

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gnaw or burn, foul breath, dizzy spells, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. A glance at its formula will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of the following native American forest plants, viz., Golden Seal root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Queen's root, Bloodroot, and Mandrake root.

The following leading medical authorities, among a host of others, extol the foregoing roots for the cure of just such ailments as the above symptoms indicate: Prof. R. Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Med. College, Phila.; Prof. H. C. Wood, M. D., of Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., Author of American Dispensatory; Prof. Jno. M. Scudder, M. D., Author of Specific Medicines; Prof. Laurence Johnson, M. D., Med. Dept. Univ. of N. Y.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., Author of Materia Medica and Prof. in Bennett Medical College, Chicago. Send name and address on Postal Card to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free booklet giving extracts from writings of all the above medical authors and many others endorsing, in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient of which "Golden Medical Discovery" is composed.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. They may be used in conjunction with "Golden Medical Discovery" if bowels are much constipated. They're tiny and sugar-coated.

MRS. COLLIER'S RECEPTION

The following account of a beautiful social function will be read with pleasure, we are sure, by the many friends of Mrs. Collier in Ocala. Mrs. Collier, as Miss Hattie May Porter, was a great social favorite here, much admired for her charmingly cordial manner and beautiful voice:

One of the most elaborate and artistic affairs enjoyed by Tuscaloosa society in a great while was the beautiful reception yesterday given by Mrs. William A. Collier.

The attractive home of the hostess was brilliant with blooming flowers and fair women galore, dressed in the handsomest gowns. It was one of the largest affairs of the season and the throng of femininity made the occasion exceptionally notable. Mrs. Collier introduced an innovation in reception giving by having the time limited to one hour, the whole stream of ladies coming almost at the same time. This enabled every one to see every one else, and gave the reception a distinctive charm. There were never so many present that there was an uncomfortable crush, but there was a brilliant crowd thronging the pretty rooms throughout the time.

The decorations of the house were exceedingly handsome. In the drawing room, which is finished in pale green tones, the color scheme was white and green and the effect was of the most dainty and exquisite description. Over the lace curtains were trailed sprays of smilax, while back of the receiving line there was a bank of fern and palms. Here and there were set huge vases of magnificent white chrysanthemums. More royal specimens of these fall beauties have not been seen here. The lights were all shaded with flower shades in the palest green, the leaves being of a deeper tone.

In the hall were quantities of palms and vases of white and pink chrysanthemums were on every side. The lights were shaded with the pale green flower shades, and there were many candelabra in silver candelabra. At the front of the hall in the path of the guests going from the drawing room to the library was set the punch bowl, which held a delicious frappe also of a delicate green hue.

Further back in the hall in an alcove made by the staircase, coffee was served at a table adorned with a lavish array of violets. Above in a balcony formed by the turn of the stairs and hidden by a bank of ferns, was stationed an orchestra which played throughout the evening.

The library was all in yellow. The central attraction was a table spread with an elaborate piece of drawn work and in the centre was a big cut glass vase of superb yellow chrysanthemums. Chrysanthemums of the same golden tones were on the piano and mantel and the shades of the lights were flower-like affairs of pale gold with the effective green leaves. Here was served the salad course, and there were cut glass dishes of bon bons on the table. From the library a beautiful view of the dining room was obtained and the room was the prettier as one entered it. Autumn and Thanksgiving were everywhere, suggested in the most artistic fashion. The lights came from Jack o' Lanterns cut out of big pumpkins, which gave the room a soft glow and made a decidedly picturesque effect. There were a number of these pumpkin lanterns and in the centre of the room was a table supporting a huge hollowed-out pumpkin, filled with fruits. The grapes, falling over the side and the other beautiful fruits made a picture of lusciousness and irresistible charm. In this attractive place the guests were served with ices frozen in the shapes and colors of autumn leaves. The cakes were brown and the mints were all in yellow tints.

In the receiving line with Mrs. Collier in the drawing room were Mrs. Searcy Marlowe, Mrs. Thomas W. Christian, Mrs. James T. Rood, Mrs. William G. Somerville, Mrs. A. M. McGehee, Mrs. Charles Bartee and Mrs. Robert J. Hargrove.

Mrs. Collier, who is an exceptionally charming hostess, always gracious and cordial, was a lovely picture yesterday afternoon. Her gown was a handsome affair of reseda crepe de chine, the tones of the gown harmonizing with the beautiful drawing room. It was trimmed with green laces and bands of satin of the same shade. In her hair was a camelia and she held a bouquet of white carnations and ferns. Mrs. Marlowe wore a beautiful white lingerie, with rare lace, and Mrs. Christian wore an elegant pale pink cloth directoire gown, combined with satin. Mrs. Rood was charmingly gowned in white lingerie and embroidery. Mrs. W. G. Somerville wore a superb gown of peacock blue satin, made directoire, the corsage adorned with an embroidered net of the most beautiful description. Mrs. McGehee was queenly in a directoire gown of a soft white woolen material, effectively combined with white satin. Mrs. Charles Bartee was white silk, Mrs. Hargrove wore an exceptionally dainty gown of pale yellow messaline.—Tuscaloosa (Ala.) Times-Gazette.

COULDN'T LIVE WITHOUT HER

Dr. Hass Killed Himself on His Wife's Grave

New York, Dec. 3.—Depressed by an apparently uncontrollable melancholia which haunted him since the suicide of his wife on an ill-omened day, Friday, Nov. 13, last, Dr. Randolph F. Hass, a Lexington avenue dentist, ended his life yesterday by swallowing poison. He was kneeling on the grave of his wife in Woodlawn cemetery as he drank the fatal poison and a watchman who some days ago had prevented his suicide with a revolver on the same spot, was unable to reach him in time to prevent the accomplishment of the deed yesterday. Dr. Hass died within a few minutes. One of his closest friends, Dr. Philip Goldstein, upon hearing of the tragedy, told of the heartbroken existence Dr. Hass has led since the death of his wife; that he had daily visited and placed flowers upon the grave, had closed his home and gone to live with his sister-in-law and had neglected his practice. His professional work, it was said, had been largely dropped for some time before his wife's death because of an apparently insane jealousy on her part toward his patients. For more than a fortnight before shooting herself she had compelled him to remain away from his office, and it was as he was leaving their apartment to fill some important engagements that she took her life. Mrs. Hass was a remarkably beautiful woman and the two had been married but a short time.

WHERE BULLETS FLEW

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me more than five hundred dollars for me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at all drug stores.
