Sunday Homicides Claim 26- and 16-year-old

Deadly events over the weekend claim two Glades victims

BY JOSE JESUS ZARAGOZA
The Sun

Detectives are busy working on two cases on Sunday which left two men dead. In two incidents on Sunday, in two separate cities, two Glades area men were violently shot down in plain sight. In the wake of the crimes, investigators are asking the public to provide any information to help catch the gunmen.

Palm Beach County Sheriff's deputies responded to the first incident at approximately 6:20 p.m., called out to Lakeside Medical Center in reference to the death of a man, Reginald Mila, 26, of Belle Glade.

Hospital workers informed deputies that the man had suffered multiple gunshot wounds. A subsequent investigation revealed that Mila had been gunned down while driving his F-150 in the 600 block of S.W. Martin Luther King Blvd. in Belle Glade.

According to information released by Teri Barbera, spokesperson for the sheriff's office, unknown assailants had approached Mila's vehicle, shooting him while the vehicle was still in motion. Mila's vehicle struck a building, and then another vehicle at the intersection of Southwest Sixth Street and Southwest Martin Luther King Blvd.

People who witnessed the crime took possession of Mila and transported him to Lakeside Medical Center, where he later died as a result of his injuries.

In the second case, which deputies responded to just a little more than an hour later, at 7:45 p.m. deputies responded to the shots fired call to find James Dents Jr., 16, dead from gunshot wounds.

Dents was found lying in a yard of a residence.

According to investigators, Dents had been walking in the area of Northwest 11th Avenue when two subjects driving a Toyota Camry drove by, peppering the young man with bullets.

Dents tried to escape, but collapsed in front of the home in the 1,000 block of N.W. First Street in South Bay.

Officials are hoping that residents with information about the shooting will step forward to help apprehend the gunmen involved in the incidents. The sheriff's office has not said whether the shootings were gang-related, or connected in any way.

If you have information, you are encouraged to contact Crime Stoppers at 1-800-458-TIPS.

National Edges American in PBC-Treasure Coast All-Star Game

Glades Central's Jamarious Rowley and West Boca's Robert Lockhart earn MVP honors

BY NAJI TOBIAS
Special to INI

The 18th Annual Palm Beach County-Treasure Coast All-Star Game at Boca Raton High School featured highlights from players on both the American and National teams.

But the game's outcome came down to one key play – a two-point conversion try with just 40 seconds left in the Jan. 22 high school all-star showdown.

Down 20-19, the American team had two choices: either kick the extra-point in hopes of sending the game into overtime or go for the win.

Following a beautifully executed 40-yard touchdown pass from Glades Central senior quarterback Jamarious Rowley to Dwyer running back Shawn McClain – it was a fourth-and-4 play with less than a minute left in the game and American down 20-13 – American head coach Kevin Wald (John Carroll) initially chose to go for the extra point.

As both teams lined up for the extra point, however, an offside penalty was called on the National team, giving Wald and the American team yet another chance to either tie or win the game.

Wald and his coaching staff decided to go for the two-point conversion and the win, as they called a running play for Jensen Beach senior running back Tevin Wilson (seven carries, 21 yards).

It looked as if Wilson would punch it down the heart of National's defense into the end zone, but the entire National army knew it was coming and stopped him one yard short of the goal line.

The game was essentially over after that, but it was really official after American failed to convert on an onside kick following that failed two-point conversion attempt.

"It was wild, man," Jupiter Christian senior running back Trey Pendergrass (eight carries, 30 yards) said of the game's outcome. "Our offense was determined to compete for the win. We got an offside penalty from the defense and figured we would get the two-point conversion. But we had 12 men on the field and we just couldn't quite get it in the end zone. We weren't happy to lose, but we had a fun week with each other."

After the game, Wald was willing to talk about the decision to try the two-point conversion.

"It's the all-star game, so we thought we had a chance to get it in with a yard and a half to go," Wald said. "We just came up a little bit short. Sometimes you win by a few inches and lose by a few. If we could do it again, I would try it in a heartbeat."

In what was a relatively close game throughout, National took an 18-13 lead with 1:52 left in the fourth on a 9-yard touchdown strike from Boca Raton quarterback Cameron Lewis to West Boca Raton wideout Robert Lockhart (four catches, game-high 67 yards and two touchdowns),

Sugar Bear News From Pioneer Park

Pioneer Park's Student Volunteer Corps

Fall 2010 saw the start up of a very powerful and significant group of students on the campus of Pioneer Park Elementary School, the Student Volunteer Corps. Fourth and fifth grade students partook in a rigorous application process to be counted among the select membership of this campus service organization.

