WILDWOOD: GROWTH EXPLOSION

More than than 8,000 new residences proposed

MARTIN STEELE
Times Correspondent

More than than 8,000 new residences proposed for a rural area near Sumterville could one day greatly expand Wildwood's residential areas into central Sumter County.

The development, proposed several years ago by owner Landstone-Wright, LLC, moved forward a notch last month, when the Wildwood City Commission approved a utility agreement with the developer.

According to Sumter County and Wildwood city documents, Landstone-Wright, Hearthstone, Inc., and Landstone Communities, LLC, all California based, are affiliated with the project.

The agreement, establishing what the city and developer will respectively pay for facilities including a new regional sewage treatment plant and expanded potable water facilities, was approved Feb. 24, by city commissioners.

It's the latest step in the transformation of a 4,050-acre tract of pasture and woodlands into a varied community of multiple density housing, retail and office space, an elementary school and park. The total land area is about four and a half times the geographical size of the City of Webster.

> The project site fronts C.R. 470 for about 2.3 miles and is generally across the road from the Coleman Federal Corrections Complex.

Wildwood annexed the property in January 2007. In the meantime, the project lingered while the city negotiated with the developer and the housing market and economy floundered.

City officials view this as a long-term project, according to Jason McHugh, director of strategic planning and assistant city manager for Wildwood. While city officials don't know when any construction might start, it probably will really depend upon the market.

"I hope it's sooner than later," McHugh said, noting that the housing market has improved somewhat.

The city has been thorough about planning for

Mock disaster serves as beneficial training

BRENDA LOCKLEAR
Staff Writer

Helicopters buzzed down as ambulances and fire trucks rolled to a stop in response to a scenario in Bushnell last week.

Fortunately, a scenario was all that it was ... a mock disaster, role played on the South Sumter High School baseball field and used as training for emergency rescue personnel, according to Emergency Management Director David Casto.

The scene was a mock vehicle crash into the baseball field bleachers where they had to deal with multiple "injury" patients.

The former Bushnell Foodway building on Main Street is being demolished this week. The property was recently sold and construction is expected to begin soon on a new Family Dollar store.

Farewell old Foodway store, hello Family Dollar

BOB REICHMAN
Editor

In downtown Tampa, the demolition of an old grocery store building may go almost unnoticed. But in downtown Bushnell, demolishing the old grocery store on the city's Main Street is a main topic of conversation.

Demolition crews are in the process of turning the once thriving home of Burns Market and Foodway into nothing more than hunks of twisted metal and debris.

It's been seven years since a grocery store occupied the building and a deli operated beside it.

Both buildings have remained vacant since 2007, according to city records.

But finally, after years of nothing, there's plenty of activity at the site as crews remove the final pieces of the buildings to make way for new construction.

A Family Dollar store will be built on the site as soon as the rubble has been cleared.

The new 8,300-square-foot store will become the home for the Family Dollar store currently located in the South Sumter Shopping Plaza, next to the sheriff's office.

training for us," Casto said, noting the event was funded with a federal emergency preparedness grant.

"We hired a consulting company to develop and manage the exercise," Casto said.

"We typically hire vendors that specialize in these types of exercises," and they put together the event. The consulting groups are usually former firefighters and police.

Being an outside entity also allows the coordinating group to be objective and evaluate.

This exercise was created by Trident Consulting of Ocala.

The group assembled a planning committee, comprised of representatives from fire services, law enforcement and emergency medical services. Casto also served on that committee.

They determined the location and size, while Trident put together the event.

Casto said the actual participation event was about two hours for the players in the scenario, starting at 10 a.m. and lasting until just before noon.

"The main goal was to evaluate a new plan that we put together," Casto said. They broke it into triage, treatment and transportation, as they dealt with 16 mock patients.

"That could overwhelm any system, very quickly," Casto said, adding that they wanted to make sure the plans and procedures they had designed would work correctly.

"It all seemed to work well," but they did notice one area that needs work and some other aspects of the plan, not related to the specific design, that will be looked at.

He said for example, working the situation in the day was fine with adequate transportation.

However, in the middle of the night, response might be slower because the resources are not readily available.

The focus for this training was on EMS and fire services, with law enforcement as a backup. Health department and emergency management were also on site.

"We do these exercises to keep the skill sets honed," and to "make sure people have the opportunity to practice."

This was one small piece of a bigger puzzle and included one shift of staff. They will likely do another similar exercise to give others that training.

He said they will likely be doing more exercises, incorporating different aspects and even on a larger scale to include multiple agencies from multiple jurisdictions.

Next up for emergency management is a hurricane expo, sponsored in The Villages and open to the public.

Casto said the event is slated for May 2, from 10 a.m. until early afternoon at the Savannah Center.

With storm season coming, "We're starting to beef up our public education and outreach activities."

future development, including the water, wastewater and public services needs, according to McHugh. But, this project's potential economic impact to the city has not been studied.

"It will be significant," McHugh said,. "The ad valorem base will be unlike anything seen in the city."

Attempts last week to contact the developer for comment about the project brought no response.

The project site fronts C.R. 470 for about 2.3 miles and is generally across the road from the Coleman Federal Corrections Complex. The northwest corner of the property is immediately west of the Ocala Bedrock quarry. The parcel extends about 3 miles south of C.R. 470.

The conceptual development plan shows the primary road into the property aligning with the southern end of County Road 501. The entry road would thread through the heart of the project which is mostly broken into irregularly-shaped "community villages" of various sizes.

For the north end of the property, the plan shows a large mixed use area that would contain higher-density housing along with retail and office areas, according to McHugh,. The villages would decrease in density the further south their location in the development.

Sumter County Commission records from a 2011 agreement between the developer and the county for impact fee credits for widening part of C.R. 470 provide more information on the housing. It lists 6,450 single-family residences, 1,075 townhouse/condominium units and 500 multi-family units.

Some other features of the conceptual plan include a 21-acre school site located adjacent to a 77-acre regional park. Also, the plan includes miles of multi-modal paths and nature trails winding through the communities. A canal is shown running about the northwest corner of the project to the south east corner.

