BG to Stiffen Noise Ordinance?

Commission to consider new language addressing music, animals, more

BY AMANDA RAMOS-GUY
Special to The Sun

City officials began brainstorming possible solutions for ongoing citywide noise problems at Monday night's workshop meeting.

City Attorney Glen Torcivia explained to the commission that some language in the existing ordinance had been changed and others added for the commission to consider for adoption.

Currently, the ordinance defines a noise disturbance as plainly audible within a distance of 200 feet or more but the added language would include a sound level heard above that of a normal conversation. For example, a rhythmic bass, which is a reverberated type of sound, would be deemed as plainly audible.

Also included are changes that would include animal noises. The city attorney removed language stating, could be heard "across the residential tures 15 teams and the theme is "Become a Superhero in the Fight Against Cancer."

According to Barbara Bell-Spence, event chair, this year saw a slight decline in participants, but she is hopeful for a successful night.

"I've always been involved to a certain extent," said Bell-Spence, of the 14th annual event. "My mother had lymphoma, a form of cancer, so I participated in memory of her."

Residents at the Pahokee Alzheimer's Day Center enjoyed a 'Senior Prom' on Friday.

A Second Chance to Dance

DreamCatchers organize seniors prom for patients at Pahokee Alzheimer's Day Center

BY MELISSA BELTZ
The Sun

The patients of the Pahokee Alzheimer's Day Center were dressed to thrill on Friday, May 2 as they danced to the golden oldies and sipped on sparkling punch at a seniors prom thrown by the Pahokee DreamCatchers organization.

The brainchild of DreamCatchers president Kelly Ramirez, a student at Pahokee High School, the seniors prom featured snacks and beverages, goody bags, music and dancing. The day center was decorated with streamers and glitter and was dotted with patients dressed in shining gowns and sparkling shoes.

"This was an idea we had aiming to make the elderly feel special," said Ramirez. "We want to bridge the gap between the elderly and youth. It wasn't as difficult as we thought it would be to organize and it came out better than we thought, so we're really happy!"

The seniors prom was certainly something to brag about. When they weren't out on the dance floor doing the twist, patients sat in a semi-circle around the center floor watching and bopping their heads to the music or nibbling on homemade cupcakes. "The patients were so excited about dressing up. We've known about it for two weeks now," said Barbara Beshere, program manager for the Pahokee center. The ladies were all dressed in their best gowns; some shimmered in pastel pinks and purples, while others shown in champagne and pearly white. The gentleman wore their finest suits and ties and when the mood struck, would take a young lady to the dance floor to show off their moves.

One of the patients, the lovely Ms. Arnez Finney, enjoyed the show from a comfortable seat at the back of the room.

"I'm really enjoying myself. I'm going to watch them dance. I can't dance anyway," she said, wearing a gorgeous silver Sunday hat and flowing gown.

Annie Napoleon, another patient of the center, took center stage and stole the show as she twisted away in

Inland Birding: Cattle Egret

BY MARGARET ENGLAND
Hendry-Glades Audubon

Margaret England

The Cattle Egret has many common names, including cow crane, cow bird or cow heron.

This bird emigrated from Africa to South America, then to Florida. It was first reported in Florida in Clewiston in 1941 or 1942 (Florida Breeding Bird Atlas).

By 1960 it had been reported throughout the state and has had a spectacular range expansion.

This medium-sized, stocky, white heron has a sturdy, yellow bill, swollen throat, hunched posture and thick neck. Breeding adults develop orange-buff feathers.

Cattle Egrets are more at home foraging in grass than in water. They follow cattle, horses and tractors to catch the insects that are stirred up. Cattle Egret's eyes are positioned for binocular vision during feeding. While at the breeding colony, this species gives a quiet, throaty "rick-rick" call, but otherwise it is largely silent.

They usually nest in colonies with other wader species. Their nest, a small untidy platform of sticks in a tree or shrub, is constructed by both parents who share incubation duties for their clutch of two to five blue-green eggs.

The eggs hatch in about 23 days. The chicks are born covered with down and are fully feathered in 13-21 days. They fledge at about 30 days and become independent at about the 45th day.

Information

If you would like to join Hendry-Glades Audubon volunteers on the May 10 or June 14 trip to STA-5, send an e-mail to Margaret England at sta5birding@embarqmail.com with your name and contact information, including an emergency cell number for the trip day, the date you would like to go and the number in your party.

You may also leave this information at 863-674-0695 or 863-517-0202. Bring water, snacks and lunch. For a schedule of STA-5 trips through December 2015, visit the HGAS website at: www.hendrygladesaudubon.org.

You are invited to share your birdwatching experiences and post suggestions for featured birdwatching sites on the Hendry-Glades Audubon or The Clewiston News Facebook pages.