During the fall, members will conduct the televised morning announcements; organize and facilitate the campus recycling program; peer-mentor emergent and struggling readers; and offer support to the media center to re-shelve books and to assist with checkout. The teachers and administrators at Pioneer Park wish to acknowledge these amazing young students for their commitment to our school.

Campus members currently include Car'Tiera Turner, Sam'Quan Slaughter, Beverly Kelly, Curtierria Warner, Dontavious Lockett, Patricia Hall, Antuan Williams, Carlene Joseph, Guyland Val,

Pioneer Park Elementary Receives Boxes of Joy

Pioneer Park Elementary School was once again overwhelmed by the generosity of their sister school, Panther Run Elementary. Vans and pick-up trucks arrived, carrying students, Parent-Teacher Organization (PTO) members, and volunteers bringing with them forty five Thanksgiving Boxes.

These boxes were all decorated with the Thanksgiving theme and filled with everything needed to make a Thanksgiving Fest including a gift card to Winn Dixie. Pioneer Park had previously identified families that would be given these boxes. As the families arrived Mr. Harmon, Guidance Counselor, would present them with the Thanksgiving box and the gift card. Principal, Mr. Miller commented, "We are so thankful for Panther Run's generosity. These will help make Thanksgiving a joyous one in many homes."

The students from Panther Run enjoyed a tour of the school by members of the Safety Patrol.

Pioneer Park had also asked for assistance from Panther Run for a coat closet to provide coats for our students. Panther Run brought numerous coats for this purpose.

Lake Okeechobee Weekly Fishing Report

BY MARK KING

What a great week it has been here on Lake Okeechobee with warm temperatures and lots of bass to catch almost anywhere on the lake. My clients enjoyed catching over fifty bass a day on two different days this week and plenty of bass on the other days this week.

Even when the cold front pushed through our area of South Florida over the weekend we were still able to catch a fair number of bass including a couple nice bass over six pounds.

We caught bass on wild shiners, top water, and soft plastic worms in quite a few different areas this week, including bass that we caught off the beds. The full brought a lot of bass in to spawning areas but this was not a really big push like it should be next full moon.

As the water temperature moved into the upper 60s and lower 70s, the bass seemed to be everywhere and they were ready to eat almost anything that you threw at them.

I had two great days catching bass on Gambler Flapp'n Shads from daybreak until sunset, everything was just right and it was just one of those days when everything was right.

I also caught a good number of bass on Gambler Ace's rigged with a 1/16 ounce screw in weight fished in the scattered eel grass on the shoal.

Other areas that were good this week include the East and West Walls, Ritta Island, the Monkey Box, North Shore, and the outside of Cochran's Pass. As you can see there were bass to be caught in a lot of different areas this past week.

The bass were out on the outside grass line and also back in the shallow water so far that it almost seemed like they would have to swim sideways to get into some of the place I caught fish this week.

With this water level down from last year the bass seem to be really spooky around their beds and won't stay on them when you run the trolling motor near them, a push pole will get you a lot closer. There were not a lot of big fish caught this week so this is why that I think that the next full moon will really push a lot of bigger bass in to spawn. Not to say that there wasn't some big bass caught this week just not a lot of them.

Some of the other lures that worked well this week included lipless crank baits like the Spro

Aruku Shad in green shiner color, Gambler Big EZ swim bait in copperfield color, and shakey head jigs with Gambler Sweebo worms when the water got cold after the cold front.

The crappie bite has also been pretty good for some with some bigger crappies being brought in to the cleaning table.

Some areas to try is Uncle Joe's cut, the rim canal, dynamite holes, and around Bird Island. Try both jigs and minnows for the best results.

The FLW Open will be out of Clewiston on the 3rd, 4th, 5th, and 6th of February so that means that there will be a lot of boats out during this time and I just ask everyone to show lots of courtesy to these anglers who are out on our lake only a few days a year trying to make a living and helping to support our town and it's businesses.

Until next week good luck, tight lines and I hope to see each of you out on the water.

FLW, Goodwill Gear Up for the Lake O Open

Goodwill Industries and FLW Outdoors Partner to Drive Awareness, Donations

The excitement of the 2011 Walmart FLW Bass Fishing Tour is coming to Hendry County in February.

This year's Lake Okeechobee Open will take place in Clewiston from February 3 to 6, and Goodwill Industries® of Southwest Florida (<http://www.goodwillswfl.org>) is hooked in for all the fun and excitement.

The Walmart FLW Tour is operated by FLW Outdoors, the world's leading tournament-fishing organization.

The 2011 Tour season consists of 11 bass fishing events, including four Open tournaments, six Majors and the Forrest Wood Cup, and the Walleye Tour Championship.