While the plan has an area designated for an 18-hole golf course, plan notes state that it is an alternative land use that may be eliminated at the option of the developer without any increase in the number of residential units.

For phase one, 175,000 square-feet of retail and commercial space is planned. For phase two, there is another 477, 500 square-feet planned for a total of 652,500. The total amount is an area greater than four times the size of the Bushnell Walmart Supercenter.

Also proposed are 150,000 square-feet of planned office space and 500,000 square feet of warehouse/industrial space. In the northwest corner of the property, 19 acres is designated for a wastewater treatment plant, 100 acres for industrial use, and – next to the neighboring mine property – 183 acres for a mine.

The project has not been designated as an age-restricted community, according to McHugh. But,some of the residential villages within the project might be restricted.

A major portion of the developers agreement involves the wastewater treatment plant, McHugh said. The developer could build it and the city would waive hookup fees.

"When they need it, they can build it," McHugh said. "If we need it first, we can build it."

The plant is planned to treat about 2.5 million gallons per day (GPD) for the development and about one million-GPD for the federal prison complex, he said. The city has the ability to increase the size of the plant if it's needed for other developments.

Whoever builds it, the city will own and operate the plant, McHugh said.

Sumter County Commission records from a 2011 agreement between the developer and the county for impact fee credits for widening part of C.R. 470 provide more information on the housing. It lists 6,450 single-family residences, 1,075 townhouse/condominium units and 500 multi-family units.

Changing face of Sumter

As economic conditions around the state start to improve, projects waiting on back burns for better financial times to arrive are beginning to awaken.

In Sumterville, that means the rumblings of a massive community project thatwill change the undeveloped landscape into what is planned to be a flourishing community of substantial proportions.

The City of Wildwood is working on an agreement with Landstone-Wright, LLC,to transform 4,050 acres into a varied community of multiple density housing, retail and office space, an elementary school and park. The total land area is about four and a half times the geographical size of the City of Webster.

Wildwood annexed the property in January 2007. And the city is now working with the developer on infrastructure concerns.

The project is very likely to be the launching pad for further development headed south.

With its close proximity to The Villages, this Sumterville development will very likely act as a stimulus for bigger developments stretching even further south to Bushnell and closer to Center Hill and Webster.

While the northern portion of the county has had to come to terms with the new growth spawned by The Villages, the southern portions of Sumter have remained relatively unchanged.

Get ready. That's not going to be the case much longer. Big development is definitely on the way south.

Lost and found

Nancy Kennedy

Special to the Times

When the phone rings here at the newspaper, you never know who's on the other end and what the person will say.

That's why we have an antacid dispenser in the break room. (Not really.)

One day last week I got a call from a woman who sounded greatly distressed; she had lost her wedding rings.

It happened several months ago when she was going through cancer treatment. She said the treatment muddled her brain, made her absent-minded and forgetful.

Back in January she was making meatloaf and didn't want to get raw hamburger gunk in her 41-year-old ring set so she took them off, plus two other newer rings, five rings in all.

She put them in the pocket of her jeans and then later put the jeans on a little stepladder in her closet and forgot about them.

"Didn't you notice your hands were ringless?" I asked her.

She said back then she didn't notice anything. Days, maybe weeks later, she gathered up a bunch of stuff to donate to a local thrift store, and the jeans accidentally along with them.

When she finally noticed she wasn't wearing her rings, she looked everywhere in her house, frantic. For weeks she cried as she tried to remember where she put them and then cried when she remembered. She was crying when she called me.

She asked if I thought she was silly, and I told her no. The rings meant something to her, something beyond mere jewelry.

Her husband had offered to buy her a new set, but she didn't — doesn't — want a new set. She wants the set she lost, the set she loves.

A week or so before the woman called, my pastor had talked about Jesus telling parables about the kingdom of heaven and about lost things — and found things:

A pearl merchant goes out looking for fine pearls, which in biblical times were more valuable than diamonds are today. He finds one of great value and sells everything he has to purchase it.

A man finds a treasure hidden in a field, hides it again and sells all he has to buy the field — and the treasure.

A woman has 10 silver coins, each worth about a day's wages, and loses one. She turns her house upside down, searching carefully until she finds it.

A man has 100 sheep and one wanders off. He leaves the 99 to go after the one lost sheep. When he finds it, he joyfully puts it across his shoulders and carries it home. When he returns, he calls his friends and neighbors together to celebrate.

"Rejoice with me; I have found my lost sheep," he says.

Likewise, when the woman who lost the coin finds it, she, too, calls her neighbors to celebrate.

"In the same way, I tell you, there is rejoicing in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents," Jesus said (Luke 15:10).

I've heard these stories that Jesus told all my life, and often that's all there is. I hear them; I read them; I say, "Oh yeah, I remember that one," and go on to the next.

But when the woman who lost her rings called, crying, and I talked to her long enough to get a glimpse of the extent of her grief — for that's what it is — I thought about how God grieves over his lost creation.

Maybe he doesn't cry or wring his hands or feel despair, but he does grieve over lost people, those whom he loves, those who either defiantly run from him or who just sort of wander away.

Lost is lost no matter how you get there.

It's easy to think of God as a God of wrath and judgment, which is what he is. It's even easier to overlook the fact that his wrath is based on his love for his people, and because of that love, his wrath was inflicted on his Son so his people can be spared.

Therefore, the people who are lost don't need to fear being found. Instead, they can look forward to a party, a time of great rejoicing and celebration. The Bible says so.

I sincerely hope the woman finds her rings. I imagine she'll cry even harder, but with tears of joy and thankfulness. What was lost has been found!

Maybe God cries those kinds of tears. I think maybe he just might.

Adventures with rosemary to reduce sodium intake

Martha Maddox

UF/IFAS Extension

Rosemary is also known as the herb of remembrance. It is an aromatic plant that originated in the Mediterranean area.

Its name is translated as "dew of the ocean."

In ancient times Rosemary was supposed to strengthen memory. However, today we are going to talk about how we can use the herb rosemary to reduce sodium in the diet and add flavor to food.

American's may love their salt but we can use herbs and spices to enhance the flavors of foods without going over our daily recommendation of sodium. Refer to dietary guidelines for recommended daily amounts of sodium.

