FLORENCE, S. C., Nov. 29, 1900.—I was first advised by our family physician in Charleston to use TEETHINA with our baby when he was but a very young infant, as a preventive of colic and to warm and sweeten the stomach. Later it was useful in teething troubles, and its effect has been found to be so very beneficial and so free from dangers that are consequent upon the use of drugs and soothing syrups, that we have come to regard it, after use with three children, as one of the necessities when there is a new baby in the house and until the teething troubles are over, and we take pleasure in recommending it to our friends instead of the horrid stuff that so many people use to keep their baby quiet. HOW TO GET RID OF DRUDGERY

Three things Ruskin considered necessary to that happiness in work which is the right as well as the privilege of every human being: "They" (men and women) "must be fit or it; (men and women) "must be fit for it; they must have a sense of success in it,—not a doubtful sense, such as needs some testimony of other people for its confirmation, but a sure sense, or, rather, knowledge, that so much work has been done well, and fruitfully done, whatever the world may say or think about it."

No man is original, prolific or strong, unless his heart gives full consent to what he is doing, and he feels a glow of content and satisfaction in every day's well-done work.

If you are in love with your work, and dead in earnest in your efforts to do it as well as it can be done; if you are so enthusiastic about it that you fairly begrudge the time taken from it for your meals and recreation, you will never be bored by it; the drudgery which others feel you will never know.

A fond mother feels no sense of drudgery in her housework, in the infinite details of sweeping, dusting, cooking, mending, and making for her loved ones. The long days and nights of care and toil spent ministering to the crippled, deaf and dumb or invalid child, have never a thought of unwilling labor in them.

What are years of waiting and hardship and disappointment and incessant toil to an inspired artist? What cares the writer whose heart is in his work for money or fame compared with the joy of creation? What are long courses of seeming drudgery to the poor student working his way through college, if his heart is aflame with desire for knowledge, and his soul is athirst for wisdom?

In the production of the best work, the co-operation of heart and head is necessary. Its quantity as well as quality will be measured by the amount of love that is put into it.

"He loved labor for its own sake," said Macaulay of Frederick the Great. "His exertions were such as were hardly to be expected from a human body or a human mind."

When we throw ourselves heart and soul into our work, there is something higher than the purely human part of us engaged in it. It is the divine working through us that accomplishes results seemingly beyond human power.

The poor, botched, slipshod work of which the world is so prolific, comes from the hands and brains of those who have never fallen in love with their occupations. This is but natural. How can any one do his best when he is haunted by a feeling of dissatisfaction? How can one do a good piece of work when he does it unwillingly, merely because he is constrained, in order to supply his animal necessities?

William Morris, the great apostle of artistic work, was convinced that there would be no fine, enduring work done by the artisans of the world until they should be so circumstanced that their daily toil would mean more to them than a mere question of bread and butter, so that they could go to it in the spirit that an artist brings to the creation of a masterpiece, feeling joy in it for its own sake.

Only that which is wrought in this spirit will live. It takes the heart, the affections and enthusiasm to stamp immortality upon any achievement. Skill and intelligence alone cannot do it.

Putting your heart into your work shortens the way, shortens the day, lengthens the pay, and makes you an artist instead of a drudge.—Success.

THE CANADIAN LANDSLIDE

The disaster which overwhelmed the town of Frank in British Columbia was no less singular than terrible. Without warning, the whole top of a mountain came thundering down into a valley and buried under countless tons of rock a busy and bustling mining village. Landslides in exceptionally wet weather are not of uncommon occurrence, even in this fortunate section of the country, but for a mountain-top of rock to become disengaged from its base and slip down into the valley is, happily, so infrequent as to make the Frank affair notable in modern annals.
