The Suzuki came to a final rest on the north shoulder of

ASK DR. MANTOOTH
A PRIMER ON X-RAYS

Q: Why do dentists take x-rays?

A: X-rays, also called dental radiographs, are among your dentist's crucial tools. The x-ray helps your dentist diagnose various conditions that simply cannot be seen by the naked eye. Just for example, by using and x-ray, dentists can see the roots of your teeth. In the case of a new patient, the dentist may take and x-ray to establish a baseline picture of the condition and position of those roots to help with analysis of any changes that occur later. Your dentist may periodically use x-rays during a regular visit to screen for decay.

The American Dental Association and the Food and Drug Administration have set guidelines for the use of x-rays in the dental office. The frequency of x-rays depends on an individual patient's case. You and your dentist can discuss an x-ray schedule that's appropriate for your planned treatment. Your schedule will vary according to your age, your risk of disease and the symptoms of your condition. Of course, like every other aspect of dentistry, the techniques and equipment used for x-rays have improved greatly over the years. The main ADA rule regarding the use of x-rays is that dentists should use them only when necessary. Talk with your dentist x-rays and their role in your program of dental care.

Suwannee past
Live Oak in 1905 - Part 2

Suwannee Springs - second hotel - circa 1900.

Information supplied by Eric Musgrove, county historian

Frank Drew - Early 1900's.

Last week I began a series entitled, "Live Oak, A Town That's Alive," that was published in a leading Florida newspaper in 1905. As I found it interesting in describing not only Live Oak, but also parts of Suwannee County, I have decided to print it in its entirety. Thus, we continue…

"While the manufacture of lumber is a large factor in the business of the city, there are other manufacturing plants of importance which promise to be very successful enterprises. The Novelty Manufacturing Company is one of these. All kinds of novelties in wood are turned out at this factory. Messrs. Humphreys are the proprietors. The very popular Automobile roller swing is manufactured here.

"The Florida Tile Works is another very busy establishment. Although a new enterprise, it is taxed to its utmost capacity to supply the demand. The city will soon have all the sidewalks in the business sections of this tiling. This business is very successfully managed by C. N. Hildreth.

"The history of the manufacturing industries would not be complete without mentioning the plant now about completed which will extract spirits of turpentine from wood. Stumps, sawdust, etc. can be used in the process of distillation.

"Messrs. Robbins and McGehee have a large foundry and machine shops running full blast. They make or repair anything from a bolt to a locomotive engine.

"Other manufacturing plants of importance are the Live Oak Sash and Door Company, which is just getting under way; The Florida Cooperage Company and The Live Oak Cooperage Company. The first named as incorporated for $25,000 and a large and important industry bids fair soon to be developed in the manufacture of sash, doors and blinds.

"New corporations are being formed all the time, new lines of manufacturing being the object of the majority of these, and there seems to be no limit to capacity of the city in this direction.

"The location of Live Oak is one of great commercial advantage. The Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line railways intersect here. The competition of these two trunk lines for the large amount of shipping to distant markets insures good service.

"The Seaboard Air Line affords the city a direct route to the east coast metropolis and also to the Gulf ports. A good portion of the shipping to the Northern markets is also done over this road.

"The Atlantic Coast Line affords direct lines of transportation to Tampa and south Florida points, and much of the freight from the north finds its way over this line.

"Two smaller roads, with their terminals here, are of inestimable importance in the development of the various natural resources of the surrounding country.

"The Florida Railway connects Live Oak and Mayo with Perry and intermediate points. Hon. Frank Drew is the president of this road, and he is ever on the alert for the business interests of all the cities and towns along its line. Mr. Drew has about completed plans for the extension of the road to Fernandina, and expects to have trains running between Live Oak and Fernandina within a year. The section through which this road runs is rich in agricultural productions and in the large belts of pine timber. Sawmills are located all along the road, and several cars of lumber are shipped every day over the Florida Railway through Live Oak to the big lumber markets.

"The Live Oak, Perry & Gulf Railway extends from this city to Perry, a small part of the track being not yet laid. This road, which does quite an extensive business, however, running four to eight trains daily, is owned by a two-million-dollar stock company, at the head of which are the proprietors of the Dowling Lumber and Naval Stores Company. This railway is chartered to be built to some outlet on the Gulf of Mexico, and the point now in view is St. Marks. Live Oak's future commercial importance is assured with already four railways making it one of the most accessible places in Florida.

LOPG Engine.

"Right here might well be mentioned some of the nearby resorts which are growing in importance and even now enjoy considerable tourist trade. Suwannee Springs, situated on the Suwannee river, is seven miles distant. A company has been incorporated and a charter granted for an electric railway to connect Live Oak with this resort. The springs are near one of the most picturesque bends of this famous river, adding beauty to its list of attractions. The waters of these springs have valuable medicinal properties and the proprietors ship large quantities throughout the South. A commodious hotel, built of lime rock and brick, crowns the hill just above the spring. The glistening white of the rocks, contrasting the red color of the brick, and quaintness of the design of the hotel afford a very striking picture to the traveler when he arrives. A number of cottages are fitted up for light housekeeping, and when the hotel is open the cottages are always occupied. Fishing and hunting in abundance are offered, and many sportsmen spend a delightful vacation at the springs.

"Dowling Park is another resort on the Suwannee. This is on the Live Oak, Perry & Gulf Railway and more easy of access to Live Oak. This property is owned by the railroad company, which has spent considerable funds in fitting up in the most attractive style and with every convenience the tourist could desire. The company gives a double daily passenger service between the park and Live Oak, which enables many to spend a half holiday or go for a day's outing to this very attractive spot on the banks of the old Suwannee.

"Both of these resorts are growing in popularity, and there is no doubt but that in a few seasons that the capacity of both hotels will have to be greatly increased to accommodate the guests who will seek these watering places for health or recreation."

Next week, part three…

Sheree Vann is new addition to Porter's office

The Democrat Says!

Charter review fails meeting objective

The Live Oak Charter Review Committee was given the task of reviewing the current charter for the city and present a recommendation to the Live Oak City Council on whether it should be amended. However, what the council received at their meeting Tuesday night, Jan. 14, was two recommendations that lacked the full support of the committee. (See the story regarding this online at suwanneedemocrat.com, search 'charter review ends disgruntled', or see the Jan. 17 print edition.)

At the charter review meetings, it was evident there was a conflict between members. We're not doubting that each member had the best interest of the city in mind, but we noticed early on that personal agendas may have played a part.

When the recommendations went before the council, minutes went by while councilors heatedly debated whether or not to take their recommendations for review.

Of course this is nothing uncommon in Suwannee County. For years, the city council and the Suwannee County Board of County Commissioners have not had a working relationship. At both council and commission board meetings, heated, sometimes raucous discussions are considered the norm. Why should we expect anything less from committees that are chosen by such boards?

If Suwannee County is going to grow and prosper, unity in our local government has got to be a priority.

Cudos to Randy Harris for having the courage and tenacity to do the right thing for Suwannee County. Ignore the naysayers, mostly former commissioners, they keep holding on to the past. We finally have a future for Suwannee County!

ALL LAW ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS should be required to have cameras recording any arrests they make. Period. How many times have cops' dashcams saved honest officers' careers while protecting the public they are sworn to serve from a few bad actors at the same time? It's plain common sense and should be standard practice everywhere. Enough said!

Live Oak could be a lovely little jewel if only we could clean up the litter that plagues almost every street in this town. Have the Town Fathers ever heard of the FDOT's "Wild Flower program? I understand that Suwannee Valley Transit Authority has been able to procure a small grant to seed Voyles St., one of the most filthy & trash strewn streets in Live Oak, but the City 'powers that be" are balking and prefer to reject this gift because it may involve a little effort on their part which is help convince CSX Railroad of the benefits to their part of the street right of way. If we can have a street beautification program here in Live Oak -AT NO COST TO THE CITY, why would not the city beat down the doors of SVTA to take advantage of this FREE program! Are we so low that we prefer to live on streets lined with garbage rather than look out at colorful wild flowers? Wake up City Leaders: this is a COST FREE opportunity to bring some beauty to our streets.

Can the Suwannee Democrat advise its readers where it would place "public transportation" in its list of Editorial Objectives for 2014, OR do the members of the Democrat Editorial Board feel that 'public transportation' for Live Oak/Suwannee County is not a worthwhile objective for this community? Thank you.

