you do not," Chambless said. "We receive at least a .10 cent discount. If you joined the other municipalities in a mass mailout, you'd be saving thousands of dollars just on postage. We can mail out a first class letter for as low as .28 cents."

Chambless said if Orange Park would join the effort and send their absentee ballots through his office, they could again see savings via the bulk printing that they would do for everyone's ballots.

He also said buying legal ads in local newspapers, which is required by law, costs could be cut by having Green

New hurricane shelter set for Clay County

By Debra W. Buehn
Correspondent

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Fleming Island High School is set to be the newest hurricane shelter for Clay County, although it won't be ready for service during this year's hurricane season.

Bids for retrofitting the school to make it serviceable as an evacuation shelter are to go out soon with work starting shortly thereafter, said John Ward, deputy director of Clay County Emergency Management. Much of the work will be done over the summer so student life won't be interrupted, he added.

"We're trying to push it through during the summer," he said. "Plus, most of the work is on the exterior of the building," Ward said. That work will include such things as installing shutters for the cafeteria and building a protective wall around the school's generators.

When completed, the shelter should accommodate between 400 and 600 people, Ward said.

The cost of the project is estimated at about $140,000, which will be funded by state and federal grants, Ward said. Under terms of the grants, the work must be completed by Nov. 1. But because of required inspections and certifications, it won't be ready for use until the 2015 season, Ward said.

The shelter should bring a sense of relief to many Fleming Island residents, who won't have to leave the island if they need to seek shelter, Ward said.

"People like to stay close to their home and their property," Ward said.

The finished shelter will provide the final piece of infrastructure that will negate the need for Fleming Island to be completely evacuated in case of a major storm, Ward said. The island now has a hospital that will remain open, a fire station and other needed infrastructure that in the past weren't available but are necessary to safely sustain the population.

Once completed, the shelter will join 17 others in Clay County. Included in the shelters are some that are pet-friendly or suitable for those with special needs. Those wishing to use a special needs shelter are asked to register in advance on the county's website.

For more information about shelters, or to register for the county's CodeRED emergency alert system or a special needs shelter, visit the county's web site at www.claycountygov.com and follow the link to the CodeRED Community Notification Enrollment page. Those without Internet access may call the Clay County Emergency Management office at (904) 284-7704.

Evacuate

the topography of the ocean floor to determine what type of storm surge residents could face. Emergency planners in counties throughout Florida received the new data and, like Clay County, worked with other local officials to determine the new evacuation maps and zones, the first revamped maps since 2005.

The result for Clay County is that many more households than in the past could be told to evacuate in the face of a hurricane. Under the previous evacuation plan, some 6,807 homes would be told to evacuate as compared to 17,302 under the new plan. Most of the increased numbers would come from the McGirts Creek Basin, which is just west of Blanding Boulevard in the northern section of the county, to the Black Creek Basin, in the Green Cove Springs and Middleburg area.

Those areas could be particularly prone to flooding, Ward said.

With the new data, planners have designated evacuation areas with alphabetical labels. For Clay County, the zones are A, B and C, with A zones being the first that would be evacuated. In other areas, the zones go even further, with nearby Duval County, which has oceanfront territory, using zones from A to F. Emergency officials are trying to get away from using terms such as "Category 1" storms, Ward said, to keep people from being complacent.

"That's (complacency) probably the biggest thing we fight," he said, using Sandy, which hit the Northeast so hard basically classified as a tropical storm, as the "perfect example."

"That caused as much damage as a Cat 4 hurricane, but it wasn't even a hurricane," he said, adding that when people hear the approaching storm is "simply" a tropical storm, or a Category 1 hurricane, they may think they have nothing to worry about, when in fact, there can be plenty to worry about.

Another thing Ward worries about is that people won't respond when they are told it's time to evacuate. Many people have never really experienced how disastrous a storm can be, and fail to take action, despite the warnings emergency crews issue.

"Unfortunately, I cannot legally force a person to leave their home," he said.

But for those who do listen and respond, there are 17 shelters in Clay County people can use, with an 18th shelter set to come online at Fleming Island High for the 2015 hurricane season. Even so, Ward said, if possible, the best place to evacuate is to something besides a hurricane shelter, such as a friend or family member's home.

"A hurricane shelter should be the last resort. After all, it's not going to exactly be the Hilton," he said. "We prefer people stay with friends or family."

Most important of all is that people know their zone, and register with the county's emergency alert system called CodeRED, Ward said. Residents can register at www.claycountygov.com and follow the link to the CodeRED Community Notification Enrollment page. Those without Internet access can call Clay County Emergency Management at (904) 284-7703.

The evacuation and shelter map is also available for viewing at that site.

The ultimate goal, Ward said, is to make people as safe as possible.

"With all of this new data and new technology, we hope we can make people safer, and get them to take action if they need to," he said.

like checking out a book from your local library branch. It's called the Bow Wow Breakout Club. "I had a volunteer suggest to me that we start a jogging club. People could check out a dog and take it for a run. Then I had people ask about sleepovers, but I wanted to put everything under just one program," Broadhurst said. "So I did and I [asked] on Facebook for people to suggest names and the Bow Wow Breakout Club was the cutest one."

The new programs can have an impact on both canine and human. The canine gets to work on its socialization skills – both with humans and other dogs – away from the noise and distraction of the shelter while the human gets free unconditional love from a grateful dog.

One such meeting happened by pure happenstance. Natasha, a black pit bull mix, was having a challenge finding her forver home. Whenever people would visit Natasha, she appeared aggressive, not the type of dog a family would want to bring home.

One of the CCACC volunteers then checked out Natasha for the Breakout and once the dog got away from the hustle and bustle of the shelter, her entire demeanor changed. While on her break from the CCAC, Natasha met Alexis Crawford. The two bonded immediately and that chance meeting led to Crawford adopting the dog, the center's first to arise from the new cutting-edge program.

"I felt like I knew her from the pictures and video I had seen on Facebook, but when I went [to CCAC] to see her she was a lunatic. Jumping and barking," Crawford said. "Eventually she calmed down and chilled out. I just fell in love with her."

Jacob Landin

The program called Scholarships for Military Children announced recently that Jacob Landin is the recipient of a $2,000 scholarship, which was awarded through the commissary at Naval Air Station Jacksonville. He plans to attend Kansas State University.

Cove Springs, Orange Park and Keystone Heights advertise the elections in one legal ad instead of in three.

Additional savings could also come with consolidating the elections in terms of election staff, tabulation of ballots and announcement of the election results.

Chambless said Penney Farms opted out of taking part in the proposed multi-city election due to its small population numbers. Currently, the town handles its own elections using handwritten ballots. Chambless said he saw no reason to interfere with their process.

"Besides the savings, something else to consider is the absentee balloting of those citizens who are in the military deployed overseas. We assure that all statutory requirements are met. Right now all municipalities have their qualifying periods that do not allow for the military uniform overseas absent civilian voter to be afforded the 45 days of mailing time they would get in a county wide election," Chambless said.

Green Cove Springs has already voted to adopt the Super Tuesday approach and is currently waiting to negotiate with Keystone Heights, which is scheduled to review the concept at its July City Council meeting, and Orange Park to choose a specific day for the elections.

In other business, the council voted 5-0 to pass a proclamation making June 3, 2014 John Bowles Day. Bowles was presented with a key to the city, as well as a framed and signed copy of the proclamation by Mayor Steve Howard. Bowles worked as interim town manager since last October while town council conducted the search for its new town manager. Last month, town council hired James Hanson as its new town manager.

"It's an honor and a pleasure to be here with you gentlemen this evening. Looking back over the last 25 years, I can think of a lot that we've all accomplished together," Bowles said.

"It's been a team effort and I'd like to thank each and every one of you for being a part of this team and making Orange Park a better place to live."

