Two Arrested On Credit Card Fraud Charges

Secret Service assisting MPD with investigation

Two men were arrested on credit card fraud charges.

According to the Madison Police Department, on Wednesday, August 26, Ptl. Reggie Alexander was dispatched to the Jiffy Food Store located on East Base Street, in reference to a fraudulent credit card.

On arrival, the store clerk advised Ptl. Alexander that two Hispanic males had purchased over $1,500.00 worth of cigarettes. The store clerk advised that the name on the receipt did not match the signature so she called the police.

The store clerk advised officers that the suspects exited the store and drove west on Base St.

Ptl. Alexander obtained a description of the vehicle the suspects were driving. Ptl. Alexander located the vehicle at the Sunoco Store on W. Base St.

Prayer Mutiny In Madison

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

The debate over public prayer will likely remain a point of contention in the Bible Belt for years to come. This is especially true in Madison, about which one local stated, "If this is the Bible Belt, then Madison is the buckle."

Earlier this year, contentions arose when the Madison County School District received instructions from education officials regarding the subject of prayer in the school and at school sponsored functions. Among the changes that resulted from that instruction was the removal of prayer prior to sporting events.

The preseason football jamboree between the Madison County Cowboys and the Florida High Seminoles played on August 28 at Boot Hill would have been the first such occasion to have customarily opened with prayer. As instructed, school officials, coaches and staff all refrained from initiating prayer of any sort. Those attending the game, however, did not share their compliance, and shortly after the "Star Spangled Banner" concluded, several visitors stood up and invited everyone to join them in the Lord's Prayer.

The prayer mutiny resulted in a chorus that demonstrated how many cherish the practice that has stood for decades in Madison, and for that matter, has stood for centuries since the founding of America. And while the school was apparently in no way to blame for the outcry, it is evident that most Cowboy fans are also prayer fans.

32 Whosoever therefore shall confess me before men, him will I confess also before my Father which is in heaven. 33 But whosoever shall deny me before men, him will I also deny before my Father which is in heaven. Matthew 10:32-33

By Jacob Bemby
Greene Publishing, Inc.

On Friday evening, Aug. 28, a number of fans joined in and said the Lord's Prayer at the Madison County High School football game. I will not try to fool anyone and say that it was not planned, because it was. However, private citizens, not school officials, planned it and did it. I was in on the planning phase, in a very small way. I was supposed to bring the megaphone but I and another person decided against it.

I posted two videos of the event on my YouTube site. You can see both of those videos at www.greenepublishing.com. One video was taken from the press box where I was sitting. Michael Curtis shot the other video from the sidelines.

I left the game early and went home and posted the videos. I began receiving feedback from my friends on Facebook in a positive way. Not everyone was happy, however. One man left a remark that was deleted almost immediately about how the school board should fire all the coaches who participated in the game. In spite of this comment being deleted by the person who posted it, I received it in my email from YouTube.

I would like to stress again that the school officials, coaches included, had nothing to do with the prayer, other than opting to join in. They did not start it. They were respectful to the crowd on the sidelines, as were the cheerleaders and the band members. I was told by one of the cheerleaders that the cheerleaders had prayed their own prayer (without being led by a school official), the football players had prayed their own prayer (without being led by the coaches) and the officiating crew for the game had prayed their own prayer.

There were postings on a local blog site that the prayer constituted child abuse and that the ACLU needed to be contacted.

I saw no child abused at the game. The only abuse I saw was the football players blocking and tackling each other but this is all in the game.

No one was forced to take part in the prayer.

If I was at a game, where the majority of people were Muslims, who brought out their prayer rugs, I would stand reverently. While I would not pray with them, I would not complain because they prayed.

The big question for Friday night's game is, "Who will join in and pray with the fans this time? What private citizen will stand up for the Lord?"

Come on, Madison County. Who will lead the prayer from the stands this week? Will it be you? If you need it, I might even bring the megaphone.

Local Photographer Wins Statewide Award

Local photographer Martin Guduz of Tudor Rose Photography has earned a distinguished award at ceremonies in Orlando for entry in the Florida Professional Photographers' photographic competition.

His photograph, titled "The Chainmaker," won the first place award in the category of this statewide competition.

This image was judged to be the best photograph in the competition category.

This award carries prestige and honor throughout the photographic field for the high standard of the competition. There were 493 entries in the competition, and less than 20 percent are recognized for this level of excellence.

Florida Professional Photographers' President Cheryl N. Nocera presented this coveted award during the banquet at Orlando's beautiful Rosen Plaza Hotel, where the conferees assembled.

If You Don't Want To Hear Our Prayers – Plug Your Ears! But Don't Tell Us We Can't Pray!!!

America was founded on the principles of freedom - Freedom of Speech, Freedom of Religion, Freedom from Want, Freedom from Fear.

We might not like what someone is saying.... but they have the freedom to say it. We might not like someone burning the flag.... but technically, they have the right of speech to do it. We might not like what we hear on the radio, see on the TV, or read in the newspapers.... but they all have a right to say it.

This is one of the many attributes of living in America. Our freedom is what draws so many other people to want to become an American citizen and live in our country.

So my question, "Where is our freedom of religion when it comes to saying prayers in public schools?" "Why is it that a few select people can dictate to the many and say, 'You can't pray in schools?'"