Among those competing will be professional angler Chad Grigsby of Maple Grove, Minn., who will be sporting the Goodwill® jersey and Smiling G logo and representing Goodwill on the Tour.

Grigsby has participated on the Tour for nine years, with career earnings nearing $500,000 and nine top-10 finishes, including one at the Forrest Wood Cup, which is considered one of the most competitive events in pro bass fishing.

Goodwill, which operates more than 2,500 retail stores and donation centers throughout the United States and Canada, will utilize the resources of FLW Outdoors to drive traffic and awareness to its locations.

Goodwill will receive exposure and have a presence across multiple platforms of FLW Outdoors, including all bass and walleye events, FLW Outdoors' multiple web sites, FLW Outdoors Magazine and "FLW Outdoors" television show on VERSUS.

Locally, Goodwill (<http://www.goodwillswfl.org>) will participate at the FLW Outdoors Expo on February 5 to 6, with fun family activities and giveaways.

The Expo will be located adjacent to the Clewiston Walmart (1005 W. Sugarland Hwy.). Goodwill will also use the opportunity to collect donations of gently-used items, and to promote its mission of providing programs and services for people with disabilities and other barriers to independence.

"The relationship formed between FLW Outdoors and Goodwill has demonstrated how a unique partnership can benefit both organizations and our communities," said Trisha Blake, president of FLW Outdoors Marketing Division.

"Goodwill provides skills training and support services to hundreds of people every day through its multiple programs, and we are honored to be a part of that and continue that relationship."

The partnership between Goodwill and FLW Outdoors came about through the work of Irwin L. Jacobs, who is the chairman and chief executive officer of FLW Outdoors, as well as the creator of FLW Fantasy Fishing.

"Goodwill's mission of helping people find jobs resonates with Jacobs," said Carolyn Johnson, Goodwill's Vice President of Communications.

"Goodwill will collect donations from FLW Outdoors fans and partners, and the revenue generated from the sale of these items will fund career training, not just for people in Clewiston, but across Southwest Florida."

Things Outside of Our Experience

BY JACKIE MILLER, EVANGELIST
First Christian Church

What are the many things that happens to an individual when he surrenders to Christ, through Faith in the Gospel, Repentance of sins, Confession of Faith of Christ and Baptism (immersion) into Christ?

Several of the things that happen to him when he accepts Christ are a matter of how God sees things and are completely outside of his experience. Only by faith can he know that they have taken place.

The first of these is forgiveness. This occurs as a result of God imputing the individual's sins to Jesus. He, therefore, becomes sinless in the way that God, the righteous judge, looks upon him.

Second is justification. The righteousness of Jesus Christ is imputed to his account. In this way he becomes not just forgiven but positively righteous. In classical reformed theology these two things are seen as one.

The third thing is adoption. Because of the foregoing, God treats the individual as His child who will not likely have a strong conviction of adoption unless he understands the first two points.

Our access to God is not by God's mercy or by our own worthiness but by God's having forgiven our sin and having imputed Christ's righteousness to us. Any holiness, any change, or any communion with God that the Holy Spirit works in us is because we are forgiven, justified and treated (adopted) as a child of God.

It seems to me that our modern American evangelicalism increasingly gets the cart before the horse and is preoccupied almost exclusively with our experience of God's work in our lives.

Can We Do Something To End Violence?

BY REV. SAM S. THOMAS, PH. D. +
Saint Martin's Church

Some of discourse following from the recent shooting of a congresswoman is about the tone of dialogue in the nation. It's believed to be related to our level of violence and lack of civility to each other. I recently received an e-mail where someone told me of missing something; how she "hated" it. I replied, suggesting that maybe she was really "disappointed," but "hated it?"

Hatred is a much stronger emotion than disappointment; and it was nothing lost that couldn't be made up. Sometimes, the poor choice of words suggests some emotion that is not called for or may not really be accurate.

If the thought is the parent of the action; thinking clearly, choosing the right words to express our thoughts is doubly important in society today where violence is rampant and short tempers abound.

Thinking and then speaking clearly makes a difference. During His final discourse with His disciples, Jesus tells them "...a time is coming when I will no longer use (figurative) language but will tell you plainly about my Father (John 17:25)." The disciples respond "Now you are speaking clearly ... Now we can see ... you do not even need to have anyone ask questions (v. 29)" and Jesus replies "You believe at last! (v.31)." In other words; the admonition is "Speak clearly, speak plainly, know what you are saying!" We are told "Simply, let your 'Yes' be 'Yes' and your 'No' 'No.' (John 5:37)" I might add, "Speak kindly" as well.