SBA Economic Injury Disaster Loans Available

Announcement following Secretary of Agriculture Disaster Declaration

U.S. SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) announced that federal economic injury disaster loans are available to small businesses, small agricultural cooperatives, small businesses engaged in aquaculture and most private non-profit organizations of all sizes located in Florida as a result of freeze and frost on Jan. 7 to 31, 2014.

The disaster declaration includes the following counties: Alachua, Baker, Bay, Bradford, Broard, Clay, Columbia, Duval, Gilchrist, Glades, Hendry, Holmes, Levy, Marion, Martin, Nassau, Okaloosa, Okeechobee, Palm Beach, Putnam, Santa Rosa, Union, Walton and Washington in Florida.

"When the Secretary of Agriculture issues a disaster declaration to help farmers recover from damages and losses to crops, the Small Business Administration issues a declaration to eligible entities affected by the same disaster," said Frank Skaggs, director of SBA's Field Operations Center East in Atlanta.

Under this declaration, the SBA's Economic Injury Disaster Loan program is available to eligible farm-related and nonfarm-related entities that suffered financial losses as a direct result of this disaster. With the exception of aquaculture enterprises, SBA cannot provide disaster loans to agricultural producers, farmers or ranchers.

The loan amount can be up to $2 million with interest rates of 2.625 percent for private non-profit organizations of all sizes and four percent for small businesses, with terms up to 30 years. The SBA determines eligibility based on the size of the applicant, type of activity and its financial resources.

Loan amounts and terms are set by the SBA and are based on each applicant's financial condition. These working capital loans may be used to pay fixed debts, payroll, accounts payable, and other bills that could have been paid had the disaster not occurred. The loans are not intended to replace lost sales or profits.

Applicants may apply online using the Electronic Loan Application (ELA) via SBA's secure website at <https://disasterloan.sba.gov/ela>.

Disaster loan information and application forms may also be obtained by calling the SBA's Customer Service Center at 800-659-2955 (800-877-8339 for the deaf and hard-of-hearing) or by sending an email to disastercustomerservice@sba.gov. Loan applications can be downloaded from www.sba.gov/disaster. Completed applications should be mailed to: U.S. Small Business Administration, Processing and Disbursement Center, 14925 Kingsport Road, Fort Worth, TX 76155. Completed loan applications must be returned to SBA no later than December 16.

For more information about the SBA's Disaster Loan Program, visit our website at www.sba.gov/disaster.

A Letter From Momma

BY PASTOR JOHN HICKS
First United Methodist Church

"A cheerful heart is good medicine, but a crushed spirit dries up the bones" (Proverbs 17:22). We can be blessed if we don't take life so seriously that we miss out on laughing often. It's good medicine for the body and the soul. In that spirit, and in honor of Mother's Day, let me share with you this letter from someone's mother. It's probably not true, but I can imagine it happening!

"Dear Son, The other day I went up to the Christian bookstore and found 'Honk if you love Jesus' bumper sticker. I had just come from an uplifting prayer meeting at the church and felt inspired to buy the sticker and put it on my bumper. Boy, I'm glad I did! You won't believe the uplifting experience I had as a result of doing this!

"I picked up Keven and several of his teenage friends after school and headed home. I was stopped at a red light at a busy intersection, so lost in thought about the Lord and how good He is, that I hadn't noticed the light had changed. It's a good thing the guy behind me read my bumper sticker and loves Jesus, because if he hadn't honked, I'd never have noticed!

"He must have really loved Jesus because he kept honking like crazy and then he leaned out of his window and screamed, 'For the love of GOD! GO!' What an exuberant cheerleader he was for Jesus!

"Soon everyone started honking, as well! I just leaned out of my window and started waving and smiling at all these loving people. I even honked my horn a few times to share in the love! There must have been a man from Florida back there because I heard him yelling something about a 'sunny beach.' I saw another guy with Texas license plates waving in a funny way with one finger stuck up in the air.

"When I asked Kevin and the other teenagers in the back seat what that meant, one said that it was probably a Texas good luck sign or something. Wanting to be neighborly, I leaned out the window and gave him the good luck sign back. The boys with me in the car burst out laughing. Why, even they were enjoying this religious experience!

"A couple of the people were so caught up in the joy of the moment that they got out of their cars and started walking toward me. I bet they wanted to pray or ask what church I attended, but that was when I noticed the light had changed. So, I waved to all my sisters and brothers, grinning, and drove on through the intersection. I noticed I was the only car that got through before the light changed again. I felt kind of sad that I had to leave them after all the love we had shared, so I slowed the car down, leaned out of the window and gave them all the Texas good luck sign one last time as I drove away.

"Praise the Lord for such wonderful folks. Love, Mom."

Many of us have had good mothers or mothering types who have influenced us in a positive way. Some have not. But even those whose mothers weren't that great can still celebrate a great achievement of their mother - their birth!