We are focused mainly on growth and jobs for local unemployed right now. After that, we'll talk. - Editor

Between putting Cason back on the payroll & Mayor Sonny's ridiculous stance on the liquor issue it adds up to the continued downward spiral of Live Oak.

We are thinking about MOVING TOO your county, can someone LIST on what roads are the chicken house on?

Hopefully the district that elected Mr. Wainwright will reconsider next time. It is a disater for everyone in the county.

I agree with the 'Rant & Rave' writer who understands that Suwannee Co is at a cross roads (Jan 17 edition Rant & Rave) One of the worst things that this county can do is to depend up or rely upon the North Central Florida Planning Council (NCFPC). The NCFPL single handedly destroys any efforts for public transportation in this area. The NCFPC should have been dissolved long ago. Go sit at one of their meetings. Doing so will make you sick. Our county can do much better without that pack of bozos! For the huge amount of money this county gives to that inept group of idiots just to hear their stupidity, is outrageous. We are a great county with great commissioners, like Commissioners Bashaw and Oxidine at the helm. So let bring that money back home and get out of the NCFPC.

Every time I read an article about the County Commissioners it makes we wonder what is going on. I have never seen such a group completely ignore all constituent's desires. We need a complete change. Two can be removed this year. I hate to have the other three until 2016 but their time is dwindling. A new motto for the City and County should be "Elect No Incumbents." In with the new and out with the old.

this is a rave to our county commission in Suwannee county for using our reserves from excessive taxation from previous commissioners to promote economic development and not put it under the mattress while trying to borrow 4 million from first federal and 3 million from Columbia county to fix a mess left by previous commissioners raising taxes and fire assessment twice in an effort to prepare for the future and fix messes left by former commissioners now working on our garbage assessment to protect the people from identity theft and expand the hours at collection sites not many people could fix all that was broken in 17 months 'thank you commissioners for volunteering for such a thankless job'.

Yet another rejection letter from Suwannee County gov- 't deciding to go with another candidate and like clockwork couple weeks later another ad in the paper for the same position I've been applying for 5 years that I've lived here. Me thinks y'all is focusing on the wrong candidates!

Does the County Commission have the backbone to avoid the politics and hire a successful Economic Director instead of a wanna be? We shall see.

Just exactly who has benefited from the by right language in the LDRs. Suwannee Democrat, look into it and let us know. It can't be that difficult to find out, unless they changed the process to cover their tracks. We want to know if they did that too.

The commissioners, city councilmen, and chamber board members.....JUST DON'T GET IT. Helping residents to thrive and prosper can't happen if you only care about your own pocket book.

If we truly want to provide opportunity for every one, you have to stop being so selfish. Please commissioners, quit thinking about yourself and start acting like you represent us.

Our kids need a sound education. We are not educating them in our public schools. Just look at the school grades and take the time to learn what they really mean. Give parents options. Pass the Charter applications. What are you afraid of?

This is a RAVE for the men in the court house who keep order and all of us safe. Thank you!

My oh my, when are we ever going to wisen up? Those in elected positions are tearing up our budget and burying us in debt, giving away the farm to washed up cronies and foreign companies, and leveraging our kids future as they dumb them down even more, while pocketing a few good deals for them selfs. Come on people open your eyes.

i want a deal like Cason got. Refuse to give up intel you obtained while accepting tax payer salary so you can demand to be reinstated to tell the powers that be what you should have told them as part of the job. Sweet deals getting sweeter for the chosen few in Suwannee County. People you better start attending the commission meetings. The agenda sucks, but you will learn a heck of a lot in the halls.

This is a rave about Mr. Harris. He is the best thing to happen to Suwannee County in a long time. Thank you for making our community your home. We appreciate you.

We are mad as hell Commissioners, and we are not going to take it anymore.

Other than Mr. Gamble, this current group of county commissioners will no doubt go down in history as the worst in Suwannee County ever. I keep waiting for them to both build an office for Dennis Cason and construct a court house at the catalyst site. Oops, hope I didn't give Mr. Wainwright an idea.

How come y'all say private individuals will be excluded and every week in the Rant & Rave I always see something about Wesley Wainwright in there. I'm getting tired of seeing it, if y'all go by what y'all say.

Wesley Wainwright the private citizen would be excluded. Wesley Wainwright the commissioner is not excluded. - Editor

Branford Skate Park grand opening is Saturday

"It's pretty amazing of what can be done with some imagination and a small town municipality that's willing to listen to the skaters and ones using it."
- Bill Procko, who helped see the park come to fruition

Phase I is complete, Phase II to follow

By Andrew McGee
andrew.mcgee@gaflnews.com

It's been a great ride and the folks that have worked so hard can finally breathe a sigh of relief now that phase I of the Branford Skate Park is complete. The grand opening of the park that was designed by Misiano Skateparks and which famous skater Tony Hawk had a hand in, is scheduled for Saturday at 10 a.m. at Hatch Park.

The skate park became a reality thanks to the tireless efforts of many including Branford resident and business owner Bill Procko. An avid skateboarder himself, he knew what to look for and what was needed in a state-of-the-art skate park.

Procko said a few years ago a local teen mentioned how great it would be if there was a skate park in or around the Branford area and that inspired Procko to act.

"It was probably about three or four years ago that a student in town named Josh Walker wrote a letter to (Branford) Town Council," said Procko. "They were accepting to the letter and it went pretty well."

Procko made it on the town council's monthly meeting agenda in February 2013. He told the councilors about the proposed project and what could be accomplished for the town and the kids.

"Within the time span of less than a year, there's a skatepark," said Procko.

He said that many families and skateboarders visit towns with parks that are designed and built by skateboarders because they are highly noticeable compared to a generic park that came from a brochure and sold as plan A, B or C.

Branford's Skate Park was designed and changed as professional skateboarders proceeded through the construction of the project.

"They changed it as they went and formatted it for every level of skateboarding from novice to pro," said Procko. "It was really a work in progress with skateboarders being part of it and that shows in a plan when you're driving through town."

Businesses in town will greatly benefit as skateboarders, like any athlete, burn serious calories over hours of intense skateboarding.

"Just like football or baseball, the calories spent on a skateboard park, you're talking in the thousands, four to five thousand," said Procko. "That's going to show in drinks and food consumption."

Test run

Phase I of the Branford Skate Park was completed on Saturday, Jan. 18 and about 20 kids gave it a test run.

"This was before the park was really open," said Procko. "So, it does make a big difference."

Bill Procko explores the diverse terrain at the Branford Skate Park, Phase I.

The kids had shown up early in the morning and although Procko thought it best to shut the gate, more kids would come. He said it was hard to say no, but kept reminding them that the official grand opening was the next Saturday.

"I hope they understood," Procko said, laughing.

Procko said that families thinking of moving to the area might have kids who are reluctant because they don't want to leave the town or city they live in because of a skate park. With the new park, both parents and kids could benefit.

"The parents would have the river and country living and the kids would still have a taste of some of the best skateboarding in the state," said Procko.

Word of mouth and social networking such as Facebook have also attracted folks from all over the county, surrounding counties and even the world.

"We've already gotten comments as far away as Japan who are interested in not particularly Phase 1, but what we have planned for Phase II," Procko said.

Phase II, aptly named the Del Mar Keyhole, is going to be a revised version of the historic Del Mar Skate Ranch in Southern California where a young Tony Hawk first cut his teeth on the pro circuit, and who went on to become one of the most skilled professional skateboarder's in the world. The Tony Hawk Foundation gave a grant toward the construction of Phase I of the Branford Skate Park.

Skateboarders from all around

On Saturday, Tony Misiano of Misiano Skateparks, will be on scene along with skateboarders from New Smyrna Beach to try the new park. Branford High School Dean of Students, Carl Manna, said some professional skateboarders from Jacksonville are expected be there to show off their skills.

"I'm hoping for 50 to 100 people out here, maybe more, really it's hard to say," said Procko. "Live Oak and Lake City already know about it and we're already attracting Gainesville and the surrounding counties."

Skate Park specs

Procko talked about some of the specifics of the park's design.

"Everything is a simulation of what you might find outside a building in a city or town," said Procko.

Pointing to a rail with a short flight of steps, he said a skateboarder could do "ollies" to "board slides". The ollie is a skateboarding trick where the rider and board leap into the air without the use of the rider's hands. Board sliding involves the rider and board balanced and literally sliding down a rail to the bottom of the stairs.

Procko said the new park was a good mix of different things for the skateboarder to experience and enjoy. He said it was also a quick-thinking course in that the faster one goes, the quicker they have to think about where they're going or what they're doing.

