'Team Uniformity' idea a winner

By Chris Felker
The Sun

Three young ladies from the Glades who had a unique idea for a new charity won over the hearts of a large audience and received a $7,000 grant to put it into motion plus a mentor to assist them on Sunday, March 11, at the Palm Beach Philanthropy Tank (PBPT) finals event.

A spectator said that Team Uniformity – made up of Guadalupe Alcalá-García, Yalissa Baltazar and Mya Rodríguez – made such an impression that “the crowd of 400-plus was simply delighted by their presentation.” The girls had brainstormed over Miss García’s observation that clothes purchased for a new school year don’t last much past Christmas and came up with a way to remedy the adolescent angst, distraction and even peer

A 'spring break' special for seniors

A Howard University student steps in as bingo caller (in background) Tuesday morning, March 13, at the West County Senior Center (WCSC) in Belle Glade. Around 100 students from the Washington, D.C., university visited Glades schools and other community institutions in small groups all last week, interacting with children and seniors alike as part of their “Alternative Spring Break.” Tania Bridges of Long Beach, Calif., a Howard sophomore studying business management, was leading the 15 who participated in activities with WCSC clients. She said: “I printed out some plays and had my participants act them out and they (the senior citizens) wanted to know more about our school, so we did a little skit about our school, too. They really liked it.” WCSC Director Willie A. Miller thanked the youths and treated them to pizza for lunch. “The students had a strong desire to help out, and their visit gave them a concrete way to do so,” he said. “Servant leadership is an ingredient in the development of young people, and Howard University students certainly have demonstrated this value.”

Lake level expected to continue to drop

By Katrina Elskan
INI Florida

Water managers predict that the level of Lake Okeechobee, at 14.37 feet on Friday, will continue to drop and could reach 12.5 feet by June. If it happens, that dry-season drop would be beneficial to the lake's ecology, according to biologists.

"It's dry. In the near term, it is going to stay dry," said Cal Neidrauer, South Florida Water Management District chief engineer, Hydrology and Hydraulics Bureau, at the County Coalition for Responsible Management of Lake Okeechobee, the St. Lucie and the Caloosahatchee Estuaries and the Lake Worth Lagoon at its March 16 meeting in the Historic Okeechobee County Courthouse.

He said there is too much uncertainty to predict what will happen when the wet season starts in June.

"After Hurricane Irma, things dried out," he said. "We had four consecutive months of below-average rainfall."

He said the district has had only about 55 percent of average rainfall during the dry season so far.

The largest rainfall deficit is in the upper Kissimmee basin. He said water levels are dropping in Chain of Lakes, and these levels are ecologically desirable.

The lake level is tracking downward, he said. Relative to last year, it's a foot and a half higher than a year ago.

The water levels in the water conservation areas (WCAs) south of the lake are at or below schedule, which gives the green light for sending water south, he continued. Water flow from the lake to the south is about 900 cubic feet per second (cfs).

Water has been released to the south for the past six weeks, he said.

No water from the lake has flowed east to the St. Lucie this year.

Flow to the Caloosahatchee River is limited to the amount of water needed to supplement basin flow and maintain the desirable salinity levels in the river and the Caloosahatchee estuary. Since Jan. 5, plus flows to the Caloosahatchee have been about 354 cfs.

"Looking ahead, the drought monitor for Florida is showing a good portion of the state in dry conditions," Mr. Neidrauer said. "We are seeing the areas of drought conditions growing, which makes sense considering the rainfall."

Weather forecasters predict a high chance of below-normal rainfall in April, he said.

"We are currently experiencing La Niña conditions. We're likely to receive below-average rainfall for the next month or so."

Seven projections done using data from other La Niña years indicate the lake will drop to 13 feet by the first week in June. Four of the seven projections indicate the lake will fall to between 12 and 12.5 feet by the first week in June.

"Our biologists say if that happens, it will be good for the lake," he said.

The wet-season rainfall is very difficult to predict," said Mr. Neidrauer. The current analysis indicates about 10 percent chance the lake level will rise to the point that it will require harmful releases to the coastal estuaries in September, and about a 20 percent chance that harmful freshwater releases will be required in October.

