The Tampa Fertilizer Co. will be large importers of chemicals from Germany and other countries. The stuff will be brought in shiploads and brought to Tampa without transshipment. Having ample capital and such connections, the Tampa concern will be able to purchase raw materials at the lowest cost and turn them into high grade fertilizers. This will allow consumers to obtain the highest class of goods at a low figure.

Col. W. H. Fuller, of Tampa, is vice president and treasurer of the company. He is well known throughout this state as a man well versed in the business. V. H. Lanier, also of Tampa, and intimately connected with Colonel Fuller, is secretary. The capitalization is $100,000.—Tampa Times.

This fertilizer factory will be a big thing for Tampa and will be the first of its kind in the state. It will not only give Tampa a new industry but it will also give it a new source of revenue. The fact that the city has been so long without a factory is a source of embarrassment caused by the temporary nature of the business.

The Star job office is about completing the delivery of 2,500 copies of the colored Odd Fellows Journal as recorded by Rev. S. D. Stewart and compiled by Jas. S. LaRoche, the latter the able and efficient secretary of the grand lodge of the state. There are over 200 pages of interesting material to all concerned, as it deals with the proceedings and history of the organization. The jurisdiction has over 6,000 contributive members and the endowment fund and its distributions were over $40,000.

What a New Jersey Editor Says M. T. Lynch, Editor of the Philadelphia Record, writes: "I have used many kinds of medicines for coughs and colds in my family but never anything so good as Foley's Kidney and Bladder Pills. I cannot say too much in praise of it." Sold by all dealers.

Sheriff Coleman, of Sumter county, had a few trusty prisoners whom he let out in the jail yard ten days ago and at night when he went to lock them up, they attacked him, did him up and made their escape. He has been looking for them ever since.

Yesterday the sheriff happened to be at Coleman and noticing two persons passing along at some distance and not knowing whether they were white or black, called to them to halt so he could ascertain who they were. Instead of obeying his command, the two men started to run, and the sheriff drew his pistol and fired, one ball hitting one of the men in the back and passing through his body. He dropped and when the sheriff came up to him he was discovered to be a white man and was carrying a sack containing five chickens. It is feared the man will die.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Robinson are at the delightful valley and mountain town of Waynesville, N. C., where Mr. Robinson, "Sunny Jim," was ordered by his physician for a rest to prevent a breakdown. They expect to remain there three or four weeks, when Mr. R. will again take the road for Hub shoes, made in Savannah, Miss Fannie Robinson is visiting her aunt, Mrs. J. E. Marlow, of Savannah. Miss Rosebud Robinson is also visiting in Savannah, but next week will visit Mrs. A. K. Taylor in Jacksonville.

The Jacksonville Industrial Record is moving at such a terrific rate that the road to prosperity and success that it will sacrifice its Optimum printing press that cost $4,000 for $1,000, to make room for a larger and faster machine. If any of the fraternity need a press, now is their opportunity.

INTELLIGENCE AND SUCCESS

We reproduce elsewhere an account of a visit made by Mr. Z. C. Chambliss to the experiment station, which is a part of the University of Florida. Mr. Chambliss is an intelligent, practical business man. When the writer first knew him, he was a country merchant. He is now and has been for several years, at the head of Ocala's largest banking institution. As a side line he is a farmer and breeder of fine stock, but he is no less practical and intelligent in these lines than in other business affairs and is making money out of his farming operations. As an all-around business man who has made a brilliant success of whatever he has undertaken his opinion regarding the experiment station and university is worthy of attention, and it is noteworthy that he thinks these institutions well worth the money that is being spent upon them—an opinion differing very considerably from the opinion of some of the state's embryo statesmen, who have succeeded little and thought less, but who nevertheless essay leadership in public matters that call for the profoundest consideration of men who think and act and accomplish. So far as the Telegraph is concerned we prefer to follow the teaching and example of the Chamblisses of Florida. He belongs to the type of citizens who are making for the development of our resources and the permanent betterment and elevation of our citizenship. He is a large taxpayer and therefore a contributor to the state's institutions that are maintained by taxation, but instead of expounding the selfish and parsimonious view of the croaker, he sees the improvement that money judiciously spent on such institutions will bring to the state and not only pays his quota of the taxes ungrudgingly, but throws in a word of approval and encouragement. Such men are safe leaders. No town, or county or state was ever uplifted or developed by croakers, and no vital public interest was ever promoted by the class of men in public life who see no farther ahead than the end of their noses.—Stark Telegraph.

