Lukewarm reception to BG march

Rallies against Glades violence begin in city of Belle Glade

By Jose Jesus Zaragoza
The Sun

Hoping that there would be a larger crowd gathered at Lake Shore Park, Lt. Mike Morris was disappointed.

It was a hot day, and maybe the crowds were thinner as a result, but Lt. Morris had hoped to replicate the success of the previous year's marches -- when hundreds would come down to walk the streets of downtown Belle Glade.

After all, if the community isn't bothered enough by the rash of violent incidents in the course of the last year, and beyond, when can they expect, or should expect, crime to be rid altogether?

Still, community leaders showed up, the mayor, several commissioners arriving one by one to spread the message that violence must be stopped in their city.

"Even if there were only two or three of us, we would still march," said Steve Wilson, Belle Glade mayor.

The group of approximately 30 walked down Martin Luther King Blvd. down several streets to walk around the areas hardest hit by the crime -- where living conditions exist in blight, but where the faces of the people watching as the group went by lit up warmly, and they waved to the leaders and deputies going down the street.

"Stop the violence, start the peace! Stop the violence, start the peace!"

At least one woman near a store picked up her bicycle and walked it along the path with the marchers. Others waved, but no other person joined.

The line wound through the various avenues of downtown Belle Glade, ending at the loading ramp, the large, vacant lot bounded by Southwest Sixth and Southwest Fifth Streets, and Southwest Avenue D and Southwest Avenue C.

There, members from the walking group

One man's memory: Hope amid grief

Remembering Johnnie "Jay" Mullins Jr.

By Ashley Causey
Special to The Sun

July 7 at 7 o' clock, family, friends, and classmates gathered at Glades Covenant Community church to remember the life of Johnnie "Jay" Mullins Jr.

The speakers of that evening encompassed Cynthia Gilliam, godmother, Corty Mann, high school teacher, Janay Mullins, sister, and several of his elementary and high school coaches.

Each speaker shared the impact, which Johnnie left in his or her life.

Between the tears and laughs, anyone can see that everyone truly loved and missed Johnnie.

The number 7 was the focus point that evening.

His father shared the reason behind this, "My wife and I hold this celebration of his life on the seventh month of the seventh day at seven o' clock because that was his football number at Glades Central. It will always be on July 7, no matter what."

A resident of the Glades, Johnnie dominated in everything he touched.

Whether it was football, track, or baseball, Johnnie made sure that education came first.

His passion for learning and playing sports became his legacy when he past away from brain cancer at the young age of 22.

Flood control is a shared responsibility

Tips for runoff use

The City of Pahokee shares the following tips about flood control and storm water runoff from David Davis with the South Florida Conservancy District:

Your neighborhood drainage system is not a garbage disposal; please don't treat it like one. Encourage residents to take responsibility by keeping ditches, swales, drainage grates, and retention lakes clear of debris, trash, and other discarded material in and around inlets or pipes.

Discourage the disposal of lawn clippings, tree limbs, and other debris (wood, concrete blocks, Christmas trees, etc.) directly into swales, street drains, and drainage canals.

Keep drainage facilities clear of vegetation, trash, improperly and illegally discarded appliances, furniture, shopping carts, tires, cars, garbage bags, etc. Report the location and condition of any clogged or damaged facilities to the proper authority in ADVANCE of and DURING the summer rainy season.

We all benefit when flood protection is maximized and the community works together.

For questions about flood control and storm water runoff, please call the East Beach Water Control District at 561-996-2940. Your Tax Notice will show which taxing authority is responsible for storm water runoff, however, it is a team effort.

City of Belle Glade's Recreation Dept. offers many summer activities

Local church's roof damaged by lightning

Screen grab/Google maps

Community United Methodist in Lake Harbor was the most recent victim of a lightning strike last week.

Noise startles pastor, but no significant report of damage at Lake Harbor church

By Toni Joseph
INI Florida

The Community Methodist Church in Lake Harbor, located at 29 West Corkscrew Blvd., was hit by lightning around lunch time during a thunderstorm this past Wednesday.

"I was sitting at my desk at home, listening to the roar of thunder," said Pastor R. Rod Ruby, who lives next door to the church, "and saw this huge ball of fire leap onto the roof of the church. I'm not easily spooked, but that bolt of lightning and roaring thunder shook me to my very bones. We never lost electricity, but our phones did go out for a while."

When the storm was over, Pastor Rod inspected the church.

The lightning had split the ceiling as evidenced by wood that had fallen in the church aisle; he also found that the air conditioner cover had been "relocated" to the front of the church, as well as an electrical outlet "hanging by a wire."

"We were very lucky. Even with part of the roof on the floor," said Pastor Rod, "we've not detected water damage yet."

