OPINIONS OF THE ADMIRALS

Dewey, Schley, Evans and Capps Say Our Battleships Are as Good as Any

Chicago, Nov. 25.—Critics of the navy who condemn warships because of minor defects were publicly answered at a banquet last night of the United States Naval Academy alumni of the West. Six rear admirals sat at the banquet board at the Auditorium Hotel and letters scathing recent critics and praising the navy were read from Admiral George Dewey, Rear Admiral Schley, and Rear Admiral R. D. Evans.

Rear Admiral Capps declared that the vessels of this country were fully abreast of the times.

Each of the following opinions was written in response to a request. Admirals Dewey's letter said in part:

Testimony of Dewey

"Of the battleships designed during the past five years I have spoken and shall continue to speak in the highest terms. The South Carolina and Michigan, the North Dakota and that class are, in my opinion, equal in value to any battleship of their displacement in any navy, and this, I believe, the general naval verdict upon their power and efficiency.

"The fleet of battleships now going around the world are of the older type and some of them have lived about half the life, as commonly estimated, of a battleship of the first line.

"The vessels which have recently been received with such marked consideration in South America, New Zealand, Australia, Japan and China, are the equals of foreign vessels of their date of design and completion and often their superiors. There is probably nowhere in the world today a fleet of sixteen battleships of greater fighting strength."

Schley Rebukes Critics

Admiral W. S. Schley's letter said in part:

"I am wholly out of sympathy with those critics who find nothing good in what exists, or whose policy appears to be destructive rather than constructive.

"I take exception to much of the adverse criticism today, because the fact is withheld that many of the minor defects adverted to were incident to the time and type when these vessels were constructed, and they are common to a large percentage of the war vessels of every other power. But the inference sought to be established that our ships are inferior in their classes to those in foreign navies is unfair, untrue and unpatriotic."

Capps Quotes Roosevelt

Rear Admiral Capps said:

"I requested an opinion from only one other, and this officer is one who has served as a commander-in-chief of modern warships for a longer period than any other naval officer living. He is an officer of whom the President of the United States expressed himself in the following terms in a letter referring to a publication soon to appear:

"Your career has been one that has reflected honor upon the entire American people, and it covered a period which saw changes as great as those which divided the period of the rolling galleys which fought at Lepanto from the period of the great sailing ships of the line that formed the fleets of Blake and Nelson, of Tromp and De Ruyter and Suffren. While still one of the youngest officers in the navy, in the assault of Fort Fisher at the close of the Civil War, you won with signal gallantry the honorable wounds that you yet bear, and you ended your career as the rear admiral who took on his first and most important stage the great battle fleet which is at this moment engaged in making the longest voyage ever undertaken by any such fleet of any nation. You have shown the qualities of courage and honor and trained efficiency which we are glad to believe typical of the American navy, and I hope your book will be widely read throughout all the country, for it can not but tend in favor of a glowing and lofty patriotism."

Evans Backs Our Ships

"Of course, there is no doubt as to whom the President referred in the foregoing. I will read the letter from Rear Admiral Evans:

"After an experience with our fleet which few men have had, I am convinced that our ships, taken as a whole, are equal to, or superior to, those built by any other country. Of course, our first ships are not the equals of the last foreign ships, and no sane man would expect them to be; but, date for date of design, they are the equals of any, except in the case of our latest designed ships, where the great superiority of ours is beyond question. As fighting machines our designs of the last few years show great advantage over anything proposed abroad. I have made it my business to study the recent criticisms of our navy published in various magazines and papers, and I have no words with which to tell you how unjust, misleading and silly they are."

HOW TO GET STRONG

P. J. Daly, of 1247 W. Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong: He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters, that I feel it my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints. Sold under guarantee at all drug stores, 50c.