Rosemary is at its best fresh, but you can dry or freeze it as well.

Dried or fresh leaves may be used to flavor poultry, fish, lamb, beef, tomatoes, mushrooms, cheese, eggs, potatoes and other vegetables, vinegars and herbal butters. Another way to try it is finely chopped in breads and other baked products. Consuming this herb in its raw state in not recommended.

Stems of rosemary can be used to place vegetables or meat on to make kabobs following the following steps. Strip leaves from the stem and use in other dishes, you must soak stems in water for at least 30 minutes to 1 hour before placing on grill. (wooden stems will catch on fire if they are not soaked in water) Rosemary stems can also be place on charcoals to give foods a rosemary flavor. Rosemary can be used as an insect repellent in closets and drawers. Burn branches in fireplace for pleasant aroma.

Here's a few ideas for using rosemary in recipes:

Rosemary Lemonade

To start off, take 1/2 cup sugar, 6 cups water, divided, 6 to 8 sprigs fresh rosemary, and 3/4 cup freshly squeezed lemon juice. Bring the sugar and 2 cups water to a boil in a 1 quart sauce pan, stirring to dissolve the sugar. Remove from the heat. Add rosemary, cover and steep for at least 30 minutes. Strain the syrup into a pitcher and stir in the lemon juice and 4 cups of water. Adjust lemon to taste by adding additional juice. Chill. Serves: 6

Grilled Rosemary Citrus Chicken

1/4 cup light soy sauce, juice of 1 orange and 1 grapefruit, 6 cloves garlic, crushed, 1 tablespoon minced fresh ginger, 2 tablespoons chopped fresh rosemary, and 4 boneless chicken breasts, wash and patted dry. Combine soy sauce, juices, garlic, ginger, and rosemary in a small bowl. Mix together. Put chicken in a shallow baking dish and cover with marinade. Cover and refrigerate for 1 to 24 hours, turning occasionally. Heat grill or fry pan to a medium high heat and grill to about 4 minutes on each side or until juices run clear.

Make your voice heard on health care issues

People in Sumter County have an opportunity this spring to weigh in on a timely and important topic: health care.

For months, the news has been buzzing about changes in our health care system, like the Affordable Care Act and health insurance exchanges. As millions of Americans begin to take a more active role in their health care, now is an important time for everyone with health insurance to make their voices heard.

From February through April, health insurers conduct a survey called the Consumer Assessment of Healthcare Providers and Systems (CAHPS), which is mailed to select people with health insurance, including those enrolled in an individual plan, an employer-sponsored plan and Medicare. Responding to the survey by mail or phone is one way you can become part of the broader effort to improve our nation's health care system. Responses are kept anonymous.

Survey responses help the government and insurance providers identify ways to better serve people and improve the care they receive. The government and insurers want to make sure that people in Sumter County receive good medical care from doctors they trust. The CAHPS survey is one tool used to achieve this goal.

The CAHPS survey is an important opportunity for Americans to have a say in how health care changes in the years ahead. I encourage people in Sumter County to respond to the survey, as this one simple step can help improve health care for all of us.

Keith Singer, MD is the market medical director for UnitedHealthcare in Sumter County. UnitedHealthcare is dedicated to helping people nationwide live healthier lives. The company offers the full spectrum of health benefit programs for individuals, employers and Medicare and Medicaid beneficiaries.

Two men arrested in Villages robberies

Bob Reichman
Editor

Two men arrested last week are believed to be involved in a series of recent home burglaries in The Villages.

The two men were apprehended last Friday, March 21, during an investigation by the sheriff's office.

The first suspect, Derreon Ware, 20, Leesburg, was arrested after a sheriff's deputy approached the 2010 white Mazda hatchback Ware was driving on the 600 block of Inner Circle, in The Villages, according to sheriff's Lt. Bobby Caruthers.

Ware was stopped near a home and a resident had notified the sheriff's department about a suspicious vehicle in the area.

While questioning Ware, a second suspect was seen running through a preserve area near the street where the car was parked. A check of the home revealed that a screen and a window had been tampered with.

A second deputy arrived and attempted to apprehend the second man who was able to flee from the area and avoid capture despite backup from bloodhounds and the Lake County sheriff's helicopter.

Later that night, law enforcement officers arrested Jeremy Benjamin, 20, at his Groveland residence, Caruthers said.

Both men were charged with burglary.

Caruthers said additional charges may be pending.

"We feel they are involved in a string of burglaries that we've had in The Villages," he said.

In those cases, money and jewelry was taken from homes, he said.

I don't want a cheap funeral, but I can save a lot of money by planning now…so why not?

I'm a person who plans ahead and I'm also pretty careful with the money I make.

Since someday my family and I will need a reliable funeral home, why not make my arrangements now and lock in a low price that I can control?

The old saying is true: you can't take your money with you. But, if I make my plans now I can make the decisions on all the details that matter to me, including the cost, and that's like leaving more money behind for my wife and kids.

GENERAL SUMTER TO MAKE LAST STAND, THEN THROW PARTY

Sumter County and the Sumter County Tourism Development Council will host the first annual 'General Sumter's Last Stand - Big Fish Bass Tournament' at Lake Panasoffkee, Saturday, April 5.

The tournament will promote Sumter County tourism and is expected to draw visitors and locals alike. The top prize is $3,000, with an additional $10,000 bonus for catching General Sumter, a pre-tagged, eleven pound bass. Afterward, the public is invited to Werda-Hecamiat Fishing Resort for a fun-filled, family-friendly after-party.

The tournament will award a total of 18 prizes spread among three separate weigh-ins and two age divisions. A guaranteed $3,000 will be awarded to the biggest fish of the day. If anyone catches General Sumter, he or she will win a bonus prize of $10,000.

The tournament is limited to boating anglers, but even shore fishermen are eligible to catch General Sumter. There is an Adult division and a Junior division, which is for participants aged 15 years and younger.

