

FOR BONDS AND GOOD ROADS.

There is no possibility of the settlement of parts of this county distant from good roads. In most States roads, even when unimproved, are generally good in good weather, for the surface of most States is hard, and vehicles sink in it only when it is softened by rain. In Duval county, and in the greater part of Florida, the roads are at their worst in the best weather—the very time when their use is most desired.

A horse cannot pull one-fourth as much through the sand as over a hard road, and cannot travel half so fast. Seven-eighths of the cost of carrying products to market would be saved by making hard roads and keeping them in good condition. With this reduced cost of marketing, agriculture would become highly profitable. It is a prohibited industry when it is compelled to meet the cost of hauling over sandy roads.

So we come back to the statement that the county cannot be settled until good roads are provided. Farmers compelled to haul their products ten or fifteen miles through deep sand would find themselves worse handicapped than if they were compelled to haul them five hundred miles by rail.

This county is being settled rapidly along the lines of the hard roads already built. The settlers are making money rapidly, and the people of Jacksonville are already feeling the good effects. They are getting products better than they could get them from a distance, because fresher, and while the growers are getting prices that guarantee them fortune they are selling cheaper than the products are sold that are hauled a long distance by rail.

But with the limited opportunity for settlement afforded by the good roads already built, the agricultural population will not be able to keep up with the needs of the Jacksonville market. In ten years this city will have 100,000 people, and nearly 200,000 in twenty. The county outside of Jacksonville should have between thirty-five and forty thousand people in ten years, and seventy-five thousand in twenty. There is plenty of room for 150,000. Let us vote bonds and build good roads, and give Duval county a chance to grow as Jacksonville is growing.—Times-Union.

St. Johns County Roads.

For several months the county prisoners have been working the road between St. Augustine and the Duval county line. Several miles stretching south from the county line of Duval county have been graded, and crowned, and the commissioners are now getting prices on shell with a view of surfacing the stretch between Dublin and Twelve Mile swamp. This is the first step towards a hard surface road between St. Augustine and Jacksonville. All of the bogs and sloughs which were the bang of the automobilists last season, have been filled up, and the road is now in excellent shape, lacing only a hard surface. To start with the commissioners will purchase 3,000 barrels of shell, and this will cover six or seven miles at the extreme north end of the road to Jacksonville.

About three miles have been shelled out from town in that direction, and the stretch between is mainly hard pan road, so motoring will be a pleasure as soon as the north end is surfaced. Work will commence as soon as the bids on shell are accepted.

NAVAL STORES MARKETS.

Turpentine.

The local market has been quiet during the week. There being practically no demand for turpentine. Consumers for the most part either having enough to meet their current requirements or are holding off to see what the market will do.

NAVAL STORES CASE.

Argument Begun In United States Court of Appeals.

Argument on the appeal of five members and officers of the American Naval Stores Co. who were found guilty of conspiracy in restraint of trade in the United States Circuit Court at Savannah, was opened in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Atlanta last Friday. The men involved are J. F. Cooper Myers, Spencer P. Shoter and Edmund S. Nash, of Savannah, George M. Boardman of New York and Karl Moller of Jacksonville. In addition to fines, Shoter and Myers are under sentence of three months imprisonment. The appellants contend, through their attorneys, that there never was any conspiracy or illegal method of doing business and that the indictment against them and the verdict which followed are untenable.

ROSIN CLASSIFICATION.

Claimed That Foreign Article is Coming in as Raw Material.

The protest of Henry Blun, Jr., of Savannah, Ga., to the treasury department that wrong classification in the tariff law was admitting gum rosin from abroad free of duty to the serious loss of the Southern trade has been referred to the appraiser at Philadelphia for decision. The appraiser will have to deal with a shipment from abroad and whatever he recommends in the matter will be approved by the treasury department. Mr. Blun was at the department today and conferred with Acting Secretary Reynolds and the matter was later put up to the Philadelphia appraiser for investigation and decision.

Under paragraph 20 of the new tariff law gum rosin natural and un-compounded, but advanced in value or condition by any process or treatment beyond that necessary to the proper packing of drugs and the prevention of decay or deterioration pending manufacture are taxed one-fourth of 1 cent per pound and in addition 10 per cent ad valorem. Section 559 of the free list, however, includes gum rosin when natural and un-compounded and in the crude state and not advanced in value by any treatment beyond that necessary for preservation pending manufacture. Which classification to adopt is the question which now rests with the Philadelphia authorities.

The report is current that the appraiser had submitted his report back to the Treasury Department, recommending a duty of 20 per cent ad valorem and that a decision had been reached in accordance with this report.

If this is true it will mean that rosin which has been shipped into this country and sold for $5 a barrel will cost the consumer $6, as the duty on a $5 package at 20 per cent ad valorem would be $1. This will either shut off the French shipments entirely or will enable the price of domestic rosin to maintain itself.

CURTALMENT PROPOSED.

Cotton Manufacturers Wish to Reduce Output.

That the "present disparity between the price of cotton and cotton goods precludes the possibility of the successful operation of Southern mills is the unanimous opinion of the board of governors of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, which was in session at Charlotte, N. C., October 8th. Resolutions were adopted by the board setting forth this fact and appointing a committee of five to formulate a curtailment agreement which every mill in the South will be urged to sign. The following prominent manufacturers were named as the committee: L. W. Parker, Greenville, S. C.; W. A. Erwin, Durham, N. C.; D. A. Thompkins, Charlotte, N. C.;

E. A. Smythe, Greenville, S. C.; T. H. Rennie, Pell City, Ala.

Charlotte was selected as the place of the 1910 meeting of the association, which will be held the fourth Tuesday in May. Atlanta, Richmond, St. Louis, Memphis and a half dozen other cities extend invitations.
