TEACHERS WHO PASSED

The grading committee on teachers' papers completed their work of grading the papers of those who took the examination. The committee consisted of Miss Nellie Stevens, Miss Fannie Clark and Mr. Emanuel H. Martin. Those who secured first grade certificates were Miss Gertrude McAdams, who will teach at McIntosh, and Herbert A. Spiers, principal of the Dunnington school. Those securing the second grade certificates were Miss Miss Annie Ausley, Minnie Lee Carlisle, Belle Haycraft, B. A. Hammond, Ella Lyles and Emily Halford. Those who secured third grade certificates: Misses Mary Forbes, Reggie McCully, Apple Redditt, Una Shealy, Bertha Snow, Eleanor Seckinger and Frank Cuthbert.

The Colored Teachers

The colored teachers, passing over the second grade: C. A. Adams, C. L. LaRoche, —, Gadsden, Lula Hughes, Ida M. McCall, Ethel Jordan. Third grade: Dela J. Brown, C. J. Bolling, Martha Dixon, L. G. Jacobs, Anna L. Kinsler, Josephine Roper, W. C. Rogers, Adella Ransom, Olive E. Ransom, L. J. Wilkerson, Rosa S. Eady, Effie Taylor. Those who secured a third grade certificate made a general average of 60 per cent and over. Those who secured second grade certificates made a percentage of 75 and over; first grade 85 per cent and over.

FORGOT HIS TICKET

Editor Harris left yesterday for Jacksonville to sail today for Charleston, to meet his wife and daughter and accompany them to New York. The pleasure he anticipated on the trip so enthused and elated his mind that he forgot the little matter of his ticket over the Clyde Line and which fact did not occur to him until he reached Rochelle, from whence he telegraphed to his son-in-law, Mr. C. H. Lloyd to advise him of the Jacksonville Sunday. But the dispatch did not reach Ocala until this morning at 8 o'clock. We trust no other venerable editor will prevent or hinder the great hippodrome in New York.

Landlord Bright, of the Montezuma, returned yesterday from his outing in Alabama and Georgia and says he had a splendid time visiting relatives and friends. Especially was he delighted with an invitation received while at Greenville to go into the mountains and break bread with a mother in Israel and her twelve children. The hospitality he enjoyed and the yellow leg chickens and the country cured ham with the rich buttermilk and the big red apples and ice cold spring water as it gurgled down the mountain side were very seductive. Having enjoyed his outing he went over to Chattanooga and bought a registered dark bay horse, with a record for fleetness of foot that will tire some of our fast horseflesh. The record of the animal is 2:11. He came high but Mr. Bright knows a good thing when he sees it and so he has his nag in the stable here, and he and his family will use him for driving purposes.

A move is on foot in the state to collect a suitable sum in Florida to tender the new battleship Florida a fine silver service. The Florida will be one of the largest and most powerful battleships in our navy. It is proposed to raise by public subscription throughout the state $5,000, and have the legislature appropriate another $5,000. It is a good idea and we hope it will prevail.

J. C. Howell, the grower of cantaloupes, expected to go to Rocky Ford, Colo., to gather cantaloupe seed, but red bugs got into his stocking, bit his ankle, blood poison set in and he had to remain at home, but his brother, Charles Howell, has gone and will attend to the seed gathering.

Editor John Collins in his True-Democrat, is making a strong plea for the next legislature to fulfill the contract with Col. Wallies in the payment of his claim against the state for collecting its Indian War claim. As it stands now the state is repudiating a just obligation. Will it do its duty? We hope so.

Mr. Blackman, a son of the soil of the Summerfield section, was in town today and reported considerable sickness in his section. He said Mrs. A. D. Mitchell is just recovering from a severe sickness, and Agent Richardson and two children are just out of bed.

Few people realize the duty on a high grade Cuban tobacco. It is about three times what the leaf costs. Mr. Charles Peyser received this morning a bale on which the duty was nearly a thousand dollars. This emphasizes the fact that fine leaf tobacco to make high grade cigars is absolutely necessary to manufacture a uniform high grade cigar, which is one of Mr. Peyser's trump cards.

Mr. John Turney and daughter, Miss Lizzie, who have spent the summer at Mr. Turney's place at New River, on the East Coast returned home yesterday. Mr. Turney said the East Coast is all right and the pineapple growers did well, but the pesky mosquitoes were quite numerous.

Mr. Ham is breaking the colts of Dr. J. C. Booser and Mr. S. T. Sistrunk to harness and has them located on the Driving Park course, where he exercises them daily. The colts are from fine stock, good breeders, and their training is bringing the latter out and they may become prize winners in a year or two.

