

BANKERS PLEDGE TO HELP

THREE THOUSAND BANKERS PROMISE TO ENCOURAGE COTTON REDUCTION

More Food Crops For 1915 Will Be Urged Upon The Farmers By Bankers

Atlanta.—As a result of a campaign by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce during the past month a majority of all bank presidents in the cotton region, more than three thousand in number, have pledged financial aid to farmers who reduce their cotton crop one-half in 1915 and substitute food crops for the other half. They also promise to enlist the supply merchants in this campaign.

It is believed that this will wipe out the cotton surplus in one year and will make a new era of diversified farming in the south.

While other organizations are working to pledge the farmer to a reduction of the cotton crop, this campaign is based on the fact that 80 per cent of the cotton farmers are more or less dependent on bankers or supply merchants for credit. This credit in the past has been based largely on the cotton acreage, and the farmers working under that system are not in a position to change their methods without the aid of the banker or the merchant.

The new plan is a reversal of the credit system of the cotton states, where, heretofore, the average farmer, in securing advances to make a crop, had to show that he would plant enough cotton to pay the debt. Now it is proposed to base credit on less cotton and more food crops.

This will emancipate millions of farmers from the one-crop system, which has retarded the progress of diversified farming in the south for half a century and the new policy will make of the south a great corn and cattle region with cotton as a surplus crop.

This statement is based on the fact that the highest records for corn production were made within the past five years in Georgia, the Carolinas and Alabama, where yields of more than 200 bushels per acre are well authenticated. The total yield in seven southeastern states has risen from 228,000,000 to 353,000,000 bushels in four years.

In September letters were sent to all bank presidents in the cotton region explaining the plan and asking that a pledge of co-operation be signed and returned on a postal card. A majority have signed the pledge and mailed it back. Numbers of them and mailed it back.

U. S. SHIP TO BE RELEASED

Vessels Laden With Copper Had Been Detained By British

Washington.—After a conference between Acting Secretary of State Lansing and Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, it was stated authoritatively that Great Britain probably would release vessels carrying American copper detained at Gibraltar.

It was learned that the Italian government already has declared an embargo on copper exportation to belligerent countries, but that the notification has not formally reached England. As soon as the fact is officially communicated, the steamers destined to Italy will be permitted to continue their voyage, according to the view of British officials here.

Neutral Governments To Act
Incidentally the British ambassador revealed that negotiations were well under way between Great Britain and all neutral countries of Europe whereby neutral governments would act as consignees of all products classed as conditional contraband. It is intended to put the guarantee of each neutral government behind shipments to insure against re-exportation.

Cotton Loan For South Carolina

Columbia, S. C.—The South Carolina legislature has passed a bill providing for the issue of $24,000,000 worth of state bonds, the proceeds to be loaned on cotton stored in warehouses. The measure now goes to Governor Blew for signature. If the governor signs the bill it will be referred to a referendum vote of the people on November 3 for final adoption or rejection. It is not known what the chief executive's attitude will be.

Cotton Not Contraband Of War.

Washington.—Sir Edward Grey, British foreign minister, has assured the United States that England will not interfere with American cotton shipments as "contraband of war." Sir Edward's assurance reached the state department through Ambassador Page, who also reported that the British ship Camperdown, laden with American cotton and products, had been detained at St. Ornavay, Scotland, not because of her manifest, but on account of a disagreement between her owners and charter party.

Mamma's Kiss.
This pretty child story is from the French:

A mother tells her little girl that because she has been naughty she will not kiss her for a week. Before two days have gone by the child's lips hunger so for her mother's kiss that she begs her not to punish her any more.

The mother says: "No, my dear. I told you that I should not kiss you, and I must keep my word."

"But, mamma, mamma," says the little girl, "would it be breaking your word if you should kiss me just once tonight when I am asleep?"

FINE RASH ON BABY'S BODY

1341 Parkwood Pl., N. W., Washington, D. C.—"When my babe was about two weeks old I noticed a scurf on her scalp which gradually grew worse. It started with a fine rash over head and body and made her very restless at night. The rash left the thick scurf on her head. We used —, —, and other remedies recommended by friends, but nothing seemed to do any good.

This continued until she was three months old and by that time it formed sort of a crust, so that her scalp never looked clean. Nothing helped until we used the Cuticura Soap to bathe her and Cuticura Ointment to anoint her. They acted like magic, clearing the scalp entirely. The trouble disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. H. L. Anderson, Mar. 20, 1914.

No Consolation Possible.

Chartres and Amiens may in part console us for a lost Reims; but there is nothing—not even at Constantinople—that would comfort us for a lost St. Mark's. And, supposing Italy at war, and a bombarding fleet in the Adriatic, what should we have to expect in Venice? That little Piazzetta is surrounded by a brief anthology of Italian architecture: the Byzantine church, the Lombard tower, the Gothic Ducal palace, the Renaissance library, one of the masterpieces of its date. And round the corner is the dome of the Salute, and across a little water the beautiful tower of San Giorgio, and further, the Redentore. And besides all these, all Venice!—London Chronicle.

HAS APPROVAL OF PRESIDENT

Nation's Chief Executive Indorses the Movement for Observation of Tuberculosis Day.

President Wilson expresses his approval of the fifth National Tuberculosis day movement during the week of November 29, and also of the work of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in a letter to Dr. George M. Kober, president of that body. He says, among other things:

"I know that I need not assure you of my very profound interest in and sympathy with the work of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and I am delighted to know that you feel encouraged by the results of its efforts. I sincerely hope that November 29, the day which you have designated as Tuberculosis day, will result in awakening the people of the United States still further not only to the necessity, but to the perfect feasibility, of arresting and preventing this terrible disease."

A number of governors are issuing proclamations on the Tuberculosis day campaign, calling on the churches and schools to unite during the week of November 29 in an educational campaign against tuberculosis. The movement is not for the purpose of raising funds, but simply to bring to the people all over the country the essential facts with reference to the treatment and prevention of tuberculosis.

Clergymen and others may secure literature for the preparation of addresses and for general distribution from their local anti-tuberculosis societies or from the office of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, 105 Twenty-second street, New York.

His School Report.

"What did they say to you?" asked little Harry's mother, after his first visit to the new Sunday school.

"The teacher said she was glad to see me there."

"Yes?"

"And she said she hoped I would come every Sunday."

"And was that all she said?"

"No, she asked me if our family belonged to that abomination."

HAD NEGLECTED ONE POINT

Mr. Porter's Magnifying Glass Did Its Work All Right, But Its Owner Forgot Important Thing.

Mr. Porter's judgment was vindicated.

"Ah, ha," he exclaimed, triumphantly, "do you remember that little magnifying glass I gave a dollar for the other day? You say it was a clear waste of money. Well, it has more than paid for itself."

"I detected a counterfeit $2 bill to which I had the presence of mind to apply it. Those bills are so well executed that even the experts can hardly tell them from the genuine, but my little magnifying glass brought out all its defects."

"How clever you are," said Mrs. Porter, "to think of examining money with a magnifying glass. Now you can make the person who gave you the bill take it back. Who did give it to you, anyway?"

"By George!" he said, "I don't remember."

"He has always been very delicate. "Since he commenced taking the Peruna I can go to bed and sleep all night."