Coalition members present at the meeting were Glades County Commissioner Weston Pryor, Lee County Commissioner Frank Mann, Highlands County Commissioner Jack Richie, Okeechobee County Commissioner David Hazellief, Hendry County Commissioner Karson Turner, Martin County Commissioner Doug Smith, Palm Beach County Commissioner Melissa McKinlay, Osceola County Commissioner Cheryl Grieb and St. Lucie County Commissioner Frannie Hutchison.

In other business March 16, Hendry County Commissioner Karson Turner was re-elected chairman of the coalition. Osceola County Commissioner Cheryl Grieb was elected vice chairwoman.

The 16-county coalition had planned a fly-in March 21 to Washington, D.C., but only two coalition members were available that day.

"If we can't get more of us to go, we should perhaps reschedule," said Commissioner Smith. "If we don't go up en masse, my concern is we may be sending the wrong message." The coalition agreed to reschedule the trip for April. The Florida Association of Counties (FAC) is already planning a trip to D.C. in April. Commissioner Turner suggested they take advantage of the fact that many commissioners from the 16 member counties will already be there.

"Going up there with just one or two or three of us is not worth the trip, and not worth asking the Congressmen and women to come and meet with us," said Commissioner Mann. "But the FAC agenda is different than this coalition's agenda."

"We should coordinate, and borrow and steal commissioners from the 16 counties to be part of this," said Commissioner Mann. He said other commissioners from the 16 coalition member counties could participate if the designated coalition representatives were not available.

"There is nothing more important to our 16 counties than water issues," he said. "We need to not get ourselves diluted by a broader agenda."

Commissioner McKinlay suggested they ask FAC to put a 16-county coalition meeting on their agenda.

All of the coalition members reported good things happening in their counties.

"All is well in the best county in the state," said Glades County's representative. Commissioner Pryor said Glades County is moving forward on a septic-to-sewer project.

Hendry County's representative asked that the coalition consider a resolution in regard to chemical spraying of aquatic vegetation in Lake Okeechobee. Commissioner Turner suggested they ask the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission and the Department of Environmental Protection to look at the manner in which the spraying occurs, and its schedule.

Commissioner Mann said Lee County is still suffering from Irma and dealing with hurricane damage and hurricane cleanup.

"Ironically, Hurricane Irma hit Lee County on Sept 10," he said. "On Sept. 10, 1960, Hurricane Donna took almost the same path."

"Donna came at such an angle that she pulled all of the water out of the Caloosahatchee River and the river was dry – it was almost biblical.

"Hurricane Irma hit a slightly different angle and resulted in flooding," he said.

He said they have discussed what they can do to clean the debris out of the dozens of rivers and creeks.

"When you flood, you have to get that water out to the Gulf of Mexico as fast as you can," he said.

If hurricane debris is not cleaned up before the wet season, flooding could again be a problem.

"Some of the creeks, it's frightening how thoroughly they are log-jammed. It is going to be an enormous undertaking to clean that up," he said. "I think Lee County has done a better job of learning, and now we are working to improve that situation."

Commissioner McKinlay said Palm Beach County is in diligent conversation with the South Florida Water Management District for the Loxahatchee River restoration project.

She said DEP and SFWMD have signed off on plans for the Everglades Agricultural Area Reservoir.

"We are happy we were able to negotiate that deal without taking any land out of agricultural production," she said.

Commissioner McKinlay said the state budget did not provide any money for stormwater improvement projects for the Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee area. The outdated stormwater systems are the reason those communities have to back-pump into Lake Okeechobee to prevent flooding, she added.

Palm Beach County was pleasantly surprised to receive another $980,000 this (state legislative) session, she said.

She said state money should not be used to repair the Herbert Hoover Dike because the project is already fully funded by federal dollars. The state money could be put to better use funding other projects, she added.

"We don't need to be putting our state dollars toward the infrastructure projects," she said.

"The president needs to tell the corps to use that money and move forward."

She said the state had already committed $100 million to speed repairs on the dike.

"Yes, we want this repaired; yes, we want it sped up. But the federal government has already fully funded it.

"Florida taxpayers should not have to pay twice with our income tax dollars and our state tax dollars," said Commissioner McKinlay. "I don't want the state to be put in the position that we have to put another $100 million of state dollars into that project. We don't know who will be sitting in the governor's chair next year."