Two Floridians Victims of the Hold-Up in Yellowstone Park "Hands up, there! Your money or your life, and get busy!" As stated by the press dispatches, a stern demand to the above effect was hurled at the occupants of nine stage coaches, held up in Yellowstone Park by a lone highwayman last Monday, and among the number given the "quakes" and forced to "cough up" were two prominent Floridians, B. Drew, of Orlando, and his stepson, H. Gaskin.

Messrs. Drew and Gaskin were so unfortunate as to occupy the front seat of one of the stage coaches, and were, therefore, the first to come within range of the highwayman's frowning "artillery." Mr. Drew "coughed" the sum of $90 without hesitation, and young Gaskin was forced to dismount, hold the highwayman's sack, passing it along to passengers in eight coaches while they, at the point of a gun, dropped in valuables to the amount of $6,000 in cash and $10,000 in drafts, held by a Pennsylvania banker who narrowly missed death on account of attempting to escape.

In view of the experience, Messrs. Drew and Gaskin will undoubtedly be glad to get back to the quietude of Orlando as soon as possible. Chances for arresting the bold bandit are regarded as very poor.

FIVE KILLED IN A MINE ACCIDENT Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 29.—Five men were killed, another is expected to die and five others were seriously injured in a collision late yesterday at the Warrion Run Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, six miles from this city. The men were being hoisted up the slope when a runaway mine car struck a train of mine cars on which were twenty men who were employed in the mine. Only six of them escaped injuries. Those killed were horribly mangled.

TEN YEARS IN BED "For ten years I was confined to my bed with disease of my kidneys," writes R. A. Gray, J. P., of Oakville, Ind. "It was so severe that I could not move part of the time. I consulted the very best medical skill available, but could get no relief until Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended to me. It has been a Godsend to me." Sold by all dealers.

LYNCHING IN TENNESSEE Nashville, Aug. 29.—After confessing that he was the negro who had attempted an assault upon Miss Morris, living seven miles from Murfreesboro, a small city about thirty miles from Nashville, George Johnson was taken from the sheriff about 9 o'clock last night and lynched by a mob which had formed for the purpose.

A FLOOD IN NEW MEXICO Trinidad, Col., Aug. 29.—A flood in the Cimmaron river, following a cloudburst, washed away a number of dwellings at Folsom, N. M., last night. Fifteen persons are reported to have been drowned. Eleven bodies have been recovered. Ten miles of track and twelve bridges on the Colorado and Southern railway were washed out. Trains have been laid out forty-eight hours.