The ACLU (The American Civil Liberties Union), which I believe to be a spawn of Satan, has taken it to the Supreme Court to say that prayer in schools should not be allowed.

The judges, in this Supreme Court system, have rolled over and sided with the ACLU and thus more freedoms are taken away from us and we find ourselves, once again, being told what we can and cannot do, by our government.

In Santa Rosa County, a high school principal and an athletic director are scheduled to appear in federal court on September 17 for praying - They blessed a meal that was being served, as a celebration event for a new field house, for the school's sports boosters. So, I ask again, "Where is the freedom of speech?" "Why is it against the law for those two men to say a prayer?" and "Why SHOULD it be against the law?"

Some may say (again I say the spawns of Satan) that the audience of these men might not want to hear the prayer. Then they can plug their ears.... that's their right. But taking away the right of the ones who do want to pray is against the freedom of speech and the freedom of religion, of those people.

what you see on the television.... turn the channel or cut it off. If you don't like what you read in the newspaper.... then turn the page or close it. If you don't want to hear my prayers.... then plug your ears.... but don't tell me I can't pray!!!

Below is a story that circulates on the internet. I checked it out on Snopes.com and found it to be a true story.

This is a statement that was read over the PA system at the football game at Roane County High School, Kingston, Tennessee, by school Principal, Jody McLeod, on September 1, 2000.

"It has always been the custom at Roane County High School football games, to say a prayer and play the National Anthem, to honor God and Country.

"Due to a recent ruling by the Supreme Court, I am told that saying a Prayer is a violation of Federal Case Law. As I understand the law at this time, I can use this public facility to approve of sexual perversion and call it 'an alternate life style,' and if someone is offended, that's OK.

"I can use it to condone sexual promiscuity, by dispensing condoms and calling it, 'safe sex.' If someone is offended, that's OK.

"I can even use this public facility to present the merits of killing an unborn baby as a 'viable' means of birth control. If someone is offended, no problem.

"I can designate a school day as 'Earth Day' and involve students in activities to worship religiously and praise the goddess 'Mother Earth' and call it 'ecology.'

"I can use literature, videos and presentations in the classroom that depict people with strong, traditional Christian convictions as 'simple minded' and 'ignorant' and call it 'enlightenment' "

"However, if anyone uses this facility to honor GOD and to ask HIM to bless this event with safety and good sportsmanship, then Federal Case Law is violated.

"This appears to be inconsistent at best, and at worst, diabolical.

"Apparently, we are to be tolerant of everything and anyone, except GOD and HIS Commandments.

"Nevertheless, as a school principal, I frequently ask staff and students to abide by rules with which they do not necessarily agree. For me to do otherwise would be inconsistent at best, and at worst, hypocritical. I suffer from that affliction enough unintentionally. I certainly do not need to add an intentional transgression.

"For this reason, I shall 'Render unto Caesar that which is Caesar's,' and refrain from praying at this time.

"However, if you feel inspired to honor, praise and thank GOD and ask HIM, in the name of JESUS, to bless this event, please feel free to do so. As far as I know, that's not against the law---yet."

One by one, the people in the stands bowed their heads, held hands with one another and began to pray.

They prayed in the stands. They prayed in the team huddles. They prayed at the concession stand and they prayed in the Announcer's Box!

The only place they didn't pray was in the Supreme Court of the United States of America- the Seat of "Justice" in the "one nation, under GOD."

Somehow, Kingston, Tennessee remembered what so many have forgotten. We are given the Freedom OF Religion, not the Freedom FROM Religion. Praise GOD that HIS remnant remains!

I would like to take this moment to commend the fans and football players of Madison County High School, for the show of Godly reverence displayed Friday night at the ballgame. The fans stood in the stands and bowed their heads and recited the Lord's Prayer. The football players and coaches did the same on the field.

The ACLU might be trying to keep God off the loudspeakers, but thanks to the citizens of Madison County.... They (the ACLU) couldn't keep HIM off of Boot Hill.

I also understand that there was a student-led prayer held, at Jefferson County High School, before the football game, Friday night. I commend these students as well. It goes to show all students/teenagers will search to find HIM even when adults (ACLU and local atheists) are trying desperately to hide HIM.

"For where two or three come together in my name, there am I with them." Matthew 18:20

"Whoever publicly acknowledges me I will also acknowledge before my Father in heaven. But whoever publicly disowns me I will disown before my Father in heaven." Matthew 10:32-33

And, as the two teachers in Santa Rosa County are concerned.....

"Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

"Blessed are you when others revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account. Rejoice and be glad, for your reward is great in heaven, for so they persecuted the prophets who were before you." Matthew 5:10-12

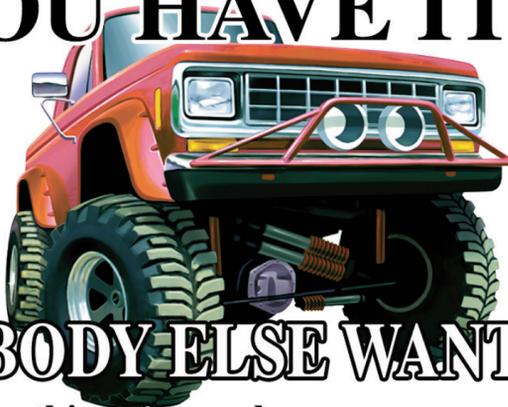

It's time we Christians stand up and fight for OUR freedom of speech and religion. DO NOT give in to anti-Christian groups, such as the ACLU, or even local atheists. We have the right to pray, just as much as others have the right not to pray. Let them plug their ears.