In my residence in another country, I got a parking ticket one day when I was delayed. I picked it off of the windshield and read "We're very sorry, but it seems you've overstayed your time at this meter. We would appreciate your forwarding the amount of money ... to address this situation and clear the records. Thank you." - I was pleasantly taken aback: I had overstayed the allotted time; but the tone was one of politeness and not as adversarial as I first expected. The result was the same; I paid the required amount, but the realization that the matter could be handled kindly made a lot of difference.

I have listened to my share of language on the street and often wonder if persons using all of the expletives know what they mean.

Frankly, I doubt it. I remember a person calling me a string of words one day; but I interrupted to assure him that my parents were married in the midst of his tirade. He stopped for a second and looked. "Aha" I thought "he doesn't know what the words he is using really mean."

When he slowed down I asked him if he was using another word as a noun or adjective. Anger communicated in words that were not even known; no wonder people get violent and we lose our ability to talk civilly with one another. Speak simply, plainly, kindly.

There's Biblical reasons to do so; and the rewards for it can be great. It's better for the blood pressure, too!

Trash-Filled Ships Find Few Friends

BY PASTOR JOHN HICKS
First United Methodist Church

The Khain Sea was for a while the world's most unwanted ship. No one wanted her. She was the Hobo of the High Seas. She traveled for 27 months on a journey that took it to four continents where country after country declined to accept the ship.

The problem was not the boat. Though rusty and covered with barnacles, the 466-foot freighter was seaworthy. The problem was not ownership. The owners kept the license up and the taxes paid. The problem was not the crew. They may have felt unwanted, but they weren't inefficient.

The problem was what she was carrying. It was trash - garbage, 13,000 tons of it. It was the trash of Philadelphia's summer of 1986. Municipal workers went on strike. Trash piled higher and higher. Georgia refused it. New Jersey said no way. No one wanted Philadelphia's trash.

That's when the Khain Sea entered into the picture. The owners thought that they would turn a quick buck by transporting the rubbish. The trash was burned and the ashes were dumped into the belly of the ship. It set off for the Bahamas, but they didn't want it. Neither did Haiti, Sri Lanka, Africa, or a host of other nations. No one would take it.

Trash-filled ships find few friends. Trash-filled hearts don't fare much better.

Life has a way of unloading garbage on our decks. Unexpected delays, traffic, lines, rude people, whining kids, tough times. The result - trash overflowing. Load after load of anger. Guilt. Bitterness. Anxiety. Impatience. Frustration. It all piles up.

Trash affects us. It contaminates our relationships. If you have trash on board, people are going to smell it. The troubles for the Khain Sea began with the first shovel full. The crew should have turned it away at the gate. Life would have been easier for everyone on board if they had never allowed the trash to pile up. Life will be better for us if we do the same.

Our challenge is to protect the boat and refuse entrance to anything that would garbage up our lives.

Pastor John Hicks

Panther-Death Numbers Little Changed in 2010

BY GABRIELLA FERRARO
FWC

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) documented 23 panther deaths in 2010. Of those mortalities, 16 panthers died after being struck by vehicles. Six of the panther deaths are attributed to "intraspecific aggression," or panthers killing other panthers. One panther died of unknown causes.

This is very similar to 2009, when the FWC documented 25 deaths, with 17 of those killed by vehicles. The five-year average is approximately 23 panthers per year, with an average of almost 14 killed each year by vehicles.

"Motorists should be aware that panthers are not always struck in posted panther speed zones," said Darrell Land, FWC biologist and panther team leader. "We caution motorists to be on the lookout for the large cats in wild areas near panther zones, especially around sundown and sunrise."

Panther speed zones are well-marked, with speed limits reduced at night to 45 mph. Motorists should be aware that violators often receive fines exceeding $200 for their first offense, and any violation of more than 29 mph over the posted limit will result in a mandatory court appearance.

"The FWC continues to work closely with the Florida Department of Transportation to develop measures that will increase motorist and panther safety along Florida's roads," Land said.

Land also said the panther population has been slowly increasing in Florida, which results in the documentation of more dead panthers. Land also noted the female panthers that were radio-tagged during 2010 produced 29 kittens. The total number of kittens born for the entire population is unknown.

Florida panthers have been listed federally as an endangered species since 1967 because of the small, isolated population and habitat loss. Recently the FWC completed a "Statement on Estimating Panther Population Size," which notes there are likely between 100 and 160 adult panthers in South Florida.

"This number comes from combining several science-based methods to provide a lower and upper bound of the population," said Kipp Frohlich, the FWC's Imperiled Species Section leader. "This should be thought of as a theoretical range that provides some insight into the possible magnitude of the total population size. We are continually seeking improved methods for determining the most accurate estimates."

