COULDN'T FIND THE CASTAWAY

Washington, D. C., March 17.—A cable announces that Frederick Jeffs, the missing American sailor, is probably dead. Jeffs was one of the crew of the Norwegian bark Alexandria, wrecked on Albemarle Island in May, 1907. The crew escaped in two boats. The mate's boat reached the settlement on Chatham Island and was sent to Guayaquil in the island schooner.

The captain's boat was lost on desolate, uninhabited Indefatigable Island, with no boat and no trees to make one. There were plenty of turtles and fish, but no fruit. The sailors suffered many hardships and one died. They had a rifle and a shotgun, but found no game.

The castaways changed their camp after landing to find better water. Jeffs refused to move, saying the chances of being rescued were equally good there or elsewhere. All except Jeffs were rescued by a sloop sent from Guayaquil in October, after they were five months on the island.

The Yankton found the abandoned camp of the captain's party, and the camp and signal pole of a single man by a brackish spring ten miles distant. This camp, it is supposed, was Jeffs'. No vessel is believed to have visited the island since October until the Yankton's call. The Yankton visited many points, fired guns and showed searchlight and rockets at night. The searching parties lived ashore, and two native guides from Chatham accompanied them. One had served three years alone on Indefatigable Island for murder, and knew all about the island. Jeffs could not have gained the interior, as the thick cactus and volcanic formation would prevent him. A rusty razor with the name of Jeffs on the handle was found. The search was abandoned after two days, in which all points where life was possible were visited.

GIVEN UP TO DIE

B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia street, Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured." Why not let it help you? Sold by all dealers.

BATTLESHIPS AT TARGET PRACTICE

San Diego, March 17.—The American battleship fleet now at anchor in Magdalena Bay, Lower California, began the serious work of record target practice this morning, and for the next two or three weeks the usually quiet waters of this harbor will splash and dance under the rain of shot and shell.

The targets will be set and ranges established at the lower end of the bay where it narrows to an island-parted channel leading to Almejas Bay, another land-locked harbor whose natural advantages would stand out strikingly in the search for a naval base in any other part of the world than in close proximity to Magdalena. The ranges are to be set first at 1,000 yards. They will next be extended to 2,000 yards and then to a maximum of 3,000 yards for the smaller target, which is 12 by 21 feet in size.

For the great turret guns—and the 12-inch and 13-inch rifles—the ranges are lengthened from 6,000 to 9,000 yards, and the targets are increased to 30 to 60 feet. As one ordnance officer on the battleships expressed it, it is absolutely essential that the gunners should be able to see the target before they can train the sights upon it. At 6,000 yards the white canvas object to be shot at appears as only a tiny speck.

TRANS-ANDEAN TUNNEL

Backbone of the Continent will be Pierced to Make Way for the World's Highest Railroad

Santiago, Chile, March 17.—The Minister of Public Works and an official committee of American engineers attended the inauguration ceremonies yesterday of the Chilean section of the trans-Andine tunnel, in connection with the railway from Arica, Chile, to La Paz, Bolivia. The tunnel will pierce the summit of the Andes and will be the highest in the world.

The trans-Andine railway project was approved by the Chilean Congress in 1903 and the first section of the railway was inaugurated in 1906. This section reaches from Arica to the foot of the Andes, where the tunnel begins. The line when completed will shorten the time to Buenos Ayres by six hours.

Rose's Forefather

Rare, Aged Corn Whiskey

CORN WHISKEY has often been made a jest of by the misinformed, or given but scant consideration by thousands who have unwittingly associated it with "Moonshiners" and other tales of mountaineer life in the South.

For half a century we have distilled our famous Forefather Corn Whiskey by plain, old open-fire "Primitive Methods." It is the only manner in which the very life—the vim and vigor—of the grain can be reduced, by proper distillation, to a perfectly pure and altogether wholesome whiskey.

Rose's Forefather Corn Whiskey contains all the qualities of an ideal tonic. It strengthens and stimulates, and is very acceptable to weak and delicate stomachs. On account of its tissue-building properties it is prescribed and recommended by many eminent specialists for those suffering from bronchial affections.