Those interested can register for the tournament at DiscoverSumterFl.com or on-site the day of the event. Registration costs $50 ($60 on the day of the event). Participants will be able to check-in starting at 6 a.m. on April 5, at Werda-Hecamiat Fishing Resort. Fishing begins at 8 a.m. The judges will conduct three weigh-ins, with prizes awarded at each ($100 for 3rd place, $200 for 2nd place and $300 for 1st place). Check-ins and weigh-ins are being performed by the Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission. Official rules are available at DiscoverSumterFl.com.

The after-party, (open to the public), will be at Werda-Hecamiat Fishing Resort, and will feature food, prizes and live music by local blues band, Ssnakeyez. Reservations at the local camps (Werda-Hecamiat, Pana Vista, Idlewild and Tracy's Point) are filling up fast, so be sure to book your stay soon.

Doug Smiley, of DiscoverSumterFl.com, says, "Our sponsors are getting tremendous visibility from this event and all the promotion we're doing for it. Plus, we're bringing in tourists from all over the state, all of whom are potential customers for every business in the county."

Sponsors include: Werda-Hecamiat Fishing Resort; Pana Vista Lodge; Idlewild Lodge; Power Pole Anchors; Ultimate Outdoor Lawn & Landscaping; Polk Tractor Company; Bass Attack Trail; Sumter County Chamber of Commerce; Tom and Jerry's Airboat Rides; and Tangent Media, the designers and administrators of DiscoverSumterFl.com. Sponsorships are still available. Those interested can call (888) 857-5784 or email info@tangentmedia.com for details.

This and other Sumter County Tourism events and promotions are brought to you in part by a Tourism Development Tax Grant from the Sumter County Board of County Commissioners in conjunction with the Sumter County Tourism Development Council.

Real Estate closing office opens in Lake Panasoffkee

NewCastle Title Services continued its ambitious expansion push through Central Florida with the opening of a real estate closing office in Lake Panasoffkee in Sumter County.

The new Lake Panasoffkee location is the fifth NewCastle office to open since the full-service, high tech title agency launched operations on January 1 and the first to open outside the core Metro Orlando market.

The Winter Park-based company earlier this year opened closing offices in southwest Orlando and Lake Mary to complement its existing operations in Winter Park and Kissimmee.

The office is located at 2031 N. CR 470 and initially will provide real estate closing services for the Sumter and North Lake County markets, including The Villages, with plans to eventually tap into nearby Citrus County, says NewCastle President and CEO Daniel A. Wallace.

Community rallies to help Maddox family

BRENDA LOCKLEAR
Staff Writer

Family members are caring for the children and friends are working to raise money – all to help 31-year-old Lacy Maddox as she undergoes treatment for second- and third-degree burns.

The community is coming together to support Lacy Maddox (shown) and her family, helping with expenses the family will face during her recuperation time, after being burned in a yard fire.

Family friend Billie Lee Allen said she doesn't know the details of the fire, but she does know that Lacy "stopped, dropped and rolled."

According to the Sumter County Fire Rescue, Maddox was injured in a yard fire.

Allen said they were apparently burning in a location where there was no water and Maddox's children were heroic in their actions.

"Colby, her eight-year-old, threw a glass of tea on her," which may be why she only received second-degree burns in some places, Allen said.

Colby and his older brother Clayton also remained calm and didn't panic. Instead, they went into action, getting help from neighbors and family.

Maddox was flown to Orlando, where she's undergone three surgeries.

SUPPORT FOR THE FAMILY

On Sunday, April 13, Allen and others will be hosting a "Standing in the Gap" fundraiser to help pay for the extra expense needed for Maddox's care. Allen said some of the expenses she will face include travel to Orlando and back, three days a week for treatment.

There's also the care being provided for her three young children. Currently, her dad Ronnie and other family members are taking turns picking up the kids from school and taking them to sports games.

At the same time, Maddox's mother, Karen, is staying at a lodge near the burn unit.

The fundraiser includes a chicken and rice dinner, with tickets that are being presold at $7 each. The dinner will be served from noon until 2:30 p.m. at the Webster Farmer's Market.

The Sumter County Men of Faith are hosting the chicken and rice dinner and there'll also be vendors at the event, Allen said. Former classmate Bridget Bishop is coordinating the raffle – collecting prizes for the event.

Maddox's sons are Clayton and Colby Hodges and Leo Martinez. Clayton is 10, Colby is eight and Leo is three.

There's plenty of fun planned for the event, bounce houses for the kids, local vendors, raffles and live music with at least two different bands including Todd Brown and the River Junction Band and Jennifer Lee and Nevaeh Peek.

Anyone interested in helping the family can attend the benefit and provide support there and/or, they can go to takethemameal.com and sign up to deliver a meal to the family.

The search name and password are Maddox.

Allen said if a person doesn't have Internet, but would like to sign up, they can call her at 407-925-4366.

Prior to the accident, Maddox had been doing triple duty. Along with parenting, she has been working as a substitute in the school system and attending school to become a teacher.

Allen graduated with Maddox's aunt in 1982. The group reconnected recently and that's how Allen got involved, offering to help.

She said the effort has drawn support from businesses too.

For example, Outer Image, donating the fliers for the event.

Flag signaling during the War of 1812 is discussed

Naval flag signaling was developed in order to coordinate naval action of multiple vessels.

The Land O'Lakes chapter of the United States Daughters of 1812 met on Tuesday, March 18, at the Leesburg library at 10:30 a.m.

Those in attendance were Joyce White, Anne Skinner, Glorianne Fahs, Linda Sharp, Carol Anderson, and Merle Skinner.

After the invocation, President Fahs led the 1812 ritual which includes the American's Creed.

Anne Skinner gave a Flag Minute presentation.

When the British troops withdrew from Boston during the revolution, and after returning Fort Niagara to U.S. control after the War of 1812, they were supposed to have greased the flagpoles and cut the halyards to make it difficult for the American troops to raise the flag!

President Fahs reported that she has sent a box of books to the library of the Merchant Marines. Joyce White accepted the chairmanship of that committee.

For the program, President Fahs and Carol Anderson gave a power point presentation about how flags were used for signaling during the War of 1812.

The USS Constitution was launched in 1797 and was one of six original frigates authorized for construction by the Naval Act of 1794.

With the launching of three frigates, one of which was the Constitution, the US Navy was born.