Show them ALL.... WE DON'T CARE! Show them that we love our Lord, our God, and will no longer let others dictate to us when and where we can and cannot pray.

"But as for me and my household, we will serve the LORD." - Joshua 24:15

Until then....see you around the town.

YOU HAVE IT.

School, Birthdays And Prayer

School is back in and everyone is excited. I spoke to some of the children from Lee, who attend Central School and they say that they love it.

Danny Blount and Turner Phillips will celebrate their birthdays on Thursday, Sept. 3. I want to wish both of them a great big happy birthday.

Everyone is abuzz about the prayer that was said at the football game Friday evening. Although the ACLU had forced the school district to ban school officials from leading prayers, they never said anything about private citizens and the Lord's Prayer was said. While there were a handful of complaints, the overwhelming majority was positive about it. God was glorified! I hope to see the same thing happen this Friday night.

The Gaddis Family sang Saturday night at Midway Church of God and led worship on Sunday morning. Everyone enjoyed them. Myrtice Tompkins of Ashlyn's Rose Florist was responsible for getting them in the county and she deserves a great big thanks.

That's all the news for this week. Have a great week and a beautiful forever. May God bless each and every one of you.

Term Limits

The death of Senator Edward M. Kennedy last week reminded me of a personal pet peeve - term limits. If you are a regular reader of this column, then you know that I have no time for professional politicians, those who spend their working life getting elected to so-called "public service."

Senator Kennedy was one of those folks I refer to as a professional politician. He was elected to the United States Senate in 1962 at the tender age of 30 (minimum age for a senator set by the Constitution) to fill the Massachusetts seat formerly held by his big brother and now president Jack. Teddy never left, serving for nearly 47 years before the good Lord called him home. The voters of Massachusetts reelected him seven times. I said years ago that the only way Ted Kennedy would leave the Senate was feet first.

There are others. Robert Byrd is approaching fifty years representing West Virginia. There has been a John Dingell representing the Fourth District of Michigan since (drum roll please) March 1933 when Franklin Roosevelt was first sworn in to the presidency - first father then son. Didn't Strom Thurmond pass the half century mark in the Senate? House committee chairmen John Conyers and Henry Waxman are approaching forty years in Congress.

Democrats are more prone to be career politicians than Republicans, but this problem is truly bi-partisan. Republican voters generally want their candidates to have some real world experience before running for office. Democrats don't care.

A few years ago, a friend of mine was extolling the virtues of a young college student who wanted to go into politics upon graduation. I expressed dismay which surprised my friend. "What do you have against a young person running for of-ice," he asked. I answered, "Because he doesn't have any practical experience. Everything is theory to him. He doesn't know the way the world works."

If you look at the resumes of the politicians we send to Washington, you will find the most part see men and women who know only elected public office. They may be skilled legislators but they are clueless when it comes to practical experience in vocations that most of us identify with: doctors, engineers, truckers, lawyers, bankers, electricians, etc.

The longer they serve in elective office, the more distant they become from the citizens they supposedly represent. The voters of Florida did a good thing in 1992 when they decided to impose term limits on our elected state officials. Members of the Florida legislature and senate have eight years to make a difference in our state; then the state constitution requires them to move along. As a result, we're getting more fresh faces and fresh ideas in Tallahassee.

Washington should be the same, but it will take a Constitutional amendment to impose term limits on members of Congress. The Supreme Court has ruled on this; so be it. The Founding Fathers who constructed the Constitution in 1787 made it very difficult to amend; it has only happened 27 times or more specifically, seventeen times since the Bill of Rights was adopted in 1789. The process according to Article V requires that both houses of Congress pass the amendment by a two-thirds vote followed by ratification by three-quarters of the state legislatures. The second part wouldn't be too difficult; the problem is getting the two-thirds vote in the house and senate where members would be voluntarily limiting their own power. Politicians don't like to surrender their power. In this case, it is like the fox is guarding the chicken house.

As I said, the longer a representative or senator serves in public office, the more distant they become. Rather than listen to their constituents, they become Washington insiders. Of course, they must be reelected, but with an incumbent reelection rate approaching 95 percent, it is almost a done deal. The system is skewed toward returning the incumbent to office, unless they get caught with a freezer full of cash or their intern-girl friend winds up murdered in Rock Creek Park.

And then there is the corruption factor. The longer a politician stays in power, the more vulnerable he or she becomes to corruption.

Sometimes they cross the legal line and break the law; sometimes their transgressions are simply unethical but for whatever reason, their service in public office is a platform to enrich themselves.

There is always some turnover in Congress, but because of seniority rules, the leadership positions and committee chairmanships go to the career politicians. These are the politicians that set the agenda and are the power-brokers.

Term limits would break their death-grip on power. For current information on this important topic, I invite you to visit www.termlimits.org.

Ptl. Alexander made contact with the suspects and identified them as Juan M. Diaz and Alexander Zapate.

While speaking with both suspects, Ptl. Alexander observed in plain sight several credit cards lying in the vehicle.