Commissioner Turner said it is "beyond frustrating" when he takes media representatives out on the lake and "you have them in your vessel and you are showing them bays that are gin clear," and then the story on television news or in coastal newspapers shows the lake in a negative light.

He said FLW is the greatest bass tournament purveyor in the nation, and Lake Okeechobee is still their biggest draw, year after year.

"It speaks volumes when (Bass Pro Shop owner) Johnny Morris signs a contract," he said.

Dr. Fennoy's superintendent contract approved

WEST PALM BEACH — The Palm Beach County School Board approved a six-plus-year contract for Donald E. Fennoy II on Wednesday, March 14, finalizing Dr. Fennoy's hiring as the next superintendent of the Palm Beach County School District.

Dr. Fennoy was officially sworn in as superintendent on Thursday morning, March 15, and a public ceremony will take place on Wednesday, April 4, before the school board meeting.

"I'm feeling wonderful," Dr. Fennoy said. "I'm feeling excited."

Dr. Fennoy, who has served under his mentor Dr. Robert Avossa for nearly 15 years, said he is ready to take the helm of the district, but added that Dr. Avossa will continue to be his mentor.

Dr. Fennoy's first business as superintendent includes three key changes to his executive cabinet, which also were approved by the board on March 14:

- Keith Oswald, who has served as chief academic officer for the district since 2014, has been approved as the district's deputy superintendent/chief of schools. Mr. Oswald is a longtime district educator, beginning his career as a teacher at Barton Elementary.

- Wanda Paul, who has been the chief of facilities management since 2016, will move to chief operations officer, a position that Dr. Fennoy had held for the past two years.

Ms. Paul, who had an extensive military career, served as chief operations officer for the Dallas Independent School District prior to coming to Palm Beach County.

- Amity Schuyler will become the district's chief of staff, moving from her current role as chief strategic communications and engagement officer, where she has been for the past two years. Prior to her time in Palm Beach County, Ms. Schuyler served as the director of communications for the Lee County School District and as executive director of the nonprofit organization Drug Free Charlotte County.

TEAM

harassment that situation can cause.

The teenagers got involved with PBPT back in November, receiving initial help from Evelyn Flores of that organization, then got in touch with a woman who runs a children's clothing-centered charity in Delray Beach called Cool Clothes Closet. Its director, Lynda Walsh, gave them a crash how-to course about philanthropy, putting a plan together and then executing it. Guadalupe, a senior at Glades Central High School, had learned of the Philanthropy Tank opportunity through her tutor and friend Mary Ford at the Boys & Girls Club; so the trio applied, and they were chosen as one of the eight finalist teams out of 50 entries.

At the third annual PBPT finals event, the student members of those eight teams pitched their ideas live on stage to the four-member panel – just as they do on TV's "Shark Tank" – with hundreds of parents, fellow students, local business leaders and supporters watching. While judges Jim

Karp, John Scarpa, Christine Stiller and Rick Stone deliberated after the kids' presentations, emcee Sally Lou Loveman engaged the audience and enticed donations to the PBPT cause. (Ms. Loveman was the audience producer for "The Oprah Winfrey Show.")

Of the $100,000 parceled out in the PBPT finals, Team Uniformity was eligible for up to $15,000 and received the smallest amount of any team, but the girls nevertheless are joyous about the opportunity the award gives them.

Three of the finalist teams received the $15,000 maximum; one got $14,000; two were awarded $12,000; and one got $10,000. Said Miss Garcia:

"The wait was long, but it was worth it through the months, building up to that day. It was worth all the stress. I'm happy with where we are because it's better than having nothing and because what we really needed the money for was the community, and if that's what the investors saw that we needed, I'm pretty sure we can work with that."

She said the investors' main questions were about where the kids would store the clothes, and what kinds of quotes they got on costs. "We told them, 'That's why we need your help, to find a better storage unit that can fit in the price.'"

And the ball is rolling already. "They emailed us that we're going to have a meeting on April 14 at Palm Beach Atlantic University, and we're going to start there with our investors. But we already had step-by-step plans," Miss Garcia said.

One of the best parts about their award is that it came with a millionaire to mentor them as they make Guadalupe's idea a reality. They'll be guided for the next full year by PBPT philanthropist/investor Rick Stone.

