QUICK SAND MAKES SLOW WORK

J. W. Pearson, general manager of the Pearson Oil Company, after increasing his boiler power and starting up Friday week and drilling three days, bored through the limestone formation, 1500 feet down, and into a quick sand lake. The work of boring will have to stop until piping can be secured, which Mr. Pearson hopes to receive the latter part of the week. He spent Sunday with his family.

HYMEN'S HARVEST

THE BETTER THE DAY,
THE BETTER THE DEED.

So Thought Six Young People Who Joined Hearts and Hands Sunday.

It has been many a long day since so numerously attended a wedding took place as was solemnized yesterday at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Pyles, five miles south of Ocala. The high contracting parties were Miss Mary B. Pyles, the winsome daughter of Mr. Samuel R. Pyles, and Mr. Richard Henry Holstein, a promising young business man of the old Palmetto State, who, at high noon, presented themselves at the improvised altar and in the presence of 150 friends and neighbors were made man and wife by the impressive words spoken by Rev. Howard Dutil, pastor of the M. E. church, South, of Ocala. Miss Gertie Peyser presided at the piano, and, with the graceful touch of an artist, played the stirring notes of Mendelssohn's immortal Wedding March, as the manly groom led his fair bride to the altar, followed by Dr. Booser as best man, while the sweet and gracious Miss Tillie Pyles, cousin to the bride, acted as maid of honor. The groomsmen and bridesmaids were Mr. and Mrs. Morton Douglas, Mr. Jesse Pyles and Miss Lizzie Douglas. The bride was beautifully gowned in white Paris mousseline, trimmed with real Valenciennes lace and white ribbons. The bridal veil and the orange blossoms were exquisitely lovely. She presented a charming picture in her regal bridal robes, which contrasted so becomingly with the conventional black worn by the groom.

After the ceremony came congratulations; then an invitation to the wedding dinner, which was spread on tables on the porch extending from the house proper to the kitchen, over which an awning was spread, creating a dining room nearly fifty feet long. The center table, at which the bride and groom and those of near relationship sat, presented a tempting picture with its central pyramid of roses. The dining room was a vision of delight, with its decorations of smilax and Marechal Niel roses, reinforced by bamboo vines, palms and moss. The decorations of the occasion reflected great credit on the artistic taste of Miss Tillie Pyles, who superintended the work. The tables presented a veritable wedding feast, such an one as did justice to Mr. S. R. Pyles' always well filled larder and the culinary skill which Mrs. Pyles possesses in a marked degree. It was such a dinner as has not been seen in Marion county in a generation. The guests tarried long at the feast, seasoned as it was with witty sayings, wise saws and pleasant social chat, warming all hearts by the genial influences of the hour.

The presents were then inspected and admired. They were numerous and costly. The gifts and givers are as follows:

Mrs. J. E. Chace, cake knife; Mrs. J. M. Thompson, sugar shell; Dr. Booser, gold berry ladle; Mrs. Morton Douglas, tea bell; Mr. and Mrs. Tydings, silver mounted fruit stand; Miss Emma Barber, card receiver; E. T. Helvenston, Smyrna rug; Miss Lilly Frost, handkerchief; Mrs. Hick, berry dish; Miss Millie Conagan, nut bowl; Mrs. Connelly, fruit dish; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, cracker jar; Mr. and Mrs. Lummus, china bed room set; Mr. and Mrs. Vereen, linen napkins; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Pyles, Smyrna rug; Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Green, sugar shell; Mr. and Mrs. Whitworth, set silver spoons; Mr. and Mrs. Chambliss, cake plates; Counts Barnes, bread plate; Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, cut glass water set; Joe Wise, candelabra; Mr. and Mrs. Peyser, cut glass water pitcher; Mrs. Boyd, forgetmenot brooch; Misses Boyd, scarf pin; Miss Allie Van Juhau, china celery dish.

One of the amusing and pleasant incidents of this momentous day in the lives of this young couple was the cutting of their magnificent bridal cake and the drawing of the prizes, which were regarded as matrimonial omens. It was a merry crowd that gathered round the cake and innocent puns and jokes ran riot, until it was found that Master Willie Pooser had sliced the ring and Mr. Nathan Peyser the scarf pin. They were made the subjects of hearty congratulations and blissful predictions.

Among the guests present from Ocala were General and Mrs. Robert Bullock, Mr. and Mrs. Chambliss,

THEY'VE STOOD THE TEST.

It takes time for a shoe dealer to build up his line, perfect it and get his business established. Then comes the test of his goods; they must sell and they must give unlimited satisfaction. Here's where our lines of shoes are strong. Our shoes please at first sight—they delight the eye and they hold a place in your favor. For many years our lines of superior footwear have stood first at the prices we quote, and they eclipse all previous records now. We always use the very best upper and bottom stock. With this we give you shoe-making and style.

Hick, Miss Lillian Frost, Miss Millie Conagan, Misses Allie Van and Mary Juhau, Dr. Christian and wife, Capt. F. D. Pooser and family, Goldie Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Sim Lummus, E. T. Helvenston, Nathan Peyser, Edwin Pittman, George Green, Mr. and Mrs. John Vereen, Mrs. Connelly, Miss Emma Barber, Col. L. P. Miller, Jake Tipton, Mr. and Mrs. Will Dillaberry, and Joe Wise, with many others the reporter cannot remember, a statement easily credited when it is noted that eighty double and single teams formed the circle of arrivals.

The day was a lovely one and nature conspired to make the occasion one of note and long to be remembered.

The groom is a successful melon grower and in a few weeks will take up his residence at Kendrick, where he will cultivate several hundred acres of melons and cantaloupes.

The Star joins with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Holstein in wishing them a long, useful and happy life.

McGAHAGIN - KENNEDY

George L. McGahagin went to Plant City yesterday and wedded Miss Mary Bell Kennedy of that town. Rev. M. M. Wamboldt made the couple man and wife.

Mr. McGahagin is an Ocala boy has grown up in this city, been in the service of the A. C. L. R. R., and has, by faithful and efficient service, won his way from flagman to conductor. He is a young man of many fine qualities.

True to his instincts of duty, he returned home with his bride last night and took his run to Dunnellon this morning as if the most important event in his life had not occurred yesterday. The best wishes of the Star attend Mr. McGahagin and his fair bride through life.

DILLARD - McATEER

Last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride, Mr. Frank Dillard of Santos was married to Miss Emma V. McAteer by Rev. Howard Dutil.

Mr. Dillard is a section boss on the S. A. L. R. R., with headquarters at Santos, which will be the home of the contracting parties.

The bride is a sister of Mr. Samuel McAteer, and a most estimable young lady. The Star extends congratulations and tenders best wishes for a happy and useful life to the young married couple.

SCOTT ACCEPTS

A Short, Straight Letter from the Business Man's Candidate

I wish to thank the many signers of the petition asking that I become a candidate for the office of mayor in the December municipal election, for the confidence therein expressed.

Can only say that I will become a candidate, and if elected, will endeavor to have all of the city ordinances faithfully enforced.

Respectfully, G. S. Scott.