NEW CINCINNATI-JACKSONVILLE TRAINS

Effective Dec. 29th there will be inaugurated a new through train sold from Cincinnati to Jacksonville via the L. & N. railroad to Atlanta, Central of Georgia to Macon, G. S. & F. to Tifton and A. C. L. to Jacksonville. The train will consist of Standard Pullman sleeping car, a first-class coach, a combination coach and mail car, Cincinnati to Jacksonville, Pullman standard sleeping car Louisville to Jacksonville, and dining car between Cincinnati and Atlanta. The schedule of this train will be as follows:

Leave Cincinnati 8:15 a. m.; arrive Atlanta, 10:40 p. m.; leave Atlanta, 11:05 p. m.; arrive Jacksonville 9:25 a. m., connecting with all South Florida trains. The Louisville car will leave that point at 8:10 a. m. While the northbound schedule has not been definitely arranged, the train will likely leave Jacksonville about 7:30 p. m., arriving at Atlanta at 5:10 a. m.; Louisville, 8:10 p. m., and Cincinnati at 8:35 p. m.

This train southbound will be known as the Southeastern Limited and northbound as the Northeastern Limited.

This new train is established to give better service to the large number of Ohio, Michigan and Indiana tourists who come to South Florida and the west coast, and I am quite sure will become very popular, and will be the means of bringing many more people to this section.

A GIRL HEROINE

New York, Nov. 25.—Eunice Treadwell, a 15-year-old girl, living in Brooklyn, is in the hospital here, the result of her bravery.

At the risk of her life she flung herself in the path of a runaway horse, checking the night of the horse and saving a number of women and children who were on the sidewalk along which the runaway was dashing. The girl was dragged for a considerable distance, but held fast to the bridle until assistance came. When an ambulance arrived it was found that the child had sustained a broken leg and other injuries.

IT'S A CRIME

It is poisoning your entire system and may lead to a serious chronic disease. Take Ballard's Horehound and get absolutely well. The sure cure for any and all troubles of the stomach, liver and bowels. Sold by Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

AN INFERIOR IMITATION

Of William Tell Caused the Death of a Music Hall Performer

London, Nov. 25.—Herbert Lee, the music hall performer, is dead from a wound in the head received during a performance of the "William Tell" act at a local hall last night. Lee held a ball on his head at which Madame Clementine shot at fifty feet distance. She succeeded. Lee had performed this act for eighteen years.

TWO WARRING TORNADOES

Met in Western Arkansas and Tore Many Villages to Pieces in Their Struggle

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 24.—Tornado fatalities conservatively estimated at thirty, and a property loss of hundreds of dollars, of miles of hundreds of land swept bare, forests of miles of land swept bare, forests, homes, business houses, churches, etc., have been demolished, and many buildings were lifted from foundations and twisted, apparently from different tornadoes, from south and north, both dipping to the earth at intervals and meeting in the central western part of the state, where the most damage is reported.

Piney, a German settlement between Knoxville and London, suffered the most. The dead there are estimated from 9 to 20, with five business houses and several homes wrecked.

All the physicians at Knoxville left for Piney in buggies and automobiles. At Berryville three were injured, and the property loss was upward of $25,000. At Cravens, the four known dead are members of the family of John Rosin, a farmer who was caught under their falling houses. L. G. Holt and wife, an aged couple, may die. Eight persons who took refuge in a store, were injured, and a crash, and eight others are missing.

Barr village, four miles from Knoxville, is probably totally wrecked. Half fell six inches deep. Near Mulberry five persons are reported killed, and others injured. At Lodi one woman was seriously injured, and the Methodist church and several buildings were destroyed.

GIVES PROMPT RELIEF

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that tortuous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys, which have become clogged and sluggish, falling in their duty of sitting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, settling about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder, however, causes the old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning. Hundreds of readers who suffer will find the following, which is known as the Dandelion mixture, the most harmless and effective treatment to clean the system of rheumatic poisons, remove irritation of the bladder and relieve urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system.

The Dandelion mixture consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients of which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water.

This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and afflictions of the kidneys and bladder and rheumatism.

NOBODY TO BLAME

In the Quincy Killing, Except T. R. Smith, and he is Dead

Quincy, Nov. 25.—The coroner's jury investigating the killing of T. R. Smith by Bob Massey last Saturday, returned a verdict yesterday afternoon of justifiable homicide. A. D. Covington, who was in the room when the shooting took place, was endeavoring to make peace between the two men. T. Y. Smith, father of the dead man, and Dr. Munroe are improving nicely, and there is no feeling exhibited by either.