"Year after year, Palm Beach Philanthropy Tank attracts a diverse group of incredibly talented students from around Palm Beach County with meaningful community service projects, and this year was no exception. In just a matter of weeks, these students went from submitting their proposals, to practicing their pitches, to standing on stage in front of hundreds of excited supporters and our team of philanthropist-investors," said Evan C. Deoul, AB Bernstein's senior managing director and co-founder of PBPT with Michael L. Kohner, managing director of Andersen Tax.

"And we have to thank our generous audience, which donated $18,500 during the 20 minutes our investors were deliberating. We look forward to continuing this program for years to come and watching these students make an impact in our community," said Mr. Kohner.

The PBPT's primary purpose, aside from helping teach youth the value of giving back to the community, is to encourage new perspectives and ideas about issues and problems that Palm Beach County residents face. To be considered for a spot in the finals, applicants were required to submit a description of their project that addressed community impact, program feasibility, solution creativity, sustainability and team strengths.

All the teams now will work in tandem with their investor/mentors to develop a business plan and strategy for success. To watch the progress of Team Uniformity, follow PBPT by visiting www.philanthropytank.org, like @pbphilanthropytank on Facebook or follow @pbptank on Twitter or Instagram.

Touring theatre returns to Dolly Hand with 'On Golden Pond'

Special to The Sun

One of the most dynamic and respected touring companies in the country, Montana Repertory Theatre, will present "On Golden Pond" at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center on Friday, March 23, at 7:30 pm.

"On Golden Pond" is an American treasure. Many of us are familiar with the story through the Academy Award-winning film adaptation starring Henry and Jane Fonda and Katharine Hepburn. Others have attended one of the literally thousands of stage productions this extraordinary play has received over the years.

Beguilingly simple, this humane, poetic and often very funny portrayal of a family in crisis as it pulls apart and then finds itself again has been touching audiences for decades. Something deep and profound resonates through the events that unfold in this American masterpiece brilliantly penned by Ernest Thompson.

We all have mothers and fathers, we all cope with aging and we have all experienced being lost – and, hopefully, found. It is this dynamic, this finding of family and the love therein, that keeps "On Golden Pond" forever relevant.

Montana Rep was established as a professional touring company in 1967, providing professional theatre at an affordable cost. The company assembles principle actors, directors and designers with prestigious credits, including Broadway, Off-Broadway, national tours of Broadway shows and major regional theatre credits.

The Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center is located on Palm Beach State College's Belle Glade Campus at 1977 College Drive in Belle Glade.

For more information, call the box office at 561-993-1160 or visit www.dollyhand.org.

S.W. Ave. M, Belle Glade.

Discussions will include promoting healthy manhood, violence prevention, health and awareness and building healthy relationships. There will be an informative workshop and a question/answer period where young men will be given the opportunity to ask real-life questions to the men on the panel.

The invitation is open to all middle and high school students residing in the Wellington, Loxahatchee, Hendry and the Tri-Cities (Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee) areas. Admission is free.

AMENDED NOTICE OF TAX FOR SCHOOL CAPITAL OUTLAY

The School Board of Hendry County will soon consider a measure to amend the use of property tax for the capital outlay projects previously advertised for the 2017 to 2018 school year.

Amended activity to be funded:

Director of Facilities position

The Local Capital Improvement Revenue Funds will be utilized to prorate the cost of the Director of Facilities position for activities that are related to the improvement and maintenance of the School District Facilities.

All concerned citizens are invited to a public hearing to be held March 27, 2018, at 5:30 P.M., at Hendry County School Board meeting room, 475 Osceola Avenue, Clewiston, Florida 33440.

A DECISION on the proposed amendment to the projects funded from CAPITAL OUTLAY TAXES will be made at this meeting.

Reflections from the Pulpit

What happens when we slip up? Salvation or...?