The Constitution is most famous for her actions during the War of 1812 against Great Britain, when she captured numerous merchant ships and defeated five British warships: HMS Guerriere, Java, Pictou, Cyane, and Levant.

The battle with the Guerriere earned her the nickname of "Old Ironsides." She sailed under her own power in 2012 to commemorate the 200th anniversary of her victory over Guerriere.

Naval flag signaling was developed in order to coordinate naval action of multiple vessels.

The next meeting will be held May 20, at the public library in Leesburg.

There will also be a flag placing ceremony at Lone Oak Cemetery on May 17.

Anyone interested in joining the USD 1812 may contact Joyce White at 793-8119.

Webster Elementary hosts PE night

Earlier this month, students and their parents returned to the halls of Webster Elementary School with high hopes and energy to spare. It was once again time for the annual PE Night which allows families to come together for games, prizes, activities and some quality time.

Once they entered, each student was given a raffle ticket, which earned them a special prize. Prizes ranged from footballs to flying discs. from kick balls to kites. The kites seemed to be an especially big hit since there was a steady breeze throughout the evening. Kites could be seen flying well above the buildings being piloted by parents and students alike.

The best thing about these prizes was the fact that the students were able to take them home at the end of the night. Everyone was also encouraged to participate in some of the many math-related games, which were more like fair games with an educational twist. Kids had so much fun that they didn't even realize they were learning. There were also many of the everyday PE games that the students have come to know and love. There was basketball, badminton, bocce ball and hula hoops - the options seemed endless. Overall it was a great night, but the enduring image that will be most remembered is that of parents and students playing with one another, trying new things and gathering together as one large Webster Elementary School family.

Micki Hillary and Anna Dumas were up for some sponge fun.

ASK THE MASTER GARDENER

Tina Ahearn

UF/IFAS Extension

Question:

I notice these green hairy looking growths all over my tree and shrub bark. What are they and how do I get rid of them?

Answer:

What you describe is known as lichens. Lichens are a combination of fungi and algae growing together but are not harmful or dangerous to trees or shrubs. When lichens appear, it usually means the plant is unhealthy or affected by something else. The best way to keep lichen from growing is to keep your plants healthy by properly fertilization and proper irrigation.

Lichens

Question:

When is the best time to divide and plant day lilies?

Answer:

Daylilies are fairly hardy plants that can be planted almost any time of the year in Florida. The best time to divide and plant is in the fall; there is less stress on the plant then and they have time to become established before their typical spring blooming season. When dividing, dig up the clumps, and break off sections to plant in your landscape. Then cut off the tops within 6 inches from the ground to encourage fuller growth come springtime. Flowering starts in March for those early season bloomers while other cultivars won't bloom until May.

Question:

I found what I think might be a scorpion on my lanai. Are there scorpions in Florida?

Answer:

Yes, there are scorpions in Florida but none of them produce a lethal sting. The most common Florida scorpion is the small Hentz striped scorpion which can be found under boards and other places that provide shelter. They are known to be a nuisance around recently built homes. Scorpions are most active at night but help to reduce pests around the house. To make your yard less attractive to scorpions, place trash cans and piles off the ground, stack firewood away from the home and keep it dry, and prune tree and shrub branches so they don't touch outside walls.

UF/IFAS web tool successfully measures farms' water footprint

By Brad Buck

A new University of Florida web-based tool worked well during its trial run to measure water consumption at farms in four Southern states, according to a study published this month.

The system measures the so-called "water footprint" of a farm. In the broader sense, water footprints account for the amount of water used to grow or create almost everything we eat, drink, wear or otherwise use.

Researchers at UF's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences introduced their WaterFootprint tool in the March issue of the journal Agricultural Systems, after using it to calculate water consumption at farms in Florida, Georgia, Alabama and Texas.

The WaterFootprint is part of the AgroClimate system, developed by Clyde Fraisse, a UF associate professor of agricultural and biological engineering. AgroClimate is a web resource, aimed primarily at agricultural producers, that includes interactive tools and data for reducing agricultural risks.

WaterFootprint, developed primarily by Daniel Dourte, a research associate in agricultural and biological engineering, estimates water use in crop production across the U.S.

WaterFootprint looks at a farm in a specific year or growing season and gives you its water footprint, Dourte said. With UF's WaterFootprint system, users provide their location by ZIP code, the crop, planting and harvesting dates, yield, soil type, tillage and water management.

The tool also retrieves historical weather data and uses it to estimate the blue and green water footprints of crop production, Dourte said. Water footprints separate water use into green, which is rainfall; blue, from a freshwater resource; and gray, an accounting of water quality, after it's been polluted.

Water footprints can be viewed at the farm level or globally.

For instance, if irrigation water is used to grow crops, it is essentially exported, Dourte said.

Once products are shipped overseas, the water used to grow the commodity goes with it, and it may not return for a long time – if ever, Dourte said. That's a problem if the crop is grown in a region where water is scarce, he said.

But there's often a trade-off, he said. Global food trade saves billions of gallons of water each year, as food is exported from humid, temperate places to drier locales that would have used much more water to grow crops, Dourte said.

"The U.S. is a big agricultural producer. Products are exported and along with them, water goes to other countries," he said.

For example, if you're growing soybeans, you're indirectly sending the water that was used to grow the crop. That amounts to about 270 gallons per pound of soybeans, Dourte said.

In addition to soybeans, coffee beans and shirts, if made from cotton, consume lots of water from the growing process to processing to shipping – with most of that water consumption resulting from evaporation and transpiration during crop growth, he said. But understanding the type of water resource being consumed, whether it's from rainfall or irrigation, makes all the difference in assessing water resource sustainability.

Dourte co-authored the study with Fraisse and Oxana Uryasev, a UF research associate in agricultural and biological engineering.

The WaterFootprint tool can help not just growers, but world water managers as well, he said.

"We think this farm-specific, time-specific water footprinting tool is a unique resource that could be used by resource managers and educators to consider water resource sustainability in the context of agricultural production," Dourte said. "We usually think of water management locally and regionally. But when you're accounting for the water footprint of agricultural products, it allows you to see the global nature of that water."

