

A LAZY LIVER

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over-work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver complaint," or torpid liver, by its wonderful control over the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system of poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the deflection of other organs.

Symptoms. If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, bitter or sour "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, or biliousness, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver, or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot breads and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to it until you are vigorous and strong.

Of Golden Seal root, which is one of the prominent ingredients of "Golden Medical Discovery," Dr. Roberts Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, says: "Very useful as a stomachic (stomach) tonic and in atonic dyspepsia. Cures gastric (stomach) catarrh and headaches accompanying same."

Dr. Grover Coe, of New York, says: "Hydrastis (Golden Seal root) exercises an especial influence over mucous surfaces. Upon the liver it acts with equal certainty and efficacy. As a cholagogue (liver invigorator) it has few equals." Dr. Coe also advises it for affections of the spleen and other abdominal viscera generally, and for scrofulous and glandular diseases, cutaneous eruptions, indigestion, debility, chronic diarrhoea, constipation, also in several affections peculiar to women, and in all chronic derangements of the liver, also for chronic inflammation of bladder, for which Dr. Coe says "it is one of the most reliable agents of cure."

Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati, author of the AMERICAN DISPENSARY, gives it a prominent place among medicinal agents, reiterates all the foregoing writers have said about it, as does also Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati. Dr. Scudder says: "It stimulates the digestive processes and increases the assimilation of food. By these means the blood is enriched. * * * the consequent improvement on the glandular and nervous systems are natural results." Dr. Scudder further says, "in relation to its general effect upon the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic, useful in all debilitated states * * *"

Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says of Golden Seal root: "It is a most superior remedy in catarrhal gastritis (inflammation of the stomach), chronic constipation, general debility, in convalescence from protracted fevers, in prostrating night-sweats. It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb." (This agent, Golden Seal root, is an important ingredient of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for women's weaknesses, as well as of the "Golden Medical Discovery." Dr. Ellingwood certifies, "in all catarrhal conditions it is useful.")

Much more, did space permit, could be quoted from prominent authorities as to the wonderful curative properties possessed by Golden Seal root.

We want to assure the reader that "Golden Medical Discovery" can be relied upon to do all that is claimed for Golden Seal root in the cure of all the various diseases as set forth in the above brief extracts, for its most prominent and important ingredient is Golden Seal root. This agent is, however, strongly reinforced, and its curative action greatly enhanced by the addition, in just the right proportion of Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure glycerine. All of these are happily and harmoniously blended into a most perfect pharmaceutical compound, now favorably known throughout most of the civilized countries of the world. Bear in mind that each and every ingredient entering into the "Discovery" has received the endorsement of the leading medical men of our land, who extol each article named above in the highest terms. What other medicine put up for sale through druggists can show any such professional endorsement? For dyspepsia, liver troubles, all chronic catarrhal affections of whatever name or nature, lingering coughs, bronchial, throat and lung affections, the "Discovery" can be relied upon as a sovereign remedy.

A little book of extracts treating of all the several ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines, being extracts from standard medical works, of the different schools of practice will be mailed free to any one asking (by postal card or letter), for the same, addressed to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and giving the writer's full post-office address plainly written.

Lesson X.—Third Quarter, For Sept. 6, 1908.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, I Sam. xxxi. Memory Verse, 6.—Golden Text, Amos iv, 12.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

(Copyright, 1908, by American Press Association.)

Notwithstanding Saul's assurance in last week's lesson that he would not any more attempt to harm David, David felt it to be wise to get out of his reach, so he and his 600 went into the land of the Philistines, to Achish, king of Gath, who gave him Ziklag as his own town, and he dwelt there a year and four months. When Saul heard that he had gone to Gath he sought no more again for him (xxvii, 1-7). David's strange conduct before Achish in chapter xxi, 10-15, his now seeking refuge with him and yet lying to him, all show us at least this—That God finds the best of man but very poor material and has great occasion to exercise continual forgiveness. There is but one perfect man in all the Bible story, and we must learn to see Jesus only. In chapter xxviii we have an instance of consulting spirits and what came of it. We know that this sort of thing is all of the devil and is an abomination unto the Lord (Deut. xviii, 10-12), but in this case the woman got more than she expected, and Samuel was allowed to appear with a message to Saul which he had not expected and which certainly had no comfort for him in it. There is no use in saying that the work of mediums and so-called spiritualists is all humbug and sleight of hand. No doubt much of it is, but whatever is real about it is the work of the devil, and we have no record of God ever interfering as He did in the case of Samuel.

The Philistines gathered their armies against Israel, and David and his 600 went out with them, but the princes of the Philistines insisted that they return, and David yielded to the entreaty of Achish and returned, only to find that the Amalekites had invaded the south and had burned Ziklag and had taken captive all those who had been left in it. Then David and his 600 went till they had no more power to till; but, worst of all, David's men turned against him and spake of stoning him. In this time of great darkness it is written that "David encouraged himself in the Lord his God" (xxx, 6). Compare II Tim. iv, 16-18. The story of David's inquiring of the Lord, of his finding the young man of Egypt, one of the band of the Amalekites, and how he pursued them and smote them and recovered all is told in the rest of the chapter. Fall to notice in verse 24 the law that those who tarry by the stuff are to share equally with those who go out to the battle, and let the home ones find comfort and encouragement.

Our special lesson chapter is the record of the defeat of Israel by the Philistines and is summed up in verse 6 in these words: "So Saul died, and his three sons, and his armor bearer, and all his men that same day together." The Philistines' treatment of the bodies of Saul and his sons when they found them among the slain on the battlefield the next day is indeed a sad story concerning those who might have been the honored of the Lord. So also is the record of the burning of the bodies and the burial of the bones under a tree at Jabesh. What God would have done for Israel had they relied on Him is seen in the words of Deut. xxxii, 30, "How should one chase a thousand and two put ten thousand to flight?"