"It really prepares the novice and intermediate skaters for the next level which will be built over there," Procko said, pointing toward the area Phase II will be constructed.

"It's pretty amazing of what can be done with some imagination and a small town municipality that's willing to listen to the skaters and ones using it," said Procko.

No injuries in truck fire

This 1994 Ford pickup caught fire at Lowe's in Live Oak Tuesday afternoon. There were no injuries, according to Live Oak Fire Department's Alan Bedenbaugh. The owner told LOFD crew members the truck had 650,000 miles on it and he bought it new in 1994. According to Bedenbaugh, the owner was at the red light near Lowe's around 12:15 p.m. when the truck started smoking heavily. He pulled into Lowe's and the truck was soon engulfed in flames. Crews were able to put out the fire in a timely fashion without incident. - Photo: Live Oak Fire Department

Scott wants $55 million for Florida's springs most stellar environmental stewards.

"I'm pleased to announce that in order to continue our dedication to protect and restore springs throughout the Sunshine State, the 'It's Your Money Tax Cut Budget' includes $55 million specifically dedicated to springs protection efforts," said Gov. Scott. "This investment will enable state and local partners to protect the quality and quantity of water that flows from our springs. These springs are important not only to animal and plant life, but also add to Florida's ever-expanding tourism industry."

The $55 million recommendation dedicates $25 million in funding for water quantity and quality protection and restoration projects. These projects will have tangible benefits to reduce and eliminate nutrient impacts and ensure the proper flow to our springs.

Effective and efficient water management is essential to the public and to the environmental and economic health and welfare of the state. To that end, alternative water supply development in critical springs areas will receive $25 million in funding to help protect spring flow. Also, the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services will be able to help agricultural operations increase water conservation in their irrigation practices and deploy more efficient fertilization practices through a $5 million allocation in the budget.

"If you care about Florida's springs, Governor Scott's funding announcement should have you very happy," said DEP Secretary Herschel T. Vinyard Jr. "Governor Scott has already surpassed all previous administrations when it comes to funding to improve our springs, and this year's budget do even more. The $55 million in proposed funding for springs protection and restoration will allow Florida to keep the momentum going on this administration's unprecedented efforts to return one of our state's most precious resources to health."

With the support of Governor Scott and the Florida Legislature, twice as much funding has been dedicated exclusively to springs protection than in any other three-year period since 2001. Since 2011, $18.7 million has been specifically directed to springs protection.

Florida's water management districts are also making progress in water quantity by establishing minimum flows and levels for Florida's springs. These are designed to protect and restore spring flows and the natural systems they support. The districts have set minimum flows and levels for 29 springs to date and expect to establish them for 50 more springs over the next two years, which will more than double the cumulative efforts of the last decade.

'Project Rock-n-roll' denied by commissioners site. The board cited concerns regarding the capital investment, number of potential jobs created and the price offered for the property as their reasons to deny the proposal.

According to County Administrator Randy Harris, the proposed company, referred to as "Project Rock and Roll", was seeking 24 acres at the catalyst site. Harris labeled the company as a supplier of construction related material.

The company offered Suwannee County $8,000 per acre. Commissioner Jason Bashaw said he believed the property was worth more than the proposed offer.

"We have to recoup what we have invested out there or at least close to it," Bashaw said.

The company originally submitted vague information to the county. When Harris requested more information, he did not receive it until Friday before the meeting, so the documents were not attached to the commissioner's agenda packets. The documents received stated the parent company and its subsidiaries currently employ nine people.

According to a brief description of the project by the company, it would be freighting material to the facility; preparing and packaging, and shipping of local and imported natural resources.

The company planned to create 13 new full-time equivalent jobs at the Suwannee County site, with a projected average salary of $33,000, excluding benefits. The company proposed to hire eight warehouse operators with an average salary of $27,850. The company also anticipated hiring five drivers with an average salary of $41,000.

The capital investment in connection with the project was estimated at $1 million. This includes the construction of a new 7,000 square-foot facility, buying new equipment and more.

The company stated they are also considering Oklahoma and New York as potential locations.

Economic Development Consultant Dennis Cason told the board the company needed a quick decision.

"The company has product stored in a surrounding county and needs to act quick," Cason said.

Harris told the board his staff is still working on a recommendation for the board regarding the minimum criteria a company must meet to locate on the county's property at the catalyst site.

"We are still working on the criteria that I had previously discussed with you about minimum thresholds for job creation and capital investment on the property the county owns at the catalyst site," Harris said. "You will note there are not a great number of jobs included in this proposal or a very substantial investment."

He continued, "I believe that this is going to be, largely, a storage yard for some natural resource or product that will be shipped out. That will probably take up the majority of the 24 acres of the property if the board agrees to this offer."

Chairman Phil Oxendine said his concerns were the price the proposed company is offering for the site, the number of jobs they're seeking to create, and the capital investment they're planning to invest.

"I think what we need to do is, as soon as possible, come up with a plan, a minimum of what we want out there as far as jobs and capital investment," Oxendine said. "I would hate to sell that property for that kind of money, for that kind of investment."

For now, the board voted unanimously to deny the offer from the proposed company. However, they can resubmit an offer to be considered at a later date.

Jake Hansen remembered

Jake was born on May 28, 1995, in Avon Park to James and Michelle. Jake had one brother, Joshua, and two sisters, Erica and Sierra.

He was an avid hunter and was a motorcycle enthusiast. He loved sports and played both baseball and football. During his senior year, Jake wore jersey number four and played as the running back and linebacker.

He graduated from Branford High School in 2013 and made a lot of friends along the way.

Jake remembered
His family

"He has touched so many lives with his huge heart and unpredictable sense of humor. Our hearts will never be the same and only through God's grace and each other's love and support will we make it through each moment to come. Thank you to everyone that has came into our beloved Jake's life. He enjoyed life and the simple things because all of you were a part of it."

From Mom, Donnie, Joshua, Erica and Sierra

His friends

One of Jake's former coaches Billy Bony recalled Jake's decision to accept Christ and will remember his smiling personality.

"I have known Jake since he was in grammar school. I was fortunate enough to coach Jake a few years in football. Jake also escorted my daughter when she was homecoming princess when they were freshmen," said Bony. "What I remember about Jake is his smile and his great sense of humor. Also, I was very happy for Jake when he trusted Jesus Christ as his personal savior at youth camp. We often don't understand but just remember that God is in control. Jake will be missed and I just pray for God's strength and comfort in this tough time."

Sean Santos, who knew Jake since the second grade and former football teammate, shared his memories of their 11-year friendship.

"Jake was the kind of guy that people just gravitate toward. There was never a moment where you could be upset or hurt for long around him, because he wouldn't let you," Santos said. "He was the type that would pick you up when you needed it, and just wanted everyone to have fun and smile. That was Jake. I know his friends and family will hold his memory dear to their hearts."

Josh Kirby, who knew Jake since childhood years, said he was "his little brother."

"I've known Jake for 16 years, and we played sports together growing up, me, him, and his older brother. He lived with me for about a year and a half. He was basically my little brother. As far as a memory of Baby Hansen, I have too many. But, I can speak of his character. Baby Hansen was Mr. Perfect. Anything he tried, he was great at. Sports, hunting, school, anything. And even with all that, he was humble," Kirby said. "Would never tell you he was better than you at anything, even though everyone knew he was. But in his mind everyone was on an equal playing field. He was the funniest guy anyone had met, you couldn't be around him more than a minute without laughing. And he was loved by everyone, no one disliked him. He was an amazing athlete, an amazing son, an amazing brother, and an amazing friend. He is the most irreplaceable person in my life."

Travis Bass, a friend of 10 years and former football teammate, recalled how Jake brightened a room.

"To start, Jake was a great guy that every younger guy including myself looked up to. He had a great character, and was a great ball player," said Bass. "He brought joy in every room he walked in, and he loved everyone and everyone loved him. We had a lot of memories together, some great ones. He'll truly be missed by everyone that knew him."

Seth Dickerson got to know Jake over the past four years, and lived together for about a year. During that time, Seth developed a bond with Jake, stating he "became a brother" to him. Seth is also a former football teammate.

"There is so much I could tell you about Jake Hansen. He was an amazing friend and someone who everyone looked up to. A person who could always make light of a bad situation and put you in a good mood," said Dickerson. "I considered him my brother, we have so many good memories. It was a great honor to have been able to have a friend like Jake. Jake will be missed by many and forgotten by none. Rest easy, buddy."