Panther research and management funding comes directly from the additional fees collected when individuals purchase the "Protect the Florida panther" specialty license plate. Money also goes to law enforcement to increase patrols in the areas where panthers reside in South Florida.

Panther specialty license plates are available at local tax collectors' offices across the state. For more information, go to FloridaPantherNet.org and click on "Panther Pulse." To report dead or injured panthers, call the FWC's Wildlife Alert Hotline at 888-404-FWCC (3922).

Traffic Fatalities Continue To Decline In Florida

Preliminary figures show crash fatalities fall for fifth year straight

BY ANN HOWARD

Dept. Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles

In 2010, Florida experienced 2,430 traffic crash fatalities, a three-decade low number of traffic crash fatalities and an annual decrease of more than five percent, according to preliminary data from the Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles. By comparison, 2,563 people died in traffic crashes in 2009. The number of crash fatalities in 2010 is the lowest the state has seen since 1978 even though the Sunshine State's population has doubled since that time.

"It is encouraging to see the number of traffic fatalities continue to drop, and the Department will continue our efforts to educate motorists and aggressively enforce the traffic laws to create the safest possible driving environment," said DHSMV Executive Director Julie L. Jones. "Unfortunately, we know all too well the devastating impact that even a single fatality resulting from a careless, inattentive or impaired driver can have on a family and community."

The final count for 2010 will be made available later this year when the Department publishes its annual Traffic Crash Statistics Report 2010. Reports from previous years are available online at www.flhsmv.gov/html/safety.html.

"The Florida Highway Patrol is committed to patrolling Florida's highways around the clock, every day of the year, to safeguard motorists and stop dangerous drivers," said FHP Director, Colonel John Czernis. "Our law enforcement partners and public safety stakeholders also deserve credit for their efforts to keep our streets safe. Motorists can do their part when they buckle up every ride, every time."

Motor vehicle crashes are the #1 killer of people between the ages of 5 - 34, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The CDC reports, "seat belt use is the single most effective way to save lives and reduce injuries in crashes" and "using seat belts reduces serious injuries and deaths in crashes by about 50 percent."

In an effort to reduce crashes, state troopers not only enforce the law, but also they educate the public on safe driving habits. They talk to groups about traffic safety, conduct demonstrations using the rollover simulator, show parents how to properly install car seats and more. The Department conducts numerous education campaigns, such as Drive with CARE, a program for teen drivers and their parents. Drive with CARE prepares teen drivers for a lifetime of safe driving.

Palm Beach County 24-Hour Homeless Point-in-Time Count

The Point-in-Time Count seeks to identify the number of homeless individuals and families in Palm Beach County. During a 24-hour period, Palm Beach County Human and Veteran Services employees, volunteers and social service agency staff go into the community to gather information on homeless populations. The count not only measures the needs of the homeless, but also provides direction for future development of services. It is an important tool for resource development and planning. Results of the count provide the community with vital information to use in obtaining funding to support programs for the homeless in the county.

The Point-in-Time Count is conducted across the nation every two years. Biennial homeless counts are required for communities that receive funding from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The results are used by HUD to determine how much funding will be available for homeless assistance in each state and local area. Federal, state and some private foundations rely on the results of this count to determine grant awards. It also helps assess progress under Palm Beach County's Ten-Year Plan to End Homelessness and provides important information for updating the plan. It will be held Wednesday, Jan. 26, at 12 p.m. and Thursday, Jan. 27 by Palm Beach County Homeless and Housing Alliance. Individuals are counted on the streets and at more than 75 sites including homeless camps, programs for the homeless, public parks, food pantries, meal sites, shelters and public gathering spots. To locate a survey site call the Homeless Coalition at 561-478-5351.

Those who are staying with family or friends because they have no home, are asked to go to the following site to be counted (a Salvation Army canteen will be at these sites on Jan. 26 from 1 to 4 p.m. serving meals):

Loading Ramp, 500 SW Ave. D, Belle Glade, FL 33430.

FFA Member Honored at the Fair

Kasey Dulany, daughter of DeWitt and Sherrie Dulany, of Belle Glade participated in the 2011 South Florida Fair Youth Livestock Market Hog Show at the South Florida Fairgrounds January 20-22, 2011. Kasey is a senior and is part of the Glades Day School Future Farmers of America program.

This was Kasey's fourth year participating in the South Florida Fair Youth Livestock Market Hog Show. Kasey has learned a lot about responsibility, perseverance and how hard it is to care for a hog. Her hog was a Yorkshire named was Moose. Moose weighed in at 260 pounds.

