DO YOU DESIRE A COUNTY FAIR?

There has been considerable discussion lately about getting up a county fair in Ocala for January 1, 1909. Every person interested in this move will please meet at Dr. Guerrant's new horse hospital, Sept. 5th to discuss plans and formulate methods whereby the fair can be made a success.

Genial Captain E. B. Richardson, of the Homosassa Inn, came up Sunday and returned home Monday. Judging from his looks he is enjoying the best of health and has found that spring of youth so much wanted in Florida. He says he certainly has made that discovery at the head waters of the Homosassa and from the purity of its waters he calls it the Florida Poland Spring.

STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Tallahassee, Fla., August 19.—The State College for Women looks forward to next school year as a season of victorious achievements for her students. The new dormitory, which will accommodate one hundred and sixty girls, is finished. Handsome new furnishings, costing over $4,000 will be put in soon. The parlors are to be set up in mission furniture, upholstered in finest leather. The reception rooms of East Hall will also be supplied with attractive new furniture. The many improvements, now in progress on the campus will add greatly to the pleasing appearance of the grounds.

Although some of our ablest teachers will not return to us, their places are to be filled by teachers who have attained a remarkable success in their several lines of work. Prof. Bucholz will be succeeded by Dr. C. J. Heatwole, a Virginian, who is a graduate of Peabody College, Nashville, and of Columbia University, N. Y. He has had wide experience as superintendent of schools and as a lecturer before teachers' institutes. At present he is principal of the summer school at the University of Virginia.

Miss Milred Dalzell of Florence, Ala., will have charge of the department of expression and physical culture. Miss Dalzell is a graduate of the University of Michigan and of the Northwestern University, and is widely known as a reader.

Our new director of music will be Miss Martha Cline, sister of Miss Sarah Cline, our teacher of voice. For several years Miss Cline has been at the head of the conservatory of music in Little Rock, Arkansas. She is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory, and has studied under Dr. Sherwood of Chicago. When we remember the fine training which our last years' voice class received from Miss Sarah Cline, we feel specially fortunate in adding her sister to our music faculty.

Miss Emma Hall Tarbet will come as teacher of pipe organ and piano-forte. She is a graduate of Blackburn University and of N. E. Conservatory of Music. She has studied in Boston and at the National Conservatory of Music, New York, and she has had two years private instruction under Dr. Louis Mass and Joseffy. Two years of additional study in Germany and Switzerland, with experience as teacher of music in several of the leading colleges of the United States, have prepared this lady well for the responsible position that she is to assume. Miss Tarbet is a fine performer on the pipe organ.

Mrs. Florence Dillard Hequembourg will have charge of the instruction in violin. She has studied under the masters in Boston, Cincinnati and New York and under famous violinists in Berlin and Brussels. She has taught and concertized in New York, Washington City and Richmond, Va.

The college strengthened by its new equipments and its very able faculty, is prepared to offer most excellent opportunities for the education of Florida's young women.

George R. McKean, of Ocala, head of the McKean Lumber Company, having offices in Tampa and Ocala, and prominent as an officer in the state telephone association, is in Tampa today looking after interests at this point. Mr. McKean will return to Ocala in a few days. He established the Tampa office about two weeks ago.—Tampa Tribune.

Jack McCully was in town today from the Berlin section. Jack said Ed Freyermouth, the well borer, was sinking a drive well at the Fellowship school. The well has been sunk to a depth of 125 feet, but the flow of water did not meet expectations and the shaft would be driven deeper. Mr. McCully came in for piping. Speaking of good roads, Mr. McCully said he was going to work in a few days on claying the sandy spots in the Blitchton road and he hopes to show a piece of work that would be pleasing to the people and county-commissioners. The idea is a good one; taking the deep sand beds and hardening them with clay.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Harter, of Ventura, Calif., but now on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Harter of Sparr, are in the city for a week guests of Mr. T. J. Owen. Mr. Harter is a pioneer settler of Marion, being one of the first to plant orange groves around Sparr. Although past seventy-five he bears his years well and is as bright and cheerful as a man of twenty-five.

Little Miss Frances Liddon of Ocala who is here spending a while with her sister, Mrs. J. M. Dell, Jr., left yesterday for a trip to Worthington Springs, where she will be the guest of relatives.—Gainesville Sun.