After obtaining consent to search the vehicle, officers located 135 cartons of cigarettes in the vehicle. As a result of the investigation, Diaz and Zapata were placed under arrest and charged with possession of fraudulent credit cards, trafficking fraudulent credit cards and fraudulent use of credit cards.

Due to the large quantity of credit cards and cigarettes, the Secret Service was called in to assist the Madison Police Department.

Columbia County Man Sentenced To 10 Years In Federal Prison For Hiring A Hit Man To Kill His Wife

U.S. Attorney A. Brian Albritton announced that United States District Judge Timothy J. Corrigan sentenced Ivan Joseph ("Joe") Eccles (age 35, of Lake City, Florida) to 10 years in federal prison, the statutory maximum, for using a cellular telephone to hire a hit man to murder his wife. Eccles had pleaded guilty on April 22, 2009.

According to court documents, between February 11, 2009 and March 6, 2009, Eccles spoke on the phone with a friend whom Eccles asked to hire another individual to travel to Florida to murder his wife. After the phone call, Eccles's friend went to the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and informed agents about Eccles's request.

During a period of more than three weeks, Eccles spoke on the phone with an undercover FBI agent about how the murder should occur and the amount of money that Eccles was willing to pay for the hit. Eccles final offer was made on March 6, 2009. Eccles then sent a text message stating that he would pay the hit man $60,000 after the murder and that the murder had to occur by a particular deadline, or Eccles would do it himself. On March 8, 2009, FBI agents arrested Eccles based upon a federal arrest warrant.

This case was investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation Field Offices in Jacksonville, Florida and Detroit, Michigan. It was prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorneys A. Tysen Duva and Jay Taylor.

Four Individuals Charged Federally In Ocala Robbery Conspiracy

U.S. Attorney A. Brian Albritton announced that four individuals—Victor John Walker (age 23), Allen C. Butler (age 25), Katy Rae Radney (age 23), and Jeremy Ryan Nedrick (age 20)—were charged yesterday in a federal criminal complaint that alleges a series of armed robberies in Ohio and Florida. The complaint alleges that the defendants were involved to varying degrees in a string of robberies that began with the robbery of a Burger King in Ohio on November 17, 2008, and continued with three more robberies in Ohio, the robbery of a Hungry Howies restaurant in Ocala, Florida, and the attempted robbery of a Burger King in Lady Lake, Florida. The complaint also alleges that the defendants used firearms during the robberies, and that a firearm was fired during two of the completed robberies as well as the attempted robbery.

According to the complaint, defendants' crime spree ended on May 4, 2009, after Walker, Butler, and Nedrick made the failed attempt to rob the Burger King in Lady Lake during which an AK-47 was fired. Later that day, Marion County deputies attempted to stop a vehicle driven by Walker, who temporarily evaded apprehension after firing the same AK-47 rifle at the deputies, injuring one. Walker and Nedrick then attempted to evade law enforcement officers in a different vehicle and were ultimately apprehended.

U. S. Attorney Albritton stated, "The apprehension of these individuals is a credit to the outstanding work of the Marion County Sheriff's Office. These defendants' alleged actions put innocent citizens as well as dedicated law enforcement officers in harm's way. The successful prosecution of these individuals is a top priority of our office."

Special Agent in Charge Virginia O'Brien, said, "This armed robbery ring is charged with terrorizing customers and employees at Burger Kings, Hungry Howie's and Dominoes Pizza family restaurants from Ohio to Florida. The Marion County Sheriff's Department Deputies involved in the arrest and investigation of these individuals have made Marion County a safer place to live and work."

This case was investigated by the Marion County Sheriff's Office, the Mansfield, Ohio, Police Department, the Shelby, Ohio, Police Department, the Richland County, Ohio, Sheriff's Office, the Nassau County, New York, Police Department, the Hempstead, New York, Police Department, the Lady Lake, Florida, Police Department, the Ocala, Florida, Police Department, the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) offices in Florida, Ohio, and New York, the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) offices in Florida, New York and Ohio, the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, and the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Investigations. This case is being prosecuted by Assistant United States Attorney Samuel Armstrong.

BRIDAL GUIDE

Wedding Invitations Set The Tone

(NAPS) -- For brides to be, the time to make a first impression isn't when you walk down the aisle. It's month earlier, when you send out the save-the-date cards or the invitations.

Fortunately, there are ways to make those formal announcements leave a lasting impression—combining the latest styles and your personal taste to be worthy of the event to follow.

The idea is for colorful coordination from invitations to table setting to cake. According to the wedding stationery experts, Wedding Paper Divas, jewel tones are sleek and sophisticated, ranging from rich purple to electric blue. Gray is the new black and works well with jewel tones for a fresh, modern look. Look for rich textures and let invitations and let invitations make a strong statement about the type of wedding you will be sharing with your family and friends.

From save-the-date cards and wedding invitations to matching table cards, programs and menus, a fun and fashionable wedding suite can help modern couples make a bold impression.

As a preferred resource for wedding etiquette and style information, Wedding Paper Divas offers product lines that reflect the latest trends, styles and luxurious patterns of each season. To learn more, visit www.weddingpaperdivas.com.