The Lake Harbor Community Methodist Church is a small congregation with about 35 active members.

There was no air conditioning in the church on Sunday, so the services were held in their fellowship hall, which is adjacent to the church.

Corps continues to adjust Lake O releases

Water levels watched to maintain optimum capacity

In accordance with the 2008 Lake Okeechobee Regulation Schedule (2008 LORS), the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Jacksonville District, started adjusting water releases from Lake Okeechobee on Sunday, July 11.

The 12-day release has a target flow to the St. Lucie Estuary, measured at St. Lucie Lock and Dam (S-80), of 1,800 cubic feet per second (cfs).

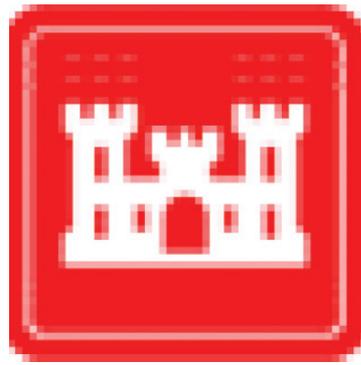

The new target flow to the Caloosahatchee Estuary is 4,000 cfs.

Flows to the west will be measured at the Moore Haven Lock and Dam (S-77), which is located east of the previous measuring point, the W.P. Franklin Lock and Dam (S-79).

The releases will be made in pulses that resemble the pattern of runoff resulting from a natural rainfall event.

"Over the past 10 days, we delivered reduced releases to the St. Lucie and Caloosahatchee estuaries - 200 cfs and 450 cfs, respectively, and according to the 2008 LORS," said Lt. Col. Michael Kinard, Jacksonville District Deputy for South Florida.

"The reduced flows were due to improved evaporation/transpiration during the month of June, dryer tributary conditions, and predictions of less rainfall, even though water levels in Lake Okeechobee remained approximately a foot and a half above the preferred level.

Recent rainfall over the lake and surrounding basins, however, has raised the lake level almost six inches in one week. The forecast is for increased precipitation.

These changes have prompted us to increase the releases again to protect the Herbert Hoover Dike, free-up capacity for more rain and potential tropical storms, and to keep from having to make larger releases later."

The Corps strives to maintain the lake between 12.5 and 15.5 NGVD. Normally, at the beginning of the wet season, the lake level is on a downward trend toward the lower end of the management range.

This provides capacity in the lake for precipitation and basin runoff expected during the wet season. System conditions are closely monitored.

At this time, conditions are wet throughout most of south Florida, and there is no significant storage capacity available in other area of the regional system.

For more information on water level and flows data for Lake Okeechobee and the Central and Southern Florida Project, visit the Corps' water management page at www.saj.usace.army.mil/Divisions/Engineering/Branches/WaterResources/WaterMgt/index.htm.

Site on Fisheating Creek provides history lesson

"This stream is very tortuous, and sometimes swells into a river, and then dwindles into a brook," wrote George Henry Preble in 1842 of navigating Fisheating Creek.

In preparation for the Public Day that is planned for Friday, July 16, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Fort Center on Fisheating Creek, a little backstory should be provided to show just how important this site is to the history of our community.

According to the Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission web site, the first known settlement occurred along the banks of Fisheating Creek between 1,000 and 500 B.C.

The early inhabitants, known as the Belle Glade people, began building mounds and other earthworks and subsisted by netting fish and harvesting turtles, snakes, and alligators.

According to University of Florida archaeologist Jerald Milanich, who worked on the area as a student in the 1960s, perforations found on turtle shells indicate turtles were tethered to be eaten as needed.

The creek was more than a source of food and water.

It was also a canoe highway leading to Lake Okeechobee and its resources to the east and other settlements to the west.

The Fort Center site consists of mounds, ponds, circular ditches, and linear embankments built over at least 2,000 years.

William Sears, director of the excavation and author of "Fort Center: An Archeological Site in the Lake Okeechobee Basin," believes that corn pollen found in one of the three overlapping basins indicates that the Belle Glade people grew corn.

If true, Fort Center would be one of the earliest, if not the earliest, example of agriculture in the pre-Columbian Eastern United States.

Sears theorizes that people dug ditches to drain the soil for corn, which will not grow in wet soils, and that this practice may have spread across the Caribbean or around the Gulf from the lowlands of Mexico.

At the site, bundles of human remains were found along with the remnants of a wooden platform decorated with wooden carvings of wildlife including life-size cats, a bear, foxes, eagles, and wading birds.

Other objects were preserved in the muck at the bottom of the pond including a wooden carving of an otter running with a fish in its mouth.

The site, listed in the National Register of Historic Places, was still occupied, although there was no evidence of agriculture, when the Europeans arrived in the 16th and 17th centuries.