Matt Dickerson, one of Jake's closest friends, said he impacted his life.

"Jake was the most vibrant person I've ever met, he sure knew how to make someone feel better about the situation they were in. I've known him for a few years years but these past two years are really the ones that he impacted my life," said Matt Dickerson. "My greatest memory of him is just from a couple weeks ago Jake and I stayed up all through the night raising hell like we always did. We rode around every where, he was helping me get through some .things that were taking a toll on me. I'll never forget how he was and how he was always there for me no matter what the cost. He died doing what he loved and no one can take that away from him. He's forever in our hearts he branded his spot forever."

Natural gas pipeline to be discussed Tuesday

Town Hall meeting will educate property owners on eminent domain

By Bryant Thigpen
bryant.thigpen@gaflnews.com

A town hall meeting will take place on Tuesday night at the American Legion Post in McAlpin hosted by the law firm of MansonBolves who seek to educate Suwannee County property owners, who could be affected by the proposed Sabal Trail gas pipeline, of their rights. The meeting will be held from 7-8:30 p.m. The meeting is by invitation only to affected landowners.

Plans are underway to construct a natural gas pipeline from North Alabama to Central Florida and could be constructed as early as Summer 2016.

If the proposed route remains unchanged, the pipeline is about 470 miles long and will make its way through four Alabama counties, nine Georgia counties and 12 Florida counties, including Suwannee and surrounding Madison and Hamilton counties.

The pipeline will extend for approximately 40 miles in Suwannee County and approximately 500 landowners will be affected by this project. About 100 landowners in Hamilton County will be affected by this project as well.

Experts conducting the meeting include Brian Bolves, one of Florida's leading eminent domain attorneys, and Ed Pantaleon, a past chairman for the legislative subcommittee for the committee on condemnation, zoning and land use.

According to Bolves, this meeting will educate property owners by helping them understand their rights when their property is taken by eminent domain.

"The town hall style meeting is designed as an educational meeting to help the people who are the most impacted by the project," Bolves said. "The topics to be covered include: the nature of the construction project and the offer, negotiations and condemnation process."

Bolves said experienced natural gas right of way professionals including attorneys, appraisers and engineers, will make presentations and answer questions.

"If your property is being condemned, Florida law allows you to hire an attorney at the company's expense," Bolves said. "Many people are not aware of their rights. We're here to help them understand."

Library staff raises denied, again

Regional Library staff members who have at least a one year tenure as of October 2013. Commissioner Clyde Fleming was the lone vote in favor of.

This is the second such request from Lawrence. She petitioned the board for the same request in November, and was denied then.

The Suwannee River Regional Library system also has staff in Madison and Hamilton counties, who were impacted by this decision, and will not be receiving a raise, even if other county employees in those counties do.

Suwannee County department heads were instructed at a previous meeting to review their budget and see if there are sufficient funds in their respective budgets to give pay raises. SRRL Director Betty Lawrence followed their direction and presented her plan to the board.

Lawrence asked the board for permission to give a five percent increase in salaries to those employees that are eligible. The raises would come through state grants/funds and would have no impact on the county's budget.

Fleming made a motion to grant Lawrence's request.

"I briefly spoke with Mrs. Lawrence and I agree with her on what she is considering and requests," Fleming said. "It's already in the budget."

The motion was seconded by commissioner Wesley Wainwright for discussion, who shared his concerns with the board.

"Although there is no local impact, I am supportive of allowing the raise. But my only concern or reservation is our other departments," Wainwright said.

Commissioner Ricky Gamble echoed Wainwright's view.

"I'm glad you (Lawrence) found a way to get the raises without having a local impact in the budget," Gamble said. "But until we can do it across the board, I can't support it, even though it's not coming from local money."

Commissioner Jason Bashaw said he believes allowing Lawrence to give her employees a raise without all departments receiving the same would decrease morale within the county's departments.

"We gave directions to the other departments to bring back information. I'm sure they're probably still compiling that information. Mrs. Lawrence has forwarded her information to us," Bashaw said. "At this time, until we get these other departments taken care of, I can't do that right now."

Chairman Phil Oxendine shared the same thoughts.

"I think it would cause some problems with the morale with the rest of the employees," he said.

Oxendine asked Lawrence if the library would receive that grant money each year.

"You apply for that grant money each year, and as I stated at the last meeting, you've been getting them for the last 20 years," Lawrence said.

Lawrence reminded the board that she has staff in three counties who will be affected by their decision.

"If it was just Suwannee County, I probably wouldn't even ask this, but I'm dealing with three counties. I would really like to be able to say to them the raises will go through this year or (they won't)," Lawrence said.

Oxendine asked Lawrence to consider those who earn the least amount should raises be approved.

"The other issue I have, is when you do a five percent raise, it's not equitable to people on the bottom. If you give a person a five percent raise to a person making $30-40,000, that's a pretty good raise compared to somebody who's making $15,000 a year," Oxendine said.

The board once again instructed County Administrator Randy Harris to work with department heads to review their budgets and see if raises would be possible by the second board meeting in February.

Local resident Douglas Udell asked Lawrence if she gives raises that will be occurring each year, will the funds continue to be supported by the state?

"Yes," Lawrence responded.

"Some time ago, each of you directed department heads to go out and look for a solution, check their budgets and come back with a proposal. Well, she's done that," Udell said. "The fact your others have not done that, her people are going to be penalized. She's done what you've asked."

Udell continued, "She's found a way to give a five percent raise and not cost Madison, Suwannee or Hamilton counties any monies whatsoever. She has done what you have asked her in a prompt manner, and I certainly feel like you should give strong consideration to granting her request, not penalize her. When you ask a person to do something and they do it, I think they expect a resolution. Please don't penalize her for what others have not done."

The board then continued to vote and the motion made by Fleming to approve the raises failed with a 4-1 vote.

Help for navigating health insurance website

Submitted

For individuals who have had issues trying to sign up for health insurance on the government's online Marketplace, help is here, thanks to Shands Live Oak Regional Medical Center.

The hospital invites anyone needing assistance to call the free help line at 386-362-0715, available seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. A Certified Application Counselor can help individuals navigate the insurance exchanges in the program and find a physician.

"The Affordable Care Act is making it possible for many individuals to have access to healthcare insurance through The Online Health Insurance Marketplace, but questions about eligibility and concerns regarding how to sign-up have kept some people from taking advantage of this opportunity," said Richard Huth, CEO of Shands Live Oak RMC. "We want to make that process easier for them."

Depending on household income, some individuals may qualify for subsidies toward the cost of the premium. Also, under this law, individuals who don't have insurance by the deadline may be subject to penalties.

"Anyone who has gone without health insurance knows how stressful it can be when illness strikes. This is an opportunity for those people to have access to quality care and improve their overall health," Huth said.

The deadline for enrollment is March 31, 2014. Once coverage begins, individuals can schedule well visits with their new primary care physician, pediatrician, internal medicine specialist or family doctor.

and Eriana, and her grandson Karter.

Pam will always be remembered for her outspoken nature and willingness to get along with any personality.

"Pam was the first employee I hired as advertising manager. Little did I know that day that not only would I be hiring a valuable coworker, but I gained a life long friend," said Advertising Manager Monja Slater. "Pam was the kind of person that you just enjoyed being around, she could always make you laugh. Pam will forever be missed and but most importantly, loved."

Louise Sheddan said Pam will be missed for may traits.

"Pam was a good friend and great co-worker. She had a big heart and an even bigger laugh," said Sheddan. "I miss her every day. There's always something here at work that reminds me of her. Rest in peace Pam and keep everyone entertained up there."

Jackie Tompkins said she still can't believe Pam is gone from this world.

"Since the loss of you I've learned to live for each day and take it as a blessing, knowing it may not always be this way," said Tompkins. "I've learned a life can be taken in the blink of an eye and only heaven really knows when that person will have to say goodbye."

Advertising representative Jennifer Hutchins worked alongside Pam almost daily.

"Pam will forever be remembered to my children and I as an amazing woman. Her door was always open to us and she was always there to listen," said Hutchins. "She was more than a co-worker and friend, she was family."

Hutchins said she never thought she would miss being forced to listen to "her kind" of music day in and day out, "but I would give anything to hear her singing 'Stone Sour' again."

Reporter Joyce Marie Taylor said Pam was an integral part of the team.

"Although I didn't know her that well on a personal level, I can say I will miss her expertise as she laid out the pages of the Jasper News for me each week. May she rest in peace," said Taylor.