Furthermore, we can all learn from women, mothers, sisters, daughters and wives; even more so when these women are Christians. A godly mother is priceless.

To all mothers everywhere, to future mothers and mothers past, and for those special mothers with no children of their own but are or have been mothers to the children of others: We thank God for you, for all that you do and are. We love you with all our hearts!

U.S. Sugar Producers File Antidumping, Subsidy Cases Against Mexico

AMERICAN SUGAR ALLIANCE

America's sugar producers on March 28, asked the United States government to take corrective action against Mexico's sugar industry for dumping subsidized sugar onto the U.S. market and inflicting harm on U.S. growers and taxpayers.

The antidumping and countervailing duty petitions filed with the U.S. International Trade Commission and U.S. Department of Commerce allege that the Mexican industry has shipped sugar to the United States at dumping margins of 45 percent or more and has received substantial subsidies from Mexican federal and state governments.

All told, these actions will cost U.S. sugar producers nearly $1 billion in net income for the 2013/2014 crop year, according to the filings.

The North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) "gives Mexico the right to export sugar to the United States on a tariff-free and quota-free basis—but that does not give the Mexican industry the right to export its surplus to the U.S. market at dumped prices, nor does it permit the [Mexican government] to subsidize its sugar industry without regard to the impact of those subsidies on U.S. producers," the petitions read.

The Mexican sugar industry—20 percent of which is owned and operated by the Mexican government—has rapidly increased exports to the United States in recent years, rising from nine percent of the U.S. market in 2011/2012 to nearly 18 percent in 2012/2013. Over that same period, Mexico's historic surpluses have sent U.S. sugar prices to unsustainable low levels.

U.S. prices have been cut in half since late 2011 and are now trading at the same lows of the 1980s. U.S. sugar policy also incurred a taxpayer cost in 2013, after running at no cost for the past 10 years, as the U.S. Department of Agriculture ing flood of dumped and subsidized sugar from Mexico has overwhelmed the U.S. market and USDA's efforts, and we've been left with no alternative but to file these cases."

Hayes noted that this is now a legal dispute and that the facts are straightforward.

"The Mexican sugar industry exported dumped and subsidized sugar to the United States, and as a result, it caused tremendous business.

If U.S. producers are harmed, these laws permit duties to be imposed on the imported products that benefit from subsidies or are sold below fair market prices—that is, sold at a price that is lower than the foreign producer's cost of production or the price they charge in their home market.

"We are more efficient than Mexico's sugar industry and can compete with anyone in a free market," Hayes added, "but it is hard for U.S. farmers to succeed when a subsidized industry that is largely government-controlled is dumping its product."

NAFTA explicitly permits the filing of antidumping and countervailing duty cases, and NAFTA countries have filed 114 antidumping and countervailing duty cases against each other since the trade deal went into effect. Of these 114 cases, Mexico has filed 31 cases against the United States, and the United States has filed 30 cases against Mexico, not counting the pending sugar petitions.

The sugar producers' petitions were officially filed by the American Sugar Coalition, which includes: American Sugarbeet Growers Association; American Sugar Cane League; American Sugar Refining, Inc.; Florida Sugar Cane League; Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Company; Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers, Inc.; Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida; and United States Beet Sugar Association.

UNFORTUNATELY, THE UNRELENTING FLOOD OF DUMPED AND SUBSIDIZED SUGAR FROM MEXICO HAS OVERWHELMED THE U.S. MARKET AND USDA'S EFFORTS, AND WE'VE BEEN LEFT WITH NO ALTERNATIVE BUT TO FILE THESE CASES.

- PHILLIP HAYES

(USDA) sought to steady a market awash in subsidized and dumped Mexican imports.

"Secretary Vilsack and his team at the USDA should be commended for their extraordinary actions on behalf of America's sugar farmers," said Phillip Hayes, a spokesperson for the American Sugar Alliance. "Unfortunately, the unrelentharm to a domestic industry that supports 142,000 jobs," he said. "U.S. trade laws are designed to stop such injury."

For approximately 100 years, the United States has maintained antidumping and countervailing duty laws to ensure predatory trade practices don't drive domestic industries out of

May is Women's Health Month

Common women's diseases and how to prevent them by living healthier

BY PAT DOBBINS
Florida Department Of Health

Did you know that May is recognized as Women's Health Month? When women are fulfilling the role of caregiver to children, spouses and parents, they often forget to take care of themselves. Here are some key facts and information regarding women's health.

Heart Disease

Heart disease is responsible for about 29 percent of deaths in women, according to the Center for Disease Control (CDC).