Kasey won 1st place at the Fair for her hog in Class 5 (hogs weighing 257 to 261 pounds) and was the seventh exhibitor to auction her hog off out of 75. She also returned to the ring for the Grand Championship drive.

Kasey won the senior showmanship ribbon for Class 5. This honor was for her skills showing her hog in the show ring. Kasey has won this award in her class/division all four years that she has shown hogs at the fair. Her family is very proud of her!

Kasey's hog was auctioned off at the Fair thanks to the support of a number of local businesses, specifically the Howard Hill Foundation. Kasey is extremely thankful for their support and realizes that living in the Glades is like having one huge, supportive family. Kasey had such a good time participating in this project that she would certainly encourage others to do the same. Her parents agree! They have seen the lessons of responsibility that she has learned since joining F.F.A. four years ago. "If a child goes into this thinking it is going to be easy, they are wrong", says Kasey. "It is a lot of hard work!"

In addition to daily care of the animal -which is the largest responsibility with the project, the students must keep an accurate accounting of expenses, income, weight records, health records, math calculations determining how much they need to "break-even" for their project, taking pictures to tell a story about their project and show what they learned, write letters trying to locate a buyer for their hog and write a project story all to be kept in a record book to be submitted to the fair or be disqualified from entering the show.

"This project is about so much more than raising a hog," says Sherrie Dulany, Kasey's mom. "It has taught Kasey lessons that will help her get ahead in life by teaching her responsibility, how to present herself in front of a large public crowd, how to work with others, academic lessons with the record book and how to overcome obstacles that may come her way.

The memories of participating with her friends will be cherished for a lifetime! I am SO proud of Kasey and what she has accomplished!!" The Dulany family would like to thank all of the businesses and individuals that help to make this possible for the children in the F.F.A. and 4-H programs!

Oglethorpe University

Oglethorpe University was founded in 1835 and enrolls 1,100 students representing 34 states and 28 countries.

Oglethorpe is Georgia's only coeducational member of the Annapolis Group, an organization of America's most selective liberal arts institutions.

For four consecutive years, Oglethorpe has been named to the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll for commitment to and achievement in community service.

In 2010, Oglethorpe was named among U.S. News & World Report's Best Liberal Arts Colleges and Forbes' America's Best Colleges.

Princeton Review named Oglethorpe a Best Southeastern College, ranking it in national top-20 lists: Professors Get High Marks (#17), Classroom Discussion Encouraged (#14), Lots of Race/Class Interaction (#11), and Best College Theatre (#18). Corey Alston, A Candid Interview

Corey Alston.

Manager considers past life, compares to present, and why the Glades is a unique challenge

BY JOSE JESUS ZARAGOZA
The Sun

Corey Alston is South Bay's city manager, a position he has held for approximately 18 months now. In that time, Mr. Alston has focused on improving the financial standing of the city. A cerebral thinker who exudes a professional approach to city management, he has already begun to turn around the city's position through shrewd moves targeting some of the larger line items in the budget.

Q: Where are you from and what are your professional qualifications?

A: Born and raised in Ft. Lauderdale. That's also where I live currently. Just moved back to South Florida a few years ago. I did my undergrad in finance Florida A&M University. I went on to get an MBA in Finance. I've done the executive management program at Northwestern University in Chicago Kellogg School of Business. I served as an analyst with Goldman Sachs in New York. I served as a corporate turnaround consultant with a firm called McKensie and Company, I worked in their Chicago office. Did a lot of advisory consultant work, mostly with Fortune 500 companies, but I also did some work in the public sector group.

Q: What brought you to the Glades?

A: Literally several years ago, I was looking around Palm Beach County and a few folks directed me to the Glades as a place to look for opportunities to do some of the work that I had done before, either on the financial advisory side, or potentially the development side because I had done a little bit of affordable housing as well. And so that was my first introduction to the region.

Q: Despite living in South Florida for much of your life, you never visited the Glades. What was that first experience like?

A: It was different. It was different. As I was driving through, I was thinking more of other rural towns; I was thinking more of my mom's hometown in Georgia, versus thinking about Palm Beach County. Another thought running through my mind was, there is such a big difference between the east side of Palm Beach County and the west side of Palm Beach County -- just two completely different worlds, with different dynamics. One side known for having among the highest per income capita folks in the country, and the other side known for having among the lowest per capita income folks anywhere in the state of Florida. I knew that no substantial turnaround happens overnight. In fact, to do any kind of major and substantial improvement to this community probably needs to be thought of more in five to ten year horizons, for every major stage of growth and improvement.

Q: Four to five years? Considering your previous experience, was South Bay a place you were willing to come to and invest four to five years of your life?