It was announced that the Orange Park Department of Finance Director Susan Thompson has turned in her resignation to Hanson and that John Villanueva will take over on June 9 as the interim finance director. On June 19, Orange Park will host the Florida League of Cities at the BestBet Orange Park.

Solar power for summer gardens

Can't take the heat of summer? You're not alone.

Many Floridians take the summer off from vegetable gardening. Unlike our Northern neighbors, who are forced into seasonal shutdown in winter months, we're lucky enough to enjoy mild temperatures and a wide range of crops we can grow in cooler months. Due to high summer temps and humidity – and the pest and disease problems that these bring – summer is the season to skip for many Florida gardeners. If you'd rather spend your summer sipping lemonade, then consider solarizing your vegetable garden while you take time off in the shade.

Seasonal concerns from gardeners

Solarizing is a process for magnifying the sun's rays onto the soil. Heat is produced to help eliminate weed seeds, nematodes, diseases, and insects in the soil. This helps create a healthier start to your fall garden. The light of the sun will pass through the clear cover and build up below. Solarizing is a process for magnifying the sun's rays onto the soil. Heat is produced to help eliminate weed seeds, nematodes, diseases, and insects in the soil. This helps create a healthier start to your fall garden. The light of the sun will pass through the clear cover and build up below.

The heat raises the temperature of the soil to a degree that is lethal to many of the pests that plague our gardens. The process relies on several weeks of sunny days, so a cloudy or rainy summer can reduce the benefits. It also won't work for gardens that receive less than full sun; if yours gets six to eight hours a day, solarizing will work for you.

Solarizing relies on heat building below the cover. To work well, edges must be secured and care taken to prevent tears and punctures to the cover. When enough sunny weather has helped raise the temperatures, pest population levels can be reduced for three or four months through solarization.

To start, you'll need to get some clear plastic sheeting and a shovel. Clear plastic is the important part – it magnifies the sun's rays beneath the cover. While sheeting, colored tarps, or similar products may be handy or less costly, they won't work. Don't use anything opaque, translucent, frosted or colored. These reflect heat instead of absorbing it - so the heat is more likely to dry out or even burn any plants around your vegetable garden rather than help your soil.

Clear plastic comes in many thicknesses; the thicker it is, the less likely it will be to tear. Aim for the thickest your budget will allow, and get a piece that's at least one-to-two feet longer in each direction than your garden measurements. Once you have you materials together, it's time to prep your garden. Clear weeds and remove irrigation and any plant debris, making sure to get rid of roots, sticks, and stones that might puncture the cover. You can till or turn your soil for even better results. After you've prepped the soil, rake it smooth.

To work well, your soil needs to have some moisture without being soggy or waterlogged. Covering the day after a good rain is best. If soil is dry, you'll need to water the day before covering.

Once your prep work is done, dig a trench around the entire garden perimeter, placing the soil you remove to the outside of the garden area. Now you're ready to cover. Spread the plastic sheet out over the garden. If a friend or family member isn't available to help, a large cardboard box can help hold down the middle while you smooth out the edges. Make sure each edge lies in the trench and the surface is smooth, and then replace soil in the trench on top of the plastic. Check to make sure that all the edges are secure – any airflow below the cover can cool the soil and prevent effective solarization.

Check the cover periodically throughout the season to make sure your cover stays intact. Small tear and holes should be patched with duct tape as they occur. If rain or irrigation water puddles on the surface that's fine, but clean off any dirt or debris that settles on the cover. Then grab that lemonade or iced tea, sit back and enjoy having solar power do your summer garden work for you.

Want someone to answer a specific plant question for you? Go online to our website at UF/IFAS Clay County Extension http://clay.ifas.ufl.edu and under the heading "Horticulture" (left hand side of page) left click on "Ask a Master Gardener" and a reply will be sent plus a hyperlink to the appropriate University of Florida Fact Sheets. Please send us a digital picture of the problem. TRIALS AND TRIUMPHS

This is a question I was recently asked: "If the Lord has promised to always be with us, why do we often have to go through such trials and hardships?"

This is the very point of His always being with us. If we never had problems, trials, hardships, would we realize our need for Him? He told us in His Word that the difficulties we often face will come.

Trials are an expected part of our lives. "Dear friends, do not be surprised at the fiery ordeal that has come on you to test you, as though something strange were happening to you." (I Peter 4:12 NIV) So expect trials; they will come.

When trials come, He is with you. Jesus promised it when He said, "I am with you always, to the end of the age." (Matt. 28:20 ESV)

The battles in life are spiritual. "For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms." (Eph. 6:12 NIV) If you are going to win a battle in the spiritual world, you must fight with spiritual weapons. We have been promised the proper resources to win such battles. "The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds." (2 Cor. 10:4 NIV)

There are battles to be fought. The battles are spiritual. God has provided spiritual weapons for us to fight these battles. If we fight the battles with God's weapons we will always be victorious.

Today is your day of victory. The enemy's attack on you will not succeed if you will stand in the power of your Savior. In everything we triumph through Him because He makes us "more than conquerors!" (Romans 8:37-39)

EDWARD ANDREW KILNER

Edward Andrew Kilner, 81, of Fleming Island, Florida passed away Friday, May 23, 2014. Ed was born on June 23, 1932 in Cleveland, Ohio to parents Joseph Charles and Martha Kilner.

At 17 years of age, Ed enlisted in the United States Army and was assigned to Company M of the 38th Infantry Regiment during the Korean War. Ed was severely injured in this arduous conflict and lost many close friends. The Family especially appreciates the support of Doyle Parman, one of his surviving comrades, whose weekly calls lifted his spirit. Ed was awarded two purple hearts, the Combat Infantry badge and a Bronze Star. Ed was later recruited to travel the United States to train, recruit, and motivate for a Cosmetic business.

Luckily, this is how Ed met and married the love of his life, Florence Diane Holder. In February 1969, Ed and Diane were married and together they joined forces and moved to Jacksonville, Florida. They began a Directorship in Fashion Two Twenty and started many additional Cosmetic and Jewelry businesses. Later, Ed went back into Automotive Sales and Management in Green Cove Springs, Florida. His mantra in the business was "Any job worth doing is a job worth doing right." Ed was of the Catholic faith and a man of integrity, generosity and kind spirit. His sense of humor will not easily be forgotten. Ed will be missed manicuring his perfect lawn and sharing all of his stories from a life well lived. He was predeceased by his parents and wife Diane, a son Mark Kilner and brothers Tom and Bob Kilner. Ed is survived by and will be sorely missed by his children Jim Holder (Mia), Kimberly Holder (Alec) and Kelly Brannigan (Jason), Barbara Schneck (Lester/Bud) and David Kilner, 10 Grandchildren and 1 Great grandchild; sisters, Helen Sabatula (Ron) and Patsy Jankowski; daughter–in-law Rhonda Kilner; sisters-in-law, Carol and Marge Kilner. Graduate cinnamon rolls from scratch during her volunteer tenure and dressing up as Curious George while her husband served in the U.S Air Force. After garnering a few years of volunteering, she had a conversation with a teacher that would change her life again.

"One day during casual conversation one of the teachers said, 'Cheryl, you're at this school every day, you should get paid to be here.' My desire to help children learn and grow, as well as help the educators in any way I could was the motivation that drove me to be so involved. I soon found out I could become more involved in student development by becoming a substitute teacher," Grant said.

A few years later, she took another step and moved into her current role as a teacher assistant at W.E. Cherry Elementary where she works with students who have autism spectrum disorder.

When Colby entered middle school, she returned to college and finished her associate degree fulfilling an agreement she had with her husband. Then, like many military families, they had to pick up the family and move.

"Things kind of changed. Just life happens," she said in an interview.