During the Second Seminole War (1835-1842), a cabbage palm palisade at the site was named Fort Center for Lieutenant J.P. Center.

Oscen Tustenuggee, who had organized many war parties, and his two bothers Micco Tustenuggee and Old Tustenuggee and their wives lived in villages along the creek. In 1842, George Henry Preble of the U.S. Navy described the difficulties of a trip up Fisheating Creek in a 30-foot cypress dugout canoe named "Susan" after his sweetheart: "This stream is very tortuous, and sometimes swells into a river, and then dwindles into a brook."

The fort was reactivated at the start of the Third Seminole War in 1855. Lieutenant Henry Benson described Fort Center upon his arrival in April 1855 as "more disagreeable, unhealthy and devoid of interest than I had expected ... Mosquitoes awful. 1 billion of them ... Hot-hot as fire all day." His diary concludes with "the same in the same. Killed two snakes."

At the conclusion of the Third Seminole War in 1858, many Indians had been removed from Florida.

In 1881, Clay MacCauley at the direction of the federal government found 37 extended families living in 22 campsites in five areas, one of which was Fisheating Creek. By 1930, cultivation of sugar cane, cattle ranching, and establishment of a refinery at Moore Haven forced the remaining Seminoles to move from Fisheating Creek. Some Seminoles went to work for cattle barron Jacob Summerlin.

Much of the land surrounding the creek came to be owned by the Lykes Brothers.

The Lykes Empire began in the 1880s when Dr. Howell Tyson Lykes began exporting cattle to Cuba.

All seven of his sons went into the family cattle or shipping business, and today Lykes Brothers Inc. is the largest producer of cattle and the biggest meat packer in Florida.

Over the years the creek has been the focal point in the lives of the local people. They courted, married, honeymooned, and baptized their children there.

Along the banks they colored and hid Easter eggs and celebrated Thanksgiving. They depended on the creek for subsistence and recreation, hunting, fishing, and camping along its banks.

The Lykes family prohibited development along the creek and ran a campground and a canoeing concession at Palmdale.

In 1989, the Lykes Brothers closed the creek to the public, igniting a 10-year legal battle.

On February 19, 1998, Circuit Court Judge Charles Carlton ruled that Fisheating Creek belonged to the people of Florida, although the ordinary high water line, which is used to determine the boundary between public lands and private lands, had not been determined.

Lykes Brothers appealed the decision. To put an end to litigation, the parties agreed to a settlement calling for the state of Florida to purchase a corridor along the creek under the auspices of the Conservation and Recreation Lands (CARL) Program using funds appropriated by the Florida Forever Act.

This land (18,272 acres) became Fisheating Creek WMA.

The settlement agreement has a number of stipulations that determine recreational PHOENIX, Ariz. — Doris Wynell Grammer, wife of Rev Hawk Grammer, passed away in her sleep, on June 16, 2010, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Doris affectionately known to her friends as "Nell," was instrumental in helping Rev. Grammer while he was with the Montana and Florida Missions Boards.

Nell was originally from Winterhaven, Fla., and worked with her husband of 58 years in the service of the Lord. She was truly a sweet, sweet spirit and will be missed.

Nell is survived her children, Jack Grammer (Linda) of Crestview, Fla., and Don Grammer of Phoenix, Ariz.

A graveside service was held on July 6th at Live Oak Church in Crestview, Florida. In lieu of flowers, the children have asked that contributions be sent to a favorite charity.

Flood control maintained without raising tax rates

SFWMD staff to recommend efficiencies, no change in tax rate

Financial staff at the South Florida Water Management District (SFWMD) will recommend to the Governing Board this week that ecosystem restoration and water management operations serving 7.5 million residents can continue forward without raising the agency's tax rates for residents from Orlando to the Keys.

"In uncertain economic times, the District must meet its responsibilities by operating as efficiently as possible," said SFWMD Assistant Executive Director Tom Olliff. "Through conservative fiscal and strategic planning, next year's budget will meet flood protection, water supply and environmental restoration goals while reducing the taxes paid by South Floridians."

If approved by the Governing Board at its public meeting on Thursday, the millage rate would become part of the proposed $1.04 billion Fiscal Year 2011 budget (Oct. 1, 2010 - September 30, 2011) that will once again reflect a significant investment in the environment and a commitment to fiscal responsibility. The proposed budget is reviewed and finalized in September. The District tax rate has remained the same since Fiscal Year 1998.