R. B. Zachry, of Theus-Zachry Co., sold a complete house furnishing outfit yesterday to Messrs. J. H. and E. D. Hemmings, Martel and went out this morning to put the same in place.

Harry Peter has opened his picture show at Dunnington and is doing a good business.

Mr. Richwine and wife of the Levon section, were in town this morning shopping. Mr. R. said a week ago three of his cattle disappeared and he has been unable to find them.

E. C. McLeod, who was in town Saturday, said he had reconsidered and would vote for the Peersless.

ANY NEWSPAPER MAN SHOULD KNOW BETTER

New York, Sept. 11.—Because on the eve of his death Robert G. Ingersoll, the great agnostic, promised her if there was a spirit world he would endeavor to communicate with her, Mrs. Ingersoll, at her home in Dubbs Ferry, is seeking his spirit. "If a world of spirits exists," said Ingersoll, as he lay on his deathbed, "and it is possible for a spirit to establish communication between the world and this, I will try to establish communication with you." "If spirits exist I believe that of my husband will seek me out. I am trying to aid it," said Mrs. Ingersoll, adding that only after communication had been established would she give credence to the Christian belief in a hereafter.

She lays down the more difficult tests for those who would prove to her that there is something beyond earthly existence.

The foregoing and much more is being published under flaming headlines in many of the newspapers of the country. Robert G. Ingersoll never "lay on his deathbed." He had what seemed a slight attack of indigestion one day in the late summer of 1899, but it was supposed he had almost recovered from it. He was sitting in a rocking chair, conversing cheerfully with his wife, at his home at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and nothing was so far from his thoughts of both as death, when the end came. He suddenly ceased speaking and lay back in the chair, and was dead before his wife could reach him. To all appearance, the end came without pain. It seems like any newspaper man should know better than to make such a mistake about an event of so recent occurrence. It is not in the least likely that Mrs. Ingersoll would talk for publication on what to her is certainly a sacred subject. She is not that kind of a woman.

THE CONVICT SYSTEM

The great storm of words about the peremptory and immediate abolishment of the Georgia convict lease system seems to have died out. The legislature, it is said, will take another whack at it. It was easy to figure out how much the state would lose by abolishing the leasing system, but harder to show how much it would gain by the adoption of some other method of caring for the convicts. As the same subject was somewhat warmly discussed in Florida a few months ago the Times asked for a few figures from those people and papers who seemed best posted on the most talkative. We have not been favored with any definite plans or net figures. There has been talk of building two penitentiaries, but it has not been mentioned that a penal institution on modern lines to care for half the convicts of this state would cost about three-quarters of a million dollars. If, however, the convicts are to be worked on the roads and herded in bullpens, with guards and dogs and chains, the Times is open to conviction by sensible and convincing argument, and everything is right for persuasive truth to exhibit herself in plain language. Let's have it.—Tampa Times.

DAVID S. WOODROW REAL ESTATE AND INVESTMENTS Rooms 27 and 28, Holder Block Ocala, Florida

The man who waits for a proven, producing proposition before investing will always pay every cent the stock is worth. It's the man who takes a chance on the ground floor that really gets the cream. Always investigate and act with due caution but you will lose out entirely and every time if you wait for a "cinch." Equal parts of nerve and common sense will be found a very palatable dose and a combination hard to beat.

If you want to buy a home in Ocala, I can offer you one of the very few places on the market on Oklawaha avenue. Frontage is 96 feet and the lot runs back 480 feet. House is one story containing five rooms, kitchen and bathroom; city water, gas, electric light and modern plumbing; stable and servant's house in yard. Price, $2,300, half cash and balance spread over three years.

If you want to build a store building to rent I have a lot on Fort King avenue between the Pittman building and the new building just erected by Guerrant & Carmichael. Frontage is 43 feet by 110 feet deep. The building now on it is old but rents for enough to pay interest on the investment. Price is $850.

OAKRIDGE lots on the Shady Grove hard road and within the city limits can be bought for $75 to $90; 100 feet front by 125 feet deep; 10% cash and $1 per week. Free deed in case of death. No taxes to pay until 1909. Map and prices on application.

WOODMAR. This property is on the most beautiful lake in Florida, on a bluff which rises from 25 feet to 75 feet above the level of the lake. The A. C. L. railroad runs between the edge of the lake and the bluff. Four years ago when I platted this property and offered to sell lots I was laughed at by many and the word "fool" more than once dropped in connection with this property. Try and buy back for me the lots I have already sold and come and see me. I have raised the prices once and will raise again until another Mr. Flagler sees the beauties of the place and then he can have it if he will pay the price. The streets are all planned to shade trees and water works installed—good water too. Buy a lot now. You can buy on terms but you can't beat them at discount. Map and prices on application.