By The Reverend Samuel S. Thomas, Ph. D. +
Saint Martin's Church, Clewiston

One observation made awhile back had to do with judgments and students. Apparently, schools that use Student Courts to judge classmates for infractions tend to be harsher and more punitive than when students are judged by faculty members. Heavier penalties are assessed by peers; an interesting observation! My reflections didn't come up with any solid conclusions about why this should be so. Maybe students were more likely to be exacting while teachers were more likely to be forgiving. One researcher in Europe looked about how we make moral judgments and noted that age is a factor. He would make up stories about people who broke rules but did so to save lives or when technical factors were not always applicable to situations encountered by people. He found that younger persons were more likely to follow a law-and-order approach to decisions while older persons were more likely to follow the dictates of conscience. I think we may "mellow with age" and think that "there but for the grace of God, go I." I have often felt that I cannot condone some of the things people do, but I can often understand why they do them.

People will talk to me about making hard choices, making choices that take the pressure off for the moment even if the problem will have a possibility of coming up again, about feeling limited in options, about having to choose the lesser of the evils when there is no good solution on the horizon.

Jesus faced temptations that offered short-cuts or dealt with immediate needs; "you're hungry, make these stones bread (Matthew 4:3)" or "I'll give you everything you came to seek, if you'll worship me (Matthew 4:9)" but He turned them all down. Human beings are not always capable of having their dilemmas with obvious outcomes or not as clear in the choices they must make. Human beings make choices that are wrong, short-sighted, influenced by what seems expedient at the moment, affected by limited interests or not seeing the big picture and final results of what they do. What then? Is there some way of reconciling human limits and acts with God who has laid out a better way of living and giving us an example in a Son who came to show and teach it? Can we see reconciliation between the call to perfection and the inadequate human responses? The answer that strikes me that is obvious is this: God must forgive humanity to reconcile. I know of no lasting human relationships that cannot exist without forgiveness in one form or another. No married couple, no social groups, no bodies of people united for common purposes can exist without some acceptance of those who are seen as "flawed" in some way but still part of the group. A recent television presentation was about a group of people radically divided on gun control and what should be done or not done; they met and agreed to meet again, then hugged each other as the session ended. Our "agreeing to disagree" means we welcome and have a place.

It surely then must be the same with our relationship with our Creator-Redeemer-Sustainer. I have noted those passages in scripture which reflect that this is God's intention for us and see them as key to our understanding of the nature of our relationship with God, but also what is a sustaining and lasting part of this relationship.

John 3:16-17 is one passage that is key to that understanding. "For God so loved the world that he gave His only-begotten Son that whosoever believes in Him should not perish but have eternal life. For God sent the Son into the world, not to condemn the world but that the world might be saved through Him."

John's teaching is about a God that loves His creation and creatures. It is about faith, not perfection, being what finally matters. It is about what Jesus was not sent to do: condemn. Timothy reminds us "This is a true saying and worthy of all men to be received; that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners (1 Timothy 1:15)." When I read this passage, there is a note of "Did He or didn't He?" If this was then the purpose for the coming of the Lord, was He only partially successful or did He succeed in why He came and succeed in full?" My own answer goes back to what I know about God: He doesn't do things half-way! John speaks about our short-comings, sins, weaknesses, failures. "If any man sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous; and He is the perfect offering for our sins, and not for ours only but for the sins of the whole world (1 John 1:1-2)." These passages say to me that my purpose in being here is to be the best that I can humanly be as God has made me and intends. When I don't meet His standards or my own, I have to work to get back on track; but in the meantime, it is not all hopeless.

Medicare card switch gives scammers a new hook

Special to INI Florida

Medicare cards are undergoing a big change to make them more secure. But in the meantime, scammers are (of course!) taking advantage of confusion around the launch.

How the scam works

You receive a call from a person claiming to work with Medicare. They are allegedly calling about the new Medicare cards, which will be mailed this spring. The cards will be more secure because they use a "Medicare Beneficiary Identifier" instead of a Social Security number.

The scammer claims that there's a problem with your card. The con artist may say your new card was lost or someone tried to use your ID number. To resolve the situation, the scammer just needs your Social Security number.

In another version, the scammer claims you must pay money to receive your new Medicare card. They may ask you for payment information, so they can "complete the process" for you. They may even ask you to mail them your old card.

How to avoid medicare scams

- Know how the Medicare card switch works. Understand that Medicare isn't calling consumers about the card switch. Also, the new Medicare cards are being provided free of charge.

- Never provide personal information to a stranger. Don't share personal details with anyone who calls you unsolicited. Do not confirm or give out your full name, address, Social Security number or any other personal information.