"I will remember how very much Pam loved her children and that little grandson," said page designer Janice Ganote. "She went out of her way to help her children and would do anything for that precious grand baby."

Pam always gave her honest opinion even if you didn't like it. She cared, and valued friendship. She loved her team and most importantly, loved her family. God bless you, Pam.

If you build it, they will come

By Becky Skipper

Iowa farmer Ray Kinsella hears a voice in his corn field tell him, "If you build it, he will come." He interprets this message as an instruction to build a baseball field on his farm, upon which appear the ghosts of Shoeless Joe Jackson and the other seven Chicago White Sox players banned from the game for throwing the 1919 World Series. When the voices continue, Ray seeks out a reclusive author to help him understand the meaning of the messages and the purpose for his field. Written by Scott Renshaw. Ray Kinsella listened to the message he received and built the Field of Dreams. Suwannee County listened to a message they heard and built the First Federal Sportsplex.

Sunday, Jan. 12, was a beautiful day in Live Oak. At 2:45 p.m., I met my daughter, son-in-law and grandchildren at the First Federal Sportsplex for an afternoon walk. What a beautiful facility and even more beautiful was the sight of so many activities taking place. The skateboard park was full of skaters. There was soccer, baseball, and batting practices being held on several fields. The 2/3 mile trail was occupied and there were children on the playground.

"If you build it, they will come" was definitely a true statement that day. Many families were making memories and exercising at the same time.

For those of you, especially teenagers, that think there is nothing to do in Live Oak, you obviously have not spent an afternoon at the First Federal Sportsplex. The Sportsplex is also a main site for local 5K events. On Saturday, Jan. 25, the 2nd Annual Vivid Visions Inc. 5K will be held. Race begins at 8 a.m. with race day registration from 7:15-7:45 a.m. Online registration is available at active.com.

On Saturday, March 1, we are proud to announce The Best Dang Race to fight against prostate cancer. It will begin at Coach Becky Skipper/Family Fitness Outreach Center at 302B Pine Ave. (across from the jail) and will include the 2/3 mile loop at the Sportsplex. This race will be both a 5K and 10K event – first 10K we will be holding. (5K is 3.1 miles. 10K is 6.2 miles.) Walk or run. Proceeds will benefit local patients and spread awareness and information of prostate cancer. We are accepting sponsors for the back of the T-shirts. As low as $25 – perfect for businesses and in memory of those that may have fought hard against prostate cancer. Let's come together and fight against prostate cancer in Suwannee County!

Becky Skipper and Denise Sanger are partners at Family Fitness Outreach Center. In addition to being a certified fitness instructor and Zumba instructor, Becky is also a teacher at Suwannee High School. Denise owns several businesses with her husband in the swimming pool industry and is also a Zumba instructor. Family Fitness Outreach Center located at 302B Pine Ave (across from the jail) was created from their combined passion for fitness. The Outreach Center is designed to provide nutrition and exercise information to residents of Live Oak and surrounding areas.

Work-At-Home Employment Opportunities for Retirees

Dear Savvy Senior,

Can you recommend some popular work at home jobs for retirees? I'm interested in earning a little extra cash, but would also like to stay at home and have a flexible schedule.

Recently Retired

Dear Retired,

If you have a computer with high-speed Internet access and a home phone, there are unlimited work-at-home opportunities for retirees depending on your skills and interest. But beware of scams. Work-at-home scams that offer big paydays without much effort are rampant on the Internet.

The best way to avoid these scams is to use websites that weed out scammers like the ones mentioned in this column, and never invest any of your own money without thoroughly checking out the business with the Better Business Bureau at bbb.org. It's also a good idea to use search engines like Google or Bing to research a potential employer to make sure it's legitimate.

Here are a few popular home-based career opportunities to check out, along with some trustworthy resources to help you search for employment.

Customer-service agent: These jobs answer inbound customer calls for big companies – you don't place telemarketing calls. Agents earn an average of $8 to $15 an hour and you can usually set your own hours and pick an employer whose products or services are suited to your knowledge and interests. To find these jobs see arise.com, alpineaccess.com, liveops.com and workingsolutions.com.

Web search evaluator: Most large search engines like Google and Bing rely on home-based evaluators to test the accuracy of online search results, examining different search terms and the websites they turn up. Basic Internet skills are required and the pay ranges between $10 and $15 per hour. See lionbridge.com/careers and leapforceathome.com to apply.

Tutor: If you're a college graduate, and have expertise in English, math, science or social studies, you could make money as an online tutor at tutor.com/apply. Tutors work with students from grade school through college and make between $10 and $15 an hour.

Transcriptionist: If you have good typing skills there are transcriptionist jobs that pay around $10 per hour for typing verbatim accounts of board meetings, presentations, conference calls, etc. Some companies that hire transcriptionists include rev.com, tigerfish.com, ubiqus.com and ctran.com.

Translation services: If you're fluent in more than one language you can do interpretation over the phone, or translate documents or audio files not just word for word but often with cultural differences in mind. Learn about opportunities at telelanguage.com, sdl.com, verbalizeit.com, ubiqus.com and atanet.org. The pay can range from $15 to $40 an hour or more for languages in high demand.

Write or edit: If you have some writing experience, freelance writing assignments are available online and pay around $10 to $20 an hour. Contact writersmarket.com, freelancewriting.com and writerfind.com for opportunities. Or, if you're a skilled writer, or have expertise in a particular area like food, travel, art, etc. consider submitting writing samples to magazines, trade publications, newsletters, websites or local newspapers as a freelance writer. Proofreading is another option, if you have some editing experience this pays $12 to $20 per hour. See firstediting.com and cactusglobal.com to look for proofreading jobs.

Selling online: At sites like ebay.com, craigslist.org, amazon.com and etsy.com, you can sell your own stuff or you can purchase items at garage sells, flea markets or online and resell them for a profit.

If you don't find these options appealing, try flexjobs.com, which lists around thousands of legitimate work-at-home jobs from nearly 3,700 employers. You can gain access to their listings for $15 for one month, $30 for three months or $50 for a year.

Tips and Support Services for Family Caregivers

Dear Savvy Senior,

What resources do you recommend that offer help to caregivers? I've been taking care of my 82-year-old mother, and it's wearing me to a frazzle.

Exhausted Daughter

Dear Exhausted,

Taking care of an elder loved one over a period of time can be incredibly taxing, both physically and mentally. Fortunately, there are a number of tips and services you can turn to that can help lighten the load. Here are several to consider.

Assemble a care team:
A good first step is to put together a network of people (family, friends and even neighbors) that you can call on to help out when you can't be there or need a break.

Tap local services:

Most communities offer a range of free or subsidized services that help seniors and caregivers by providing things like home delivered meals, transportation, senior companion services and more. Also, look into respite services (see respitelocator.org) that can provide short-term care to your mom so you can take some time off. Your Area Agency on Aging (call 800-677-1116 for contact information) can refer you to services available in your community.

Use financial aids:

If you're handling your mom's financial chores, make things easier by arranging direct deposit for her income sources, and set up automatic payments for her utilities and other routine bills.

If you need help, hire a professional daily money manager (aadmm.com, 877-326-5991) who can come in once or twice a month to pay bills, make deposits, decipher health insurance statements and balance her checkbook. They charge $25 to $100 per hour. Or, if your mom is low-income, a similar service is offered by AARP (aarpmmp.org) in select communities for free.

Benefitscheckup.org is another excellent resource you should use to look for financial assistance programs for lower-income seniors.

Get insurance help:

If you have questions about Medicare, Medicaid or long-term care, your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (SHIP) is a great resource that provides free counseling on all these issues. Call 800-633-4227 or visit shiptalk.org to locate a nearby counselor.

You can also get help online at medicare.gov/campaigns/caregiver/caregiver.html, and through the Medicare Rights Center, which staffs a hotline at 800-333-4114 to help answer questions.

Use technology:

If your mom lives alone, consider renting her a medical alert device, which is a small pendent-style "SOS" button that she wears, that would allow her to call for help if she falls. These are available through companies like lifelinesys.com and lifefone.com for about $1 per day. Or, check out home monitoring systems at mylively.com, beclose.com or grandcare.com.

There are also a number of great websites you can draw on for caregiving information and support like aarp.org/caregiving, caregiver.org and caring.com, along with alz.org/care, alzheimers.gov and thiscaringhome.org for caregivers of dementia patients. And, if you're sharing care responsibilities with others, sites like lotsahelpinghands.com, caresolver.com and caringbridge.org can help you coordinate together.