Masons meet tomorrow evening.

FOLKS-PEDRICK

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Sunday morning at 9:30 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. James Pedrick, of Romeo, when her daughter, Miss Addie, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Folks. Notary W. O. Brewer of Romeo, performed the ceremony. Miss Hilma Folks played the wedding march.

The fair bride was gowned in a lovely white silk princess dress with beautiful trimmings of laces and ribbons. The groom wore the conventional black.

The parlors were decorated with ferns and flowers. After the ceremony the wedding party were invited to the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Brewer of Romeo, where they partook of an elegant dinner. After the social hour the newly married pair boarded the A. C. L. train in the midst of showers of rice and good wishes for their home in Jacksonville.

Mrs. Folks is an accomplished young lady and was one of Romeo's fair belles. She will be missed by all of her friends.

ACKNOWLEDGED BY ANNIS

Just Before His Death that He Had Been Guilty of a Great Wrong

New York, August 19.—New light is expected to be thrown upon the Bay Side Yacht Club tragedy at the inquest into the death of William E. Annis, who was killed Saturday by Captain Peter C. Haines, Jr., United States Army.

Dr. Henry Houghton, the physician who was at the side of Annis when he lost consciousness, was quoted today as intimating that Annis, in his last moments acknowledged he was paying with his life for a wrong he had committed.

"He told certain things to me," Dr. Houghton is quoted as saying, "which no one else heard, and which I have told to no one. When I am called upon to testify before the coroner's jury, I probably will make it public."

That there was absolutely nothing in the attitude of either of the Haines to indicate that they were laboring under any delusion or great excitement at the time of the shooting, was asserted by the doctor. It was understood that Mrs. Haines intends to take some action towards compelling the return of her children to her.

FEARFUL CRIME NEAR DADE CITY

H. A. Lane Shot Dead and His Wife Accuses Her Brother of the Deed

(Special to the Tampa Tribune.)

Dade City, August 18.—Struck by three bullets from ambush, one of the lean missiles striking and breaking his neck, H. A. Lane was killed about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon as he was driving along the road five miles from this city.

With Lane at the time he was shot was his wife. The horse, frightened at the shots, started to run away and the woman and the lifeless body of the man were hurled to the roadside. Mrs. Lane, however, was not seriously hurt and she rose from the ground in time to see at least one of her husband's assailants well enough, she declared at the inquest, to identify him as her own brother, "Eth" Ethington.

Inquest Still in Session Sheriff Sturkie and County Judge Wallace were notified at once of the murder and they went to the scene. A coroner's jury was impaneled at once and the taking of the evidence of Mrs. Lane brought out such sensational features that they took a careful note of the scene of the tragedy and returned to Dade City, where the inquest was continued today. This afternoon the inquest had not been completed and it is expected that another session will be held tomorrow morning when important developments are expected.

Mrs. Lane testifies that when she raised herself from the ground she caught a glimpse of her brother peering through the bushes. She could not tell whether he had a revolver or rifle, but she held firmly to her statement that she could not be mistaken as to his identity. She declared further that she saw others but was unable to tell who they were. At 4 o'clock this afternoon no arrests had been made, but it was thought the officials would make arrests before night.

Lane Was Unpopular

There had been bad blood in the neighborhood in which the Lanes lived and about two weeks ago he was notified to leave the community. This he did, but returned last Saturday night and declared he intended to reside in his old home. Whether this will be found to have a bearing on the murder is not at present known to the public, but it was given as a significant fact at the inquest today.

REPROACH WILL BE REMOVED

From the Name of High Springs—The Good Citizens Determined to Drive Out the Thugs

Thoroughly aroused over the manner in which the reputation of the home town has been blackened by the operation of a thieving and murderous gang of thugs for years past, the good people of High Springs are doing everything in their power to have the gang broken up and bring to justice the murderer or murderers of W. H. Mooreland, the travelling man. The state is also aiding in the movement in every way possible, and there is hope that at no distant date the High Springs gang will be made a thing of the past.

Prominent Citizens Here

W. A. Bexley, justice of the peace at High Springs, and father of Will Bexley, the young man arrested with one Troupe Osteen on suspicion of having murdered Mooreland, visited the Metropolitan office this morning and asked to be shown the original of the threatening letter published yesterday afternoon, and his request was granted.

