CRYSTAL RIVER'S CELEBRATION

Crystal River has ever had an enviable reputation as an entertaining host, but Saturday they surpassed all previous glorious efforts. It was truly a day camp with feast of reason and flow of soul.

make people pay their debts—one for traps and persons of no visible means of support, etc. It was a good straightforward talk.

Congressman Sparkman came next and in substance said what the Star has already reported as spoken in Ocala. Then came dinner and oh, such a feast.

Notes
Crystal River has the finest county bank in the state. Mr. J. W. King counts the money.

Baum & Robertson, Oxford crate factory, is a valuable factor in the business affairs of that town.

As you can easily conjecture, fish and oysters enjoy a big trade. There are two big houses—the Crystal River Gulf Fish & Oyster House, Jas. T. Rawls at the head, who pay out weekly from $400 to $500.

George Hyde, the affable and able assistant to C. E. Herrick, general manager of the Pencil Co., is one of the sterling and aggressive business men of the place.

Among those who took creature comforts at the Montezuma Sunday were P. A. Ausley, J. C. Lancaster, Martel, J. A. Lowry, Dawson, Ga.; Robt. Perry, Floral City; H. A. Carter, Jacksonville, C. W. Robertson, Micanopy; W. E. Neal, York; C. C. Bayle, Stephentown; E. Usher, Otter Creek, and L. S. Petteway, Freeman.

Col. Jno. M. Coffin, of Johnstown, passed through Ocala Saturday to Eustis to vote the straight prohibition ticket.

E. V. Rayborn, a former member of the police force of the Brick City, but now a boss phosphate miner at Holder for Buttgenbach, spent Sunday in Ocala.

C. E. Carpenter of Dublin, Ga., has purchased the Meeker place at Homosassa and is putting it in order for the season's business. He will also add more rooms to the building.

A FINAL APPEAL

By the Democratic Candidate to the People—Promises a New Era In Government

Winchester, Ind., Nov. 1.—William Jennings Bryan, the Democratic candidate, in winding up his tour of the East, made public the following:

"APPEAL TO THE PUBLIC.
'As the campaign draws to a close, certain issues stand out clearly. The Democratic party attempts to inaugurate an era of honesty in politics by compelling the publication of campaign contributions before the election. It seeks to bring the government nearer to the public by securing the election of United States senators by direct vote. It seeks to restore competition through legislation which will make a private monopoly impossible.

"It seeks to reconcile labor and capital by legislation, which will bring employer and employe together in friendly co-operation, and to this end it proposes the creation of a department of labor with a secretary of labor in the cabinet; an amendment to the anti-trust law, which will exclude the labor organization from the operations of that law; the limitation of the writ of injunction so that it will not be issued in a labor dispute unless conditions are such as would justify an injunction even if there were no labor dispute and trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt. It seeks to secure legislation, which will create a guarantee fund sufficient to insure all depositors against loss.

For Tariff Reduction
'It seeks to secure a reduction of the tariff by gradual steps until the tariff laws will no longer be made in the interest of the few and at the expense of the rest of the people. The Democratic party, in other words, seeks to secure honesty in government through honest politics and popular government through direct elections. It desires to secure peace in industry, competition in commerce, security to depositors, and justice to tax payers.

"The Democratic party appeals to the awakened conscience of the nation and the sense of justice in the human heart and to the growing desire for brotherhood.

"With a Democratic victory for the national ticket, with a Democratic Congress and with the moral force of a popular verdict, I believe we can compel the Senate to yield to the expressed will of the people and permit the passage of the more urgent of the reforms.

"The Democratic party offers the only prospect of remedial legislation, and while it does not go as far as some reformers would like to go, Democracy, by its secure and sure method of reform as is now attainable—in fact the only reform that is within reach. We have a right to expect, therefore, the co-operation of those who favor the reform set forth in the platform.

Attempt to Terrorize

"The attempt to terrorize the American voter by the threat of a panic will not succeed. We have had three panics in forty-eight years—the panic of 1873, the panic of 1893 and the panic of 1907—and two of these panics came under a high tariff, and each of them came under Republican Presidents. Mr. Taft says that a panic will come if I am elected. Let him give bond that the panic will not go on if he is elected. When he says that a Democratic victory will bring a panic he expresses an opinion. When I say that a disastrous panic came last fall without waiting for a Democratic victory, I state a fact that cannot be disputed.

"Our platform presents a plan for the restoration of prosperity upon a permanent basis—a prosperity in which all will share. The Republican party has no plan that contemplates either the present relief or continued welfare of the people.

Roosevelt's Aid for Taft

"The Republican candidate has the prestige that comes from the fact that his party is in power. He has the aid of an army of office-holders; he has the support of all the monopolies and law-dying trusts; he has a large campaign fund, the source of which his committee refuses to disclose, and most of the leading newspapers are allied with him and the interests which he represents. I insist that it is fair for the President to use his office—an office that belongs to all the people—as if it were a party asset or a personal asset and enter actively into the campaign. It offends the sense of justice and ought to arouse a protest from those who believe that in the selection of the chief executive the people should be absolutely free to choose whom they please. 'William Jennings Bryan.'"