Hire help:

Depending on your mom's needs and budget, you may want to hire a part-time "home-care aide" that can help with things like preparing meals, doing laundry, bathing or dressing, or if she needs health care services, a "home health aid." Costs can run anywhere from $12 up to $40 per hour depending on where you live and the qualification of the aide. To find someone, ask for referrals through friends, doctor's offices or hospital discharge planners, or visit medicare.gov/homehealthcompare.

If you need additional guidance, consider hiring a geriatric care manager (caremanager.org) who can help you manage and facilitate your mom's care. Care managers generally charge between $100 and $200 per hour.

Take care of yourself:

Make your own health a priority. Being a caregiver is a big job that can cause emotional and physical stress and lead to illness and depression. The only way you can provide the care your mother needs is to make sure you stay healthy.

What Does The Bible Say About Salvation? #2

In our last article we noted how salvation, forgiveness and justification are the same. We noted several passages that teach such. Notice two more words in regards to salvation:

1) Salvation & Reconciliation:

To reconcile means to restore friendship to harmony; to settle a difference. Col. 1:19-23 Paul would say that through the body of Christ on the cross we are reconciled. Paul also mentions this in Romans 5:9-11. Since sin separates us from God, we need the blood of Jesus to reconcile us back to God [Romans 6:23].

2) Salvation & Sanctification:

Sanctification is one being made pure and holy for the service of God. The Hebrew writer said we are sanctified by the blood of Christ [Heb. 13:12]. Paul said we are sanctified when we are washed (baptized) [I Corinthians 6:11]. Sanctification is an ongoing process [I Thess. 5:23]. It is by our holiness men will see God [Heb. 12:14].

The words salvation, forgiveness, sanctification, justification and reconciliation are words helping us reach our ultimate goal—heaven!

Around the Banks of the Suwannee

By Correspondent Johnny Bullard

Winter time in north Florida. Damp, cold, rainy, then a couple of days of intermittent sunshine and then back to cold, rainy, and damp, but thank God it doesn't last for too many weeks. When I think of the winters of my childhood growing up "Around the Banks of the Suwannee", I remember frosty mornings, the school building in White Springs having steam heat. I remember the steam heaters in the classrooms and the halls. No thermostat, if you got too hot, you raised the window, big windows until you kind of equalized the temperature.

I also remember waking up mornings at my Grandma Bullard's home on Mill Street. There was no central heat and air in that house during my childhood. She had space heaters in some of the rooms and six or seven fireplaces scattered throughout the house, and they were not there for looks.

I can recall going out on the front porch of her house and turning and looking over White Springs and from chimneys everywhere on winter mornings, one saw smoke, smoke, smoke. Fat "lightard" splinters were used to start fires and, sometimes a piece of fat "fat" lightard would start the fire rolling and, then usually, pieces of oak were added which burned more slowly throughout the day.

In my Grandma Bullard's big old rambling house, we lived, essentially, in about three rooms during the deepest months of winter. The rest of the house was closed off and was "too" cold. Those big old houses with 14 to 16 feet ceilings were built, primarily, for hot weather and not for cold weather. Since it is hot more months than it is cold in north Florida, that worked out well.

I can also remember stories told in front of those fireplaces. The South as a region and particularly the White Springs of my childhood was a rich, fertile ground for storytellers. My paternal grandmother, the late Mary Joyner Bullard, was a great storyteller. Her sisters, and she had seven, the beloved Joyner "great aunts" were master storytellers, and my Daddy, the late Wade Bullard, was one of the best.

In front of those fires the years of the past were peeled away and through their words we saw a north Florida in a time long before I was born. Stories of the Great Depression and "hard times", stories of the Second World War, stories of family connections and how this one was kin to that one, stories, stories, and more stories.

I am glad I grew up in a day and age when communication and storytelling were valued. Here is one of my favorites told to me by one my Grandma Bullard's cousins from Franklin County, North Carolina. I relate it here to you as he told it to me.

"Your paternal great-great grandfather, Augustus Perry Joyner, was a college graduate long before the War Between the States. He served Franklin County, North Carolina, in the same capacity a superintendent of schools would serve today, overseeing and directing a number of one room and two room school houses across the county. He was also a farmer, and he owned a sizable farm, about a section and a half of land. A big farm in our part of the world. When the War Between the States came, he fought for the Confederacy and was elected captain of his troop. Your great-great grandmother, Eveline Temprance Yarbrough Joyner was left at home with her children and relatives. Late, during the war, towards the end of 1864, some Federal, northern, Yankee troops, about eight of them came riding up to the Joyner farm. They killed most of the fowl, mainly turkeys and chickens and demanded that your great-great grandmother prepare a big meal for them. She did as she was ordered and went out behind the house in a swampy area and picked a pot full of poisonous mushrooms, cut them up and cooked them in with the poultry dishes. She poisoned all the Federal troops and those who didn't die quickly, they either shot or stabbed and took to the back of the property and buried in the swampy area behind the house. Some people in our family doubted whether this story was true but, about 40 years ago, a cousin bought the old home place including the little swampy area and began to do some land clearing. They found some human skulls, bones, and other fragments of skeletal parts there in the swampy area, as well as one, and how it had stayed in tact, I don't know, USA, looked like a belt buckle."

Well, every family has its stories. I guess "Muv", as they called her, a combination of "Mother and Love", "Muv", struck her blow for the cause and buried her evidence behind the house never to be discussed again. Maybe they enjoyed their last supper. I hope they did. This was a story that was told before me as I sat in a rocking chair in front of the fireplace at my Grandma Bullard's home, and there were many others.

The richness of the South as a region has always been mainly derived from our storytelling tradition. I hope that all the cellphones, iPhones, and texting won't severely “water down" the wonder and the richness of storytelling in our region. It is a characteristic that makes our region unique and special.

I also heard stories about White Springs in its "hey day” when it was a major resort. I heard stories from my Daddy about the early days of naval stores and the beginning of folks planting flue cured tobacco in our region as a cash crop. I heard stories that could make me laugh, make me picture the scenes and the people, and, sometimes stories that could just about make you cry; some could.

I hope during these winter months you will spend time with those you love and, if you have the chance, share a recollection, tell a story. It means far more than you will ever know. You are passing on a piece of personal history told in your own special, unique, and, many times, colorful manner.

There are a few people in our region I have been privileged to listen to and "learn from" and each offers something marvelous, unique and wonderful.

A friend of mine once told me "Seek a story in the stranger". I will take it a step further - whether stranger or friend - stories are wonderful and everyone has some to tell. Like beautiful heirloom patchwork quilts that cover many beds here in our beloved north Florida, the personal stories that make up our area are just as colorful, unique and varied and they're right at your own backdoor or even in your own family.

There's no time to be bored. "It's story time".

From the Eight Mile Still on the Woodpecker Route north of White Springs, wishing you all a day filled with joy, peace, and, above all, lots of love and laughter. So blessed to be in the number "one more time".

Band of Brothers building a huge fan base

■ This group of country boys from Mayo have found the golden formula for musical success - longtime friendship and kinship.

Courtesy Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park

Six avid musicians from Mayo are making waves in the country music world in north Florida. The Band of Brothers is also making a name for itself at The Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park (SOSMP) in Live Oak, where they have packed the house every time they have been on the Music Hall stage. The last time they rocked the house, let's just say there was not many left in Mayo to lock up the town that night. When this band, one of the best kept secrets in country music until recently, plays the SOSMP again Friday, Jan. 31, there likely will be hundreds of fans on hand to enjoy their music.

So how do you describe this Band of Brothers? Awesome? Off the charts? Outstanding? Spectacular? What about just plain great? Yep, that should adequately describe this band made up of brothers Tyler and Ross Wimberly, Kevin and Scott Barrington and cousins Hal Thomas and, last but definitely not least, Travis Prine.

On a chilly January night big, high-rise pickup trucks are parked in the winter dark outside the old Barrington home where the band practices. Maybe a little past its prime, but a gentle reminder of family heritage, good family times and a haven for these musicians, the home pays homage to the long history of agriculture families by its mere existence on the family farm. The guys have their electric guitars plugged in, the speakers are ready, Ross has the drums warmed up. A journalist joins them to create a story of the band while the guys begin to express their excitement at how family, friends and complete strangers have become their fans.

If you wondered how they came up with the band's name, it's pretty simple.

"We started going over to the beach (to play) and Mayo people came," said Hal Thomas, lead vocalist, harmony and rhythm guitar player.

