DECEIVED BY A DOUBLE
A New York Judge and Jury Sentenced an Innocent Man to Prison. Released After Serving a Year and a Half
Pittsburg, May 27.—A remarkable case of mistaken identity, leading to the conviction and sentencing of an innocent man whose home is in New York City to the Western Penitentiary for five years on a charge of forgery, came to light the other day when J. C. White, fifty-six years old, was released from the institution, where he had served a year and a half. White had never been in Greensburg, where he was supposed to have committed the crime, until he was taken there to be tried in the fall of 1906. The man who really committed the crime, forgery to a deed for property, is alleged to be a well-known criminal, James Riley, the exact counterpart of White.

The New Yorker owes his exoneration and pardon by Gov. Stuart to Detective Ira L. Barry, who traveled to Michigan to secure that White was there on days when the swindler was operating at Greensburg.
Immediately after being released White left for New York, where friends have secured a position for him. The officials at the penitentiary refuse to give his New York address or to his friends.
It was about three years ago that Riley appeared at Greensburg, Westmoreland County, with another man whom he represented as his son-in-law, and told farmers that he wanted to buy several farms for his son-in-law. He took options on half a dozen farms and then went to Wm. Blank, a wealthy Greensburg broker, and arranged for a loan of $4,000. Soon afterward he appeared with an alleged deed for one of the farms worth $14,000 and secured the loan. The deed was a forgery.
Soon after Riley disappeared, White, who was traveling for a New York firm, arrived at the fashionable Hotel Lincoln here. He was there for several days when one night the hotel detective discovered a game of poker in progress in his room, and he arrested White. As soon as they saw the pictures Westmoreland County people declared that White and Riley were one and the same. Blank and others from Greensburg came here, saw White, and positively identified him as Riley. In spite of his protests, White was taken to Greensburg, where he was placed on trial for forgery, convicted on circumstantial evidence and sentenced to serve five years in the Western Penitentiary.

NEW CANADIAN RAILROAD
Shortens Route Between Duluth and Winnipeg and Facilitates American Entry to the Dominion
Duluth, Minn., May 27.—Special.—A new entrance into western Canada from the United States was completed in the first days of this month, when Duluth got a new connection with Winnipeg and the wheat fields of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, about which so much has been heard during the last five or six years. By a combination of the Mesaba Iron Range and the Duluth, Rainy Lake and Winnipeg railway, conjunction has been made with the Canadian Northern at the international boundary at Fort Frances, so that Duluth which is now 53 miles nearer Winnipeg than by the former route, via Crookston, becomes in a sense, a Canadian northern city for business purposes and a regular passenger service will be inaugurated early in June. More wheat may be expected to be shipped from Duluth to eastern lake ports for Europe, and the city on Lake Superior will get a steadily increasing share of the business of the Canadian west.

An International Link
In these days of the decline of railroad traffic and hesitation about extension, this new link of international transportation is worthy of notice. It happens that in the last monthly returns of all the railways on the continent, the Canadian Northern Railway has the largest increase of any—most lines show decreases. This, of course, is due to the Canadian Northern's position as the principal road to be connected with the expansion of western Canada. It is along its lines that the greater number of the American farmers from the middle western states have settled. It is no wonder that the hauling of wheat which is the foundation of the prosperity of Canadian western railways has increased very rapidly, seeing that so many Americans are settled where they are, for the new-comer from the states is the man who shows other comers to the far-flung plains of the Saskatchewan valley how to hustle. He comes in with his couple of teams, and implements that he has been used to all his life, and the first summer breaks 150 acres of land; that, with good disc harrowing, produces a fine crop of wheat the first season. Lots of these fellows, who have gone into the Saskatchewan country, have paid for their land with the first crop, and have seen values go up anywhere from $20 to $30 an acre in two or three years.

Many Homesteads Available
But the country is not so big that the full tide of immigration has not covered the whole of it, and there are still great numbers of homesteads available at some distance from the railways that have already been built, and the new tracks that are being laid. For instance, there has been a steady flow of settlers to the great Saskatchewan plains, which were formerly most resorted to by the buffalo, the finest judges of pasture. These plains are between the south and north branches of the Saskatchewan river, which is aptly called "the Mississippi of the North." The pioneers of that region asked for a new railway last summer, and before freeze-up, thirty miles out from Saskatoon was graded, ready for the rails this spring. The line will eventually be extended to Calgary in the Province of Alberta, not far from the foothills of the Rock Mountains.

Of Benefit to U. S.
It is remarkable that although western Canada has received and is getting this summer a great number of first-class American farmers the country has caused a great deal more benefit to United States business than loss. All kinds of southern produce, in addition to manufactured goods, are coming over the border every day, and from time to time Canadian newspapers have called attention to the immense number of shipments of United States goods waiting transfer at the Winnipeg freight yards.
And now with the new link between Duluth and Winnipeg, there is another avenue of business, which will be still further improved pretty soon by a direct link up with the fast train between Duluth, Milwaukee and Chicago, which will give to Chicago the fastest connection with Winnipeg, and all the fertile Canadian country west of it.

GOOD FOR EVERYBODY
Mr. Norman R. Coulter, a prominent architect, in the Delbert Building, San Francisco, says: "I fully endorse all that has been said of Electric Bitters as a tonic medicine. It is good for everybody. It corrects stomach, liver and kidney disorders in a prompt and efficient manner and builds up the system." Electric Bitters is the best spring medicine ever sold over a druggist's counter; as a blood purifier it is unequalled. 50c. at all drug-stores.

NORTHERN METHODISTS FOR LOCAL OPTION
Baltimore, May 27.—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has put itself on record as endorsing unqualifiedly the work of the Anti-saloon League, and also favoring local option. Both of these positions are new with the church, as up to this time no special organization has had the specific endorsement of the church. This result was attained only after one of the stormiest meetings yet held, during which the opponents of the majority report called to their aid all manner of parliamentary tactics in their efforts to defeat it. It was contended by the minority adherents that it was wrong for the general conference to endorse any particular organization and also that it was distinct lowering of the standard for the church to come out in favor of local option. The majority supporters maintained that the Anti-saloon League was worthy of this recognition, declaring that it is the organization that is doing the work for temperance at the present time, fusing as it does all other societies and efforts into one. They uphold local option on the ground that it was to be used toward state-wide prohibition. When the final vote was taken but 19 out of the entire body of 750 delegates registered in favor of the minority report.

GOOD WORDS FOR CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. Edward Phillips of Barclay, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl, Catherine, who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cold since she was two months old. About a month ago I contracted a cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

MADE HER EXCUSE
A tiny 4-year-old was spending a night away from home, says the Boston Herald.
At bedtime she knelt at the knee of her hostess to say her prayers, expecting the usual prompting.
Finding Mrs. B. unable to help her out, she concluded thus:
"Please, God, 'scuse me. I can't remember my prayers, and I'm staying with a lady who don't know any."