Included in the proposed budget is a host of funded projects to benefit restoration and enhance flood control operations including:

- $15.9 million for continued construction of the C-111 Spreader Canal to restore Florida Bay and the Everglades

- $11.7 million for ongoing construction of the Lakeside Ranch Stormwater Treatment Area, which is transforming ranchland north of Lake Okeechobee into a wetland to remove phosphorus before it reaches the lake

- $60 million for operations and maintenance of 2,600 miles of canals and levees

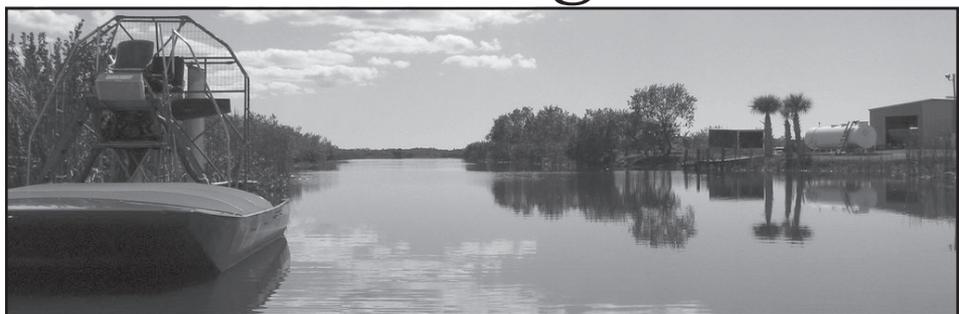

The proposed budget also reflects an approximately $61 million reduction in property tax revenues, in comparison with the current year.

"The District consistently takes a fiscally conservative approach to budgeting, which enables the agency to meet its core functions — even during periods of economic downturns," said SFWMD Budget Director Mike Smykowski.

"A variety of cost-cutting measures over the years — constantly reassessing operating costs and proposed projects — ensure that every taxpayer dollar goes directly to support our mission."

From Fiscal Year 2008 to Fiscal Year 2010, the District achieved more than $10.8 million in savings by reducing costs for fleet management, training, travel, energy use and other operations.

The District's annual budget is funded by a combination of ad valorem (property) taxes and other sources, such as federal, state and local revenue; licenses; permit fees; grants; agricultural taxes; investment income and bond proceeds.

The proposed tax rates represent 62.4 cents per thousand dollars of value in 15 of the District's 16 counties (the Okeechobee Basin). For example, a home with a taxable value of $200,000 (assessed value of $250,000, less the $50,000 homestead exemption) would see a total District tax bill of $124.80.

For Collier County and mainland Monroe

County (the Big Cypress Basin), the tax rates represent 48.14 cents per thousand dollars. A similar home in this region would see a tax bill of $96.28.

The District's nine-member Governing Board will consider the staff's recommendation on millage rates at its business meeting on Thursday, July 15.

The meeting will be held at the District's headquarters at 3301 Gun Club Road, West Palm Beach, FL 33406.

Donations, grants provides for free health classes to the community

By Toni Joseph
INI Florida

The primary goal of Hendry Regional Corporate Health is to improve your health and make you feel better in every possible way.

Thanks to donations from the community and a grant from the Lake Okeechobee Rural Health Network, Inc. (LORHN), Hendry Regional is able to offer free wellness education classes to the community, such as diabetes and tobacco cessation.

LORHN was established in 1994 as a non-profit corporation designed to provide for the special and specific needs of the residents, visitors, and businesses in the Lake Okeechobee area; with extended services to Glades, Hendry, Okeechobee, Western Martin, and Western Palm Beach counties.

Toni Pavey-McDaniel, Director of Corporate Health Services, 203 S. Gloria Street, Clewiston, commented that insurance companies can, and have, charged participants as much as $1,000 for the diabetes classes.

"Because our community cannot afford those kinds of charges, I looked for a way to offer the classes free," said Ms. Pavey-McDaniel.

The diabetes education class -- which is offered in both English and Spanish -- is taught by Sherry Hooker, RN, and given once a month for two evenings.

Ms. Hooker educates the participants on the difference between Type 1 and Type 2 diabetes, how to control diabetes, and how diabetes affects cholesterol and high blood diabetes.

The next diabetes education class will be held Wednesday and Thursday, July 21 and 22, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the center in Clewiston.

Seating is limited; no physician referral is required. Call Toni or Sherry at 863-983-9121 to reserve your place.

Holy Nativity Episcopal Church closes its doors

Presents precious article to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church

Submitted by Flora Todd

The Episcopal Diocese of SouthEast Florida has sadly announced the closing of The Church of the Holy Nativity at Pahokee.

This was an historic church, starting its meetings in the 30s at the homes of members. The church building was dedicated on Pearl Harbor Day, December 7, 1944.

Generations of youngsters grew up serving and receiving from the church. It was officially closed and desecularized by The Rev. Bryan Hobbs, Archdeacon; Rev. Carol Barron, Dean of the North Deanery and Priest-in-Charge; and Canon Howarth L. Lewis.