But her educational quest did not end there. When Colby finished a semester at the University of North Florida and realized he was struggling to balance his day job as a teacher assistant at RideOut Elementary working with students who have emotional behavior disorders, with classes and the commute to Jacksonville's Southside, another change occurred.

"He said, 'Mom, I've heard some really great things about St. Leo, you need to come. Come with me' and I went. I can't say enough about St. Leo," Grant said.

The Grants' May 30 graduation capped off a bachelor's degree study program in which mom and son took every class together, except for two classes Colby took at UNF. Soft spoken and well-mannered, the 25-year-old Grant said having been a fellow student of his mom's involved a lot of support.

"It's one of those things where you have to have patience," said Colby Grant. "It was a good experience, I'll say that."

Alexandra Kanellis, Ph.D., right, pauses with a St. Leo University student at the school's May 30 commencement at the Thrasher-Horne Center for the Arts. Kanellis encouraged Cheryl Grant to never give up despite Grant's many threats to do so while working on her bachelor's degree.

He said while doing homework, he often found himself completing an assignment in what seemed like as few as five minutes, while Cheryl would struggle and over think the same assignment. She became frustrated and often pondered quitting.

"At the beginning, middle and end, she thought about dropping out. But there's something always constant about her. It's always been about hard work and never giving up. She's basically lived in a box in a home and, she came back and still kept going," Colby Grant said.

Alexandra Kanellis, Ph.D., an assistant professor of education at St. Leo University, recommended Cheryl Grant's story as an example of what some non-traditional students have to overcome to finish college. "She stood out because of her perseverance. She and Colby are very different personalities. So when you walk into the classroom, you have Cheryl who's bringing in all of her experiences from the elementary classroom and she's vocal and she's loud and she talks. And then you have Colby. And Colby has the same experiences he's bringing in and yet he's silent and so when he needs to talk, he talks and he shares. It's very artistic in the classroom as to when he's going to share, whereas, Cheryl is a wealth of experience and she's eager to share it," Kanellis said.

But the Grants' story goes beyond that of two people who juggled life-family responsibilities while completing college. Kanellis said public schools need professional minority teachers to serve as positive role models for children.

"We need minority teachers, especially in Clay County and we need young minority male teachers," Kannalis said. "And so, the fact that they had each other together and they're going into the field together is giving an example to a lot of young men and women that 'I can do this too'."

Kanellis' encouragement, Cheryl Grant said, stuck with her to a point she now wants to share with others.

"Graduation is but one goal; my new goal is to take the lessons I have learned and use them to educate and inspire our next generation of leaders, business owners, and educators to set life goals, dream big dream, and move them all towards a brighter future," Grant said.

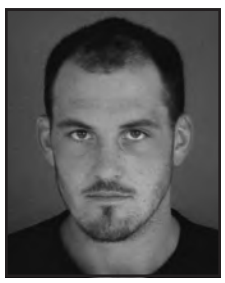
Police Briefs

Man charged with having sex with minor

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Officers with the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office recently helped Clay authorities with the arrest of a Green Cove Springs man.

A JSO officer arrested Joshua Joseph Riley Noto, 25, on June 2 in the 6100 block of Youngerman Circle in Jacksonville and turned him over to Clay County Sheriff's Office officials.



Joshua Noto

Noto faces one count of sexual activity with certain underage minors after a minor teenage girl in Lake Asbury admitted to a CCSO officer that she and Noto had had sex.

Under Florida law, if either party is above age 18 and the consenting party is younger, it is against the law to have sex. Initially, according to the police report, the teen told police she and Noto were just friends and said, "I don't want him to get in trouble for anything," stated the highly redacted police report.

Investigators obtained an arrest warrant for Noto after initiating the investigation on May 24.

Noto was booked into the Clay County Jail where, at press time, he remained. His bond is set at $25,003.

He also faces one count of driving with a suspended license outside of Clay County.

Death threats lead to arrest

OAKLEAF – What began as a weekend domestic disturbance in the Oakleaf area ended in the arrest of a North Carolina man.

The Clay County Sheriff's Office arrested Jamar Anthony Gray, 26, of Hope Mills, N.C., on May 31 at 2:12 a.m. in the 3300 block of Horseshoe Trail Drive in the Oakleaf area.

Jamar Gray

Police said Gray had verbally threatened to kill "everyone in the house" while holding a .45-caliber pistol. Police said Gray's sister-in-law felt threatened and called police because "no one could defuse the situation," stated the police report.

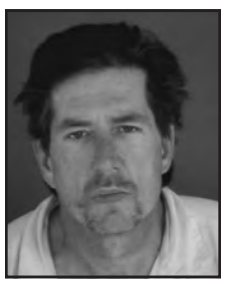
Gray's brother, Todd Gray, told police that "everybody was stressed because of his grandmother dying." However, he said his brother never placed his finger on the trigger.

Jamar Gray was booked into the Clay County Jail and charged with domestic aggravated assault with intent to commit a felony. He was released from jail on an undisclosed bond on June 3.

Middleburg man faces kidnapping, sex charge

ORANGE PARK – Authorities in Orange Park have charged a Middleburg man with kidnapping and sexually assaulting a 30-year-old woman.

The Orange Park Police Department reports that, around 9:38 p.m. on May 30, Lowell Bruce Stewart, 54, was arrested and later booked into the Clay County Jail.



Lowell Stewart

"Investigation revealed that the offender and victim had met earlier in the evening and had spent some time together at the victim's apartment," stated a report from Lt. John Jock of the Orange Park Police Department. "During the initial encounter, the offender tried to touch the victim in an appropriate manner and she called police."

Jock said the victim made Stewart leave her apartment, but later that evening, Stewart approached her at the Star Food Mart at the intersection of Loring and Park avenues.

"While at the Start Food Mart the offender approached the victim and indicated that he had a gun and would harm the victim if she did not come with him," the report stated.

Police said Stewart led the woman to a nearby wooded area where he sexually assaulted her. Nearby residents heard the victim's screams and called police.

At press time, Stewart remained in jail where his bond is set at $200,006.

Middleburg woman faces assault charge

MIDDLEBURG – A Middleburg woman faces an assault charge after threatening to cut her husband with a large kitchen knife.

The Clay County Sheriff's Office arrested Debra Carol Newberry, 50, on May 30 at 6:31 p.m. in the 3800 block of Woodmere Lane in Middleburg. She is charged with one count of aggravated assault with intent to commit a felony.

Debra Newberry

According to the police report, Newberry was intoxicated when she made the threat. Two witnesses, including her threatened husband, told police they believed she would have cut her husband had he not locked himself in their bedroom.

Police said "once [Newberry] realized she could not get to the victim, she lay on the floor and passed out due to being intoxicated by alcohol."

Newberry was booked into the Clay County Jail where she has since been released on bond.

DUI manslaughter case awaits sentencing

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Officials have scheduled June 23 to hold a sentencing hearing for a Middleburg man who recently pleaded guilty to DUI manslaughter and one other charge.

Court records show that Brooks Lee Collier, 53, pleaded guilty on May 13 to one count each of DUI manslaughter and leaving the scene of a crash involving death.

Collier is charged with the death of his wife, Nola Collier, that occurred after a domestic dispute on March 9, 2013.

Clay County Sheriff's Office deputies said Collier backed over his wife with his pickup truck following an argument that took place at their home around 8:20 p.m. in the 3400 block of Alec Drive in Middleburg.

Brooks Collier

According to the police report, Collier and his wife Nola Collier had been drinking when the fight broke out. Brooks Collier left the house in his pickup while his wife "opened the driver's side door of the vehicle in an attempt to stop [him] from leaving the residence," stated the report from the Clay County Sheriff's Office.

When Nola Collier became trapped between the body of the truck and the open driver's door, she fell to the ground and "the defendant's vehicle struck [her] causing severe injuries. The defendant then left the area without stopping to render aid or support," stated the report.

