Mr. Chas. W. Whiteside returned Saturday from a six week's vacation which he spent at the watering resorts of Virginia and the mountains of North Carolina, taking in his old home town, Anniston, Ala., on his way home. His appearance would indicate that his trip had been quite beneficial to him.

Mr. Oliver Buckner Howse and his friend, Mr. Rutland, from Symter county, came near having a serious accident Sunday morning. While out driving and in front of the Boston Store a light shower came up and Mr. Rutland hoisted an umbrella, the horse became frightened, dashed off like a flash, quickly turned the corner, capsized the buggy and threw both gentlemen violently to the ground; the shafts broke loose and the horse turning another corner, made a complete somersault. Neither the young men were hurt, and the thing was done so quickly that they could scarcely realize it; and, like the Alabama statesman, hardly knew "where they were at." The horse, besides being badly frightened, was cut quite severely in several places.

Devoured by Worms.
Children often cry, not from pain, but from hunger, although fed abundantly. The entire trouble arises from inanition, their food in not assimilated, but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once, very much to the surprise and joy of the mother.

LeGette-Hobbs.

The following marriage notice appeared in a recent issue of the Clinton, N. C., Democrat and will be read with interest by the Florida friends of the groom:

Simple, yet the most beautiful in every detail, ever witnessed in Clinton, was the wedding of Mr. Ignatius Royall LeGette, of Ocala, Fla., to Miss Mary Emma Hobbs, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Hobbs, which took place Wednesday afternoon, August 16, at 5:30 o'clock in the Baptist church.

The decorations were airy and graceful. From the entrance to the front of the church, the massive columns, which support the large galleries on each side, were festooned with trailing bamboo and ivy. Across the front, upon a background of white, the artistic tracery of the bamboo and ivy displayed the talent of those who were in charge. Near the front, across each aisle was an arch made of evergreen, and at the altar was a large arch studded with lighted tapers, under which the bride and groom stood. On each side, and little to the rear of this arch, were banked palms and potted plants. Across the arches in the aisle wide white ribbon was tied in graceful loops, making the reservations for family and honored guests.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party some choice selections were rendered on the organ. As the bridal party entered there swelled forth the exquisite melody of Mendelssohn's wedding march, the volume increased by flute accompaniment by Mr. O. H. Giddens.

The marriage service was in a most impressive manner by Rev. C. M. Rock, former pastor of the bride, the bridal party being in a semicircle arrangement.

The soft, subdued light, the low, sweet strains of the Flower Song, the deep hush that fell upon the great crowd of friends, while the solemn vows were being taken, made the scene one long to be remembered.

The bride wore a handsome going-away gown of golden brown taffeta, with shoes, gloves, hat and veil to match. She carried bride's roses and ferns, tied with white ribbon. The maid of honor was beautifully gowned in white Paris muslin and carried pink carnations and ferns.

The bridesmaids were charmingly gowned in pink silk mull, while the groomsmen and ushers wore full dress suits. Leaving the altar, the attendants were in couples.

Mr. and Mrs. LeGette left immediately, amid showers of rice for a trip to Washington and various points in Maryland and New York City. From there they will go their home in Florida.

Mr. R. F. Hyman returned home Tuesday from a visit to Tampa, St. Petersburg and other southern points. This was Mr. Hyman's last trip for the Frank E. Block Company, of Atlanta, for whom he has been traveling for over twelve years, Tuesday being his last day with that firm. Beginning September first Mr. Hyman will travel Florida in the interest of Fernandez, Reich & Brunner, of Tampa, manufacturers of clear Havana cigars. This paper wishes Mr. Hyman great success in his new line of work.

Like Finding Money.
Finding health is like finding money—so think those who are sick. When you have a cough, cold, sore throat, or chest irritation, better act promptly like W. B. Barber, of Sandy Level, Va. He says: "I had a terrible chest trouble, caused by make and cold dust on my lungs; but, after finding no relief in other remedies, I was cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Colds." Greatest sale of any cough or lung medicine in the world. At Tydings & Co. 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

Mr. Thomas Sexton and children have returned from Fellowship, where she has been visiting her parents.

The Army Mule.

"Everybody has read of the army mule," said an old army officer, "but only the man who went to the front in the time of war knew him for the critter he was. As Sheridan and Early confronted each other in the Shenandoah valley, a drove of mules was forwarded from Washington. Among them was one which attracted attention by his unusually long neck. It was the general opinion that nature started in to make a giraffe, but changed her mind after finishing his neck. It was a day or two before anyone discovered what the extra two feet were put in his neck for. Then the beast got his bearings and sent forth such brays as had never before been heard, even about an army camp. He could out-bray anything on legs. He could wake up more men with one effort than any score of mules could by braying an hour. After the third night of the arrival the teamster to whose lot he fell was ordered to take him two miles to the rear, but even then his tones reached the ears of 16,000 men, and his jaws had to be tied.