Hal said in the beginning they never thought about giving themselves a band name.

"We played a freebie at a nursing home early on. They called and asked the name of the band for an article that was going into the paper," he stated.

Hal had to think fast. There was no name.

"It took me 30 minutes and several phone calls, and we had a name; Band of Brothers.''

It stuck and they have no intention of ever changing it.

"We started playing to have something to do," Scott, a full-time farmer, said as he warmed up his rhythm guitar. "We just wanted something to do to get away from the everyday troubles."

"It was never meant to be anything but this, just playing for ourselves," Hal added, as the other five nod in agreement.

Hal Thomas (rythym guitar, lead and harmony).

"We never intended to play events," commented Kevin, bass player, full-time farmer and businessman.

As the guys settled in for their regular weekly practice session, they figured out the band got together about 2009, although the date may be a little off. They now practice in Kevin and Scott's granddaddy's old house on the Barrington property where the two brothers and their families farm and live.

"We played at the beach, someone heard about us, asked us to play a birthday party, then a wedding," said Travis, lead vocalist (yeah, he gets a lot of kidding from the other guys about his "awesome" reviews), "guitar holder" and most athletic guy in the band. "We've played a lot of fundraisers."

It seems everyone in the band has been involved in music their entire lives and finally decided to put together a band. Mayo being the small community it is, everyone knows everyone else, their families, their history and certainly who can play music. Phone calls went out and bingo, an awesome band was forged for the guys to just enjoy playing.

The music backgrounds of the band members are similar. Kevin and Scott began playing in high school in the Lafayette County Future Farmers of America (FFA) Band in the 70s and 80s. As in all FFA bands, there was a washtub bass in that band. Kevin had the honor of playing it.

Hal, the senior member of the band at 63, was a teacher in Lafayette County at that time. He had picked up a guitar at age 12, learned to play cords and "never stopped," he said.

"My neighbors were the Johnsons and all of them played," said Hal. So he learned from them as he grew up.

Hal went on to college and while there played everywhere he could, playing mostly acoustic. Later, he played with Jerry Jackson, known in north and west Florida for his musical abilities and great bluegrass bands. After returning to Mayo for many years to teach and moving up to administration, Hal moved back to Tallahassee for about 20 years, returning to Mayo in 2008. He was just in time to build a shed out back at his home where the band practiced for the first year or so until the guys moved to the Barrington farm. Hal plays rhythm, sings lead and harmony.

Tyler Wimberly plays lead guitar and sings.

"When this band began I could hardly play guitar at all," he said.

You would never know it today as he rips across the strings with assuredness and skill. The other guys kid Tyler that he's going to make his singing debut onstage by himself soon, but Tyler insists it's just not time as the rest chuckle.

Tyler's brother, Ross, seems quiet, but when he takes drum sticks in hand, the skins begin to sing. He's described as "the hardest working guy in the band." Ross, who also does vocals with the band, says as a child he always wanted to play drums. His uncle had a set but wouldn't let him play, so Ross would wait until the uncle left home then sneak in and play those drums.

"He eventually gave me a set, and I've now played at every church in town," he said proudly.

His performances with the band are a sight to see and hear.

Travis, a spectacular performer and lead singer, has taken a lot of kidding from his "brothers' about his reviews after recent performances at the SOSMP. He's taken full advantage to gig back by telling the guys to pack up his equipment while he visits with his "fans" after performances. The kidding is all in fun, but the reviews are spot on.

Travis, who works in private industry as an electrician, has a God-given singing talent and stage performance that is hard to beat. Travis gives his grandmother credit for his love of music.

"The first time I remember singing is at my Big Mama's. She liked Elvis gospel, and I would stay over at her house as a child and sing those songs," Travis remembered. "As a child I sang at church and always did karaoke every where I could. And I won."

He said he won so many times at one area radio promotion he couldn't enter again. Winning seems to follow Travis. When the Band of Brothers entered the recent Battle of the Bands at the SOSMP, they won. Travis believes the band has been successful and stayed together because "We've known each other all of our lives. I think that's what keeps us from arguing as band members."

Even as the band practices during on this night, Travis gives it all he's got, as if thousands were sitting in an audience listening. While on stage, Travis moves about singing to the audience, jumps up on the drum stand, dashes across to the bass player and keeps the audience loving every minute of the performance by this great band of brothers who can play some sweet music.

This band of unintended stars plays country, a little rock, Elvis and lots of other music genres they like. Their fans love to dance to the band's music and fill the dance floor of the huge Music Hall at the SOSMP during performances.

Several of the band members have attended the Suwannee River Jam (SRJ) in the past and loved it. The 2014 SRJ is coming up April 30 - May 4 at the SOSMP with a huge line-up of great country artists.

Other band members haven't attended yet but say it's their dream to play at the Jam as a band. Kevin said he can't image what it would be like to play on the big Jam stage or the Amphitheatre stage as an artist. If that dream never happens, this fantastic Band of Brothers will still be making plenty of country music fans happy all over north Florida with its incredible musical abilities.

If the invite ever comes, you can be sure there'll be lots of Lafayette County folks making their first visit to the SRJ along with those who are regulars!

Don't miss any opportunity to hear Band of Brothers perform.

Band of Brothers plays Friday, Jan. 31, beginning at 8 p.m. in the Music Hall at the SOSMP. Admission is free. If you want to ensure you have a table for Jan. 31, call the Music Hall now at 386-364-1703 to make reservations. New FHSAA bylaws a positive step

By Hunter Abercrombie

The Representative Assembly of the Florida High School Activities Association passed three new bylaws this month that could potentially impact student-athletes in Suwannee County. While each of these bylaws has been discussed for some time, their passage is a step in the right direction for the FHSAA. The most talked about of the three rules concerns PED (Performance Enhancing Drug) use, while the other two concern athletic eligibility.

New FHSAA bylaws a positive step

The new PED bylaw came about in the wake of the Biogenesis scandal, and a Yahoo! Sports report in which several Florida high school athletes were linked to PED's. This is the same scandal that involved Alex Rodriguez, and led to his year-long suspension from Major League Baseball. According to a press release issued by the FHSAA, the report led to a comprehensive review of their existing policies, and ultimately to the new bylaw. The new rule now includes language that bans human growth hormone, steroids, performance enhancing drugs, and Schedule 3 narcotics. Use of the substances would be considered an "act of unsportsmanlike conduct" making the student-athlete ineligible until medical evidence is presented showing the substances are no longer in the students system, according to the FHSAA.

The second bylaw that was passed concerns prior contact between a coach and student-athlete. In the past, this rule was known as "following a coach", but the language has been changed. Basically, if a student athlete plays for a coach in a travel ball, AAU, or other out-of-school setting, and then decides to transfer to the school that employs the same coach, the student would be eligible only for sub-varsity competition. In the past, the student would have to sit out a year if they followed a coach to a new high school, but that has changed with the new rule. The only exception to this rule is students who are in a terminal, or final, grade at the school they are attending, and will be changing schools no matter what. For students in Live Oak, the only exception would be for students leaving the eighth grade, which is the terminal grade at Suwannee Middle School, to come to Suwannee High School.

The final bylaw that concerns Suwannee County students is the new age limitation bylaw. For the past several years, students could participate in sports at the high school level until they were 19 years and nine months old. With the new bylaw, students who turn nineteen before Sept. 1 will not be eligible to compete in that school year. For example, if a student is an incoming senior, but turns 19 before school starts, they would not be eligible to participate. If they turn 19 after Sept. 1, they are eligible to participate for the entire year. However, the FHSAA did "grandfather" in students who are already in high school, meaning that those who are currently in grades nine through 11 will be able to participate until the old "19-9" rule. Any students in eighth grade or lower will be subject to the new rule, starting next school year.

These new bylaws, along with several other rules that passed, are a step in the right direction for the FHSAA. The organization has long governed high school athletics in the state of Florida, but has come under fire in recent years as a small contingent of parents and lawmakers have challenged their authority, and even attempted to eliminate the association altogether. These rules, especially being passed by the Representative Assembly, show that those at the school level are being heard. The Representative Assembly consists of athletic directors, principals, and school board members from across the state, and is the group that should be setting the rules for high school athletics. The FHSAA certainly realizes that some schools view them as the enemy, and they are making every effort to change that perception.