Edwina Ward Receives "Sweet" Retirement Party

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

Edwina Ward has worked for the Madison County Memorial Hospital for over 25 years, serving exceptionally in the medical records department. This was accomplished over two stretches, the first for 16 years and the most recent for nine. The even more amazing fact is that she had a 22-year period in between when she worked for Dr. Earl Creech in Valdosta, Ga. making her total medical career span over 47 years.

In recognition of her great service, the hospital held a Dessert Party where friends and staff brought out the most incredible sweets imaginable, including classic favorites like ten-layer cake and pecan pie, and a few chef surprises that combined ice cream with pastries worth the waistline hazard they presented.

In the end though, smiles and hugs exceeded the calorie count, and though there were many sad to see her go, it was evident that she deserved every ounce of her

Ask The Dentist

Question:

How do I know if I grind my teeth at night?

Answer:

It is hard to know with certainty if you do or don't grind your teeth at night unless a sleep specialist stays up and watches you sleep all night at a sleep center. On the other hand, another sure sign is sore ribs from your spouse elbowing you at night to quit making so much noise. Outside of either of those two possibilities, I look for indirect signs of trouble.

When I evaluate my patients I ask a number of questions. Do you sleep well at night or wake up many times each night? Do you frequently awaken in the morning with headaches? Have you been told you have migraines? Are your teeth incredibly sensitive to cold foods? Do you have receding gums with grooves in your teeth at the gumline? Have you ever been told you have tooth brush abrasion? Do your jaw joints make popping noises when you eat? Are your teeth getting ground down flat? Has your dentist told you that you are wearing down your teeth? Have you ever split a tooth in half while eating? If you answered yes to any or several of these questions, see your dentist. He can evaluate you for what is termed nocturnal bruxism. The first order of treatment is a custom mouthguard which patients wear in their sleep. It is a simple device for the dentist to make and does not require shots or drilling. I frequently hear my patients tell me that once they start wearing the mouthguard they learn how much better they can sleep.

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

Since launching his initiative to expand community outreach and membership of the Madison Lions Club, President Lee FerDon has enjoyed the honor of welcoming several new members to the pride. FerDon also has the privilege of serving as Zone Chairman, providing oversight to several regional clubs in support of their local goals and objectives.

During a recent regular weekly meeting, he extended that mission again, as he introduced Tim Dunn as the club's newest member.

Dunn and wife Dawn have established an excellent reputation as local leaders in the 4-H organization, where their daughter, Teagan (11), and son, Skyler (9), have enjoyed great success. This reputation for achievement has also been demonstrated at Madison Academy where they both attend school and mom is on staff. Dunn, a disabled veteran, has recently returned to school himself, furthering the family's credo of scholastic and personal development.

Lions Club International has a rich heritage, probably best known for their vision health projects worldwide. Locally, the club also enjoys a rich heritage, dating back over 50 years. Along that span, it has held membership comprised of some of the finest business and civic leaders in Madison County.

Madison Lions Club meets each Tuesday at noon at Shelby's Restaurant, which is just a minute east of Madison on US 90. To learn more about becoming a member of Lions Club, or to request time for presentations to the club, call (850) 929-7527.

Fifth Saturday Festival Flies High In Madison

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

The weather was hot but the entertainment was hotter, as hundreds of visitors poured onto Range Street on August 29 to enjoy the Fifth Saturday Farmers and Friends Festival in Madison. Vendors were plentiful, offering arts, crafts and foods of all types, but nothing soared quite as high as the BMX stunt riders performing acrobatic, death-defying tricks two stories above the street in front of the courthouse.

Known as The Freestyle Connection, four stunt riders – John Dowker, Rob Christianson, Kyle Kelsey and newcomer Zach Kring – filled stands placed along the streets to standing room only for two performances. Combining a message that warned of the hazards of addictive behavior with a professional show that rivaled the X-Games, these teen advocates kept the audience both entertained and inspired.

Preston Mathews, smoking cessation consultant with Big Bend AHEC, organized the event, along with the generous contributions of a dozen or so sponsors who shared his commitment to promote a healthy Madison County for both youth and their parents.

The show concluded with a raffle drawing for a BMX style bicycle, with all proceeds being donated to provide furnishings for the new Lee Library.

In a prayerfully fateful coincidence, the winner of the bike was Anthony Wilhoite, a 10-year-old fifth grader in Lee. Anthony was recently in the news selling peanuts to raise funds for care packages for our troops overseas. What wasn't in the news however, is that shortly afterwards, he was the victim of a robbery that broke his heart – his bicycle was stolen. Glenn Frith, owner of Studstill Lumber, who generously donated the bike, was thrilled to present it to such a deserving winner. All agreed it couldn't have been more perfect.

Another big hit was The Classic Car Show, which was set up on the northern end of Range. Several dozen vintage autos dating back to the 20's was side by side with muscle cars, motorcycles and a dragster, each finding a special place with viewers, many of who appeared to take a pleasant walk down memory lane as they strolled along. Visitors were then asked to vote for their favorite, the owner of which was later awarded a handsome trophy. The winner of this People's Choice Award was Harry Reynolds of Pinetta – the owner of the dragster.

This was the second Fifth Saturday Farmers and Friends Festival.

Launched by the Madison Rotary Club earlier this year, and amplified by contributions from the Madison County Chamber of Commerce and Tourism as well as others, the festival is growing in popularity and scheduled to feature various themes and entertainment as it moves forward.

