Harvard Upright Pianos, of the following description: Cabinet Grand, 7 1-3 octaves, three pedals, ivory keys, full iron plate, triple unisons, repeating action, nickel action brackets, tuning pins and cased hammer rail, graduating pedals including soft stop or practice pedal, nickel pedals, copper-wound base strings; case is of Colonial design, with full-swing music desk with hand-carved ornaments, rolling fall board, continuous hinge, double trusses with handsome capitals; height 4 feet, 8 inches; length 5 feet, 2 inches; width 2 feet, 3 inches; with your choice of mahogany, walnut or oak, hardwood back. The instruments are high-class in every respect, sweet-toned, very handsome in appearance, contain the best workmanship and material obtainable, and are fully guaranteed. They will be on exhibition in this city later on in the contest.

How to Enter the Contest

The Voting Contest will be conducted as follows: Every girl or married lady who resides in Ocala or receives her mail from this postoffice, will be eligible to enter the contest in the Ocala District. Every girl, young lady or married lady residing outside of the Ocala District, but within Marion, Sumner or Citrus counties, will be eligible to enter the contest in the country district. Fill out or have a friend fill out and bring to the Star office, one of the Nominating Blanks, found in the paper, which places you in nomination and gives you 1,000 complimentary votes, and can not be used again during the contest.

No votes will be sold at this office for less than the prices above scheduled. No employe or attaché of this office will be allowed to vote or in any way participate in the contest. Judges will be appointed, who will count the votes at regular intervals, and announce the standing of the different candidates. These judges will see that every candidate gets a fair deal. It is desired, at least while the contest is in the early stages, that votes be sent in daily.

Strictly a Home Proposition

This contest is strictly a home proposition. It is put on and conducted by the Star and no foreign company has anything to do with it. The Star simply buys the Pianos and gives them to you—if you are the lucky ones.

The contest will continue for three months, closing on February 1st, 1909. Now get to work. The pianos will not be won without an effort on your and your friends part.

TOBACCO TRUST OUTLAWED

A Federal Court Found that It Operated to the Restraint of Trade and Dissolved the Combination

New York, Nov. 8.—The contention of the government that the American Tobacco Company, then operating in restraint of trade and competition in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law was sustained yesterday in decisions handed down by Judges Noyes, Coxe and Lacombe, in the United States circuit court here.

In the suit against the American Tobacco Company the government asked for an injunction dissolving the combination of the American Tobacco Company and its sixty subsidiary companies on the ground that it was illegal, in that it operated in restraint of trade and commerce. The government also asked the United States circuit court to appoint a receiver to wind up the affairs of the allied corporations.

The petition asking for the appointment of a receiver to take charge of the companies included in the combine was refused as being unpracticable and wholly unnecessary.

NO FRONT DOOR

Peculiarity of a Style of House Popular in Chicago

Chicago homes without front doors, the only entrance being in the rear, are multiplying at such a rate that the Chicago postal officials may need a big force of extra carriers to cover the routes or else rule against the back door delivery of mail.

In Fortieth avenue, between Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth streets, a row of eighteen new brick houses is being constructed. There is not a front door or front entrance of any kind in the entire row.

This is but one of scores of other structures that are now being erected on the backyard entrance idea. Hundreds already have been completed and now are occupied by tenants or owners. In a big southwestern territory between Twelfth street and the drainage canal and between California avenue and Forty-sixth street, the back door houses are seen on almost every street. They have been building for some years and are still being planned.

The new houses now being built in Fortieth avenue are of brick set on wooden frames. The distance between the ground, the posts are capped with wooden sills, and then brick walls are built one story high. From the wooden sill to the ground, a distance of about ten feet, the framework is boarded with matched flooring.

On the one floor above there is a front sitting room and a front bedroom. There is a double bedroom on the side, a kitchen with a china closet, and two closets and a bathroom. Each closet is provided with a window. In the attic there is a back door and a front window.

The city ordinances allow the building of what may be termed one-story houses with rear entrance only, but if two stories are built there must be a front door.

When one of the owners of a front doorless house was asked why he preferred to live in a house in which he is permitted to enter only from the rear, he said it was done to save room in the house and the cost of a front door. Many of the people who live in this class of dwellings are paying for their homes on time. They claim interest is too high to pay for the luxury of a front door and porch. One man said he would not have a front door in his house unless he could have a good one, and any degree of pretension at all would cost him more money than he could afford to pay.

The matter of mail delivery to residence sections built up extensively on this plan is taking on a serious aspect. Suppose a carrier delivering to a row of houses like that being built on Fortieth avenue has a piece of mail for each dweller in the block. He would be obliged to walk nearly a quarter of a mile, walking to and from back doors. In nearly every instance he would be required to mount a flight of stairs in the rear.

The whole matter is assuming such proportions that the postal officials may be compelled to make a ruling to cover the question as to how far a carrier may be compelled to walk to reach the entrance of a dwelling. There is a prospect that the owners or tenants of such buildings may be required to put up boxes in the front where they may be called when they hear the whistle of Uncle Sam's messenger.

A good many of these front doorless homes have a neat and tidy appearance in front. There is a small yard, inclosed in a related palisade fence, with grass and flowers inside. The big room on the ground floor is converted into a laundry and summer kitchen, and there are partitions for storerooms and other purposes. In some instances a cement floor has been laid.

Despite the fact that this class of dwelling is causing a great deal of extra work for Uncle Sam, it has one or two advantages that most householders in Chicago would appreciate. The life of the peddler, book agent and the miscreant who litters up your premises with all kinds of advertising matter, is made miserable by these back door ideas of city homes. In about nine instances out of ten a fair sized, sharp-toothed dog is penned up in the back yard. Scores of individuals who pester people by pulling their doorbells and littering up vestibules prefer to throw up the chance of a sale rather than brave the watchful canine in the rear.—Chicago Tribune.