Many women do not realize they are suffering from heart disease, even though they may show symptoms. Some of those symptoms include being out of breath or not being able to walk up one flight of stairs. Although more men die of heart disease than women, females tend to be under-diagnosed, often to the point that it's too late to help them once the condition is discovered. Women can reduce their risk of heart disease by modifying their lifestyles to include well-balanced diets and exercise.

The American Heart Association lists risk factors for heart disease as:

- Increasing age
- Smoking
- High blood cholesterol
- High blood pressure
- Physical inactivity
- Obesity and being overweight
- Diabetes

Breast Cancer

Breast cancer is the most common cancer in women. It is second to lung cancer as the leading cause of death for women.

Experts say the fear of breast cancer can sometimes be exaggerated, stopping women from going to their doctors for screening, or pushing women to make rash decisions about mastectomies, when they may not be necessary.

The American Cancer Society lists the following as risk factors for breast cancer:

- Increasing age
- Genes. Nearly five percent to 10 percent of breast cancer is linked to mutations in certain genes
 - Family history of the disease
 - Personal history of the disease
- Race. White women have a slightly greater risk of getting breast cancer compared with African-American women. Yet African-Americans have a greater chance of dying from this disease.
 - Early onset of menstruation (before age 12) or menopause after age 55
 - Not having children
 - Too much alcohol
 - Poor diet
 - Obesity

Stephen F. Sener, MD, president of the American Cancer Society, recommends controlling your weight, exercising, quitting smoking and talking to your doctor about your risk and appropriate screening for breast cancer.

He also says to keep risk factors in perspective. "Just because your mother didn't have breast cancer, it does not mean you are immune to this problem," says Sener.

At the same time, it's also important to note that some women who have one or more risk factors never get breast cancer.

Osteoporosis

Hunched backs, back pain and frailty used to be things older women had to accept before doctors knew anything more about osteoporosis. Now, there are steps women and girls can take to avoid such problems. Osteoporosis threatens 44 million Americans, of which 68 percent are women, reports the National Osteoporosis Foundation. Osteoporosis is largely preventable. The behaviors that women develop in their childhood, in their adolescence and in their early adult years really play a significant role in the development of the disease. That's because bodies build up most of bone mass until age 30. Then new bone stops forming and the focus is then on maintenance of old bone. It is never too late to keep bones strong and avoid fractures. Your body will do what it can to repair bone damage, but you have to provide the tools for it, such as adequate calcium consumption and weight-bearing physical activity. Talk to your doctor about your possible risk of osteoporosis, and what you can do to prevent problems.

Risk factors for osteoporosis include:

- Increasing age
- Small, thin-boned frame
- Ethnicity. White and Asian women have the greatest risk
 - Family history
 - Sex hormones
 - Anorexia
 - Diet low in calcium and vitamin D
 - Sedentary lifestyle
 - Smoking
 - Excessive alcohol

Depression

Depression appears to affect more women than men. The National Institute of Mental Health reports that about 12 million women are affected by a depressive disorder each year compared to about six million men.

Dorree Lynn, PhD, a psychologist and author of Getting Sane Without Going Crazy, says women need a connection with others in their lives. "They need that sustenance," says Lynn. "If they don't have it, they tend to get depressed."

Sometimes, hormonal changes can also trigger the condition, particularly after pregnancy (postpartum) or around menopause.

Other risk factors for depression include:

- Family history of depression
- History of heart problems
- Serious chronic illness
- Marital problems
- Substance abuse
- Use of drugs that could trigger depression, such as medicines for high blood pressure or seizures
 - A stressful life event, such as job loss or death
 - Diseases that could trigger depression, such as anemia and thyroid disease
 - Recent serious illness or surgery
 - Childhood history of physical or sexual abuse
 - Being a worrier or being overly anxious
 - Having an eating disorder or an anxiety disorder

To help reduce risk of depression, find reasons to get up in the morning. Things such as work, community, love, pets and volunteering can be good reasons.

Kiwanis Partnering with Healthy Families Program

FLORIDA DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

Inspired by Florida Kiwanis Governor Matthew Cantrall's Five Steps to Excellence, Kiwanis clubs throughout the state are doing incredible work to address the goals under Young Child Priority One, including advocating for and supporting their local Healthy Families Florida programs. Healthy Families and Kiwanis is a natural partnership because both share a common mission to improve the lives of Florida's most vulnerable children through parent education and support.

In fiscal year 2012-2013, over 49,200 Florida children, almost half of them under the age of five, were abused and neglected at the hands of their caregivers.

An average 135 children are abused and neglected every day and an average of two children die every week at the hands of their abusers.

These tragic statistics are heartbreaking reminders of why Kiwanis' partnership with Healthy Families Florida is so important.

Healthy Families Florida is an evidence-based home visiting program proven to prevent child abuse and neglect before it ever happens.

