KING EMMANUEL CONSENTS

To the Marriage of his Cousin, the Duc d'Abuzzi, to Miss Catherine Elkins

Rome, Sept. 29.—King Victor Emmanuel, as the head of the house of Savoy, has finally given his royal consent to the marriage of his cousin, Louis, the Duke of the Abruzzi, and Miss Katherine Elkins, daughter of United States Senator Elkins, of West Virginia.

Having won the king's approval after a somewhat prolonged and determined struggle, in which the duke had declared to all his royal relatives that he would wed Miss Elkins with or without their permission, Abuzzi will leave Italy immediately for America.

According to his present plans the wedding will be celebrated some time during the month of November.

Abuzzi is a captain in the Italian navy, at present in command of Italy's finest battleship, the Regina Elena. Because of that and also because he is a prince of the reigning house of Savoy, he and his bride will be escorted home to Italy by a squadron of Italian warships.

The honeymoon will be spent at the magnificent royal palace at Caserta, "the Versailles of Naples."

This palace is an imposing edifice, built in the richest Italian style in 1752, by Vanutelli, by order of King Charles III. The south front is 350 feet long by 154 feet high, with thirty-seven windows in each story. The park, with lofty pruned hedges, contains beautiful fountains and cascades, adorned with statues and a remarkable botanical garden.

The Rome newspapers give prominence to dispatches concerning the $100,000 breach of promise suit against the bride-elect's brother, Blaine Elkins, entered in a United States court in New York City by an actress, Ada Louise Lonsdale.

The press here has been consistently opposed to the Abuzzi-Elkins match. Even those newspapers which commonly are not too fervid in their loyalty to the king, treat it as a mesalliance calculated to undermine Italy's prestige and injure her standing among the nations.

In dilating upon the breach of promise suit the dailies seem to be prompted by the belief that it irritates the duke, the king and the royal family generally, especially Dowager Queen Margherita, the king's mother, who has stoutly opposed the union and who probably never will be reconciled to it.

A recent interview between the queen mother and her nephew, the Count of Turin, was abruptly broken off when the count, who went to her to plead for her consent to the wedding, told her frankly that his brother would marry Miss Elkins in spite of her.

AN INVITATION FROM ALI

The Sultan of Zanzibar, Quite Strained Himself, Desires to Entertain Roosevelt

London, Sept. 30.—"I shall invite President Roosevelt to visit Zanzibar," said Ali Bin Hamud, Sultan of Zanzibar, to the World correspondent at the Ritz Hotel yesterday. "I greatly admire the ruler of America and will be honored to have him as my guest if his itinerary in Africa makes it possible. Besides, I might be able to give him some points on big game shooting."

So it is not impossible that Mr. Roosevelt will visit the sultan of the British protectorate on the east coast of equatorial Africa, for Zanzibar is not far from Nairobi—that point in British East Africa, the happy hunting ground of the English true sportsmen where Mr. Roosevelt is going on his big game hunt.

"I had planned to visit America this autumn," continued his highness of Zanzibar, who speaks English and several continental languages fluently. "Then I would have personally presented my invitation to Mr. Roosevelt. But I changed my plans for several reasons, the principal one being that I wish to return to Zanzibar within a month. Moreover, the moment is inopportune for a visit to America, because of the presidential campaign."

The sultan, whose visage the sun burnished, is quite Europeanized. He visits Europe often, and his present sojourn has lasted several months.

He has a manner rather imperative, and is a great motorist, an enthusiastic billiard player and a fine shot. In fact, Mr. Roosevelt and Ali Bin Hamud seem to be as much alike as the white and black squares on a checker board.

SHE RODE OUT THE STORM

Terrible Battering of the Steamship Colon in the West India Hurricane

New York, Sept. 30.—With her after funnel gone and her superstructure battered by heavy seas and bearing a tale of tragedy and panic at sea, the steamer Colon arrived yesterday from Cristobal after an encounter with the recent terrific West Indian hurricane. Two deaths were reported, those of William Lilley, assistant engineer, and J. Olsen, ship carpenter, who went into the hold during the storm to repair the fresh water tank and were killed by the fumes of cyanide of potassium. The officers report that the wind attained a velocity of more than one hundred miles an hour. The seas were tremendous, sweeping the ship's upper decks again and again. The passengers were panic stricken and were with difficulty controlled by the officers.

THEIR PRAYERS WERE ANSWERED

Rain Has Broken the Long Drouth in Pennsylvania

New York, Sept. 30.—The long drouth in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania, which has resulted in serious forest fires, stopped industrial pursuits and caused a water famine in many districts, has been broken. Rain, which fell lightly yesterday morning, increased in volume as the day advanced and reports from throughout the affected territory last night announce that the rainfall has become general and heavy. High winds accompany the storm and are damaging telegraph lines, thereby interfering with communication.

Brief dispatches, however, have come to hand from many points in the Catskills, the Adirondacks and other regions which have suffered from forest fires, announcing that copious rains are falling and that the fires are being rapidly obliterated.

The drouth, which has been the most prolonged in many years, has lasted about eight weeks. So serious has been its effect especially in the country districts, that prayers have been offered up in many churches for relief.

Do not forget that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills made. They are pleasant little pills that are easy to take and are prompt and gentle. We sell and recommend them. Sold by Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

MR. MUGGETT HOPES TO MAKE MUCH MONEY

Has a Scheme to Recover Millions from a Ship Sunk Years Ago Off the East Coast

New York, Sept. 29.—It was reported a few weeks ago that J. R. Chard had caught a large crab while fishing off New Smyrna, Fla., and had found in its claws a Spanish doubloon of 1608. It was reported also that Mr. Chard was contemplating fitting out an expedition to search gold and silver.

A few days ago Mr. Chard was amused by the receipt of this letter from "I. W. Mudgett, 97 Nassau street, New York."

"I notice an article that you caught a crab in the Florida waters holding on to a Spanish doubloon and that, upon further investigation, you are satisfied that you can locate a ship that sank some 200 years ago, containing a vast amount of treasure, and that you are forming a company to go forth on an exploring expedition to find the spot where this ship was foundered."

An Alluring Project
"It is a hard proposition and I write to say that we have located the Gen. Grant, that was lost in 1866, and have seen the ship and know the exact location, and from statements of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Company of New York and from other reliable sources and from statements published in the New York Herald and other papers, this ship contained $16,000,000 in gold bullion and several million dollars of 158 passengers (gold miners) and also wool and tallow. The cargo was worth over $20,000,000, and to recover this gold and cargo it will cost around $20,000."

A reporter found Mr. Mudgett in a little office at No. 97 Nassau street. There were in the room a desk and two chairs and on one of these chairs sat Mr. Mudgett.

"We have only this very day formed the company to recover these millions," said Mudgett. "There were at least $15,000,000 and maybe there are $30,000,000. We know the money is there, and all we have to do is to get it."

"How much stock are you going to issue?" asked the reporter.

"Five hundred thousand dollars," replied the promoter. "That's all."

Mr. Mudgett wouldn't tell where the treasure ship with all its millions is located.
