MARION FOREST RESERVE

So many questions have been put to the Star to know the exact location of the government forest reserve, which has been designated in Marion county, we attempted to find out, but failed. We remember that over a year ago the Star office had a call from a young man representing the forestry department and asked all kinds of questions about the scrub across the Oklawaha and whom we would deem a suitable person to have charge of same. Recalling his visit and remembering his questions, we are more than satisfied that the forest reserve in Marion county will embrace the big scrub, including the land from Salt Springs south to Astor and bounded on the east by the St. Johns river and extending west to near Moss Bluff. The establishment of this reserve will mean a big thing for Marion. Think what it will mean a generation from time in the way of fine timber and game without limit.

Many of our older citizens of twenty-five years ago remember pretty Miss Josie Closen, who married a little later Mr. Dan Sinclair, then book-keeper for the firm of E. W. Agnew & Co., one of the brightest, shrewdest young business men of his day in the Brick City. For a few years all went well; the sun shone, friends smiled, the flowers bloomed and their sweet perfume made existence a delight. But an evil moment came, vaulting ambition in the young husband over-leaped itself, to grow suddenly rich and he fell. The law took its course and he paid the penalty. Then he resolved to take up life anew and with that determination he went to South Africa, where he is doing well. The young wife left alone with two little children to support, began the real battle of life and with a stout heart and a determination to make an honorable living for herself and her little daughters, learned typewriting and stenography. She was a quick and apt pupil and mastered the art, securing a good position with an elevated railroad company of Boston. After serving the company for a number of years with satisfaction, a better position presented itself as a teacher in the Bennett Business College, Boston, where she served two years and enhanced her reputation, and her talent received recognition on the staff of the Christian Science Daily Monitor, of Boston, and she is now private secretary to the editor-in-chief of that journal at a salary that speaks the lady's qualifications. While her many Ocala friends regret the serious vicissitudes and severe trials that beset her, they will rejoice to know she has come out of the fierce struggle for existence, with her womanhood unscathed and with her reputation as a successful business woman making her way in the world.

Mr. J. A. Pittman returned yesterday from a visit to his son, Dr. James Pittman, Jacksonville. While there he rode all over the phenomenal and growing city of the South and its industry and progress made him hold his breath. He saw new buildings all around. He said he saw a tract of land, seven acres, that seven years ago he could have bought for $2,500. It has since sold for $25,000. Mr. Pittman feels confident Jacksonville will have 100,000 people in 1915.

John L. Carney, manager of the Carney Invest Co., at Lake Weir, was in town yesterday. The crop this season on the company's groves has been a large one, over forty-three cars and during the shipping season the packing houses have been scenes of great activity and bustle. All the fruit was towed to the S. A. L. dock on the lake and shipped over that road. The Star desires to return thanks to Mr. Carney for a box of fine oranges. They were highly appreciated and reminded us of the fact that Mr. Carney's father, the late Captain John L. Carney, was the founder of the orange industry on Lake Weir more than thirty years ago and in this connection created an orange, the Parson Brown, which for early ripening and deliciousness of flavor has never been equalled.

Mr. H. Robinson, better known as "St. Jim," who so ably represents the Joseph Rosenheim Shoe Co., Savannah, Ga., came in yesterday afternoon from up the country with an unusually happy smile wreathing his sunny countenance, and to our inquiry concerning the occasion for his good humor, he replied that he had been promoted to the honor conferred is the assistant editorship of the trade journal. He started the first of the year by his firm and to be known as "The Hub," to exploit that particular brand of shoes. The Star congratulated sunny Jim on his promotion and wishes him to the ranks of the pencil pushers, and we feel confident that he will prove a crown of glory to the push, as he has proved himself a leader in the army of commercial ambassadors.

DANIEL BOGART

Mr. Daniel Bogart, who came to the city this morning from Belleview, died at the home of Mrs. M. C. Looney on South Third street.

Mr. Bogart had been in poor health for several years. He went to Belleview several years ago from Buffalo, N. Y. He was a paper hanger by trade and worked for McIver & MacKay recently, but lately to be in the open air as much as possible he took to peddling. He was about forty years of age and leaves a wife and two little daughters to mourn his sudden death. Mr. Bogart was selling oranges when he was taken sick this morning and he was removed to Mrs. Looney's home and made as comfortable as possible. Dr. Izlar was summoned and administered to him, but he died in a few moments. McIver & MacKay have charge of the body and are awaiting instructions from the family of the deceased in Belleview. A short time ago Mr. Bogart was notified that an aunt of his had died, leaving him a comfortable fortune. Deceased was a pleasant gentleman and well liked by all who knew him.

MR. HERRICK BUYS A YACHT

Mr. C. E. Herrick is on his way to Crystal River from New York in a splendid new steam yacht purchased by him while in New York for the Dixon-Pencil Co. He bought the boat at a big bargain. It costs $3,300 to build it and he only paid $2,300 for it. The boat is fitted up elegantly and has eight spacious cabins. The boat will be by far the finest on the west coast. Mr. Herrick reached St. Augustine yesterday and after he enters the Gulf of Mexico will call at several other ports before reaching Crystal River. After Mr. Herrick arrives home and the holidays have been enjoyed, it is his idea, as well as the members of the Crystal River Board of Trade to get up an excursion of kindred spirits and explore the channel at Shell Island and inspect the channel works of the Dannelon Phosphate Co. at Port Inglis. It will be a great occasion and those who receive invitations will be fortunate indeed. Here's to Herrick and his palatial yacht and a safe journey into Crystal River.

Many of our readers know Sam Barco, son of Mr. J. M. Barco, of the Sunny Slope farm, who is a student at the Bingham Military Institute at Asheville, N. C. Sam has made himself famous at the school as an all-round athlete and a fast ball player, and his prowess has been rewarded by his being elected captain of the school team of 1901. Here's to Sam, wishing him much success.

Col. Nic Barco came up yesterday from the bustling town of Crystal River to meet his better half, who returned yesterday from Atlanta, where she had gone to return with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Coffy, who will spend the winter with her daughter. Col. Barco says no matter how the wind blows or the wish bone breaks, Crystal River is bound to be linked with the Tampa Northern railroad, which is building from Brooksville to Dannelon and its coming will be hailed by one of the largest fish fries and oyster roasts Citrus county has ever dreamed about.

Mr. P. L. Durisoe of Conner was in town today with a load of crisp vegetables. He said in coming in this morning this side of the ferry he saw eight wild turkeys along the roadside headed by a great big gobbler with a goatee that would have made Uncle Sam envious. Mr. Durisoe had no gun and the turkeys went free.