How Kiwanis Clubs Helps

Here are some ways Kiwanis Clubs are partnering with Healthy Families Florida:

- Participated in Children's Week that is held in Tallahassee during April every year
- Donating diapers - Help Kiwanis First Lady Cheryl Cantrall reach her Florida Kiwanis Diaper Dump Project goal of 750,000 by Mother's Day 2014 and continue to donate throughout the year a peach-colored dress and flowery cap.

The mayor of Pahokee, Diane Walker, also made an appearance to visit with the patients and to share in the joy of the day.

"I know several people here. I come and support them whenever I can," said Mayor Walker.

The event culminated with the announcing of the prom king and queen.

The patients' names were placed in a hat and drawn by a DreamCatcher: Ms. Ida Mae Sims was named prom queen and Mr. Columbus Rawls was named prom king. The two shared a special king and queen dance after a "champagne" toast to good health and happiness.

"It was nice to make them feel like people care about them and to make them feel special," said DreamCatcher member Emily Mola, a senior at Pahokee High School.

Isel Castro, also a senior at Pahokee High School, shared in Mola's sentiment.

"I was involved in other community organizations, but was only working with kids and teens. I wanted to give back to people who once gave back to their community," said Castro.

DreamCatcher is a nonprofit organization that seeks to fulfill the wishes of hospice patients. The organization raises money, in part, through the sale of homemade dream catchers.

To show their gratitude, the patients of the Pahokee center sang gospel songs for the students, with John Crone and Ms. Butler singing solos.

Towards the end of the dance, Karen Gilbert, vice president of Community Care Services for Alzheimer's Community Care, addressed the patients and guests with a special "Thank You" and some exciting news about the center.

"This is an amazing community here. And you are amazing students. You will go far because this is a great start," said Gilbert, addressing the DreamCatcher.

Gilbert continued by telling the patients that the center had been recognized at a national conference in San Diego for its outstanding services to the Glades Agricultural Area. The Pahokee Day Center was awarded the Rosalinde Gilbert Award, a care-giving legacy award, for 2013, out of 100 competitors.

"I'm very proud of our Pahokee Day Center," said Gilbert.

Ms. Gilbert received a surprise of her own when one of the students asked her to dance -- Ms. Gilbert's high school did not have a prom, and this was her chance to make up for that lost experience.

Inactivity Related to Chronic Disease in Adults with Disabilities

Half of adults with disability get no aerobic physical activity

Working age adults with disabilities who do not get any aerobic physical activity are 50 percent more likely than their active peers to have a chronic disease such as cancer, diabetes, stroke, or heart disease, according to a Vital Signs report released today by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Nearly half (47 percent) of adults with disabilities who are able to do aerobic physical activity do not get any. An additional 22 percent are not active enough. Yet only about 44 percent of adults with disabilities who saw a doctor in the past year got a recommendation for physical activity.

"Physical activity is the closest thing we have to a wonder drug," said CDC Director Tom Frieden, M.D., M.P.H. "Unfortunately, many adults with disabilities don't get regular physical activity. That can change if doctors and other health care providers take a more active role helping their patients with disabilities develop a physical fitness plan that's right for them."

Most adults with disabilities are able to participate in some aerobic physical activity which has benefits for everyone by reducing the risk of serious chronic diseases. Some of the benefits from regular aerobic physical activity include increased heart and lung function; better performance in daily living activities; greater independence; decreased chances of developing chronic diseases; and improved mental health.

For this report, CDC analyzed data from the 2009-2012 National Health Interview Survey and focused on the relation between physical activity levels and chronic diseases among U.S. adults aged 18-64 years with disabilities, by disability status and type. These are adults with serious difficulty walking or climbing stairs; hearing; seeing; or concentrating, remembering, or making decisions. Based on the 2010 data, the study also assessed the prevalence of receiving a health professional recommendation for physical activity and the association with the level of aerobic physical activity.

Key findings include:

- Working age adults with disabilities are three times more likely to have heart disease, stroke, diabetes or cancer than adults without disabilities.

- Nearly half of adults with disabilities get no aerobic physical activity, an important protective health behavior to help avoid these chronic diseases.

- Inactive adults with disabilities were 50 percent more likely to report at least one chronic disease than were active adults with disabilities.

- Adults with disabilities were 82 percent more likely to be physically active if their doctor recommended it.

The Physical Activity Guidelines for Americans recommend that all adults, including those with disabilities, get at least 150 minutes (2.5 hours) of moderate – intensity aerobic physical activity each week. If meeting these guidelines is not possible, adults with disabilities should start physical activity slowly based on their abilities and fitness level.

Doctors and other health professionals can recommend physical activity options that match the abilities of adults with disabilities and resources that can help overcome barriers to physical activity. These barriers include limited information about accessible facilities and programs; physical barriers in the built or natural environment; physical or emotional barriers to participating in fitness and recreation activities, and lack of training in accessibility and communication among fitness and recreation professionals.

