'Twould Spoil This Story to Tell It in the Headlines

To use an eighteenth century phrase, this is an "o'er true tale." Having happened in a small Virginia town in the winter of 1902, it is a story very much of the present. Up to a short time ago Mrs. John E. Harmon, of Melfa Station, Va., had no personal knowledge of the rare curative properties of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. "Last January," she says, "my baby took a dreadful cold and at one time I feared she would have pneumonia, but one of my neighbors told me how this remedy had cured her little boy and I began giving it to my baby at once and it soon cured her. I heartily thank the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for placing so great a cure within my reach. I cannot recommend it too highly or say too much in its favor. I hope all who read this will try it and be convinced as I was." For sale by Anti-Monopoly Drugstore.

SUNDAY AT BLITCHTON

Meeting of Northern Branch of Marion Sunday School Convention—A Large and Enthusiastic Gathering

Sunday was a memorable day at Blitchton, both as to the occasion, the interest in the religious exercises and the crowd present.

Considering the threatening state of the weather, the rain that had fallen Saturday and the night following and the lowering clouds of Sunday morning, the wonder was that so many people would venture out and come the distance a large proportion did to participate in the exercises of the day.

The morning hour was devoted to the work of the northern district of the Marion Sunday School Convention, over which Rev. James Carlton, of Flemington, presided, and Kirk Mixon, its faithful secretary, recorded its minutes.

When we arrived Rev. L. D. Geiger, corresponding secretary of the Florida Baptist Convention, had the floor and was making a grand address on missions. The audience was deeply stirred.

Among those who spoke were Rev. J. M. Morris, pastor of the Blitchton church; Rev. A. L. Prisco, of Fairfield, who said he would see that his association's assessment was paid, as did Mr. J. T. Sistrunk, who said his ideas had all been to help the home mission field, but Dr. Geiger's words had so impressed him that he was ready and willing to help where the aid was most needed, no matter where.

The hour having arrived for the morning service, the pastor, Rev. Mr. Morris, introduced Rev. M. M. Wamboldt, of Jacksonville, one of the most polished and eloquent preachers in the state. The speaker took for his text Luke 12:27, "Consider the lilies, how they grow: they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these."

The speaker said in casting around for a subject, as he looked out of his window that morning and noted the unfolding leaf and bursting bud, the text he had read came to his mind. On it he would formulate his remarks. The sermon was a splendid one, the speaker graceful, the language chaste and expressive, and masterful in presenting the omnipotence of God in the divinity that shapes our lives and the irresistible and incontrovertible evidence of the Almighty's handiwork in the creation of the world and everything found in it. Having presented the facts of God's creative and omniscient power, he took the lily, one of the fairest and sweetest of the flowers of earth, as the symbol of the resurrection and in language that touched and thrilled all hearts with his graphic power of word painting, he showed that after life's fitful fever we should all come forth in the perfection of our bodies and appear before the Master's throne. All this depends on our stewardship.

The orator spoke for nearly an hour, without notes or manuscript, and during that time the church, which is a large and roomy one for a country community, was crowded to its portals, out into the open and coigns of vantage were occupied on all sides to hear the irresistible charm of the speaker's eloquence and deep religious fervor. We have only attempted to give the barest outline of one of the finest sermons ever heard in that section of Marion county.

Just as the sermon of the morning closed and all were getting ready to present themselves at the noon meal, a shower descended, but the clouds quickly rolled by and dinner—for 500—was proceeded with. It was just such a dinner as the ladies of the Blitchton section are famous for, and like the feast of the loaves and fishes, when all had partaken there was abundance left.

After dinner the Sunday school convention continued the discussion of subjects pertinent to the cause.

Rev. J. M. Morris and Dr. S. H. Blitch were down to take part in discussing "How to help the Sunday school superintendent." Mr. M. responded ably; showed how much pastors and Sunday school superintendents appreciated words of encouragement in their efforts to uphold the cause of the Master. He believed in presenting bouquets to the living, not waiting to wreath the coffins of the dead with manifestations of our sense of appreciation. Dr. Blitch was for the time otherwise engaged, looking after the comfort of his many guests.

WHO'S HOO

A Concatenation of Fortuitous Circumstances at the Masonic Hall Saturday Night

A concatenation of the Hoo Hoo took place in Masonic Hall Saturday evening. There were a dozen lumbermen initiated into the order, and about thirty-five were present all told. The initiatory rites were very solemn (?) and impressive (no question here), and the new members will not soon forget their obligations. After the initiations and the business of the order were concluded, the members of the Hoo Hoo adjourned to the Ocala House, where an elaborate spread was served, with covers laid for fifty. At 2 o'clock in the morning, after one of the most enjoyable bachelor evenings of their lives, the Ocala lodge of Hoo Hoo adjourned.

A team of Hoo Hoo reached Ocala Saturday composed of the following to administer the initiatory degrees: J. W. White, Z. C. Herlong, George P. Wylly, R. D. Drysdale, J. P. Lynch, C. F. Flynn, A. C. Harris, S. A. Love. They were all from Jacksonville.

Concatenations are called at nine minutes past nine. Initiation fee, $9.99. Dues, 99 cents a year.

Annual meetings are held on the ninth day of the ninth month, and it is said that the kitten who learns the secrets must have, like the cat, nine lives. The emblem of the order is a black cat on a white button. Each member has a number by which he is known. The order is made up of lumbermen, railroad men, in the freight department, and newspaper men, and is growing rapidly in the South.

Admiral Dewey, last week, said to a newspaper reporter that the recent American demonstration in the Caribbean was "an object lesson more to the kaiser than anyone else." The Germans are mad about it and want President Roosevelt to call Dewey down. A leading German paper says the "American navy is suffering from the disease of infancy—lack of modesty." Holy Moses! The American navy had humbled the flag of Britain and broken the power of the Barbary pirates fifty years before the formation of the German empire. What has the German navy done? Dewey fought the battles of his country before the German navy was born—before Teddy Roosevelt was out of short dresses. It would be becoming in the president to call the old sea lion down.