A: Most people are surprised that I'm here. They say, "wait a second, relatively young guy, in his 30s, decent education, good resume, why this?" And I'm gonna tell you the truth, I asked myself that three or four times before I said yes. I ask myself that, I still ask myself that occasionally. But I guess some of us get such fulfillment in trying to help others and trying to do what's good for the masses, that sometimes you're able to overlook that yes, I could be getting paid more elsewhere. Yes, I could have less stress. Yes, I could go somewhere where I'm not an outsider. Yes I could. This is by no means as sexy as being a Wall Street banker for Goldman Sachs. This is by no means as sexy as being a consultant for what's deemed to be the world's premier business consulting and advisory firm and spending at least four days a week traveling to client headquarters in a bunch of places. But what makes this sexy, to use perhaps an inappropriate word, is that there is so much need and so much opportunity, that you can almost create a better situation, a better tomorrow, with some reasonable level of support. Another context, working hard potentially only moves the needle a millimeter; in this region, working hard can substantially move the needle. That's what makes this as sexy to me as walking down Wall Street with a bunch of multi-millionaires.

Q: How does your expertise in finances translate into an expertise in people, with your managerial role here in South Bay?

A: I've always been interested in leadership and I've been blessed to have different opportunities to demonstrate leadership. My friends that would know me from Broward County, they jokingly and affectionately call me Mr. President. Because Walker Elementary Magnet School where I went, I was student government president, and Parkwood Middle School, I was student government president, and then Boyd Anderson High School, where I went for the International Baccalaureate program, I was class president ninth grade through 12th grade. And I was a student member on the school board in Broward County my senior year so I represented all the students in the district. I went to college and I was class president for my first three years. Leadership and responsibility is not something that I'm fearful of.

Q: You recently had a shooting that resulted in the death of a 16-year-old.

A: I think that every community anywhere in the country would be disappointed to hear about this kind of shooting. And clearly we are. Is it ever possible to completely get rid of shootings and gang activity? I don't know if it is, but I know that our sheriff's office liaisons, and I know that representatives of this city will do all that we can within our means to curtail and hopefully stop it. It was an unfortunate situation, a tragic loss. I just think that one of the reasons kids get involved in lives of crime is because they are familiar with and they've grown accustomed to lives of despair. They've seen their parents and their grandparents work hard to financially generate relatively nothing.

And so it's almost kind of an unfortunate, perpetual situation that links a few things: your ability and your pursuit of a quality education -- I believe education is power -- there is also a connected piece there on your family, and the strength of your family and the family values, which unfortunately have eroded over time nationwide. There is a piece around financial opportunities and job opportunities and business opportunities. I've spoken with one or two young folks since I've been here.

One day, when I was down close to a large group of young folks that were congregating at one of our city parks, Cox Park, which is not terribly far away from where this situation took place, as I was introduced as the new city manager, one of the guys who was later identified to me as one of the more aggressive and strong young folks who had been involved in different levels of criminal activity, what he said to me and probably one of the most touching things since I've been here, was, "Mr. Manager, sir, one of the best things you could do for us is help some of us find jobs. If some of us had jobs, we wouldn't be on the street corner." That's really saying a few things. I think a lot of folks who that are in situations, they're not there because they desire to be; in fact, they would like to be in a different place.

The question is: what place is available to them that allows them to do something different and go in another direction?

Students Win First Place in State Competition

Fourth and fifth grade students in the KEC TV News club at Kathryn E. Cunningham/ Canal Point Elementary just won 1st place in a statewide video contest held by the Florida Department of Education (DOE). The students created their video "Super Reader" for the 2011 Public Service Announcement contest Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida!

The "Super Reader" video is about a super hero whose face is always hidden behind the book that she is reading. Super Reader gets her super powers through the books that she reads. She ends up winning a race against others super heroes at the Super Hero Track Championship. She won the race because she gained super speed by reading a book about running.

The purpose of the video was to teach students that reading books can give you super powers and help you become a champion. The students that created the video are Jalyn Mitchell, Anthony Bowie, Ja'Quandria Woodard, Len'Tajia Lewis, Edniyan Thomas, and Jimmie Gray. Last year Jalyn Mitchell and Anthony Bowie were the protégés of former KEC TV reporter Damon Weaver.

On Thursday, January 27th the students will be at the Florida State Capital in Tallahassee to accept an award for creating the winning video. Florida's First Lady, Ann Scott, will present the awards to the students. The students have earned their school a $1000 gift card to Barnes and Nobles and books from Scholastic.