Nola Collier died about an hour later at Orange Park Medical Center.

Collier was originally only charged with one count of failure to stop and remain at a crash involving death, but the charges were upgraded after results of s blood-alcohol test revealed he was intoxicated at the time of his wife's death.

Brooks Collier, according to police records, has a history of fleeing and eluding police on at least two other occasions. Officers have been called to his home 43 times in the past for various complaints ranging from dog bite investigations to loud disturbances and two suicide threats.

Collier remains in the Clay County Jail awaiting sentencing.

Fourth Circuit Court Judge John H. Skinner is presiding on the case. Under Florida law, Collier faces up to 12 years in state prison.

Owner of Green Cove Springs convenience store to be sentenced in federal court

JACKSONVILLE – An Orange Park man pleaded guilty May 28 to stealing government property described as fraudulently-obtained tax refunds.

Antoun Arbaji

Antoun Arbaji, 36, faces a maximum penalty of 10 years in federal prison, as well as an obligation to pay back approximately $1.9 million in restitution to the United States. A sentencing date has not yet been set in U.S. District Court in Jacksonville.

According to the plea agreement, Abas Issa, a co-defendant, owned and operated a convenience store in Green Cove Springs known as V&J Stores Inc. Arbaji owned and operated another convenience store – a Fina Express – in Green Cove Springs, a few blocks away.

In 2011, Issa began obtaining fraudulently-obtained tax refund checks and refund anticipation loan checks from a source in Tampa.

Issa, in turn, located individuals like Arbaji who, for a percentage fee, would cash the checks through their business accounts. After cashing the checks, Arbaji would remit the cash proceeds to Issa. The investigation found that Issa, in turn, would keep a fee and remit the remainder of the proceeds to the source of the checks in Tampa.

During 2011, Arbaji cashed more than $1.5 million in fraudulently-obtained tax refund checks and more than $400,000 in fraudulently-obtained refund anticipation loan checks, using his Fina Express business account. After cashing the checks, he delivered the proceeds to Issa, who, after collecting his fee, delivered the remaining proceeds to a source in Tampa. Many of the fraudulent checks were issued on behalf of individuals who were deceased at the time the tax returns were filed.

According to court records, officials seized more than $352,000 from Arbaji's bank account prior to the return of an indictment in this case.

The Internal Revenue Service's Criminal Investigation Division, the U.S. Secret Service and the Florida Department of Law Enforcement investigated the case. No timeline was given on when the other co-defendants in the case will head to court.

Oakleaf area vandals arrested

OAKLEAF – Swift action and a keen eye are credited with helping solve recent break-ins at two public schools in the Oakleaf area of Clay County.

"These arrests are the result of extra surveillance in the Oakleaf area combined with diligent residents and CCSO Juvenile Crime and Patrol deputies keeping their eyes open for suspicious activity," said Mary Justino, public information officer with the Clay County Sheriff's Office.

On May 27, deputies charged Christopher Scott Jones, 13, with three felonies and two misdemeanors in the break-ins. His arrest led officers to charging Dylan Joseph-Mark Cross, 14, and Emmanuel D. Villaverde, 13, in the case as well. All three have Orange Park addresses and are Oakleaf area residents.

Christopher Jones

A CCSO deputy interviewed the teens on May 27 after they were spotted running near Oakleaf Junior High shortly before 7 p.m. The deputy asked them if they had been at the school after school hours, then took them back to the school where, together, they walked through the building and quizzed them about the damages.

Dylan Cross

According to the report, profanity and gang names and pictures had been scrawled on a portable classroom and paper towels and tissue crammed into toilets in the bathrooms.

Emmanuel Villaverde

The agriculture program's livestock were also involved in the break-ins. The officer said the teens "purposely left the main gate to the fence open with the intent to release the livestock and poultry."

Prior to the break-in at Oakleaf Junior High, CCSO officers investigated a break-in at Plantation Oaks Elementary that occurred during the weekend of May 17-18.

CCSO Lt. Patrick Golemme said seven portable buildings that house fifth grade classes were vandalized that weekend. He said telecommunication lines were ripped out of some of the portables and windows were broken in all seven buildings.

That Monday, students were kept out of the areas until the glass was cleaned up, Golemme said. The second grade hallway had windows broken and the fire extinguishers were expelled both in the hallways and in the cafeteria, he said.

Clay County School officials estimated the damages to be around $6,000 at Plantation Oaks alone. This marks the second time in a two-week period that Plantation Oaks has been vandalized. On May 12, an assistant principal at the school told CCSO investigators that one portable classroom had been entered through an apparent unlocked door.

According to the incident report, there were boxes with contents found dumped on the floor, writing scribbled on the dry erase board along with a broken glass beaker. Police also found a speaker ripped from the classroom wall.

Also during the weekend of May 12, CCSO officials said someone entered Oakleaf Junior High through an unlocked door and discharged two fire extinguishers before removing them from the school grounds. Police said an American flag was also found damaged in that break-in.

All three are charged with one count each of burglary and grand theft of a fire extinguisher, while Cross and each Villaverde face one count each of vandalism valued at $1,000 or more. Meanwhile, Jones is charged with one count each of breaking a fence containing animals, criminal mischief valued at $200 or more and trespassing on school grounds.

After the teens were booked on the charges at the CCSO Orange Park sub-station, they were taken to a juvenile detention center in Jacksonville.

Bus driver from Orange Park in Jax crash

JACKSONVILLE – Driving under the influence charges are pending for a Jupiter, Fla. woman following a Friday morning traffic accident involving a school bus.

The Florida Highway Patrol said Janice Marie Bogen, 51, was driving a 2008 Chevrolet Silverado on May 30 around 8:43 a.m. when she struck a school bus driven by William Gaines, 54, of Orange Park. Officials said the school bus was empty.

According to the police report, Bogen was driving westbound on Atlantic Boulevard in the center lane to the left of the school bus when, for an unknown reason, the front right of the Silverado collided with the left side of the school bus.

After the collision of the two vehicles, the Silverado attempted to leave the scene but Jacksonville Sheriff's Office deputies stopped her away from the scene of the crash. FHP officials conducted a DUI investigation on Bogen and are awaiting pending urine analysis.

Neither driver was injured, but officials estimate the crash caused about $5,000 in damages.

Sheriff warns against phone call scam

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – The Clay County Sheriff's Office is warning Clay County residents of a phone scam that seems to be reappearing locally. Last Wednesday and Thursday, CCSO officials received three complaints about scam calls received and the Green Cove Springs Police Department has received one more separate complaint.

Callers pose as law enforcement supervisors and tell the intended victim that they have to make a payment using a prepaid cash card to avoid arrest for an outstanding warrant, missed jury duty or other-related law enforcement issue.

"At this time, we do not know who the criminals/callers are but the investigation is active," stated Mary Justino, CCSO public information officer. "Any such call is fraudulent and bogus." The CCSO reminds residents – don't fall for it. Make note of as much information as possible and report it to your local law enforcement agency.

In January, when this type of scam was first exposed locally, the investigation led authorities to Georgia where a man who was incarcerated at the time teamed up with his girlfriend to make calls to multiple Florida cities.

Daniel Ray Floyd, 38, was the leader of this crime spree and surprisingly ran the operation from a prison cell in Autry State Prison in Pelham, Ga. His girlfriend and accomplice, Ashley Nicole Dean, 27, of Fayetteville, Ga., would scan the newspapers looking for articles about which municipalities were using red light cameras for ticketing people who run red lights.

In February, Dean was charged with two counts of schemes to defraud valued at less than $20,000 and extradited to the Clay County Jail.