Register now for pile burner's course

The Florida Forest Service and UF-IFAS Extension at Sumter County will be conducting a certified pile burner's course on Wednesday July 2, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the West Central Florida Agriculture Center in Bushnell, at the Sumter County Fairgrounds.

This course will allow a landowner to burn piles legally, safely, and efficiently.

When the weather is dry, certified pile burners will receive priority for authorization to burn.

Certified pile burners can also burn up to two hours longer per day and get multiple authorizations.

The cost of the class is $50 and includes lunch, materials, and exam. The size of this class is limited so please register now by calling (352) 793-2728 x 227 or by visiting https://certifiedpileburnerjuly2.eventbrite.com.

Belleview High beats South Sumter 9-1

LARRY BUGG
Times Correspondent

Jamie Adams held South Sumter High's softball team to two hits as Belleview High beat the Lady Raiders 9-1 in a non-district game Tuesday, March 18.

South Sumter's Marissa Mesiemore was the losing pitcher but hit a solo home run over the fence in the seventh inning to keep the Lady Raiders (7-2) from being shut out.

"We haven't touched a bat in a week and a half," said coach Marc Johnson. "Evidently, the girls did no work over spring break. We couldn't get them together because of rain and prior commitments. We have taken two steps backwards because of the break."

Due to scheduling problems and rain the Lady Raiders hadn't practiced in over a week and played very flatly.

South Sumter committed three errors.

Belleview scored three unearned runs in the second inning. Alex Suzuki singled and Amy Oglesbee walked. Rachel Phillips reached on an error and Suzuki scored on that. Oglesbee scored on a second error. Kelly Bennett made a sacrifice bunt to score Phelps.

The Rattlers would add four runs in the fifth inning, two on a home run Oglesbee.

Belleview had 10 hits and took advantage of three walks.

"We haven't touched a bat in a week and a half," said coach Marc Johnson. "Evidently, the girls did no work over spring break. We couldn't get them together because of rain and prior commitments. We have taken two steps backwards because of the break.

"We have two days of hard work coming up. I know the girls have character and big hearts. Alex Suzuki, their third baseman, was really good."

The other coach was most unhappy with the game.

"Disappointing loss to a very good team," said coach Heather Kadur. "That's what happens when you have a week's practice off."

Mary Fears shares slave narratives

Three members of the Granville Beville 2234 chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy attended the South Lake County Pastfinders meeting in Clermont on Thursday, March 13, at the Cooper Memorial Library.

Carol Tomlinson, Shirley MacDaniel, and Joyce White were in attendance to hear Mary Jackson Fears, of Daytona Beach, present stories about the War Between the States.

In period attire, Ms. Fears explained how free people of color and the slaves dressed during the 1860s.

Ms. Fears' program was entitled "The Service of 'People of Color' in the Civil War."

With a powerful display of pictures, books, and quilt blocks, Ms. Fears told stories about people of color who lived during the 1800s.

One story was about Robert Smalls who was born into slavery in Beaufort, S.C., and became an expert pilot on boats in and around Charleston.

In 1862, Smalls guided the Confederate ship, the Planter, out of the Charleston Harbor and delivered the ship to the Union; he became a Union soldier and piloted the Planter from then on for the North.

Another very interesting story was about Elizabeth Hobbs Keckley who lived from 1818-1907. Born into slavery in Virginia, she became a seamstress and after many years of hardship, she purchased her and her son's freedom and moved to Washington, D.C., where she became the seamstress for Mary Todd Lincoln! Also on the program was Jody Mears who read a letter written by a black soldier who was requesting equal pay for the military service in the War.

Ms. Fears and son, Mr. Fears are featured in "Filling the Gap, Forgotten Chapter of American History," a documentary nominated for the 2011 NAACP Image Award.

Ms. Fears is a retired media specialist and has spent many hours researching stories to use in her storytelling and in re-enactments.

The uniforms they wore into battle

The Granville Beville 2234, Bushnell United Daughters of the Confederacy met at the home of Deborah Moore in Bushnell on March, 8.

Jessica Hoag gave the program on "The Uniforms They Wore Into Battle." At the beginning of the war, the uniforms lacked uniformity for both the Union and Confederate sides making it difficult to determine between the two sides. Union uniforms consisted of vibrant greens and red trousers and blue shirts and jackets and some gray. The Confederate uniforms mostly came from the State Militias and were shades of blue, gray, green and red.

Later the Union used "Union Blue" and the Confederates used "Confederate Gray". Colonel Myers had the task of outfitting the entire Confederate Army and established a "Clothing Bureau" to work with manufacturers across the South. Soldiers were allowed the following each for three years: four caps, three covers, four coats, sever pairs trousers, nine flannel shirts, seven drawers, 12 pairs of bootees and stockings, one leather stock, one great coat, three fatigue overalls and two blankets.

This was not enough to care for them for the duration of the war.

Four members, Irish Wolf, Tammy Moore, Peggy Griffin and Carol Tomlinson attended the Georgefest parade in Eustis along with the Marion Dragoons of Weirsdale, Loudoun Chapter 170, Leesburg, Virginia and the Pvt. William R. Milton Camp 741, Tavares Sons of Confederate Veterans. Feb 28.

Plans were made for a chapter meeting and trip to the Historical Village in Clermont on April 12, at 10 a.m. followed by lunch. Report on the Monument for the Linden Cemetery was given and cookbooks "Dixie Dishes" are still for sale at $10 each. Contact: Carol Tomlinson, 516-5720 or Joyce White, 793-8119.

New take on an old favorite

For a hearty, American spin on an Italian favorite, you'll adore the simplicity of this recipe for Skillet Hashbrown Frittata. This golden, delicious egg dish features mouthwatering turkey sausage, melted American cheese and Hungry Jack® Original Hashbrowns. These easy-to-serve, shredded potatoes are made with 100 percent Idaho Potatoes, cook perfectly crispy every time and can be used in a number of different meals — even those beyond the brunch table.

Sweet and special

While savory meals certainly have their place at brunch, a sweet dish is a great complement and the perfect addition for a well-rounded menu. Look for recipes that combine the elements of sweet and salty, like this dish for Potato Cheese and Apple Tarts. Fresh red delicious apples, gooey Smoked Gouda or Jack cheese and the creamy, homemade taste of Hungry Jack® Mashed Potatoes meld together for bite after delectable bite.