"This mule differed from other mules, not only in length of neck, but in having feelings to be hurt. When they choked off his bray they grieved and wounded him, and he determined on revenge. After a day he slipped his halter and made his way on to neutral ground. The videttes and pickets on both sides tried to capture him but it was no go. On the second night of his liberty, just after the change of pickets, the mule suddenly 'opened fire' against the Federal lines. He came down on the left flank at a gallop, braying as he came and inside of three minutes he had routed out 6,000 soldiers and got them into line. In the ears of half asleep men his brays sounded like cheers, and our lines had scarcely been formed when we began firing. A minute later the Confederates were under arms and firing away, believing it was a night attack. And it was subsequently figured out that at least 20,000 bullets were fired by both sides. Not one of them even grazed the side of that mule. Our fire halted him for a time but, bracing up for the occasion, he presently came charging into and over our lines, knocking men right and left and almost starting a panic. When he was finally captured the soldiers demanded that he be instantly wiped off the face of the earth, but discipline prevailed, and he was turned over to the quartermaster and shipped back from whence he came.—Seymour (Tex.) Banner.

Are You Engaged?

Engaged people should remember, that after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided, by keeping their digestions in good conditions with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years, my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver, until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." Tydings & Co. sells and guarantees them, at 50c a bottle. m and beaten, in a labor riot, until covered with sores, a Chicago street car conductor applied Bucklin's Arnica Salve, and was soon sound and well. "I use it in my family," writes G. J. Welch, of Tekonsha, Mich. "and find it perfect." Simply great for cuts and burns. Only 25c at Tydings & Co. m

The Fort McCoy Picnic.

Special Correspondence Ocala Banner.

The barbecue and picnic at Fort McCoy Saturday was in the more important respects a success.

The day began with heavy showers which were well broken away by 8 o'clock, but not until cutting short the attendance by at least one-half. By noon there were about two hundred people assembled.

The first feature of the program was the public speaking, the orator being introduced by Rev. H. C. Martin.

Hon. Ed L. Wartmann, of Citra, Marion's senior member of the legislature, was the first speaker. He made a deep, touching speech. His subject, "Old Fort McCoy" was handled in a manner that touched a tender cord in the hearts of the people of this section, both old and young. His delivery was excellent and as a whole was one of the prettiest kinds of gems of oratory, beautifully drawn to suit this special occasion.

Hon. W. D. Carn, of Ocala, superintendent of public instruction, made a few brief remarks in behalf of Hon. Carlos L. Sistrunk, who was unable to attend.

The last speaker was Rev. L. W. Moore, pastor of the Methodist church in Ocala, who represented the "Dry Side of the Current Question." Mr. Moore showed himself to be a forcible speaker and handled the subject elegantly.

After Mr. Moore's speech dinner was announced, and the hungry mass of people gathered around the long table under the snarly old live oaks and swinging vines that so gracefully decorate the picnic grounds at Fort McCoy. It was indeed a fine spread. There were three beeves, twelve sheep, and two hogs barbecued in the finest of that special art by an experienced hand. Well filled baskets from the immediate and surrounding neighborhood were emptied. It was a solid pile, of the very finest of culinary productions, something over two hundred feet long.

Everybody had plenty and some to carry home as a relic of the occasion. It is said that a good many coat pockets were filled with the delicacies, and that the owners were not aware of the fact until later in the day when they discovered that their pockets were transformed into dinner baskets.

As is usually the case at all successful picnics, the inevitable down-pour came. Dinner was scarcely over before it arrived on this occasion. There being no houses or shelter of any description near the picnic grounds, there was a general hustling around, running here and there, babies squalling, women calling, horses neighing, dogs barking and howling because they were run out from under buggies and wagons by people who took their places in this particular instance. Eine white lawn and silk flowers melted to flimsy rags; straw hats "went up to seed;" red neckties shed their crimson tears on white shirts and shirt waists.

One long gentleman who wore about "W30, L12" pants and No. 11 1-2 shoes had secured the large half of a very large beef roast. He had not finished his roast when the rain came and made a wild dash for some thick timber, tripped his graceful little feet under a vine and fell. A big ring-neck cur near by caught the roast on the fly and beat the gentleman to the thick clump of bushes.

However, the picnic was a success, and the treasury of the cemetery association is now $101.55 to the good. PETER STANLEY.

Sprains.

S. A. Read, Cisco, Tex., writes, March 11, 1901: My wrist was sprained so badly by a fall that it was useless; and after using several remedies that failed to give relief, used Ballard's Snow Liniment, and was cured. I earnestly recommend it to any one suffering from sprains. For sale by all druggists. m