Mr. Bexley, who is one of the best known citizens of High Springs, was somewhat perturbed over the fact that the writer of the letter stated that "Billie," meaning his son, had killed Mooreland, and declared the letter was nothing less than an attempt of guilty parties to place the stigma of guilt on his son.

"There is not a man living," said Mr. Bexley, "who is as deeply interested as I in learning who murdered Mooreland, for my son has the charge hanging over his head. I am working on the case to the very best of my ability, and will not rest until my boy is proven innocent and the real murderer discovered. The good people of High Springs are also aroused on the subject, and will do everything possible to solve the mystery."

Regarding the recent fire, to which the anonymous writer alluded, Mr. Bexley stated that he was the heaviest individual loser of the town, his loss amounting to nearly $5,000. He hoped to get some clue from examining the handwriting in the anonymous letter, but was unable to do so.

Publication of the anonymous letters in the Metropolitan has served to arouse the state more thoroughly than ever, by reason of which it is believed the murderous gang will eventually be done away with, by course of law.—Jacksonville Metropolitan, 18th.

DETERMINED TO DIE

A Desperate Young Woman of Pittsburg Tried to Ride to Destruction

Pittsburg, August 19.—Lying on Beechwood boulevard, at the edge of a precipice, the unconscious body of a good-looking young woman was found last night by Congressman James Francis Burke and several friends. Standing near by, quivering in every limb, was a riderless horse, and it was at first supposed that the young woman, who was dressed in a riding habit had met with an accident.

She was hurriedly lifted into the automobile in which the party was riding and a record run was made to the country club. There, on a table in the dining room, Dr. J. H. Williamson, who was among the guests gathered for a banquet, worked over the girl for two hours before he brought her back to consciousness. Society men and women, in evening dress, acted as nurses, and several of them had their clothes splattered with blood, which streamed from several wounds on the girl's head.

From a note found in her dress it was learned that the girl was Miss Elizabeth Russell, aged twenty-four years, daughter of J. W. Russell, of Homestead. From this note, which was addressed to her mother, and also from her rambling talk, it was learned that the girl had attempted suicide.

She had selected a remarkable way to end her life. Seating herself in the saddle, astride her favorite horse, Miss Russell had whipped the animal into a mad gallop. Then at the edge of a precipice she plunged head foremost from the galloping animal. Instead of going over the precipice, however, she struck with her head against a stone wall. She sustained several terrible cuts, and her skull is fractured, but prompt work on the part of the banqueters at the country club undoubtedly saved her life.

The only motive known for Miss Russell attempting the deed was that she had quarreled with her mother yesterday afternoon.

SOLDIERS MUST STAY SOME TIME IN SPRINGFIELD III Feeling Towards Negroes is Suppressed Only by Their Presence Springfield, Ill., August 19.—One more victim was added to the death list of the Springfield mob last night, when G. W. Scott succumbed to a gunshot wound in the lungs sustained Friday night. Scott's death brings the total fatalities to six and is the fourth chargeable to the disorder in the "black belt" near Twelfth and Madison streets. It was there that the hunted negroes made their stand, firing on the mob from the windows and roofs. "Wait until the troops go," is the word that has been passed around town. An attack upon the pickets and the forced flight of 150 negroes from the corn fields on the outskirts of the city to the state arsenal kept the militia busy yesterday morning. Firing upon the sentries and their answering shots occurred less than two blocks from the headquarters of Governor Young at the county jail. No one was injured in the affray, but flying bullets from the carbines of the troops caused consternation in the district. The trouble followed an attempt to set fire to a factory building. The clearing out of corn fields southeast of the city, where negro refugees had camped, was the result of a successive night of terror in Harvard Park. The Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's Association are supporting the governor's appeal for the fastening of the responsibility of the riot on the ringleaders. Rewards have been offered by the governor in each of the cases of violent death during the rioting. The governor is determined to punish all proven to have participated in the deeds of violence, and plans for the prosecution have been completed, and it is stated that it will be swift, certain and impartial. When asked today what he thought would be the probable duration of the stay of his troops in Springfield, the general in charge shook his head. He could put no limit on the time.