Denver Hashbrown Omelet

Prep Time: 15 minutes
Cook Time: 25 minutes
Yield: 8 servings

- 1 carton (4.2 ounces) Hungry Jack® Premium Hashbrown Potatoes
- No-stick cooking spray
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 chopped onion, about 1 1/2 cups
- 1 diced green bell pepper, about 1 cup
- 8 eggs
- 1/2 cup milk (whole or 2 percent)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups shredded sharp cheddar cheese
- 1 cup diced cooked ham

Preheat oven to 450°F. Spray 9-by-13-inch pan with no-stick cooking spray. Fill hashbrown carton to fill line with hot water. Let stand 12 minutes. Drain any excess water. Heat skillet over medium heat and add butter. After butter melts, add onion and bell pepper, and cook for 5 minutes. Whisk together eggs and milk in large mixing bowl. Add salt, potatoes, cheese, ham and vegetables; mix to combine. Transfer mixture to prepared baking pan. Bake for 20 minutes, or until cooked through and starting to brown.

Skillet Hashbrown Frittata

Cheesy Potato and Apple Tarts

Cheesy Potato and Apple Tarts

Prep Time: 15 minutes
Cook Time: 30 minutes
Yield: 12 servings (24 tarts)

- 1 1/3 cups Hungry Jack® Mashed Potato Flakes
- 1 1/4 cups water
- 3 tablespoon butter, divided
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2/3 cup milk
- 1 cup shredded Smoked Gouda or Jack cheese
- 1 box (14 ounces) refrigerated pie crust, brought to room temperature
- 1 halved, cored and thinly sliced red delicious apple
- 1 teaspoon packed brown sugar
- 2 teaspoons chopped chives

Preheat oven to 400°F. Heat water, 2 tablespoons of butter and salt to boiling in medium pot. Remove from heat, and stir in milk and mashed potato flakes with fork until smooth. Add shredded Gouda or Jack cheese and stir until melted. Cut pie crusts into 24 circles about 2 1/2 inches in diameter. Using mini-muffin tin (with cups the size of 1 3/4-by-1-inch), place one pastry circle into each of 24 muffin cups, pressing slightly. Spoon about one tablespoon potato and cheese filling into each cup. Place in oven and bake until pastry edges are golden brown, about 12 to 14 minutes. In small pan, melt remaining tablespoon of butter. Add apple slices and saute until just tender, about 4 minutes. Stir in brown sugar and cook one more minute. When apple slices are cooled enough to handle, place a slice into each cup at an angle, trimming to fit if necessary. Sprinkle with chopped chives and serve.

Skillet Hashbrown Frittata

Prep Time: 10 minutes
Cook Time: 20 minutes
Yield: 6 to 8 servings

- 1 carton (4.2 ounces) Hungry Jack® Original Hashbrown Potatoes
- 4 turkey sausage patties or 6 links
- 6 slices turkey bacon
- 8 eggs
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 to 1 1/2 teaspoons hot sauce, based on brand of hot sauce or to taste
- Pinch ground black pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup diced onion
- 4 slices or 2/3 cup shredded American or cheddar cheese

Fill hashbrowns carton to fill line with hottest tap water. Let stand 12 minutes. Drain any excess water. Cook turkey sausage and bacon according to package directions. Crumble or chop. Whisk eggs, milk, hot sauce and black pepper in bowl. Melt butter in 10- or 12-inch non-stick skillet over medium high heat. Add onion and cook, stirring occasionally, until slightly softened. Spread hashbrowns evenly in pan and part-way up sides. Cook without stirring until light golden brown and crisp on one side, about 3 minutes. Sprinkle crumbled sausage and bacon over potatoes. Pour eggs evenly over and arrange cheese on top. Cover skillet and reduce heat to low; cook until eggs are set in center and cheese is melted, about 15 minutes. Serve from pan or slide onto platter, then cut into wedges.

County set for mosquito season spraying

The Sumter County Mosquito Control Departments annual spray season is around the corner.

Usually the spray season begins in April or May, and runs through October/November depending on mosquito production.

Mosquito production is directly associated with weather conditions (annual rain fall, temperature and humidity).

With the recent rain fall and increased temperatures, mosquito populations will soon be on the rise.

Here's some facts about the upcoming season:

Spraying (adulticiding/night spraying) operations are completed nightly in different zones of the county, determined by adult surveillance, through mosquito light trap counts, landing rates and/or citizen complaints. Annually, the Mosquito Control Department also receives numerous requests for control of aquatic midges (blind mosquitoes).

While aquatic midges are a nuisance, they do not bite, take a blood meal or carry disease. Therefore, control efforts are focused mainly on mosquitoes, which can carry and transmit disease to humans.

Cancellation of adulticiding/night spraying can be caused by several different factors:

- Winds greater than 10 mph.
- Temperatures cooler than 50 degrees F.
- Inclement weather (Rain).
- Mechanical failures.
- Surveillance of adult mosquitoes (light trap counts not meeting operational thresholds).

Tips for controlling mosquitoes around your home:

- Remove standing water in old tires, buckets, drums or any other container.
- Check clogged gutters and flat roofs that may have poor drainage.
- Empty plastic wading pools, bird baths and pet water bowls at least once a week.
- Drain water from boats being stored.

- Fill in tree holes a ind hollow stumps that hold water.
- Stock your ornamental water gardens with mosquito-eating fish (gambusia, minnows or gold fish).
- Repair screening on windows, doors, porches and patios.
- Drain water from old pools not in use.

Tips for avoiding and repelling mosquitoes:

The 5 D's

- Dusk and Dawn – Avoid being outdoors when mosquitoes are seeking for a blood meal. For many species this is during the dusk and dawn hours.
- Dress – Wear shoes, socks, long pants, and a long sleeve shirt when outdoors for long periods of time or when mosquitoes are most active. Clothing should be light colored and made of tightly woven materials to keep mosquitoes away from skin.
- Drain – Reduce the amount of standing water in or near your property by draining and/or removing it.
- Deet – Use an insect repellant containing Deet. Spray clothing with repellents containing permethrin or Deet because mosquitoes may bite through thin clothing. Always read the manufacturer's directions carefully before you put on a repellent.