Upcoming at SHS

Our winter sports season at SHS is beginning to wind down, with the playoffs just around the corner for our teams. The men's soccer team is in Jacksonville this week, competing in the district tournament. The girl's basketball team will host the District 2-5A tournament next weekend, with the men's team following suit Feb. 7 and 8. The wrestling team will also be competing in their district tournament, beginning Jan. 31.

The completion of the winter sports season means the start of spring. Come by SHS, or take a look at the Suwannee High website, to find schedules for baseball, softball, track, and boys weightlifting. Each of these sports kicks off their season in early February. Go Dogs!

Hunter Abercrombie is the athletic director at Suwannee High, and may be reached at 386-647-4046, or at hunter.abercrombie@suwanneeschools.org.

Boys win first round in district play their second goal, to take the lead once again. Suwannee answered to tie the game in the 64th minute when Juarez took a shot and it deflected off a Forrest player and Swinney finsihed another one.

The game remained tied and then proceeded to a 10 minute overtime. Forrest took another shot on goal first and just missed it. Soon after, Suwannee mid-fielder Andrew Batton got a cross off and Brandon Joyner finished it giving Suwannee the golden goal and the win.

The win gave Suwannee first seed and they played Paxon Wednesday.

Prior to going into district play, Suwannee defeated Newberry and tied with Columbia in the most intense game of the season.

On Monday, Jan. 13, the boys hosted Newberry and beat that team 8-0. Senior Manuel Juarez scored a hat trick, with assists from John Ross Swinney and Josh Roberson. Senior Swinney scored two goals, with one being assisted by Miguel Canjay on a free kick, the other was unassisted. Travelin Crain scored off a header with the assistance of Tito Murcia. Murcia scored just a few minutes later, unassisted and Daniel Bowen scored with an assist from senior Dustin Driver.

Jan. 17 was senior night for Suwannee as they hosted Columbia. That game ended in a 1-1 tie. According to record keeper Kellie Shirah, this was the most intense game of the season. The Bulldogs scored in the second minute of the game. They were dominating possession and shots but couldn't score again. Columbia was awarded a PK in the second half which tied the game.

Two great judgments to come

By Hugh G. Sherrill ems-hugh43@comcast.net

Hebrews 9:27: "And it is appointed for men to die once, but after this the judgment," Lately several people have asked questions about the coming judgments. I realize today that there are many differences of opinion on the subject, but the Bible is clear on it's teachings.

Some believe that at some point in time all will be resurrected and the lost, called "goats," will be sent to hell; and the saved, called "sheep," will go to heaven. This is confused with the judgment of the nations that will take place at the Second Coming of Jesus. The two great judgments that are still in the future are The Judgment Seat of Christ and The Great White Throne Judgment.

2Nd Corinthians 5:10 states: "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that each one may receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad." This judgment is for the saved only. Many today that profess to be Christian do not take this judgment seriously. It's not preached or taught enough in many of our churches today. 1st Corinthians chapter 3 verses 11-15 says: 11 "For no other foundation can anyone lay than that which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. 12Now if anyone builds on this foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw, 13each one's work will become clear; for the Day will declare it, because it will be revealed by fire; and the fire will test each one's work, of what sort it is. 14If anyone's work which he has built on it endures, he will receive a reward. 15If anyone's work is burned, he will suffer loss; but he himself will be saved, yet so as through fire."

The last judgment is known as The Great White Throne Judgment. This judgment is for only those who reject the saving grace of our Lord Jesus Christ on Calvary. It is the last event on God's calendar before eternity begins. This will be the most horrible event ever to take place. All those who stand before this judgment will be lost forever in a hell that was prepared for the Devil and his angels. Revelation 20:11-15 records this as follows: 11 "Then I saw a great white throne and Him who sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away. And there was found no place for them. 12 And I saw the dead, small and great, standing before God, and books were opened. And another book was opened, which is the Book of Life. And the dead were judged according to their works, by the things which were written in the books. 13 The sea gave up the dead who were in it, and Death and Hades delivered up the dead who were in them. And they were judged, each one according to his works. 14 Then Death and Hades were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death." 15And anyone not found written in the Book of Life was cast into the lake of fire."

The Judgment Seat of Christ will be a blessed time for all those who serve God and use their talents to His glory. On the other hand, it will be a sad time for those who do not. But even they will saved from a Devil's Hell. I pray that none who read this will reject God's simple plan of salvation. If you do, Hell awaits you. Trust Him today!

HEART MATTERS

By Angie Land

One of the things I enjoy about Facebook is reading different quotes, scriptures and song lyrics my friends post. What we feel compelled to share will often speak loud and clear about what is going on in life at the moment without having to share the gory details, which by the way, I highly recommend-a wise quote is highly preferable to the gory details! Anyway, a few days ago a young friend shared this thought: "Love means never having to say you're sorry." I do love new love and speculated that she had a new boyfriend, and at this point he can do no wrong-not yet anyway. Actually, this famous line originated in a popular 1970's movie called Love Story, and as romantic as this may sound, nothing could be further from the truth. Real love, between two real people, often means saying you're sorry. Because real people make mistakes, are careless with words, and have bad days. This produces a need for real love to include apologies by the offender and forgiveness by the offended. Since the role of the offender will be played by either party at one time or another, it is critical for both to learn to forgive when they are the offended.

In their book, The Five Languages of Apology, Dr. Gary Chapman and Jennifer Thomas declare that an apology is the only thing that can enable genuine forgiveness and reconciliation. Further, how that apology is presented is also significant to the offended being able to offer true forgiveness. Haven't we all witnessed the less than heart-felt "sorry" mumbled between two siblings whose parents forced them to apologize? Come to think of it, haven't we all offered a half-hearted apology just to keep the peace when we secretly fumed about not being wrong? These are not the kind of apologies that leads to strong, healthy relationships.

When trying to overcome an offense, one of the biggest challenges couples face is realizing what they actually need from an apology. Some need to hear "I am sorry" from a spouse who has never uttered those words. To some, simply saying "I'm sorry" without asking for forgiveness or accepting responsibility is not a "real" apology. To others, the need for the offender to make things right is the only way they will feel like justice has been served. What do you need from an apology to offer real forgiveness? What does your spouse need from you when you are the offender?

According to Chapman and Thomas, the five different languages of an apology make all the difference in how it is received. They include expressing regret (actually saying, "I am sorry"), accepting responsibility ("I was wrong"), making restitution ("What can I do to make things right?"), offering genuine repentance ("I will try not to do that again") and finally requesting forgiveness ("Will you please forgive me?"). As you consider these five languages, realize that what you need and what your spouse needs may be different when it comes to apologies. Next, be willing to offer the kind of apology that will open the heart of your spouse toward forgiveness. You may just find past hurts being forgiven and your marriage growing stronger as you practice the art of a well-spoken apology, because every heart matters!

Blessings

Suwannee Wedding Expo 2014 brought hundreds to the beautiful SOS Music Park

Brides to be, their families and future grooms turned out by the hundreds for the 5th Annual Suwannee Weddings Expo at The Spirit of the Suwannee Music Park Jan. 12. Featuring food samples, a huge bridal show by the Golden Needle of Lake City, wedding/event specialists, photographers, transportation specialists, florists, Origami jewelry, a wedding cake display, prizes and ideas galore for weddings, receptions or other special event, the atmosphere was electric and the excitement obvious.

Held in the spectacular Grande Hall, one of North Florida's most favorite wedding reception venues, it was an afternoon of pure delight, delicious food, beautiful wedding attire shown off by gorgeous models and a time for brides to be to nail down some final details, which many did.

To contact the SOSMP directly, email us at spirit@musicliveshere.com, call 386-364-1683 or go to www.musicliveshere.com.

Currently, we are accepting applications to fill a vacancy on our Advisory Council in Suwannee County. Applicants must be a resident of the County and should have an active interest in social and nutrition programs for older persons.

Members of the Advisory Council serve on a voluntary basis without pay. For an application or more information, visit our website at www.agingresources.org. You can also contact Cindy Roberts at (352) 692-5260 or robertsc@agingresources.org.

Volunteer advocates needed

Florida's Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program needs volunteers to join its corps of dedicated advocates who protect the rights of elders who live in nursing homes, assisted living facilities and adult family care homes. The program's local councils are seeking additional volunteers to identify, investigate and resolve residents' concerns. Special training and certification is provided.

All interested individuals who care about protecting the health, safety, welfare and rights of long-term care facility residents -- who often have no one else to advocate for them -- are encouraged to call toll-free 1-888-831-0404 or visit the program's website at http://ombudsman.myflorida.com.