For more information

Learn about similar scams by reading this BBB tip: BBB.org/HealthCareScam. Read more about the new cards and their security benefits on Medicare.gov.

If you've fallen victim to this type of scam, you can help others avoid being scammed by filing a report BBB.org/ScamTracker.

JTK Bike Shop kids enjoy ride to Torry Island

By Katrina Elsen
The Sun

Saturday's clear weather was perfect for a bike ride, according to Dawn Donaldson of JTK (Jesus The King) Bike Shop in Belle Glade. JTK Bike Shop is a nonprofit youth development program. With some training from the adult volunteers, youngsters use parts from old bicycles to build their own bikes. They also help each other build and repair bikes, and recently even started selling bicycles to raise money for the program.

JTK Bike Shop also organizes group bike rides, and invites the participants' families to join in the fun. "On Saturday, we enjoyed blue skies and a light breeze with temperatures just topping 80 degrees," she said.

"The JTK Bike Shop kids had a tremendous time exploring Torry Island. They cast their fishing poles and nets, walked the pedestrian path, climbed the observation tower and generally had a great time outdoors," she continued. "I had one of our JTK youngsters tell me that she never even knew this beautiful place was less than two miles from her home. That's not the first time I've heard that from the local kids, and I am so pleased that their bicycles are providing transportation for these kids to experience the world outside their immediate neighborhood. As a JTK 'family,' we are especially proud of Rose Piercin and Rosy Flezinord," she added. "Six months ago, neither one of these young teens knew how to ride a bike! On their own, the other JTK kids found this unacceptable, and set out to teach both of them how to ride a bicycle. We are so proud that on Saturday, both Rose and Rosy made the six-mile ride successfully! We want to thank all the gracious drivers in town who were patient as we traveled along Canal Street to Torry Island. Over 20 of us in bright green shirts riding bikes through Belle Glade must have been quite the surprising sight," she said.

The group is looking forward to the next JTK bike ride to Torry Island for the Black Gold Jubilee on April 14. JTK Bike Shop is open on Fridays and Saturdays from 2 to 7 p.m. At the end of a busy day of fixing bicycles, the group has a family-style meal together right there in the bike shop kitchen. Afterward, they all help with cleanup chores. To donate, volunteer or get more information about JTK Bike Shop, contact Dawn Donaldson by email at dbdonfire@aol.com, phone at 561-312-8575 or at JTK Bike Shop, 233 W. Ave. A, Suite B.

Palm Beach County Commission News

Special to The Sun

At its March 13 meeting, the County Commission took the following actions:

- Opioid litigation – selected the team of the Ferrero Law Firm, P.A., Napoli Skolnik, PLLC, LLC, and Stull, Stull & Brody, and approved a contract for professional legal services to pursue litigation on behalf of the county for costs, damages and other relief associated with the opioid epidemic in Palm Beach County.

- Housing liaison – discussed the creation of a new ad valorem-funded position in the Department of Housing and Economic Sustainability to serve as the housing liaison at a minimum starting salary of $77,151 plus benefits. The proposed position will be brought forward for consideration as part of the overall 2019 budget cycle.

- Workforce housing – approved the Workforce Housing Program down payment assistance strategy for low, moderate and middle-income groups. A portion of the $3 million Workforce Housing Trust Fund, which developers pay into in lieu of constructing required lower-priced units, will be used to provide down payments

- Inspector General – amended the contract with Inspector General John Carey, extending it to June 22, 2022. The amendment modifies the deferred compensation provision and allows for the conversion of sick leave to vacation leave.

- Work ID – approved an amendment to the adult entertainment ordinance requiring work ID cards to be renewed every two years to protect vulnerable children and young adults, increasing the fee for a new work ID from $75 to $100, and requiring adult entertainment establishments to retain a complete performer roster.

- Budget – approved a series of budget amendments and transfers in various funds reflecting adjustments for balances brought forward, other revenue sources, reserves and operating expenses. These are necessary to adjust FY 2018 budgets to reflect differences between actual and estimated FY 2017 revenues and expenditures.

- OCR – approved a series of revisions to the Office of Community Revitalization (OCR) America's Next Top Neighborhood grant program to include: 1) clarifying the guidelines and simplifying the application; 2) forming a new grant review committee; 3) increasing the grant amount from $5,000 to $10,000; and 4) limiting funding to projects located in specific target areas which are in need of financial assistance.