County gets Think Green grant

GREEN COVE SPRINGS – Keep Clay Beautiful was recently awarded a $4,000 Waste Management Think Green Grant to improve community environments through education, recycling, cleanups and beautification programs. The grant will go toward the annual St. Johns River Cleanup and help with cleanup efforts at the Clay County Agricultural Fair. In 2010, the Clay County Agricultural Fair approached Waste Management and Keep Clay Beautiful to increase its recycling throughout its 10-day fair. This past April was a record year of trash collecting with 5.41 tons of recyclables collected. Three tons of grease, two tons of hay and 64 tons of manure were also recycled. The funding also supported Keep Clay Beautiful's St. Johns River Cleanup held March 17 in which more than 226 volunteers cleaned the St. Johns River, which is a vital waterway for both commerce and recreation in Clay County.

was informal with engineers, designers, public relations officials and others even tangentially-involved on hand to answers questions. Originally promoted as a way to celebrate the completion of the new toll road's frontage roads –now dubbed Challenger Drive for the northbound road and Discovery Drive for the southbound road – the open house featured tables and walls covered with lengthy maps showing toll gantry collection points, as well as signage and access points on the massive thoroughfare. One common theme ran through the crowd – people wanted to know how this road would touch their lives.

"I came here to find out if there's a way around all this stuff," said Ellen Gallagher, a Branan Oaks resident. "They're going to close my Chaffee Road so I'll have to go around, I guess. It's going to take me longer to get to work too. Instead of leaving at 2 a.m., I'll leave at 1 a.m."

Gallagher attended the open house with her boyfriend, Rick Smith, who has been a supporter of the project from conception. Smith, who works in the civil engineering and road construction industry, said his main concern now is about traffic safety on the new frontage roads.

"They've got to do something about the speeders," Smith said. "I see they have those radar machines out there now, but they've got to do something else. It's not working."

With the eight-mile first phase from I-10 to Argyle Forest Boulevard scheduled to be completed in early 2016 to the tune of $77 million, FDOT has engaged Parsons Brinckerhoff to construct phase two, which will run southward from Argyle Forest Boulevard to Blanding Boulevard. As part of phase two, two toll gantry stations will be erected.

One will be just north of Trail Ridge Road, while the second toll station will be just north of Plantation Oaks Boulevard, which will run underneath the toll road upon completion. No tolls will be collected until "construction is completed between I-10 and Blanding Boulevard," according to FDOT documents. Officials hope to complete phase two construction in the summer of 2016.

When the tolls are in place, work crews will not operate the toll stations. Instead, the stations will use an electronic system that will function in two ways.

One way allows drivers to pay tolls using the electronic SunPass system that can be purchased at Publix supermarkets and re-loaded with credits via the driver's personal account on the Internet. However, for those occasional drivers who will only drive the thoroughfare a few times a year, they can pay by what's call "toll by plate."

"A camera at the tolling station takes a snapshot of your vehicle license plate and mails you your bill for the toll in toll by plate," said Huy Le, an enginner-in-training with Parsons Brinckerhoff. "Toll by plate will cost the driver 80-cents a trip, while SunPass equates to about 60-cents per trip."

Le said he had spent a lot of time at the open house fielding concerns about the tolls. Overall, he fielded a mix of questions.

"They're asking me about the tolls and they're asking me about the free routes," Le said. "Mostly they want to know how much it will cost for the tolls and how many there will be."

Upon completion, from Blanding Boulevard to I-10, there are seven toll collection stations planned for the roadway.

"I had a couple of people who were not happy about the tolls and I had another man who was fair about it," Le said.

Around the end of June, the southern end of Chaffee Road that connects to State Road 23 will be closed and traffic will be detoured to Normandy Boulevard. Officials will extend Samaritan Way to provide access between Chaffee Road and 103rd Street. FDOT expects the Samaritan Way extension construction to take two-to-three weeks and, once completed, there will no longer be direct access from Chafee Road to the new toll road.

Every parent knows that kids and accidents go together.

It was no different for the Saine family recently with daughter Kylie.

While helping Dad wash the truck, Kylie accidently fell out the back, hitting her head hard against the pavement. Her parents rushed her from their home in Middleburg to the new Wolfson Children's ER at Baptist Clay, where Kylie was cared for by the same skilled ER doctors who see tens of thousands of kids every year at Wolfson Children's Hospital in Jacksonville. A CT scan, using protocols designed just for children, enabled her pediatric ER physician and radiologist to rule out traumatic head injury, much to her parents' relief. Having the very best care for kids so close to home — that's changing health care for good.

Florida SOL Soccer wins season opener

By Anthony Richards
Correspondent

FLEMING ISLAND – The Florida SOL Soccer Club, behind two goals by former Ponte Vedra High star Brooke Sharp, began its season with a 2-1 win fashion over visiting Florida Rush Soccer Club May 31 at the Clay County Soccer Complex in Eagle Harbor. The Rush club is from Clermont, Fla.

"That's what she does, she scores goals," said head coach Luis Torres, who looks to repeat as the defending Sunshine Conference champions in the Women's Premiere Soccer League, which is based in Texas. "Every year, we add new players and, in each of the four years that we've been here, we get better each year."

The beginning of the game was a feeling out process by both teams who had yet to become fully comfortable with their new teammates after only one week of practice. Returning to play for Torres this year are former St. Johns Country Day School standouts Kaili Torres, now at University of Virginia, and Annie Bobbitt, now at the University of Florida along with Sharp. From Fleming Island High School, playing were Amanda Lodge and Katie Nimitz. One of the more elite members of the team is USA womens' national team member Morgan Brian, also a University of Virginia standout. Brian was recently honored as the 2013 recipient of the Missouri Athletic Club's Hermann Trophy, the equivalent of the Heisman Trophy in NCAA football. Brian was also named the TopDrawerSoccer.com Player of the Year after an ACC-leading 46 points scored off 16 goals and 14 assists, a school record, this year.

"It took them awhile to find a rhythm and our ball movement could have been better, but overall I thought they played well for their first game together," Torres said of his team's first half slow start. "With the amount of soccer talent out there, they have to learn each other's moves and then it starts looking good."

As the game wore on, the SOL's aggressiveness began to pay off with prime scoring chances including one by Sharp who moved in on goal but could not sneak a shot past a sprawling goalie.

The NCAA's best player, SOL midfielder Morgan Brian, brings her talent from the University of Virginia and the USA Women's National team to Clay County each summer.

"The outside backs like to come up so you know that whenever they get the ball, they're going to dribble up the line and create chances for everyone," said Sharp.

She would make up for it later in the first half by hammering home a precision touch pass by Stacy Hubbard and gave SOL the lead 1-0 in the first half of play.

With the game tied at one in the second half, the offensive flow began to pick up for the Sol and Sharp delivered once again with a rocket shot from the top of the penalty box which was setup perfectly by Torres.

"We haven't all played together, but we all realized that we needed to finish those guys," Sharp said. "We connected together and it looked like we had played more than we have."

From there the defense took over and completely eliminated Rush scoring chances and making it difficult to find enough space to enter the offensive zone.

"They sat back a lot and we definitely owned the possession which was just what we wanted to do," said Brian.

The Sol's defense came up big throughout and the backline showed great communication with University of Virginia teammates Julia Sroba and Emily Sonnett who were backed up in goal by former Clay Blue Devil Kylie Wilson.

"We have a lot of individual talent and it just took us a couple minutes to start clicking as a team, but once we did, it was a

SJCDS competes in triathlon

Special to Clay Today

JACKSONVILLE – Thirty-two St. Johns Country Day School students recently participated in the Sixth Annual First Coast Kids Triathlon. Along with nearly 2,000 other young athletes from North Florida, the Lower and Middle School students from St. Johns competed on May 17 and 18 at Jacksonville University.

In preparation for the First Coast Kids Triathlon, St. Johns athletes worked hard after school with Jackie Morrison for the past eight weeks to practice for the event's swimming, running and cycling competitions.This was the second consecutive year that St. Johns was represented in the First Coast Kids Triathlon and the first year that Headmaster Ed Ellison demonstrated his support for the event as a "Celebrity Big Kid."