OPENING OF FESSENDEN

Fessenden Academy and Industrial School opened last Monday morning under the most favorable circumstances. There are in attendance about 200 pupils, 100 of whom board at the school and 200 are day students. The school is better equipped this year with buildings, books and apparatus, as well as in the faculty, than ever in its history. There are eleven teachers. Their names and the different departments over which they preside are as follows: Prof. Joseph L. Wiley, principal, Fessenden; Mrs. J. A. Wiley, assistant, Nashville, Tenn.; Prof. S. H. Murphy, B. S., department of animal husbandry, Montgomery, Ala.; Rev. Harvey Smith, B. S., director of carpentry department, Theobalds, La.; Captain White, practical farming and physical director, Hampton, Va.; Miss E. L. Riels, domestic science and sewing department, Tugalo, Miss.; Miss Viola Jackson, assistant in high school, Tallahassee, Ala.; Miss Anna Brown, grammar grades and assistant preceptress Talladege, Ala.; college: Miss Etta Chiles, intermediate department, Marion, Ala.; Miss Edna Jenkins, primary department, Fish University, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. E. L. Wiley, assistant in culinary department, Alabama. In this school the negro youth is taught, in addition to the usual school studies, from the lower grades to the high school, how to farm, to care for live stock, to prepare the soil to cultivate and raise the crops in the best manner, to do carpentry and all kinds of work. In the house the girls are taught to sew, cook, clean house, make beds, wash dishes and do all kinds of house work and do it properly. It is the aim of the school and the teachers to turn out the graduates in such a manner as to give credit to their race, who will be better citizens, better equipped to make a living for themselves than they otherwise would. If they are to work for wages at the trades, on the farm or in the house when they leave the school they should be able to do these things. They are taught to be honest, to keep their place, whatever that may be, to be courteous and kind, to their own and the white race and to be better men and women. The graduates of Fessenden Academy if they wish to work in the best manner, in demand, for they have been taught how to do things and are willing to do them. Prof. Wiley has made this school his life work and is proud of it. It is rapidly growing, spreading and improving and is now the best school of its kind in the state and well known to Florida what Tuskegee is to Alabama. The school has an eight months term. It is practically maintained by the county and gets help from other sources. No charge is made for tuition. It is the only school in the state, at least for colored people, with an agricultural blackboard, and is the first institution of any kind in Central Florida to have a Carnegie library building, which has been recently completed at a cost of $5,000. The school is only in its infancy—just watch it grow.

ALICE HELPED SAVE THE ANIMALS

Clad Only in Her Nightgown, the President's Daughter Rushed to the Rescue of Her Pet Horse Cincinnati O., Sept. 14.—Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of the president; her husband, Congressman Nicholas Longworth, and his sister, Mrs. Buckner Wallingford, showed bravery last week at a fire which destroyed the Longworth stable. Mrs. Longworth, clad only in her nightgown, rushed into the burning stable and rescued her pet driving horse. Her clothing was scorched in several places, but she escaped without the slightest harm. The three led eight horses in the barn to safety before the fire department arrived. The loss is $30,000.

A BURGLAR IN TOWN

His name is "bad cough." He doesn't care for gold or silver but he will steal your health away. If he appears in your house arrest him at once with Ballard's Horehound syrup. It may mean consumption if you don't. A cure for all coughs, colds and chest troubles. Price 25c, 50c and $1 per bottle. Sold by Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

WRIGHT BREAKS MORE RECORDS

Washington, Sept. 13.—In two flights at Fort Myer yesterday, Orville Wright in the "Wright flyer" broke three records. Staying up nine minutes and six and one-third seconds in the first flight, in which Major George Squire, acting chief signal officer, accompanied him, Mr. Wright broke the record for a two-man flight, which he established on Tuesday. The first flight was at 4:30 o'clock. In the second flight, which started at 5:17, Mr. Wright broke his own record for time and distance of a heavier than air flying machine by remaining in the air for one hour, fourteen minutes and twenty-four seconds. In this flight he also went higher than an aeroplane has ever gone, rising to an altitude of 250 feet. Mr. Wright also maintained a higher speed than in his other flights, traveling around the drill grounds at the rate of 38.75 miles per hour on the first flight when Major Squire accompanied him. The distance at this flight was 5.88 miles.

Changes are being made in the machinery of the aeroplane, giving greater power to the engine, by which he hopes to maintain a speed of forty-four miles an hour, which would give him a bonus of $10,000 if this speed were averaged in the official speed trial.

Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by One Dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

I was so weak from an attack of diarrhoea that I could scarcely attend to my duties, when I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It cured me entirely and I had been taking other medicine for nine days without relief. I heartily recommend this remedy as being the best to my knowledge for bowel complaints.—R. G. DIDN'T MAKE ENOUGH DOUGH

To Keep His Wife in Glad Rags, So She Said He'd Have to Go Macon, Mo., Sept. 13.—Because his daily wage of $1.35 didn't suffice to keep her in the kind of clothes she wished to wear, Mrs. G. W. Reynolds left her husband and four little children. That is the only reason the husband gives for his wife's departure.

While at a studio having pictures of his remaining family taken, Mr. Reynolds said: "My wife and I had been school-mates, and when I carried her books to school it was understood between us that we would marry when we grew up. She knew I was a workman, and that my income was moderate. At first we got along fairly well and were happy, but as the children came the load grew heavier without a corresponding increase in wages. My wife liked to wear as good clothes as those she saw on the stylish women whose husbands had large bank accounts, but I could not give them to her. I wished I could. I tried to make her understand, but she seemed to think I ought to be able to do what others did, and because I could not make her look like a princess she left."

Never Even a Quarrel "No, we never had any other trouble. I never raised my hand against her, nor did she ever treat me harshly. But I saw that she did not love me as she once did, and all because of the one thing, I know there was no other man in the case, and she knows I was not interested in any other woman. I suppose she will ask for a divorce, and it will be a matter of some interest to me to see whether a judge will give her one from a man whose only failure has been to provide fine clothes."

"Want her back? Well, I don't know. We're getting along very well. Gracie—the 9-year-old—is housekeeper, and she's doing very well. The children prefer to stay with me; it's home. They don't understand why their mother left, and I've never said a word to influence them against her. I've nothing but kindly feeling for my old schoolmate, who became my wife, but I guess our romance is over."

The Reynolds children run in ages from nine to three. Gracie is taking the place of the absent mother in looking after those younger than herself. Reynolds has been working on a Wabash section for $1.35 a day. The boss says he is getting fairly well on his work. He is a cousin of Sheriff H. N. Graves, and was reared on a farm in Middle Fork township. Maj. S. G. Brock, former chief of the Bureau of Statistics at Washington, a diligent student of economics, was asked if a man should try to raise a family on $1.35 a day.

Expert Blames Dress

"Why not?" he said. "Hundreds do it on a dollar a day, and in the old times they got along fairly well on 50 cents a day. Of course, one must eschew luxuries and fine clothes, but he can live in a plain, substantial manner—in the country. Of course, it would be a harder proposition in the great cities. I notice one trouble in small households is a tendency to over-dress."

"The wife, in her eagerness to appear as well as some other women she meets on the street, will overreach her husband's modest salary, and then comes family troubles. I don't know the facts in the case you give me, but many a home has been broken up by a wife's extravagance. Just as it has by a husband's shiftlessness. If Reynolds was working every day, and getting $1.35 each day, he ought to have been able to handle his family of wife and four children in reasonable comfort, the way provisions sell here. The wife and oldest girl could look after a small garden, selling their surplus, and also run a little poultry."

"There are dozens of ways to make both ends meet until the better day comes, if both ends of the matrimonial partnership work in unison. I could name a dozen families here who started with hardly enough to pay the preacher, and have worked their way up into positions of comparative comfort. It's all in the spirit with which you take hold of life."

GERMANY STANDS ALONE

The Other Powers Agree with France on the Moroccan Question Paris, France, Sept. 12.—That Germany will stand alone in opposition to France on the Spanish Moroccan program when presented to the signatories of the Algeiras treaty for ratification, was made certain yesterday by the announcement of the foreign office that it had received an acceptance of the program from every power except Germany. France is understood to demand the reimbursement by Mulai Hadid for the expenses of the French military operations in Morocco amounting to millions.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy One of the Best on the Market

It is pleasant and safe to take and is undoubtedly the best in the market for the purposes for which it is intended. Sold by all druggists.

DIPLOMACY FOR THE DARKIES

The Velvet Glove Carefully Clapped the Big Stick at Alton, Ill. Alton, Ill., Sept. 14.—Diplomacy prevented race troubles at the school opening in Alton. At the hour set for enrollment twenty-five negro children applied for admission to the Washington school for white children. "I will be glad to enroll you," said Superintendent Haigh "but the roster of the Washington school is filled. I shall assign you to the Lovejoy, Douglas or Elm street school, according to your choice."