Mosquitoes generally are more prevalent in wooded and swampy areas, and tend to be most active during dawn and dusk hours.

Use insect repellent before going into high-risk areas or when outside during high-risk times.

The most effective protection may be obtained through the use of products containing at least 20-30 percent diethyl toluamide (DEET). Follow the directions carefully and do not over apply. Extra care should be taken with children under 5, adults over age 55, and those with weakened immune systems due to chronic illness, as these populations are at a greater risk from mosquito-borne diseases. Proper vaccination of horses will protect them from contracting Eastern Equine Encephalitis and West Nile Virus. Don't forget about your pets; mosquitoes are known to transmit canine/feline heart worms.

See your veterinarian and place your pets on a heart worm preventative medication today.

If you have any questions, concerns, or requests for mosquito control operations in your area, please do not hesitate to call your Sumter County Mosquito Control Department at 1-352-569-6700.

Rescued service dog will volunteer to help veterans

Linda Graves
Florida DART

How did a young pure breed white German Shepherd Dog, specifically trained to be a service dog, come to be chained outside and suffering from malnutrition, be brought in to be euthanized after being attacked and bitten on the leg by another dog?

How could this possibly have happened?

Rocco is that very dog. At only 3 years old, his life was once filled with promise and a purpose to assist humans.

Yet some very cruel humans, thinking he could be just a guard dog, chained him outside, and left him hungry and alone, to suffer and die. You see, what happened after Rocco was chained outside, was another dog attacked him and bit his back leg which, because it was left untreated, became badly infected.

Thankfully, Rocco was rescued by Paws For Hope in Tampa, but unfortunately, the infection in his back leg was so severe it had to be amputated.

His new family, David and Susan Gaul, have dedicated themselves to helping Rocco fulfill his purpose. He will be a service dog for wounded soldiers.

But first Rocco will need some therapy of his own.

He is being fitted for a prosthetic leg, made here in Bushnell at Prosthetics Research Specialists, Inc., dba Veterinarian Inclusive Prosthetics/Orthotics.

It is amazing to meet Rocco.

He is a gentleman of a dog, ever so sweet and trusting.

When you learn what this poor animal has been put through in his life, his gentle demeanor is a testament to the purity of his heart and soul.

You realize this noble dog has the true temperament of a service dog.

Rocco is on his way to recovery. And thanks to David and Susan Gaul's love and commitment to Rocco, he is on his way to fulfilling his purpose in life.

Soon he will be a volunteer at the Veterans Administration, serving the needs of our wounded warriors.

Rocco wears his prosthetic leg for the first time as his owner David Gaul learns how to fit it on him. Rocco will be a volunteer at the Veterans Administration, serving the needs of wounded warriors.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Putting yourself in someone else's shoes isn't easy for you. But if you do it, you'll gain a better perspective of what you need to do to achieve your goals. Be open to new ideas.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) There are still some problems you might have to deal with before moving on to your next project. It's a good idea to accept help from those who share your objectives.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's time to recognize the difference between those who are truly concerned for you and those who simply plan to use your good nature to their advantage. New ideas become increasingly attractive.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Depending on a promise made becoming a promise kept could be more than a mite unwise at this time. It's best to proceed on your own rather than wait for aid that might never arrive.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A recently revitalized relationship might not be quite what the Big Cat expected. But give yourself more time to deal with the changes. A little flexibility can go a long way. Good luck.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A major change could prompt more adjustments. Some of them might be difficult to deal with at first. But hang in there, and before you know it, you'll be coasting to your next goal.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your sense of justice prompts you to speak out against an unfair situation, even if you seem to be the only one who feels that way. But you soon learn that many others agree with you.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Creating a fuss is not usually your style. But that doesn't mean you should tolerate an ill-mannered attitude. Speak up for yourself, and you'll earn the respect of others.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might have a few loose ends to tie up before you can stamp your project as complete. But once that's done, you might want to celebrate with someone special in your life.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Disappointment darkens the Goat's mood. But close friends rally to pull you through with words of encouragement. Use their confidence in you to rebuild your own self-esteem.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) An upcoming decision might be more difficult with inaccurate information. Best to recheck the data you have at hand right now to be sure it won't mislead you later.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) An offer you previously turned down might no longer be available. But if you do some checking around, you could find something else that would suit you just fine.

BORN THIS WEEK: You believe in helping those who cannot help themselves. Although it embarrasses you, the fact is, people like you and tell you so.

The Garden Bug

Planting dahlia tubers

After danger of frost is past, select some ground that gets full sun, is protected from strong winds, and has rich, well-drained, slightly acidic soil. Smaller-flowering types should be spaced 1 to 2 feet apart; taller, larger-flowered dahlias should be 3 feet apart. Plant the dahlia tubers whole, with the eyes, crown, stems and buds directed upward. Do not over-water!

PUBLIC NOTICE
DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY
FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY
Proposed Flood Hazard Determinations for the Unincorporated Areas of Sumter County, Florida, and Case No. 14-04-3677P. The Department of Homeland Security's Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) solicits technical information or comments on proposed flood hazard determinations for the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM), and where applicable, the Flood Insurance Study (FIS) report for your community. These flood hazard determinations may include the addition or modification of Base Flood Elevations, base flood depths, Special Flood Hazard Area boundaries or zone designations, or the regulatory floodway. The FIRM and, if applicable, the FIS report have been revised to reflect these flood hazard determinations through issuance of a Letter of Map Revision (LOMR), in accordance with Title 44, Part 65 of the Code of Federal Regulations. These determinations are the basis for the floodplain management measures that your community is required to adopt or show evidence of having in effect to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program. For more information on the proposed flood hazard determinations and information on the statutory 90-day period provided for appeals, please visit FEMA's website at www.fema.gov/plan/prevent/fhm/bfe, or call the FEMA Map Information eXchange (FMIX) toll free at 1-877-FEMA MAP (1-877-336-2627.