The First Coast Kids Triathlon is a not-for-profit organization committed to exposing children to active & healthy lifestyles. The event also gives back to the community by serving as a fundraising vehicle for local schools. In total, the Kids Triathlon expects to donate more than $13,000 back to participating schools and organizations.

This year's Triathlon featured two divisions of general competition: a 10-year-and-under group and an 11-15-year-old group. The younger division swam 100 yards, biked three miles and ran a half-mile. The older group swam 200 yards, biked six miles and ran one mile.

title in softball. Against Oregon on Friday, Little blooped a two-run double in the third inning to secure a 4-0 win over top-seed Oregon in the NCAA Women's College World Series Final Four qualifier.

"It was hit high, the sun was brutal and I don't think the sun was a big part in that," said Gator coach Tim Walton. "I think she tripped or did something going backwards, but it was a hustle play and you need those breaks to win games here at the college World Series."

On Sunday, seeded fifth in the 2014 NCAA Tournament, the Gators won 6-3 over 12th-seed Baylor in the semifinals of the Women's College World Series.

Against Baylor, in the Final Four semifinal, Little doubled in the second inning, but was left stranded, but came back in the fourth with a triple into deep left field. A bunt scored Little and put the Gators up 2-0. In the fifth, Little was hit by a pitch and later scored off a double to put the score at 5-0. Florida advanced to the national championship against Alabama and won game one 5-0 on Monday. Florida has outscored their opponents 66-3 in their championship series this year. The Gators beat Baylor 11-0 in five innings last week.

Prior to the Baylor game, the Gators shut out three straight opponents dating back to Sunday's regional final victory over Washington, and senior right-hander Hannah Rogers held the Ducks to a season-low three hits. In the second inning against Oregon, Florida (52-12) blasted the Ducks with a home run from Bailey Castro to go up 1-0 on the Ducks (55-8-1).

Florida had two baserunners to start the third when Stewart singled up the middle and Kirsti Merritt walked. Castro produced again when she laced a two-out base hit to left to score Stewart, pushing the Florida lead to 2-0. Little followed with a bloop to shallow right that the Oregon second baseman lost in the sun, resulting in an RBI double that plated Merritt and Castro. Little recorded her eighth multi-RBI game of the season and her first since May 3 at Arkansas. Staked to a 4-0 lead, Rogers (28-8) allowed a two-out single in the third before ending the inning with a strikeout. Kathlyn Medina walked to start the fourth, and Stewart and Merritt followed with singles to load the bases for Lauren Haeger. The junior reached on a fielder's choice, but Kathlyn Medina was forced out at home on the play before a flyout by Stephanie Tofft ended the inning. Rogers set down the Ducks in order in the bottom of the fourth.

Castro had a leadoff single to start the fifth, but she was left at first. Rogers allowed a two-out walk in the bottom of the frame before stranding the runner. Merritt laced a two-out single through the right side in the sixth, but she was unable to advance. Oregon's leadoff hitter had a bunt single with one out in the sixth, but Florida's senior hurler caught a comebacker to start an inning-ending double play.

Florida was retired in order in the top of the seventh before Rogers set the Ducks down 1-2-3 in the bottom of the inning to secure a berth in the WCWS semifinals.

Against Alabama on Monday, Little had two flyouts, a groundout and got to first base after being hit by a pitch.

In last year's elimination game against Nebraska, a 9-8, 15-inning win for the Gators in the longest-ever World Series game in NCAA history, Little blasted a home run in the 10th inning for a slim 7-6 Gator lead that turned quickly to a 7-7 score in the Nebraska at bat with their own home run.

For 2014, Little is hitting .330 for the Gators in 28 starts in 49 games played with 25 hits in 91 at bats. Little has five homers and 26 runs batted with five doubles.

Florida lost to Arizona State in 2011 and Washington in 2009 in the WCWS championship tournament.

A chat with Miami linebacker coach Michael Barrow

Darrion Owens learning fast as Hurricanes' LB

By Randy Lefko
Sports Editor

FLEMING ISLAND – The University of Miami Hurricanes football team has had its share of Super Bowl-great linebackers; Ray Lewis (13-times All Pro-Baltimore Ravens), Ted "Mad Stork" Hendricks (8-times Pro Bowler-Oakland Raiders), and Jesse Armstead (5-times Pro Bowler-New York Giants) in the past and with returning wrecking machine Denzell Perryman leading the crushing this year, former Oakleaf High defensive stalwart Darrion Owens will be seeing and learning from one of the best in America.

Owens, who dual-enrolled in January, has been participating with the Hurricanes spring football team and has been opening eyes wide for the Hurricane coaching staff, especially linebackers' coach Michael Barrow.

"What has impressed me the most is, as a freshman, he is not only a great athletic football player with instincts and techniques, but that he has been raised as a quality student and person," said Barrow, during a phone conversation from his Miami office. "His parents raised him right. His coaches coached him right. And Darrion has made himself a guy that will be successful both on the field and off the field."

In the Hurricanes' April 14 Spring Game scrimmage, Owens was credited with two tackles; one for a loss.

"Darrion has come in with a great attitude and is learning very fast that this is not Pop Warner football," said Barrow. "Coming here in January, though, is a great advantage because he gets to see the playbook early which is as big as the Bible on his grandma's living room table."

Barrow anticipated some varsity reps for Owen in the upcoming season and that Oakleaf High followers should look for him on television.

"He has become a Sam linebacker for us, strong side linebacker, and a third down pass rusher in our Nickel defense," said Barrow. "As a linebacker for us, he will also see some special teams play as well."

Barrow liked Owen's assimilation of the college game thus far. "I've been here eight years and I've seen the deer-in-the-headlights look from all of our young linebackers at one time or another," said Barrow. "Darrion has been impressive and has gotten his Baptism by fire with the talent we have here."

SPECIAL TO CLAY TODAY

Former Oakleaf High standout linebacker Darrion Owens got to Miami in January to start the next phase of football with the University of Miami Hurricanes.

One aspect of Barrow's approach to coaching young linebackers is to give the new guy a "coupon" for mistakes.

"I can take a guy being aggressive and enthusiastic all day and I give each player a 'coupon' to use for a mistake," said Barrow. "My rule is that they can only use that coupon if they are going full tilt when the mistake is made. We expect mistakes from our young guys, but everyone can hustle and get to the ball with some fire. That's Hurricane football all day. The only way to defeat a great athlete is to out-think him."

Barrow liked Owens' incoming linebacker knowledge and credited Oakleaf High head coach Derek Chipoletti and defensive coordinator Cliff Harrell. "The staff at Oakleaf High School did a great job in preparing him for the college game," said Barrow. "Not just on the field, but off the field with the study habits of the playbook."

Oakleaf High had two good years with Darrion Owens on the defense and Miami Hurricane coach Michael Barrow credited the Knights coaching staff with prepping Owens for college ball.

OPHS alum Davis named Scholar-Athlete

Special to Clay Today

PERU, NEB. – The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics has announced that Peru State College baseball catcher Derrick Davis, also an Orange Park High School standout, was chosen along with 257 baseball student-athletes to the 2014 Daktronics-NAIA Scholar-Athletes.

In order to be nominated by an institution's head coach, a student-athlete must maintain a minimum grade point average of 3.5 on a 4.0 scale and must have achieved junior academic status to qualify for this honor.

Both Davis and Keller were first-time honorees. The designated hitter/catcher Davis was a management and computer management information systems major and recently graduated with honors. Keller, a pitcher, will graduate next fall with a sport and exercise science and business administration degree.

Davis also earned the similar status this fall as a member of the Bobcat football team.