"It is essential that we bring together adults with disabilities, health professionals and community leaders to address resource needs to increase physical activity for people with dis-property line" in favor of language that would determine noise lasting for a duration of 10 continuous minutes or at regular intervals lasting for 30 minutes as violations. For example, if a dog is barking on and off every five minutes for 30 minutes the owner would be in violation.

Mayor Steve Wilson asked Lieutenant Ed Luty, Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office's District Commander for Belle Glade, if there were any suggestions he had that would make the ordinance more solid.

He suggested changing the portion pertaining to the 200 feet to "across the property line." The lieutenant explained that if someone is having a party their music may not be heard from 200 feet away but the next-door neighbor may hear it very clearly.

Commissioner Johnny Burroughs suggested that 10 minutes is an excessive amount of time before someone can call to complain about loud music that has been playing in any given location. Commissioner Burroughs also suggested that the city attorney should be allowed to issue an injunction against someone if there has been a third call made complaining about a noise disturbance, explaining that oftentimes people will turn their music down when the deputy arrives and turn it back up after they leave.

Commissioner Mike Martin confirmed with the city attorney and code enforcement director that under the new ordinance residents will be able to contact PBSO to report complaints of noise disturbances.

Another issue that city officials are working to address is double-parking in the street. Vice-mayor Mary Wilkerson explains that the problem came to light during the Great American Cleanup when field trucks were parked on the road close to Quiet Waters in such a way that residents were unable to see around them to pull out onto the highway. Additionally, large trucks have been seen pulling up onto sidewalks and parking.

"We have enough problems trying to get grant monies to repair our roads and sidewalks without them trying to mess it up in the long run," Vice-mayor Wilkerson said.

Commissioner Larry Underwood is in the process of contacting various landowners in hopes of finding a location that will be designated as a parking area for large trucks.

The city attorney has prepared a parking ticket form that upon approval by the commission will be given to PBSO to begin issuing citations for illegally parked vehicles (e.g. semi-trucks in residential areas). Mr. Torcivia clarified that code enforcement would be responsible for citing illegally parked vehicles on private property.

Commissioner Underwood requested that the commission take its time in preparing these ordinances to take care not to heavily impact farmers who park their trucks without obstructing the view or flow of traffic.

"How long do we have to wait?" asked Commissioner Martin. "This has been an issue for the six years I've been here. There are a lot of farming communities around the lake that do not have this problem. Clewiston won't allow it," he added.

City officials have scheduled a workshop to tour the city to determine what areas are most affected by the illegal parking of heavy trucks.

Relax with a massage

What type of massage is right for you? About.com offers the following descriptions of different massage styles.

- Swedish massage is the most common type of massage therapy in the United States. Massage therapists use long smooth strokes, kneading, and circular movements on superficial layers of muscle using massage lotion or oil. Swedish massage therapy can be very gentle and relaxing. If you've never had massage before, this could be a good one to try first.

- Aromatherapy massage is massage lary suited to stress-related conditions or conditions with an emotional component.

- Hot stone massage involves heated, smooth stones placed on certain points on the body to warm and loosen tight muscles and balance energy centers in the body. The massage therapist may also hold stones and apply gentle pressure with them. The warmth is comforting. Hot stone massage is good for people who have muscle tension but prefer lighter massage.

- Deep tissue massage targets the deeper layers of muscle and connective tissue. The massage therapist uses slower strokes or friction techniques across the grain of the muscle. Deep tissue massage is used for chronically tight or painful muscles, repetitive strain, postural problems, or recovery from injury.

- Shiatsu is a form of Japanese bodywork that uses localized finger pressure in a rhythmic sequence on acupuncture meridians. Each point is held for two to eight seconds to improve the flow of energy and help the body regain balance.

- Thai Massage aligns the energies of the body using gentle pressure on specific points. Thai massage also includes compressions and stretches. The therapist moves and stretches you into a sequence of postures. Thai massage is more energizing than other forms of massage. It is also reduces stress and improves flexibility and range of motion.

- Reflexology is sometimes called foot massage, but it involves more than the feet. Reflexology involves applying pressure to certain points on the foot that correspond to organs and systems in the body. Reflexology can be very relaxing, especially for people who stand on their feet all day or just have tired, achy feet.

At the theatre ...