Most religious articles were given to other area Episcopal churches; however, one article was too precious to leave Pahokee.

That article was a crucifix created in memoriam of Ross Bleech.

Ross Bleech was the only child of Marian and Otto Bleech. He was a dream boy; outgoing, athletic, studious, and a leader in his class at Pahokee High School.

The Bleeches were active citizens of Pahokee and helped with the formation of the Holy Nativity parish.

When WW II started, Ross went into the navy in the Aviation field. He fought and succeeded as a naval pilot until the last day of the war, August 25, 1944.

On that day, his plane was hit and he went down in flames into the Pacific. All of Pahokee was in grief; his body was never found.

This special crucifix is given in Ross's memory and in hopes of bringing solace to all who have lost a loved one.

Lakeside Medical Center awarded Komen Grant for screenings

Robin Kish, Administrator of Public Affairs

Lakeside Medical Center, 39200 Hooker Highway, Belle Glade, was recently awarded a $16,000 grant from the South Florida Affiliate of Susan G. Komen for the Cure, which notes that every three minutes a woman is diagnosed with breast cancer in the United States.

The grant allows Palm Beach County's only public hospital to provide free, potentially life-saving mammograms to underinsured and uninsured county residents who qualify.

"Mammograms are a proven screening tool for the detection of breast cancer," said Jeffrey A. McRoberts, Lakeside Medical Center's Director of Nursing and Project Director for the hospital's grant.

"We want all area residents to have access to this preventive screening, and we're grateful for the support of Susan G. Komen for the Cure in helping us provide that service to those who need it most."

Funded in part by a generous grant from PNC Bank, along with a Palm Beach County Department of Housing and Community Development Block Grant, Lakeside Medical Center's GE Senographe Essential digital mammography machine generates electronic images in seconds, allowing physicians to provide patients with faster and more comprehensive diagnoses, which can save lives.

"Lakeside Medical Center offers technologically-advanced digital mammography screenings for earlier detection of breast cancer," said Brian P. Gibbons, Jr., Hospital Administrator.

"We appreciate the ongoing support of Susan G. Komen for the Cure and its recognition of our focus on Women's Health services, which include primary care, maternal and child care and bone densitometry."

Two Lakeside Medical Center OB-GYN physicians, Marian Sampson, MD, and Sherida Williams, MD, offer Women's Health services at Lakeside Physician Practice in Belle Glade.

Giving their patients greater access to important diagnostic services supports the work they do every day to help women through all stages of their personal health.

"Educating women in this community about their overall health is a priority," said Dr. Williams. "Mammograms go a long way in enabling early detection of breast cancer when it's treatable, and I'm excited that through this generous grant, many of my patients will be able to learn first-hand the value of mammography screening."

Susan G. Komen for the Cure, which notes that women over age 39 should schedule a mammogram annually, is the world's largest and most progressive grassroots network of breast cancer survivors and activists.

The South Florida Affiliate serves Palm Beach, Martin and St. Lucie counties. It partners with many local nonprofit organizations to help raise breast cancer awareness and provide much needed funds to serve the community and save lives.

To make an appointment for a mammogram at Lakeside Medical Center, which is owned and operated by the Health Care District of Palm Beach County, call 561-996-6571 x286. For more information, visit our website at www.lakesidemedical.org.

His parents, Johnnie and Vivian Mullins, believed that a scholarship in memory of him would keep Johnnie alive in their hearts as well as the community's.

Mr. Mullins explained the details for the scholarship, "My wife and I award a $3,000 scholarship every year to one deserving academic athlete at Glades Central."

The criteria the Mullins family is looking for is an academic scholar who participates in at least two majors sports with a grade point of average of 3.2 or higher.

Recommendations come directly from the guidance counselor each school year.

Mr. Mullins adds with pride, "This is the eighth annual scholarship and it will continue as long as I am able," he said with a laugh.

Providing a scholarship on a retired individual's income is challenging.

Although the Glades have been a huge help these past years, more participation is desired.

"We would be delighted for the Glades to get more involved because we would love to do more than one scholarship," Mr. Mullins stated.

He continued, "Accounts are set up at Chase banks located in West Palm. All donations are tax deductible."

For those who are willing to get involved with the Johnnie "Jay" Scholarship fund, please call 561-261-2153 or send contributions to Johnnie "Jay" Scholarship Committee P.O. Box 154, Belle Glade, FL 33430.

Mrs. Cortheda Mann captured the Mullins' intention with these few words, "His legacy helps others reach their dreams."