While in Tallahassee the students will have the opportunity to go to the Museum of Florida History and visit Florida's Historic Capitol Building and Florida's current State Capitol Building.

About the contest

The main objective of the 2011 Public Service Announcement Contest Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida! was to have students from across the State create public service announcements that celebrate and promote the importance of literacy in the state of Florida. The Just Read, Florida! Office in the Department of Education is planning a statewide "Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida!" event, scheduled for the week of January 24-28, 2011.

The goals of "Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida!" are to promote literacy throughout the state by raising awareness of the programs and projects offered by the DOE and to promote the enjoyment of reading for children and adults of all ages. During "Celebrate Literacy Week, Florida!" the award winning video will be shown on the Florida Knowledge Network.

Game

who was named the National MVP.

The game-clincher turned out to be a successful two-point conversion from National after Lewis somersaulted his way into the end zone to make it 20-13 – a lead that National held on to at the end.

“They were hungry,” McClain said of the National team. “They just came out 14-1 and executed like they were supposed to. That’s why we didn’t win this game.”

On American’s last drive of the game, Pahokee’s Feraris Golden hauled in yard catch from Rowley on a first-down play from American’s 42 down to National’s 44-yard line with 1:33 left.

Following that first-down conversion were two short completions of 1 and 3 yards from Rowley to McClain. After a third-and-4 pass attempt fell incomplete, it was all or nothing from there.

Rowley’s potential game-winning pass to McClain (three catches, 44 yards), a loop out play, was made possible because the Glades Central quarterback rolled to the right and found McClain wide open in the end zone for the score.

“Me and Shawn were trying to connect the whole game,” Rowley said. “Once he sees me scramble out, I told him to run down the field so I could give him the ball.”

Despite the loss, Wald was happy with how it all turned out.

“I thought we couldn’t play much better than we did defensively,” Wald said. “Offensively, we really started to get into a flow in the fourth quarter. It was a pleasure to work with all the players and coaches throughout the week. With a one-point game, I think everybody got their money’s worth.”

Notes: The Palm Beach County-Treasure Coast All-Star Game, formerly known as the Outback Steakhouse Bowl, was officially renamed the Lytal, Reiter, Smith, Ivey and Fronrath All-Star Game.

Glades Central wide receiver Jaquevia Oliver (four catches, 56 yards) hauled in a 15-yard touchdown catch from Rowley in the third quarter, giving American a 13-9 lead over National at the point.

Rowley (10-for-15 passing, 140 yards, two touchdowns, no interceptions) also rushed for a 17-yard touchdown in the first quarter, which put American up 6-0 to begin the game’s scoring. The Glades Central quarterback and American MVP (15 carries, 29 yards and a rushing score) accounted for 169 of American’s 231 total yards of offense for the game.

The Pahokee Blue Devils were represented very well, as the American team featured Joe Eason (cornerback) and Rontavious Atkins (safety) as starters. Meanwhile, Wardell Coleman (one carry, 8 yards) and Golden (one catch, 14 yards) played offense for American, giving Pahokee a team-high four players in the game.

Glades Day kicker Joseph Langmeyer, who missed a 48-yard field goal attempt at the end of the first half but was 1-for-2 on extra point tries, represented the Gators, as well as lineman Tyler

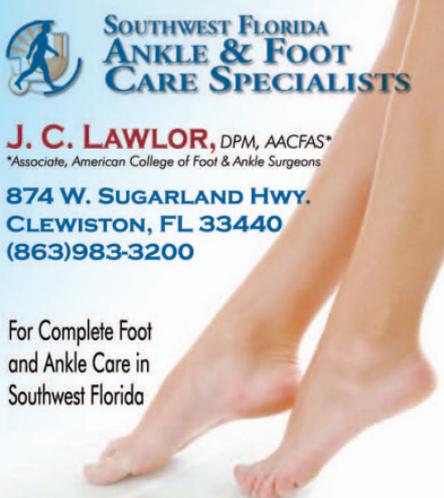

LeCroy.

The Clewiston Tigers sent two of its seniors to the game, with defensive lineman Robert Weekley (eight tackles) and linebacker Fred Washington making their presence known to the American team.

A total of 10 high school senior seniors from the Muck area (Clewiston, Glades Central, Glades Day and Pahokee) were represented in the Palm Beach County-Treasure Coast All-Star Game. No seniors from Moore Haven were selected.

The American team featured high school seniors from the following schools: Clewiston, Dwyer, Fort Pierce Westwood, Glades Central, Glades Day, Jensen Beach, John Carroll, Jupiter, Jupiter Christian, King’s Academy, Martin County, Pahokee, Palm Beach Central, St. Lucie West County, Treasure Coast and Wellington.