Bobcat head baseball coach Wayne Albury was pleased that Derrick and Vance were named as Scholar-Athletes. Albury said, "When a baseball player earns an academic honor, it is indicative of their ability to truly manage their time between practice, games, and school. It is tough because of the amount of time spent out of the classroom."

Davis is a two-year varsity player for Peru with a career batting average of .303 with a .367 in 2013 and a .264 in 2014. Davis had 38 hits in 144 at bats in 47 game starts with eight home runs and 30 runs batted in. Davis hit five homers in 2013. In Peru fielding stats, Davis holds a two-year .959 fielding percentage with just five errors in two years as a Bobcat catcher.

Alignment 101

Jim's Car Care Tip Of The Week

Wheel alignment is important to the health of your car or truck. If you hit a massive pothole, it could bump your suspension out of the carefully calculated locations it has been set to. All of the elements that make your car go straight are called "alignment." Some shops try to make it seem like rocket science, but wheel alignment is a fairly straightforward affair. Wheel alignment involves three main measurements -- caster, camber, and toe. These measurements have standards that a technician uses to target adjustments.

At your next oil change have your alignment checked to ensure your vehicle handles properly and extend the life of your tires. Call to schedule your appointment today!

Clay's Dunning finishes SEC championship game for Gators

By Randy Lefko
Sports Editor

FLEMING ISLAND – Former Clay High pitcher Dane Dunning finished off the final inning of play for the University of Florida Gators baseball team in the Southeastern Conference baseball championship game as the LSU Tigers won 2-0 Sun., May 25, in Hoover, Alabama for their 11th SEC title. Florida, the tournament top seed, holds a 40-21 overall record. LSU, seeded third, improves to 44-14-1. NCAA Region play starts this week with Florida seeded number two nationally behind Oregon State. LSU is the eighth seed.

Florida hosted their regionals (May 30-June2) with the Gators facing College of Charleston (41-17) in their first game (May 30) with North Carolina (34-25) facing Long Beach State (32-24). The tournament was a double elimination format.

On the other side of the bracket, Florida State University (43-15, fifth-seed nationally), with former Fleming Island High catcher Lee Howard on the roster, hosted its regional with the Seminoles playing Georgia Southern (39-21) in their region opener (Fri., May 30, 6 pm).

In the SEC championship game, with the Gators down 2-0 after a two-run homer by LSU's Sean McMullen in the eighth inning, Dunning came in as the fourth Gator pitcher to face the Tiger batting lineup.

Dunning's statistics for the game included five strikes in six pitches against two batters, no hits and one strikeout.

Florida's Ryan Harris, who came in in the seventh inning, was given the loss.

Florida beat Kentucky 6-5; Mississippi State 5-1, and South Carolina in the tournament.

In the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, Georgia Tech defeated Maryland for that title, 7-2.

In the NCAA tournament, Florida State lost Friday to Georgia Southern 7-0 with College of Charleston beating Florida 3-2. On Saturday, Alabama ended Florida State's season 6-5 to give the Seminoles their second loss of the double elimination tournament. Florida lost 5-2 to North Carolina to end its season.

Falcons

"We've lost to this team twice in the last couple of years and they played us tough tonight. We just made some bigger plays, especially Louis Smith."

Smith, a former Fleming Island High School standout, pulled in Diaz' pass at about the Falcon 40 yard line on a first down play from the Falcon five yard line and shook off two Stingray tacklers before crossing the field and sprinting to the far corner of the end zone. The score gave the Falcons a 13-0 lead with a first touchdown coming earlier from a Diaz keeper from two yards out. The Falcons first touchdown came after a pass interception from former Clay High linebacker Josh Jones at the Stingray 36 yard line. A quick slant pass to tight end Grant Tyner for 15 yards put the ball at the two for the Falcons.

Former Clay High defensive lineman Josh Jones, now a linebacker, has added some ball-stealing traits to the Falcon defense with three interceptions in two games.

"It was actually an awkward throw by Felix; off his wrong foot because he was getting chased, but Louis got to it and made some moves and took off," said Moses. "His whole family is fast; brother Darelle just graduated Fleming Island High and is

Green Cove Springs football veteran Mike McCutcheon, 74, will have his 39th birthday in July and will be celebrating two years of action "with those young boys" as an offensive guard for the Falcons.

Former Jacksonville Shark and New York Giant Ronnie Mason offers a big target for passes thrown by Falcon quarterback Felix Diaz. Mason caught two key first down passes in Saturday's win over the Florida Stingrays in Gainesville.

headed to the Air Force Academy."

With strong kickoffs coming from Falcon kicker Devon Lendry, a Fernandina Beach High grad, the Falcons' defense, led by linebacker Robert Newell and defensive end Jordan Bailey, both of Jacksonville, kept the Stingrays pinned deep in their own territory in the first two quarters.

A turnover on downs as the second quarter began put the Falcon offense on the Stingray 33 to start where Lendry executed a nifty fake field goal attempt that wound up a first down pass to tight end Ronnie Mason, a 6'-4", 260 pound behemoth from Coastal Carolina College. Mason would carry the reception to the 15 where Diaz took three shots before scoring on a second two yard plunge. Mason had been in training camps with the Jacksonville Sharks and New York Giants before coming to the Falcons.

"Our coaches watched on our point after kicks and noticed they kind of just stood around and didn't rush it," said Moses. "We talked about and gave it a go. The pass looked like a Garo Yepremian special, but Ronnie made a great catch for the first down."

The Falcons let the Stingrays score off two touchdown passes to make the score 20-16 just before the half with a taller, more agile quarterback behind center, but the Falcons finished off the half with a second Smith touchdown pass catch, this one a 35 yarder from former Clay High quarterback Ulysses "Boobie" Tobler on a flag

Falcons' linebacker Chris Jamison, who played high school ball at Ed White High, made two key sacks in the second half to dethrottle a potent Florida Stingray offense that scored two quick touchdowns just before the half.

Former Orange Park High running back Marcus Pulliam, who terrorized area defenses in his Raider days, is a key ballcarrier for the Falcons.

pattern into the end zone.

"Boobie was a favorite at Clay High and even in college at Charleston and he is a solid quarterback," said Moses. "He came right off the bench and put a near-perfect pass to Smith for a nice score."

Diaz had been shaken up on the previous series and an interception from defensive back James Richards of University of South Alabama put Tobler behind center at the Stingray 35. Richards snared the errant pass at the Falcon 23 on third down and ran it back to the Stingray 35 to set up the bootleg left pass from Tobler to Smith. Richards, born in Jacksonville, holds the Gautier High School (MS) record with a 99 yard fumble return for a touchdown in his high school days.

The half ended with the Falcons up 27-16.

In the third quarter, the Falcons defense intercepted Stingray quarterback Charlie Brown (No pun intended) with Anthony Wood coming up with the ball on the first play of the stanza.

Both teams got sloppy play on both sides of the ball with Jones nearly picking off a second pass a highlight near the two minute mark.

"We originally wanted Josh for a defensive lineman, but injuries depleted our linebacker group and he stepped up," said Moses. "He' got thre interceptions with two almost interceptions in his two games."

In the fourth quarter, the Falcons defense, behind two sack blitzes from Chris Jamison, an Ed White High grad, at outside linebacker stymied the Stingray offense and put Diaz back on the field near the 50.

Diaz used slasher running back James Ezell, a Ridgeview High product, and bulldozer Richard Cash (5'-9", 250 lbs. 4.5 40) to bust up the Stingray defensive line before Cash rumbled in from eight yards out to put the Falcons up 34-16 with 11:55 to go.

"Richard is a true running back for us with speed and power," said Moses. "He'll make some noise out there."

Former Bronco hitting .341 at Cowley College

By Barbara Boxleitner
Special to Clay Today

Bobby Bassler's solid play for the Cowley College (Kan.) baseball team earned him significant playing time.