Sugarcane growers workshop August 4th

This workshop, to be held at UF/FAS Everglades and Education Center in Belle Glade, will be hosted by Les Baucum, Regional Sugarcane Extension Agent, Hendry County; Ron Rice, Sugarcane Extension Agent, Palm Beach County; and Richard Raid, Research Plant Pathologist, UF/IFAS, EREC. It will focus on living with and managing sugarcane orange rust as the latest challenge that the South Florida sugarcane and other sugarcane producing regions are facing. Orange rust infections have increased significantly in some of our most important cultivars.

This workshop will give participants the opportunity to review results from fungicide trials conducted in small plot experiments and large-scale commercial fields.

The cost of applying fungicides is a concern, and this will be reviewed. The frequency and timing of fungicide applications for effective control will be highlighted. The final workshop agenda is not yet complete but it will be designed to provide all of the latest information on sugarcane orange. Lunch will be sponsored by BASF. Please RSVP (for an accurate lunch estimate) by calling 863-674-4092 or email Lbaucum@ufl.edu.

said prayers, led participants in a rousing discussion on change for the area, and invited residents living in nearby apartments to join.

Lt. Morris is hoping that marches planned in South Bay, on the July 23, and in Pahokee, on August 6, will attract more people, and thinks that the crowds will follow much like they did last year: starting small at first and then growing so large that churches bused parishioners to the sites and participating groups took to barbecuing to accommodate the crowds.

"Last year, towards the end, we had 300 to 400 people" joining in, said the lieutenant.

If they are successful, they will convey the message that "we can't solve every crime without the people." If residents believe in the mission, then the determination that "we're sick and tired of these crimes," will spread to everyone, he said.

Following the marches in the sister cities, a rally will be held, although organizers have not pinned down the exact time or location of that event.

Mayor Wilson, who charted off the main march route to greet people personally -- very few people along the path meeting him for the first time -- is unrestrained in his analysis of the issues affecting Belle Glade.

It's the unemployment rate -- at a dreadfully high rate well into the double-digits -- and it's the lack of recreational opportunities for the youth which are fostering the negative element, the mayor said.

"Not a day goes by that I don't wake up concerned about what happened the night before," he said.

It's not the Belle Glade he knew, he insists, and hopes that more people will march against violence.

"We used to sleep with the doors open," he said. "I was able to do that years ago. Today, everybody locks their doors."

The District's agency action as set forth in the Staff Reports shall become final unless a timely petition for an administrative hearing is filed under Sections 120.569 and 120.57 of the Florida Statutes before the deadline for filing a petition. The procedures for petitioning for a hearing are set forth below, followed by the procedures for pursuing mediation.

A person whose substantial interests are affected by the District's permitting decision may petition for an administrative proceeding (hearing) under Sections 120.569 and 120.57 of the Florida Statutes. The petition must contain the information set forth below and must be filed (received) in the Office of the Clerk at the SFWMD Headquarters at 3301 Gun Club Road, West Palm Beach, FL 33406. Pursuant to Rule 28-106.104 Fla. Admin. Code, any documents received after 5:00 p.m. shall be filed as of 8:00 a.m. on the next regular business day. Filings by e-mail will not be accepted. A copy of the Petition must also be mailed at the time of filing to the persons named above at the address indicated. Failure to file a petition within the 21 days of publication of notice, or other receipt of the written notice, whichever first occurs first, constitutes a waiver of any right such person has to an administrative determination (hearing) pursuant to Sections 120.569 and 120.57, Fla. Stat. as provided by Subsection 28-106.11(4) Fla. Admin. Code.

The petitioner shall mail a copy of the petition to the applicant at the address indicated above at the time of filing.

A petition that disputes the material facts on which the District's action is based must contain the information set forth in Rule 28-106.201(2), Fla. Admin. Code, including:

- (1) Identification of the action being contested, including the permit number, application number, District file number or any other SFWMD identification number, if known.
- (2) The name, address and telephone number of the petitioner and petitioner's representative, if any.
- (3) An explanation of how the petitioner's substantial interests will be affected by the agency determination.
- (4) A statement of when and how the petitioner received notice of the SFWMD's decision.
- (5) A statement of all disputed issues of material fact. If there are none, the petition must so indicate.
- (6) A concise statement of the ultimate facts alleged, including the specific facts the petitioner contends warrant reversal or modification of the SFWMD's proposed action.
- (7) A statement of the specific rules or statutes the petitioner contends require reversal or modification of the SFWMD's proposed action.
- (8) If disputed issues of material fact exist, the statement must also include an explanation of how the alleged facts relate to the specific rules or statutes.
- (9) A statement of the relief sought by the petitioner, stating precisely the action the petitioner wishes the SFWMD to take with respect to the SFWMD's proposed action.