The next festival is set for October 31. For vendor and visitor information, contact Jada Woods-Williams at (850) 673-9520.

FWC Undercover Investigation FWC Rescues Injured Manatee In St. Marks River

The Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC) rescued an 8-foot female manatee from the St. Marks River, south of Tallahassee, shortly after 1:30 p.m. Monday. Biologists rescued the manatee because of an apparent watercraft-related wound on its back.

The initial call came Saturday morning from a citizen who saw the injured manatee in the Wakulla River near the point where the Wakulla and St. Marks rivers converge. Monday, FWC law enforcement officers found the animal near the mouth of the St. Marks River, floating on its side.

The officers waited with the manatee until FWC biologists and staff from Jacksonville Zoo arrived. The manatee's injuries were causing air from its lungs to escape into its chest cavity.

The team loaded the 725-pound manatee into a specially equipped boat and transported it to a waiting truck. By 2 p.m., the manatee was en route to Tampa's Lowry Park Zoo for rehabilitation and, it is hoped, eventual return to the wild. The zoo's veterinary staff was assessing the animal's condition Tuesday afternoon.

To report a dead or distressed manatee, call the FWC Wildlife Alert Hotline at 888-404-FWCC (3922).

Visit <http://research.myfwc.com/manatee> for more information on manatee research.

Cowboys Roundup Florida High In Preseason Jamboree

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

Madison County High School gave fans a glimpse of the championship form that has thrilled fans and tormented opponents for the last decade when the Florida High Seminoles came to Boot Hill on Friday night, August 28, for the preseason jamboree. Entering the season in a new division that includes several of the strongest teams in the region, the silver and maroon warmed up quickly, putting three touchdowns up early on their way to a 30-3 victory.

Coach Frankie Carroll was pleased with the performance, although he recognizes the challenge facing the Cowboys this season. Between the divisional change, and losing three top tier athletes — who were among a host of solid graduating seniors — the Cowboys will need 110 percent every week to hoist the championship trophy as they did in 2007, and nearly repeated in 2008.

“Our players have worked hard all summer, but I believe they’re ready to step up. The coaches have done a fine job getting them ready and now it’s a matter of execution. We do have a tough schedule in this new 2A division, but with commitment on the field and in the classroom — plus a little luck with injuries and our great fans — it will be another good year,” Carroll explained.

Offensively, Madison County passed more often, as they look to expand on their historically strong ground game. Kelvin “Taye” Singletary, back at quarterback for the Cowboys, appeared to have gained an inch and a step over last year, rifling the ball to receivers for short gains, and finessing it for a few long connections, including several touchdowns.

Defensively, the Cowboys were as stingy as ever, with the Seminoles only score coming from an unlikely 46-yard field goal late in the game. Florida High did threaten the red zone on several occasions, only to be repelled by the thunderous blows that have made Madison County a perennial 2A powerhouse; also creating several turnovers in the process that the Cowboys converted into touchdowns.

Special teams were equally impressive. Building on the leg of kicking royalty Bladen Gudz, Cowboy coverage swarmed the opponent, dealing out heavy blows that kept the Seminoles on their side of the field all evening.

Scoring by quarter:

1st Quarter
Kelvin Singletary touchdown pass to Xavier Brown — Cowboys 7, Seminoles 0

Kelvin Singletary touchdown run — Cowboys 14, Seminoles 0

Kelvin Singletary touchdown run — Cowboys 21, Seminoles 0

2nd Quarter

No scoring

3rd Quarter

Bladen Gudz 30-yard field goal — Cowboys 24, Seminoles 0

Kelvin Singletary touchdown pass to Will Turner — Cowboys 30, Seminoles 0

4th Quarter

Chase Varnadore 46-yard field goal — Cowboys 30, Seminoles 3

Madison County plays Fort White at home under the Friday night lights on September 4, in what is sure to be a fan-tastic season opener. Kick off is at 7:30 p.m. and everyone is urged to come and bring a friend. GO COWBOYS!

BACK TO SCHOOL

Aaron Gibson Has Busy Summer

By Bryant Thigpen
Greene Publishing, Inc.

A Madison County High School student had a busy summer working at the Rocky Ford collection site in Madison during the summer months. This student, Aaron Gibson, maintained a schedule of 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. at the collection site, while also completing a four-hour mandatory online program.

Reporting for work each day, Gibson began the job the first of June, and worked faithfully until mid-July. His work description included cleaning around the Collection Site, as well as assisting residents unloading their vehicle.

Away from the center, Gibson was required to spend at least four hours per week taking online courses. The courses helped Gibson in maintaining basic skills in reading, writing, math, and other subjects.

Gibson is in the 10th grade at the high school and is a member of the High Tech club. "I really like being a part of the High Tech Club," Gibson said. Gibson acknowledged the outstanding work of club sponsors Mike Radel and Mary Coody.

Entering a new school year always brings mixed emotions, but Gibson is excited about the new school year and future opportunities. "I like hanging out with friends," Gibson replied. "He also likes to help the soccer coach with workouts and games," his grandmother, Mary Gallagher stated.

The thing he doesn't like about the school year is the new bell schedule. "It's tough," he said. "Everybody's having a tough time getting used to it."

