NEWS OF THE HOTELS

Edward C. Seigel and Charles S. Marks, of Erie, Pa., are guests of the Ivy Lane Inn. Mr. Seigel is a regular winter visitor, having spent the past four seasons here .

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. M. Christy, of Des Moines, and friends, Mr. and Mrs E. T. Binnis, of Bryan, Ohio, returned Thursday from a trip to Cuba, and are again at The Palmetto, enroute north.

The following automobile party, Mrs. L. R. Braswell and two daughters, Miss Hood, Senator Magee and daughter, guests at The Palmetto, spent a delightful afternoon in New Smyrna Wednesday.

The following party arrived from Winsten-Salem, N. C., Thursday and are guests at The Ridgewood: Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Chatham, Miss D. T. Chatham, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Galloway, two children and nurse.

Wm. Price, of Philadelphia, architect of the new Clarendon and Mr. Street, engineer of the construction work, who have been at The Palmetto for several days, will be located at Seabreeze after today for the greater convenience of their work.

W. I. Jones, a guest at The Ridgewood, who is a devoted disciple of Iziak Walton, had a most successful fishing bout Tuesday morning at the Inlet, bringing in a large catch of sheepshead, and entertained a number of his friends with the fruits of his spoil at a delightful dinner party Tuesday evening.

Recent arrivals at The Palmetto: S. B. Richardson, Boston; Jos. M. Christy and wife, Des Moines, Iowa; E. T. Binnis and wife, Bryan, Ohio; E. V. Mahoney and wife, New York; Mrs. E. Hertzog, J. P. Rebuking a Greenhorn.

A whist expert discussed at a dinner those overconfident and foolish persons who think they can learn whist in a year or two.

"Such persons should be called to order," the expert said sternly. "I for one am always glad to see them called to order. A young greenhorn stood behind my partner during a game one night. At the end of the hand the greenhorn said:

"'Why didn't you lead hearts? That's what I'd have done.'

"My partner smiled and answered:

"'Ah, but you, my young friend, have the world before you and none but yourself to consider. You have no wife and family dependent on you for bread, and if you lose heavily no one suffers but yourself. With me it is different; hence I led spades.'"

Necessity of Air Baths.

The conditions and conventions of our civilization demand frequent bathing. Any one suspected of avoiding a daily bath would quickly find himself persona non grata in decent society. It is popularly supposed that frequent bathing is essential to health. This is quite untrue. Much of the benefit attributed to the water is in reality due to the complete exposure of the skin to the air. The respiratory function of the skin is of high importance, and, although water may be dispensed with, closing the pores to air would result in speedy asphyxiation.—New York Medical Journal.

A Dreaded Contingency.

A young girl of fourteen was taking a trip on Lake Michigan in a small steamer. The lake was somewhat rough, and many were seasick. The girl sat in the bow and was unusually quiet for her. "Are you feeling sick, daughter?" inquired her father. "No; I don't think I am sick, but I should hate to yawn."—Life.

Blocking Him.

"Say, old man," began Borroughs, "lend me your ear for awhile, will you?"

"My friend," replied Wise, shrewdly suspecting a touch, "I'd gladly lend you both of them; then I wouldn't be able to hear you ask me to lend you anything else."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Inconsistent.

She (pretty, but sedate)—I admire a man who holds fast to his ideal.

He (a ninny)—But—but you won't let me.—Boston Herald.