A petition that does not dispute the material facts on which the District's action is based shall state that no such facts are in dispute and otherwise shall contain the same information as set forth above, as required by Rule 28-106.301, Fla. Admin. Code. Because the administrative hearing process is designed to formulate final agency action, the filing of a petition means that the District's final action may be different from the position taken by it in this notice.

The procedures for pursuing mediation are set forth in Section 120.573 Fla. Stats. and Rules 28-106.111 and 28-106.401-405 Fla. Admin. Code. The SFWMD is not proposing mediation for these agency actions under Section 120.573, Fla. Stat. at this time.

Ticks - they can be in your back yard

How to avoid ticks in the summertime while still enjoying the outdoors

Pat Dobbins

It's summertime and everyone will be gardening, camping, hiking, or just playing outdoors. These are all great summer activities, but don't forget about the "creepy-crawly" ticks that may be in the same environment.

There are several things you can do to help prevent tick bites and reduce your risk of tick-borne disease.

After being in wooded areas, grassy areas, or even after a summer picnic, you should check your scalp and hair, behind the ears, the neck and under the arms.

Usually ticks try to find a nice warm spot to hide and latch onto to your skin, but sometimes they can choose the strangest places, so check your whole body thoroughly.

Some ticks are small enough to crawl into shoes or through socks, so when you are hiking, or taking a stroll through wooded areas, tuck your pants legs into your socks so that they cannot crawl up the inside of your pants.

Also, it's a good idea to wear light-colored clothing, because it will help you spot any ticks that may be crawling around looking for a place to bite!

Before you go into your home, check your clothing and your pets for ticks. Ticks may be carried into the house on clothing and pets and any ticks that are found should be removed immediately.

For added protection, you can also use an insect repellent with DEET, but please always follow product instructions. Repellents containing 20% or more DEET can be applied to the skin, and can provide some protection for several hours.

Talk to your healthcare provider before applying any insect repellents on young children.

Some of the more common diseases that you can get from a tick bite include: Lyme disease, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, and Tularemia.

Typically, Lyme disease is marked by a red bump at the site of the tick bite, surrounded by an expanding, bulls-eye patterned rash.

Rocky Mountain spotted fever symptoms include red dots on the ankles and wrists. Rocky Mountain spotted fever can be transmitted by the American dog tick, while Lyme disease can be carried by the black-legged tick.

Remove an attached tick as soon as you notice it. Watch for signs of illness such as rash or fever, and see a health care provider if these develop.

Remember that it can take up to 30 days before you have symptoms of a tick related disease. Your risk of acquiring a tick-borne illness depends on many factors, including where you live, what type of tick bit you, and how long the tick was attached.

If you become ill after a tick bite, see your health care provider.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), in Florida, there were 554 cases of Lyme disease reported from 1999 through 2008, which is an average 55 cases per year. Of these, 30% were acquired in Florida while 70% were acquired while the person was traveling in another state or country.

Please keep this in mind as you go on your summer vacations to other parts of the country.

The number of cases usually occurs during the summer months and peak in July, though cases are typically reported in Florida year-round.

Eloquent Speech(Nothing to do with words!)

Rev. Samuel S. Thomas, Ph. D. +
Saint Martin's Church, Clewiston

Churches have all come to realize that there is a need to speak in a language understood by the people to be served. Many of the Churches that came into being in the 16th and 17th centuries were the first to realize that to communicate, you have to be understood.

I have attended Church services in languages that I really didn't know; I was edified but it was not the same as if I had been able to fully participate.

I've learned that in all of our relationships, communication-language - is important.

What I've also come to realize is that communication - language, is more than words. How many times have I heard someone say "But you said" and complain that their words did not agree with what they had done.

Other times, the response is "Well, I said - but what I meant was" or "You didn't understand, I didn't really say that - what I said was" and they're off and running.

The problem is not a new one. The Lord tells His followers "The secret of the Kingdom of God has been given to you - but to those on the outside - they may ever be seeing but never perceiving, and ever hearing but never understanding(Mark 4:11-12)."

Jesus used parables throughout His ministry. Parables are about a kind of communication that is thought of as analogies; telling about something similar to the point of the story. "The Kingdom of Heaven is like" or "A certain man fell among thieves." I think there is more to it than just that.

Parables are communicating through actions. The people in the parables are not lecturers or debaters; they are doers. The truth of the parable comes through actions; a prodigal son returns and is forgiven; there is more joy over the lost sheep that is found than the ninety-nine that are safe; a man who searches his field for a great treasure. The communication is in their actions and we understand them far better than if we had only received a lecture or a rule. So, too, with our day-to-day communications; when somebody comes to me and says "But he/she said" I advise to "look at the actions that you see."