The freshman out of Middleburg High School was a first baseman and designated hitter for the Tigers, who reached the Region VI tournament.

"Bobby had a nice first year," Cowley head coach Dave Burroughs said. "He had a really strong finish in the regional."

Sharing playing time with a sophomore at first base, Bassler hit .341 in 34 games and had 18 runs batted in, according to the school's online site. He had three hits during the team's finale in the Region VI tournament and was 2-for-4 with two RBIs in an earlier regional win.

"The opportunity I had, I had to make the most of it," said Bassler, who had a .969 fielding average in 160 chances. "I was really happy."

He prepared for the season by losing 15 pounds last summer, when he trained to improve his speed. He said he felt quicker this year, especially in his swing, and stronger. The fall schedule had the team playing from August to October, so the summer conditioning helped him last through the fall and spring seasons.

The right-handed Bassler was the contact hitter his team needed him to be, spraying the ball to all fields. "Bobby has a knack of putting the bat on the ball," the coach said. "Our ballpark is really humongous. He's a line-drive, gap guy."

Bassler said he made a concerted effort to hit to the opposite field. "I was definitely a pull hitter in high school," he said. "I'm using the back side of the field more. Our coach was very big about using the back side, especially with runners on base. Get that guy to third no matter what."

During his exit interview with Burroughs, Bassler indicated that he'd like to play third base next year. He played third his junior and senior years at Middleburg. He said Burroughs told him to be ready to play either corner infield position.

lot of fun," said Sroba. "I felt comfortable and I think we actually worked pretty well together."

The game was most likely the last played by Brian in a Florida SOL uniform as she begins preparation to train as a member of the United States National Team.

"I've had a bunch of different coaches who have helped me to where I am today, but he [Torres] has been a big part of the reason," Brian said. "Playing on these fields in the tight spaces that he makes us play in has really elevated my game."

Competing on the international level is nothing new for Brian who was called up to the national team a year ago after time spent on the Under-20 squad. She helped lead the United States to a championship in the 2012 Under-20 World Cup in Japan.

"I'm excited to go every single time because it's playing with the best players in the world and that can only make you better," Brian said. "It's a great environment to soak everything in and learn from all the older players."

She has grown quite a fanfare throughout the Florida SOL soccer program and spent several minutes in the middle of a group of girls anxiously waiting to meet and take pictures with their soccer hero.

"I think it's good for the soccer community in general because when I was growing up I didn't have someone like that who had gone that far," Brian said. "I hope that they can come out and learn things from not only me but the whole team."

The next home game for the Florida SOL will be June 14 at 7 p.m. The outcome in the opener was a success and something to build upon as the season continues on and the team becomes a more established unit.

Note: The Florida SOL lost 2-0 on Sunday against the Florida Krush at Trinity Prep High School in their second game of the new season.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO ISSUE PERMIT STATE OF FLORIDA

DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION
The Department of Environmental Protection gives notice of its intent to issue a permit to the Clay County Utility Authority, 3176 Old Jennings Rd, Middleburg, Florida 32068, for a permit to modify the Mid-Clay Regional Wastewater Treatment Facility (WWTF). The modifications authorize the expansion of R-001 to 2.08 MGD AADF by the construction of nine additional rapid infiltration basins with a total bottom area of 22.31 acres. Reuse water will be directed directly to the rapid infiltration basins at the Mid-Clay WWTF site from other CCUA WWTF's for final disposal. Also, one additional basin will be constructed called the wet pond located down gradient of the new eight rapid infiltration basins. The facility is located at latitude 30°3' 21.8" N, 81°47' 35.43" W at 2926-1 Jubilee Lane, Green Cove Springs, Florida 32068 in St. Clay County.
The intent to issue and application file are available for public inspection during normal business hours, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, except legal holidays, at the Department's Northeast District Office, 8800 Baymeadows Way West, Suite 100, Jacksonville, Florida 32256, at phone number (904)256-1700.
The Department will issue the permit with the attached conditions unless a timely petition for an administrative hearing is filed under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, within fourteen days of receipt of notice. The procedures for petitioning for a hearing are set forth below.
A person whose substantial interests are affected by the Department's proposed permitting decision may petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. The petition must contain the information set forth below and must be filed (received by the Clerk) in the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000.
Under Rule 62-110.106(4), Florida Administrative Code, a person may request an extension of the time for filing a petition for an administrative hearing. The request must be filed (received by the Clerk) in the Office of General Counsel before the end of the time period for filing a petition for an administrative hearing.
Petitions filed by any persons other than those entitled to written notice under Section 120.60(3), Florida Statutes, must be filed within fourteen days of publication of the notice or within fourteen days of receipt of the written notice, whichever occurs first. Section 120.60(3), Florida Statutes, however, also allows that any person who has asked the Department for notice of agency action may file a petition within fourteen days of receipt of such notice, regardless of the date of publication.
The petitioner shall mail a copy of the petition to the applicant at the address indicated above at the time of filing. The failure of any person to file a petition or request for an extension of time within fourteen days of receipt of notice shall constitute a waiver of that person's right to request an administrative determination (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. Any subsequent intervention (in a proceeding initiated by another party) will be only at the discretion of the presiding officer upon the filing of a motion in compliance with Rule 28-106.205, Florida Administrative Code.
A petition that disputes the material facts on which the Department's action is based must contain the following information, as indicated in Rule 28-106.201, Florida Administrative Code:
(a) The name and address of each agency affected and each agency's file or identification number, if known;
(b) The name, address, and telephone number of the petitioner; the name, address, and telephone number of the petitioner's representative, if any, which shall be the address for service purposes during the course of the proceeding; and an explanation of how the petitioner's substantial interests will be affected by the determination;
(c) A statement of when and how the petitioner received notice of the Department's decision;
(d) A statement of all disputed issues of material fact. If there are none, the petition must so indicate;
(e) A concise statement of the ultimate facts alleged, including the specific facts the petitioner contends warrant reversal or modification of the Department's proposed action;
(f) A statement of the specific rules or statutes the petitioner contends require reversal or modification of the Department's proposed action; and
(g) A statement of the relief sought by the petitioner, stating precisely the action petitioner wishes the Department to take with respect to the Department's proposed action.

Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the Department's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice. Persons whose substantial interests will be affected by any such final decision of the Department have the right to petition to become a party to the proceeding, in accordance with the requirements set forth above.
In addition to requesting an administrative hearing, any petitioner may elect to pursue mediation. The election may be accomplished by filing with the Department a mediation agreement with all parties to the proceeding (i.e., the applicant, the Department, and any person who has filed a timely and sufficient petition for a hearing). The agreement must contain all the information required by Rule 28-106.404, Florida Administrative Code. The agreement must be received by the Clerk in the Office of General Counsel of the Department at 3900 Commonwealth Boulevard, Mail Station 35, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-3000, within ten days after the deadline for filing a petition, as set forth above. Choosing mediation will not adversely affect the right to a hearing if mediation does not result in a settlement.
As provided in Section 120.573, Florida Statutes, the timely agreement of all parties to mediate will toll the time limitations imposed by Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, for holding an administrative hearing and issuing a final order. Unless otherwise agreed by the parties, the mediation must be concluded within sixty days of the execution of the agreement. If mediation results in settlement of the administrative dispute, the Department must enter a final order incorporating the agreement of the parties. Persons seeking to protect their substantial interests that would be affected by such a modified final decision must file their petitions within fourteen days of receipt of this notice, or they shall be deemed to have waived their right to a proceeding under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes. If mediation terminates without settlement of the dispute, the Department shall notify all parties in writing that the administrative hearing processes under Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Florida Statutes, remain available for disposition of the dispute, and the notice will specify the deadlines that then will apply for challenging the agency action and electing remedies under those two statutes.