It was illustrated in David's victory over Goliath, and also the day that Jonathan and his armor bearer saw the power of God on their behalf (chapter xiv), and in every case where Israel walked with God and relied upon Him. What cannot wonder at anything that might overtake Saul, but to see Jonathan among the slain and his body so ill treated does seem sad indeed, and we can heartily join in David's lamentation in II Sam. i, 25, 26. Some might not be able to join so heartily in his kind words concerning Saul, but we all know that we are apt to think and speak as well as possible of people after they are gone, however much they may have wronged us while they lived. It is wonderful how much good may be seen at such a time even in one's enemies. Would it not be well to see as much good as possible even in the worst people at all times and, while hating sin, love the sinner even as our Lord has taught us? While we know that all are by nature children of wrath and that in us—that is, in our flesh—dwelleth no good thing, in the sight of God (Eph. ii, 2, 3; Rom. vii, 18) there is much in all, compared with others, that might be commended, and thus by kind words they might be drawn to Him who is altogether lovely, who said, "Neither do I condemn thee." What a most glorious gospel it is, this gospel of the grace of God, which makes known to us a love as far exceeding that of David and Jonathan as heaven is higher than the earth! As to the condition of those who go out from us, the Lord Himself has drawn aside the veil in Luke xvi. As for the righteous, those who can say, "In the Lord have I righteousness and strength" (Isa. xlv, 24), we know that "to die is gain" (Phil. i, 21, 23). We know also that no real evil can ever befall those who are truly the Lord's, for nothing can pass through the hedge or the wall of fire without His permission, and He is love, and such love is always kind.

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold A. J. Nusbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business. I had many of the symptoms of hay fever, and a doctor's prescription did not reach my case, and I took several medicines which seemed to only aggravate my case. Fortunately I insisted upon having Foley's Honey and Tar in the yellow package, and it quickly cured me. My wife has since used Foley's Honey and Tar with the same success." Sold by all druggists.

TREED THE WRONG COON

The Negro Accused of the Act that Incited the Springfield Riots Proves to be Innocent

Springfield, Sept. 5.—There was a startling denouement in the grand jury investigation of the recent riots, which cost seven lives and in which seventy persons were wounded and injured, property valued at $125,000 was destroyed and the state was put to an expense of several thousand dollars to maintain the 4,200 national guardsmen while peace was being restored.

Mrs. Earl Hallam, whose alleged wrongs the mob avenged in a general attack on the blacks, sprang the surprise. Mrs. Hallam swore to an affidavit exonerating George Richardson, one of the negroes spirited out of Springfield to avoid being lynched. She declares he is not the negro who, she says, attacked her.

Following the filing of this affidavit, Earl Hallam, the woman's husband, appeared before Justice Weaver and obtained a warrant for the arrest of Ralph Burton, son of the negro, Scott Burton, who was one of the first victims the mob lynched after it overcame the police and Springfield militia companies hastily called out by Governor Deneen.

The state's attorney, his assistants and Hallam decline to say what evidence they have connecting Burton with the alleged attack. They say, however, they have justifiable evidence and are convinced Richardson is innocent. Richardson protested his innocence from the first.

After Richardson's arrest, there was so much talk of lynching him and another negro, who killed a white man for defending his daughter's honor, that Sheriff Warner borrowed an automobile of Harry Loper, a national guard officer, to get them out of the city. The mob wrecked Loper's restaurant, and then set fire to several blocks of buildings occupied by negroes. More than half of the negro population of 4,500 souls fled from the city.

The work of the special grand jury, which has been in session for fourteen days, was completed yesterday afternoon with the following report:

"After the most diligent inquiry we condemn in unmeasured terms the cowardly, contemptuous action of those members of the police force who, having taken the oath of office, failed to do their duty; men who were paid from money obtained from the pockets of the people of this city to protect life and property; men who were ordered by heads of departments to go out and disperse the mob and who not only failed to do a club, handle a pistol or raise a voice against the mob, on the side of law and order, but some of whom are known to have assisted by act and word in doing the work that has brought the blush of shame to every law-abiding citizen of this city; men who under oath are bound and who, had they acted promptly, could have driven back to the obscurity from whence it came the mob that for a time assumed to hold Springfield in its bloody grasp. "We recommend that the civil service commission of the city of Springfield, without fear or favor, and while evidence can easily be obtained, determine by fair trial who failed to prove himself a worthy member of the force and deal with him accordingly.

"We further recommend that the civil service commission inquire diligently into the so-called 'third degree' or sweating process said to be carried on in various cases in the city prison, and if it is found that after an arrest a prisoner is struck by hand or club, or otherwise mistreated, either in the city prison or in any of the rooms connected therewith, that the same be stopped."

A NEGRO METHESLAW
Death at Interlachen of Wade Hampton's Body Servant
Interlachen, Sept. 5.—A few days ago "Uncle Hampton," a respected negro, aged 109 years, died near here. Hampton was born in the last years of the eighteenth century, imported from Africa when quite young, and was for a number of years kept on a slave ship and employed as a decoy to lure others of his race where they could be captured and carried to this country. Later he was one of the slaves of Gen. Wade Hampton, his "body servant" he termed himself, and he remained in the service of General Hampton until the negroes were given their freedom. He was a negro of intelligence and industry and with a memory reaching back through many years, could tell many a tale of wonderful interest, of times when history was making fast and furiously.

Eat What

You want of the food you need Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak. You must eat in order to live and maintain strength. You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly. But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach. The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food. Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee
Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay. We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you. It would bankrupt us. The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.