Rapunzel

BELLE GLADE — The Missoula Children's Theatre will perform "Rapunzel" on Saturday, May 17, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center, 977 S.W. College Drive, in Belle Glade. Come see our local stars perform as The Missoula Children's Theatre returns to the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center for its 20th annual production! Would it surprise you to know that the story of Rapunzel happened in France? Well it didn't really, but our story takes you on a frivolous frolic through the French countryside. The Ogres garden in the mushroom patch while the corn and potato spies report back to Madame Gothel. Frenchy and his intense friends, the Wood Elves, do their best to help Rapunzel escape the grasp of Madame Gothel. Just when you think it's safe to cross the bridge, a troll and three billy goats gruff get in the way. It doesn't help that the three bears (or is it four) confuse Rapunzel with Goldilocks and chase her through the forest. Add to that the gremlins trying to play tricks on everyone and you have chaos! Well, it's not that bad because the pixies foil the gremlins' plans most of the time! Following the 11 a.m. performance, enjoy refreshments and lots of fun activities sponsored by the Bank of Belle Glade and Glades Area Branches of the Palm Beach County Library System. Parents, bring your cameras for this event which is included in the price of admission. Purchase tickets online at <http://www.palmbeachstate.edu/theatre/dollyhand/> or by phone at 561-993-1160.

Gas Price Update

Average retail gasoline prices in Florida have fallen 3.0 cents per gallon in the past week, averaging $3.69/g Sunday, according to GasBuddy's daily survey of 8,237 gas outlets in Florida. This compares with the national average that has fallen 1.4 cents per gallon in the last week to $3.64/g, according to gasoline price website GasBuddy.com.

Including the change in gas prices in Florida during the past week, prices yesterday were 28.2 cents per gallon higher than the same day one year ago and are 3.9 cents per gallon higher than a month ago. The national average has increased 9.2 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 13.4 cents per gallon higher than this day one year ago.

"Finally, the news motorists have been waiting for- it appears that at least for now, the national average has peaked," said GasBuddy.com Senior Petroleum Analyst Patrick DeHaan. "Since February 7, gasoline prices have been on an upward trajectory in a majority of the U.S., and at least for now, prices have broken that upward trend and have stabilized. This is great news, as it likely means in the next couple weeks that gasoline prices will begin seeing more downward momentum. By Memorial Day, if there aren't major refinery kinks that develop, we could see the national average dropping into the $3.50s, or perhaps even lower," DeHaan said.

What We Do in Public Health: Environmental Health

BY PAT DOBBINS
Florida Department Of Health

Environmental Health has a major role in the overall mission of public health through its efforts to prevent injury and disease by controlling environmental risks. The Florida Department of Health's Environmental Division monitors and regulates activities that may contribute to the occurrence or transmission of disease. It strives to ensure a safe water supply, sanitary disposal of sewage and elimination of vectors for disease transmittal.

Some of the local services provided by the Environmental Division of the Florida Department of Health in Hendry and Glades Counties include:

- Food and waterborne disease investigations
- Inspection of public pools, mobile home and recreational vehicle parks, food establishments and group care facilities
- Inspection of tanning facilities
- Monitoring of drinking water systems
- Investigations of groundwater contamination
- Institutional inspections
- Septic tank inspections
- Monitoring medical waste
- Rabid animal investigations
- Regulation of migrant labor housing
- Drinking water lab

Environmental Health regulates private and small public water supplies by collecting and analyzing water samples for bacterial contamination, and permitting and inspecting well installations. It checks for setback compliance, possible contaminant sources and proper well installation to prevent contamination.

Any onsite wastewater treatment and disposal (septic) system installed or repaired in any county is required to have a permit. Environmental Health will help to design the new system based on anticipated water use, type of soil at the site, proximity to surface water and separation from the wet season groundwater elevation. Due to the high water tables in southwest Florida, drain fields are elevated in a mound to prevent groundwater contamination.

Food programs in "not for profit" agencies, or adult care facilities are licensed by Environmental Health. Food safety inspections are conducted on a regular basis in these facilities. The Dept. of Business and Professional Regulation inspects restaurants, however, outbreaks of food illness (regardless of the source) are investigated by Environmental Health.

Environmental Health regulates the housing for migrant farmworkers and inspect for compliance with minimum housing standards, sanitary site conditions, overcrowding, safe water supply and sanitary wastewater disposal.

No one is allowed to house more than four unrelated migrant farmworkers without first obtaining a permit. Housing units are inspected a minimum of eight times per year. Investigations are conducted routinely for unpermitted migrant housing.

Environmental Health regulates and inspects mobile home parks and recreational vehicle parks to ensure a safe and healthy environment for the residents by checking for insect and rodent harborages, safe water supply and sanitary sewage disposal.

Public swimming pools and spas are licensed and monitored semi-annually for compliance with disinfection and safety regulations. If a pool is considered as "non-compliant," the pool is closed.

Due to the risks associated with ultraviolet light, tanning salons are regulated and inspected. Environmental Health checks the facilities for safe operations and sanitary operations of the tanning beds and eye-protection equipment.

When biomedical waste is improperly disposed of, it can create a significant health hazard for sanitation workers and the general public. Environmental Health enforces rules for health practitioners who generate bio-hazardous waste and provide education and supplies for "in-home" generated sharps (needle) disposal.