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF MARION COUNTY

Fellow Democrats:

The republican party has this year placed in the field a ticket for the legislature, and have caused to register and qualify a great number of negroes for the purpose of electing the members of the legislature. This is a revival of the spirit of reconstruction, and a success this year would embolden them to make more strenuous efforts in the future to control the state by the negro vote.

Should the democrats appear apathetic this year and fail to vote in the general election there is a possibility of the republicans electing one or both members of the legislature, yet this possibility will not exist if all democrats take upon themselves the duty of voting.

We therefore urge upon every democrat the necessity for his hearty co-operation and his undivided support for the democratic ticket, and his duty to vote without fear. It would be a shame on our party should we negligently permit even the possibility of such a condition as has been in the past by negro domination.

Therefore, fellow democrats, place your duty to your party before all other duties on election day, and go to the polls and vote.

JOHN M. GRAHAM, Chm. Dem. Ex. Com. Marion Co., Fla. Attest: D. E. MATHEWS, Secretary.

An Easy Choice

Art—or a coffee-mill? Serious study resulting in scientific superiority—or haste, "factory" standards and mediocrity at wholesale?

High-Class Tailoring like Fred Kauffmann's

—or typical Tom-Dick-and-Harry "ready-mades"? Shall a man dress to improve his appearance—and his chances in life—or simply to keep warm?

By himself and for himself must every man answer these questions. Ready-made clothes could be made from the finest fabrics in the world—but even so they would still be "ready-mades" with the machine faults, loose ends, and "factory hustle" written all over them. They might even be made into a "near-fit"—but the men whose opinion of the wearer would be worth the most to him would know him at a glance as a man not able to do the real best for himself—and therefore not, perhaps, the best man for them to establish relations with.

The best we can say—and really all we need to say—for "Fred Kauffmann Tailoring" is that the men who are hard to please because they know how garments ought to be made, are the quickest and most enthusiastic supporters he has. And you may be sure he takes good care to keep their esteem—by the only sure guaranty possible, that of uniformly pre-eminent workmanship, perfect style, careful consideration of personal tastes, prompt, dependable service, and the best downright values ever known in the tailoring profession.

On the way down Stratner landing and orange grove was pointed out. Mrs. Stratner is a noted contributor to magazines. "Hilly's Point, the Rocks, Dr. Agnew's winter home, a gentleman from Alabama. At this point a road extends north to the Withlacoochee river and here Captain Sam Agnew, father of E. W. Agnew of Ocala, was stationed during the war with the Home Guards and upon the Yanks advanced, shot the log houses full of bullets and sent the valiant soldiers fleeing over the main. It was in this body of heroic home defenders Nic Barco as a mere youth served. Here we passed the Port Inglis dredge boat tender, with flags flying, on its way to the picnic. We must not overlook the Spanish mound, a relic of prehistoric Indian days, an object of great interest, nor the Dr. Gibson oyster and fish packing house, a new industry for Crystal River. The trip down was quickly made. Shell Island, the summer resort for that section, and of which the Ocala colony speak in glowing words as the most delightful place in Florida, where cool breezes ever blow and mosquitoes are unknown and bathing superb. Our return was equally charming, as the waters sparkled in the sunlight and fish jumped and splashed in the clear water in circles of delight. The talk was of the possibilities this stream can be of service, if properly deepened, to the growing industries of Crystal River, the best fishing ground in the world, with turkey deer and bear plenty, in its shady woods and a law to do away with the net. The trip was a pleasure, not soon forgotten—and on it we learned that our altruistic friend, Mr. Montheon Atkinson of Oldtown, sold the land on which the Dixon pencil works now stand, was a leading merchant of the place many years ago, was tax collector and an interested party to a big land trade that represented a small fortune, with litigation that led interested parties to the Department of the Interior, Washington, and in which the late Gen. Bob Bullock was a leading attorney, in which at first bluish Mr. Atkinson was a winner and subsequently reversed and lost. Everything at this picnic was run on schedule time. The hour having arrived, C. A. Miller, chairman of the Board of Public Instruction of Citrus county, and a leading business man, introduced the speakers and did it admirably. R. L. Turner, superintendent of public instruction of Citrus county, was the first speaker, and while proclaiming himself an enthusiast on education and its worth to the people, it should be done on economic lines and not running into debt for it. Deploring the depressed and pitiable lot of the down trodden tax payer and he for one would stand like a wall of adamant against it, if five months school was all that could be had. He knew the material condition of the people, could sympathize with them, was a crackler with them and in his barefooted youth drove a pair of oxen across the county to Crystal River laden with sweet potatoes and sold them for 30 cents a bushel, in trade. He had political aspirations, hoped to serve them some day in congress. Turner is all right—but pessimistically conservative. E. S. Grace, of Citronelle, an nominee for legislature, followed. He was for economy and retrenchment; also to enlarge the garnishment of wages (and