When my ministry was devoted to substance abusers, I would hear all kinds of stories, promises, assurances, rationales, denials, excuses. The persons spoke most eloquently by what they did, as we all do. Not just individuals but groups, including churches, speak most eloquently by what they do moreso than by what they say, too.

The faithful have been admonished "Do not merely listen to the word and so deceive yourselves, do what it says (James 1:22)," or "be ye doers of the word and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves." Leaders, clergy or lay need to consider the example they set.

When all of the sermons are given and the speeches have finished, what has been done? How have the words been translated into actions?

That can be the most eloquent speech or sermon of all.

Destroy the Destroyers!

Jackie Miller, Evangelist

First Christian Church

The book of Revelation, which records the closing events on this earth that are to culminate in the return of Jesus, has been of my interest.

I wrote my own commentary on the book and have taught it several times in the church and Bible Institutes.

One of the statements in it has become a very special significance in the last few years, especially the Oil Spill in the Gulf. The prophecy is recorded in the 11th Chapter and is the closing statement of the 18th verse. It reads, "And shouldst destroy them which destroy the earth."

We are tardily awakening to the shocking truth that this is exactly what we are doing with our advance technology on which we have practically made a god to ourselves. Everything is being poisoned; the earth, the air, the streams and lakes, even the mighty seas.

Likewise, plants and animals, including ourselves.

Everything is being affected, even the unborn. Remember what one of our drugs did to the babes of Western Germany. Now much else is becoming suspected concerning its effect on the developing babe.

The Creator placed in the ocean a natural antiseptic to protect it from becoming a stench.

We refer to the salt content, in addition to this, certain creatures, as the shark, to dispose of the dead bodies of the waters. Continued poisoning of the seas may not only reduce the efficacy of the salt but may also destroy the specially created life which feeds on the carrion of the sea. Then what?

God breathed into the first man's nostrils the breath of life and man became a living soul. Men must still depend on breathing in order to continue that life. However, contemplate what is now being done to the air which we must breathe to live even for a few minutes.

Residues from crop spraying, fertilizers, bug killers, chemical additions to our feeds, even to the foods fed to slaughter animals, are now under investigation with question marks over them as to the effects they may have not only on animals themselves but to those who consume them for food.

Unless and until such dangers are checked and reversed, the conditions must steadily worsen along with the increasing danger to life and the environment.

The Creator seems to have given men sufficient rope to hang himself, as the old proverb expresses it.

Thus he is left with neither excuse nor alibi for his attitudes and actions.

Rev. Thomas

Being Neighborly

Pastor John Hicks

First United Methodist Church

A Sunday school teacher was telling her class the story of the Good Samaritan. In vivid detail, she told how the man was beaten, robbed and left for dead. She then asked, "If you saw a person lying on the roadside all wounded and bleeding, what would you do?"

One thoughtful little girl broke the silence, "I think I'd throw up."

She was being honest.

There are many adults who would not respond well to such situations.

In New York City, a mailman, shot by a sniper, was ordered to leave a building lobby because he was dripping blood.

In Oklahoma City, a woman gave birth unexpectedly on a city sidewalk. Bystanders turned their faces and ignored her. A taxi driver looked, then sped away. A nearby hotel refused to provide her a blanket.

In Dayton, Ohio, a dozen people saw a woman drive her car into the Miami River. They watched indifferently as the woman climbed on the car's roof and screamed that she couldn't swim. The woman drowned.

What has happened to us? These people are our neighbors! One of our greatest concerns should be that these aren't isolated incidents. In the Scriptures, an expert in the law asked Jesus how he should be neighborly. His first question, however, was, "Teacher, what must I do to inherit eternal life?"

Jesus responded, "What is written in the Law? How do you read it?"

The expert answered: "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength and with all your mind"; and, "Love your neighbor as yourself."

"You have answered correctly," Jesus replied. "Do this and you will live."

But this expert in the law wanted "to justify himself" and so he asked Jesus, "Who is my neighbor?"

In reply Jesus shared this story:

"A man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, when he fell amongst robbers. They stripped him, beat him, and went away, leaving him half dead. A priest happened to be going down the same road. When he saw the man, he passed by on the other side. Likewise, a Levite, when he came to the place and saw him, passed by on the other side.

But when a Samaritan came by and saw him, he took pity on him. The Samaritan bandaged the man's wounds, pouring on oil and wine. Then he put the man on his donkey and took him to an inn to care for him. The next day he took out two silver coins and gave them to the innkeeper. 'Look after him,' he said, 'and when I return, I will reimburse you for any extra expense you may have.'

"Which of these three," Jesus asked, "do you think was a neighbor to the man who fell into the hands of robbers?"

The expert in the law replied, "The one who had mercy on him."

Jesus told him, "Go and do likewise."