Because of the endemic nature of rabies in Florida, Environmental Health investigates all animal bite reports. A suspected animal will either be quarantined for 10 days or euthanized and the brain sent to a lab to be analyzed for rabies infection. Rabies is considered a fatal disease when contracted by humans.

Environmental Health also investigates and enforces abatement of sanitary nuisances which are considered a public health hazard (this is a requirement by Florida Statute). This may include sewage on the ground, harborages for flies or rats, dead animals and/or decomposing garbage.

The Environmental Health Division staff members are trained and knowledgeable about the communities they serve. Please contact the Florida Department of Health in Hendry and Glades Counties at the following numbers for more information: LaBelle and Clewiston 863-674-4041 ext. 152 and Moore Haven 863-946-0212 ext. 201.

FCAT Mock Exam Challenge at Pioneer Park

Students at Pioneer Park Elementary School were awarded with money for meeting the Principal's Challenge on the FCAT Mock Exam.

Leadership Glades Program Graduate

Leslie Hodges, senior clerk at the West County Service Center in Belle Glade, graduated April 8 from the Leadership Glades Program at the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative in Belle Glade. The program is designed to prepare potential leaders to meet the challenges facing the Glades. Through seminars and other activities, the participants met business and community leaders and local government representatives, who helped them gain insight into the economic forces that impact the Glades.

Leslie's class has raised more than $25,000 toward a $40,000 goal to establish a Veterans Park and Memorial in Belle Glade.

"The highlight of the program was holding an alligator and taking an airboat ride on Lake Okeechobee," Leslie said.

Leslie is a native of Belle Glade and joined the PAO in 1991 as a Clerk I.

She was promoted to senior clerk in 2010.

CDC has set up a dedicated resource page for doctors and other health professionals with information to help them recommend physical activity to their adult patients with disabilities, www.cdc.gov/disabilities/PA. Through the Affordable Care Act, more Americans have access to health coverage and to no-cost preventive services. Most health insurance plans cannot deny, limit, or exclude coverage to anyone based on a pre-existing condition, including persons with disabilities. To learn more about the Affordable Care Act, visit Healthcare.gov or call 1-800-318-2596 (TTY/TDD 1-855-889-4325). Vital Signs is a CDC report that appears on the first Tuesday of the month as part of the CDC journal Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report, or MMWR. The report provides the latest data and information on key health indicators.

These are cancer prevention, obesity, tobacco use, motor vehicle passenger safety, prescription drug overdose, HIV/AIDS, alcohol use, health care-associated infections, cardiovascular health, teen pregnancy, food safety and developmental disabilities.

for raising money, it is a way to honor those who are living with cancer and to remember those who lost their lives to the fight of cancer.

The event begins with a survivor lap, where cancer survivors walk the first time around the loop to kick off the event and to celebrate life and new birthdays, according to Bell-Spence. A survivor dinner follows the first lap, beginning at around 7 p.m. At around 9 p.m., the luminaria ceremony honors those who have lost their lives. Throughout the night, participants will be entertained with games and activities, including themed laps and a three-legged race for adults and children.

Many community organizations have signed up to participate in the event, including churches, city employees, sororities and local families walking for lost loved ones. Bell-Spence also said she hopes the police and fire fighters will participate.

So far, the Glades Relay For Life has raised $15,000, $10,000 short of their goal. Bell-Spence is still hopeful they will reach their goal, as many businesses and some teams have not yet reported the money they raised.

The 2014 Relay For Life of the Glades will certainly be a special event for participants and their loved ones. Bell-Spence encourages everyone to come out and enjoy the event.

Glades Day FFA Wins State Tractor Operations Contest

Dillon McGahee, a senior at Glades Day School, competed in the state FFA finals for tractor operations contest Saturday May 3rd. There were eleven competitors from all corners of the state, each had won their respective area contest so the competitors were truly the best of the best. The contest requires students to pass a safety test, answer oral questions, perform a walk around inspection and drive a course with a trailer attached. Dillon won the very challenging contest and became the first Glades Day FFA member to win a state title.

Dillon and the FFA chapter would like to express our appreciation to Everglades Farm Equipment for loaning the tractor which Dillon used to prepare for the contest. Dillon spent many hours practicing the course and learning techniques to be efficient and safe. His hard work paid off as he competed in the pouring rain only hours before he the Prom began. His mother and father, Lynn and David McGahee as well as his brother, Cody was on hand to watch Dillon compete and share in the prestigious victory.

The Glades Day Chapter members are very proud of Dillon and his great accomplishment. He will be recognized on stage in front of nearly 3,000 FFA members during the State Convention this summer.

Dillon is a great example that the FFA makes a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agriculture education.