THE EYES THAT LOVE Thank God for eyes that smile, They brighten life, the darkest, bleakest day, Beam in the heart that opened long to gulle, Lighten the shadows, chase the cloud away, Where'er their glory falls a heart is blest; Where'er they gleam a hope is born again; And in them lies a prophesy of rest, Of peace and joy and sweet surcease from pain, Thank God for eyes that weep, 'Tis sweet to feel we need not mourn alone, To know another with our soul doth keep Its bitter vigil when the light has flown, 'Tis theirs to bring a solace perfect, pure, To do the work of angels sent to bless; And in our deepest sorrow to insure Our stricken lives from utter wretchedness, But most for eyes that love, We thank the God, their mission is so great; No depths too low, no heights too far above, For them to touch, 'tis theirs to compensate, All loss, all pain, and theirs to deepen each, New joy to bliss, a bliss so strange and rare, Men speak it not, but in their rapture reach The very gates of heaven, resting there. —September Farm Journal.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson IX.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 30, 1908. THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES. Text of the Lesson, I Sam. xxvi, 17-23. Memory Verse, 21—Golden Text, Luke vi, 27—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns. [Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.] David is still fleeing for his life from Saul, for Saul sought him every day and said, "If he be in the land I will search him out throughout all the thousands of Judah" (xxii, 14, 23), but God delivered him not into his hand. On one occasion Saul and his men compassed David and his men round about to take them, but just then a messenger came to Saul saying, "Haste thee and come, for the Philistines have invaded the land," so Saul returned from pursuing David (xxii, 26, 27). After the parting of David and Jonathan, as recorded in last week's lesson, there followed that incident to which our Lord referred in Matt. xii, 3, when He said, "Have ye not read what David did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him?" These lessons were therefore a familiar portion to our Lord, as were all the Scriptures, which He loved to unfold to His disciples. That day at Nob the devil was on hand in the person of Doeg the Edomite, Saul's chief herdsman, and he became the murderer of eighty-five priests, besides other men and women and children, by the command of Saul (xxii, 18, 19). Abiathar, one of the priests, escaped and fled to David and told him the sad tale, leading David to feel that he was guilty of the death of all those people. It was then that David uttered those memorable words to Abiathar, "Abide thou with me; fear not, for he that seeketh my life seeketh thy life, but with me thou shalt be in safeguard" (xxii, 23). When we think of the slaughter of these priests of the Lord, the massacre of the babes at Bethlehem and the martyrs in all ages, we are simply dumb, yet tempted to ask, Where is the love of God in all this? Then we remember that He said to His disciples, "Fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul" (Matt. x, 28), and He has also taught us that "to die is gain," so that some day we shall see that all this work of the devil brought no real harm to these martyred ones, but only gain. We cannot see it now, but we can believe it, and believing is seeing—faith is the eye of the soul. The story of today's lesson does not tell us of the first time that David had Saul in his power. See in chapter xxiv how completely David had him and how easily he might have disposed of him, but he refrained, saying, "I will not put forth my hand against my lord, for He is the Lord's anointed" (xxiv, 10). He simply cut off the skirt of Saul's robe privily that he might afterward show him how he had him in his power and if possible make him ashamed of himself and of his folly. He succeeded for a time and in some measure, as we learn from Saul's words in the end of that chapter. But, as we said in a previous lesson, no reliance can be placed upon such a man possessed with such an evil spirit, and now he is again pursuing him with 3,000 chosen men (xxvi, 1, 2), and again God puts Saul in David's power and causes a deep sleep to come upon Saul and his men while David and Abiathar (David's sister's son) came by night and took the spear and the cruse of water from Saul's bolster, and none of Saul's men saw it nor knew it nor awaked because of that deep sleep from the Lord. It must have been a sleep from the Lord which held the guard to whom Peter was chained that night of his deliverance by the angel (Acts xii, 6). When Abiathar urged David to take advantage of his opportunity and let him smite Saul to the earth, promising that one thrust would do the work, David again refused to stretch forth his hand against the Lord's anointed, saying, "As the Lord liveth, the Lord shall smite him, or his day shall come to die, or he shall descend into battle and perish" (verse 10). He would leave his enemy wholly to God and keep his hands off. It is possible for us to commit our way and our works and all people and things so wholly to God and so leave them there that we can dwell in God and see Him only. When David had put a good distance between Saul and himself he cried out to Abner, the captain of Saul's host, and told him what a valiant man he was and how well he had cared for his master. Saul recognized David's voice. David replied to him, asking if it was God or man who had so stirred him against him, comparing himself to a flea and a partridge, as he had formerly to a dead dog and a flea (verse 20; chapter xxiv, 14). Saul seemed penitent again, confessed that he had erred and played the fool and sinned and asked David to return, assuring him that he would no more do him harm. David asked him to send for his spear, reminding him again how he had spared his life and appealed to the Lord to render to every man His righteousness and faithfulness. Note David's habit of continually inquiring of the Lord (xxiii, 2, 4, 9-12) and see Prov. iii, 5, 6; in chapter xxv the death of Samuel, and the story of Abigail, good and beautiful, and her foolish, drunken husband. See her kind words of encouragement to David (verses 28-31) and note particularly these: "The soul of my Lord shall be bound in the bundle of life with the Lord thy God." Appropriate this to yourself.