- Orange Bowl – accepted an Orange Bowl Legacy Gift donation to pay for improvements at Glades Pioneer Park in Belle Glade. The Orange Bowl Committee has offered to design, permit and construct a project that will include a synthetic athletic field, an electronic scoreboard, goals, entry monument and related Orange Bowl amenities at the park. The agreement requires a 50 percent match not to exceed $1.5 million from the county.

- Project Knight – conceptually approved a cash grant of $70,000 and an ad valorem tax exemption of up to $650,000 over a six-year period for Project Knight. The company is considering investing $25 million to renovate and equip its existing facility in Palm Beach County and create 100 new jobs over a three-year period. The annualized average wage is $92,124 with an annualized median wage of $64,000; estimated five-year local economic impact is $248 million.

- Opportunity Zones – approved Opportunity Zone census tracts for Palm Beach County to be approved by the governor. Opportunity Zones are a federal tax incentive designed to subsidize private investment in designated distressed areas. The recommended census tracts are based on areas identified for potential economic development and for mixed-income or affordable rental housing developments.

- Palm Springs – adopted a resolution denying establishment of the Palm Springs Community Redevelopment Agency.

- Reentry – authorized the use of general funds to continue reentry services for ex-offenders under the Public Safety Department in the amount of $393,550 and the Frequent Users System Engagement (FUSE) program under the Criminal Justice Commission in the amount of $100,000. The money would be available in the event expected federal grant funding under the Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant Program is not released by the U.S. Department of Justice.

- YMCA – authorized staff to evaluate the potential of forming a cooperative partnership with the YMCA of the Palm Beaches to move the existing YMCA branch in Palm Springs to undeveloped land within Lake Lytal Park.

- Fire Rescue – discussed atypical development costs associated with the proposed acquisition of a 5.09-acre vacant parcel of land in unincorporated western Delray Beach for the development of a Fire Rescue station. Staff was directed to negotiate further with the property owner and update the county commissioners on options.

- Ratification – ratified the appointment of Michael Mackey as Fire Rescue administrator. He has been serving as interim administrator since January.

- Palm Beach property – adopted a resolution authorizing the conveyance of a 0.02-acre parcel of property on the east side of North Ocean Boulevard to the Town of Palm Beach. This will allow the town to use the property for its coastal management program and relieves the county of liability and maintenance responsibility.

- Criminal history records – approved on preliminary hearing and to advertise for public hearing on April 10 the Palm Beach County Criminal History Records Check (CHRC) Ordinance.

School district hiring new bus drivers

Special to The Sun

WEST PALM BEACH — The Palm Beach County School District is seeking school bus drivers to be trained and ready for the road for the start of the school year.

The district is seeking 25-30 drivers to help create a reserve of drivers to help fill spots vacated by those who retire or leave their positions.

Successful trainees who become school bus drivers will receive a starting pay of $14.28 per hour; full benefits, including medical, dental and vision insurance; and the ability to participate in a retirement program.

Successful candidates will enter the district's bus driver training program and must possess the following minimum qualifications:

- Must be a licensed driver for at least five years;
- Have a good driving record with not more than two moving violations within an 18-month period and not more than one moving violation per year for the past three years;
- Must be clear of any suspensions or revocations for driving while intoxicated/under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol (DUI/DWI) within the past seven years.

- The driving record must be clear of the following infractions for the previous seven years: leaving the scene of an accident where there was an injury or property damage; reckless driving resulting in an accident; fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer.

- The driving record must not show a pattern of: violating the law; unsafe or reckless driving; unwillingness to comply with the law.

Successful candidates will be paid $10.42 per hour for up to 80 hours during training.

For more information, visit PalmBeachSchools.org/jobs. For further assistance, contact the district at 561-242-6515 or 561-242-6512.

To expedite the application process, obtain and submit a complete driving record (Lifetime Driving History) online or by visiting your local Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles Service Center, tax collector's office or courthouse.

If you have moved from another state, you must provide a complete driving record (Lifetime Driving History) from that state also. Submit this information to the PBCSD, Transportation Services, Safety and Training Section, 3376 Summit Blvd., P-11, West Palm Beach, FL 33406.