The upcoming year will bring about many new and exciting challenges. Gibson is ready to approach his sophomore year with enthusiasm.

Financial Focus...

Get Educated about Investing

Provided by Brad Bashaw, Edward Jones

If you have children at home, you're no doubt aware that it's the traditional back-to-school time. But even if your days of parent-teacher conferences are in the past, or even in the future, you can still find a place in your life for education — and you might want to start by educating yourself about investing.

To get the most out of your investment education, ask yourself these questions:

- What are my goals? Your financial goals should drive your investment decisions. You probably have short-term goals, such as making a down payment on a home or paying for a vacation, and long-term goals, such as saving for your children's college education or building resources for your retirement. Once you've identified your goals, you can create an investment strategy to help achieve them.
- What is my risk tolerance? Self-awareness is important in every aspect of life — including your approach to investing. As you create your investment portfolio, you need to understand your own views on risk. Would you consider yourself an aggressive investor — that is, someone who can accept a relatively higher degree of investment risk in exchange for potentially higher returns? Or are you a more conservative investor — someone who is willing to take lower returns in exchange for lower potential risk? Or perhaps you're a moderate investor, less risk-averse than some but less aggressive than others. However you'd characterize yourself, it's essential that you factor in your risk tolerance when choosing investments. Otherwise, you'll likely end up causing yourself needless worry over your investment portfolio's performance.
- When should I make changes to my investments? Once you've built an investment portfolio, you shouldn't leave it on "autopilot." Over time, you most likely will need to add new investments or sell others. However, try to avoid selling quality investments just because their share price has dropped — they may still have good long-term prospects. In general, you should sell an investment under certain circumstances. For example, if your goals have changed, you may find the need to sell some investments and purchase others. You may decide to sell an investment if it's no longer what it was when you purchased it. For example, maybe you've invested in a company whose products are less competitive than they once were, or perhaps the company belongs to an industry now in decline. And finally, if your portfolio has become "overweighted" with certain types of investments, you may decide to sell some of them to bring your holdings back into balance, based on your goals, risk tolerance and time horizon.
- Whom should I consult for help? You can do a lot to educate yourself about investing — but when it comes to making the right choices for your future, you may need help. A professional financial advisor who is familiar with your family situation, short- and long-term goals and investment preferences can help you build and maintain a portfolio that can help meet your needs.

The investment world can be complex, so the more knowledge you have on your side, the better off you'll be. Take the time to learn as much as you can about investing. It's an education that can pay off in the long run.

NEW Firefighter Class Begins September 24 at NFCC

Interested students should attend class orientation September 14

North Florida Community College is offering a NEW course in firefighting — Firefighter I. The new class begins Sept. 24 and will include first responder training, lectures and "live" fire training; the necessary skills and knowledge for students wanting to become a State Certified Firefighter. Those interested in taking the class are required to attend an orientation meeting on Monday, Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. at the NFCC Public Safety Academy (NFCC campus, Madison). Meeting dates and times for the course will be determined at the orientation session. For more information about NFCC's new firefighter course or to sign up for the orientation session, contact the NFCC Public Safety Academy at (850) 973-1617 or email hackleg@nfcc.edu.

NFCC Early Childhood Education Classes Begin September 14

If you've dreamed of becoming a certified preschool teacher or working in the child care industry, NFCC's Early Childhood Education program can prepare you for such a career in less than one year. The program's first class meeting, combined with an orientation session, will be held on Monday, Sept. 14 at 6:30 p.m. at the NFCC Career and Technical Education Center (Bldg. 13) in Madison, Florida. Those interested in joining the Early Childhood Education program and attending the first class / orientation session should sign up now by contact Ellen Sherrod at (850) 973-9493 or sherrod@nfcc.edu.

The Early Childhood Education program (600 clock hours) has four learning sections — Child Care Worker, Child Care Teacher Aide, Preschool Teacher and Child Care Development Specialist — which, when completed, lead to a vocational/technical education certificate. The certificate satisfies requirements for the Florida Department of Education's Early Childhood Professional Certificate (EPCP) with a preschool specialization. Program graduates are certified to be a lead teacher in a public or private preschool class in Florida. Certificate credits may also be applied toward an Associate in Applied Science Degree at NFCC.

To enter the program, individuals must be at least 18, have a high school diploma or GED, complete NFCC admissions, pass the Test of Adult Basic Education (TABE), and have a background check before entering the program. Financial aid may be available to qualified students.

For more information, contact Ellen Sherrod in the NFCC Career and Technical Education Center at (850) 973-9493 or email sherrod@nfcc.edu. Information is also available at www.nfcc.edu [search: early childhood education].

Anatomy Of An Economic Recovery

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

Those seeking an academic explanation of the current state of the American economy will likely be introduced to a mixture of economics and politics. The line between the two is difficult to discern. And while this overview is written with the academic position in mind, again, it may present unintended political undertones.

To many experts, the rules of economics are comparable to the laws of gravity, having been proven by scientific methods and consistently reinforced by practical applications over the last several centuries.

Among the economic measures most commonly discussed is Gross Domestic Product, commonly referred to as GDP. It is made up of four components: Personal Consumption, Gross Investment, Government Spending and Exports minus Imports. Taught for decades in high school and college, the equation for is: $GDP = C + I + G + (X - M)$

Generally speaking, a recession is officially defined as two consecutive declining quarters of GDP (some economists prefer to measure unemployment), and a depression is defined as a decline of 10 percent or more. During this recent economic downturn, personal consumption and gross investment declined rapidly and severely. In response to this decline, monetary policy makers and government officials ignited an explosion of government spending, which from an academic standpoint was the only choice available to avoid spiraling into a depression. Of course, for those who don't see economics as a science, this spending has been characterized in every extreme including socialism. Taking a glance back at the equation though, it was the only alternative to avoid depression.

Again, when personal consumption and gross investment fell dramatically, the only immediately controllable component of GDP to offset that dramatic decline was government spending, which needed to be increased proportionately to prop up the economy. The alternative restrictive spending policy that was enacted prior to the Great Depression - academically speaking - would have resulted in the exact outcome it did then (25 percent unemployment, breadlines, or worse.) which Ben Bernanke, the Republican Chair of the Fed who was appointed by George Bush, knows all too well and stated numerous times during interview.

Of course, one can't ignore the explosion and consequences of all this new debt. Fortunately, the sharp increase in government spending shouldn't have a debilitating inflationary effect, because the spending was not in addition to, but instead of, private spending. As far as reducing the debt load in the future, a very fortunate side effect of the recent economic crisis is that millions of Americans increased the personal savings rate from near zero to approaching 10 percent. These funds will now become available for business investment, as a bank's loan base is directly related to its depositor base. Then as business revenues increase, so will their tax obligations, which will then begin to pay down the debt load. Again, this is an academic assessment, not a political suggestion to promote wild government spending.

Lastly, as far as the government's ownership of several giants that would have otherwise failed, the executives running those institutions are consistently issuing statements regarding their promising future after reconstruction. Additionally, as economists point out, none of the current government involvement exceeds the role the government played in personal affairs during the Great Depression. At those times also, many were concerned Washington was promoting a socialist agenda, which combined with the huge military of WWII might have posed a threat to democracy. Of course this did not happen. So, although no one is looking for a war, the catalyst for complete recovery will need to come - this time from organized global commerce versus global war.

President Re-appoints Republican As Fed Chair

By Michael Curtis
Greene Publishing, Inc.

Although debate will likely rage for years regarding the federal government's appropriate role and range of spending and monetary policy, all agree the Chairman of the Federal Reserve has been - and will remain - a central player in that drama.

On February 1, 2006, following nomination by President George W. Bush, Ben Bernanke assumed office as Chairman of the Board of Governors of the United States Federal Reserve. He is the 14th Chairman, succeeding Alan Greenspan, who was appointed in 1987 by Ronald Reagan.

The influence of the Fed Chair is indisputable, typically ranking at or near the top of the most influential people in finance. This distinctive power stems from the role the Federal Reserve plays in the economy, especially in its authority to set interest rates, known as the fed funds rate. As the government's bank and central bank to large depository institutions, the Fed sets the rate at which these institutions can borrow money, which in turn trickles down the line for commercial and mortgage loan purposes.

In addition to raising and lowering interest rates, the Fed regulates financial institutions, controls the money supply and utilizes other actions in an attempt to control inflation, promote low unemployment and stimulate the economy in general, particularly manufacturing. Due to the current financial crisis, the Fed's authority has them front and center in a way never before seen in U.S. history.

During his reappointment announcement, President Obama stated, "Bernanke approached a financial system on the verge of collapse with calm and wisdom; with bold action and outside-the-box thinking that has helped put the brakes on our economic freefall."

The heated political climate regarding both the stimulus package and proposed health care program may surprise some that the president chose to keep a Republican in this seat of power, although Bernanke's credentials certainly make an argument for reappointment. In fact, his educational and professional experience dealing with recession/depression economics, combined with his plans to wind up and then unwind the Fed's elevated involvement in failing financial institutions, have kept him an unchallenged bipartisan selection.

ECONOMIC PINCH HITS THE FARM

According to a recent Wall Street Journal report titled, "Recession Finally Hits Down on the Farm," the current economic downturn has now reached the American farmer, which until recently had weathered the storm comparatively well.

"The American farm, which has weathered the global recession better than most U.S. industries, is starting to succumb to the downturn. The Agriculture Department forecast Thursday that U.S. farm profits will fall 38 percent this year, indicating that the slump is taking hold in rural America. Much of the sector had escaped the harsher aspects of the crisis, such as the big drop in property values plaguing city dwellers and suburbanites," the article goes on to say.

"The Agriculture Department said it expects net farm income - a widely followed measure of profitability - to drop to $54 billion in 2009, down $33.2 billion from last year's estimated net farm income of $87.2 billion, which was nearly a record high. The drop in farm prices is likely to lead to a slower increase in food costs for American consumers, economists say.

"Less than 1 percent of Americans are engaged directly in agriculture. Yet farmers have a big impact on the economy. They are big spenders, produce commodities that are ubiquitous in the economy, and use about half of the nation's land. According to past calculations by the USDA, agriculture and food account for about 13 percent of U.S. gross domestic product.

"The decline in commodity prices also has begun to depress the value of U.S. farmland for the first time in two decades. The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago said in a report it issued Thursday that the price of good quality farmland in Iowa and Michigan was 5 percent lower on July 1 than it was on the same 2008 date.
