A Year of Prohibition (By Rev. John E. White.)

What is the record of one year of prohibition in Georgia?

1. In the ten city centers of Atlanta, Rome, Columbus, Macon, Augusta, Athens, Albany, Gainesville, Brunswick and Valdosta, the reports of the city courts show a reduction in arrests for drunkenness of sixty per cent, and a reduction in arrests for all crimes of thirty-five per cent, for 1908, as against 1907.

2. The prevalence throughout the farming section of much more satisfactory relations between planters and mill men and the labor they employ than formerly.

3. The consensus among cotton mill managers as published in industrial papers, that prohibition is particularly friendly to the stability and efficiency of their operatives.

4. The thinning of the cloud of fear and uneasiness over the lives of country women, which in the year 1907 had become a morbid and threatening status in Georgia by reason of drunkenness among the negroes.

5. The conviction, practically unanimous with the leaders, teachers and friends of the negro people, that prohibition is an unspeakable blessing to that race—1,300,000 strong in Georgia.

6. The actual economy of wealth in the state's drink bill, the accurate extent of which cannot be calculated, but which may be estimated by the great slump in the figures of the United States revenue department, of whiskey taken out of bond in 1908, and from the candid admission in circulars sent out by distillers and brewers to rally the trade to the reality of the peril of prohibition.

7. Best of all—the good fight for the sacredness of law and the integrity of democracy, which is going on its way lining up the civic conscience and patriotism in every community on one side and the lawless minded and the indifferent to law on the other.

Give us ten years of this in Georgia and in the South and the policy of prohibition will demonstrate itself as something deeper and more vital than a temperance movement. Ten years from now a solid prohibition wall will be in the eyes of the world.

"Awful Results" in Knoxville

Knoxville, which was the first large city of the South to vote out its saloons, is giving additional demonstration of the prosperity that follows the prohibition policy. Last year, without a dollar of saloon revenue, the city laid five miles of street paving at a cost of $275,000. Already this spring, three miles of concrete sidewalks have been laid and the total will be brought up to sixteen miles at a cost of $50,000. The city is spending $50,000 more to widen some of the streets at certain points and is building a concrete viaduct on Asylum avenue at a cost of $67,000. At the council meeting last Friday night advertisements were ordered asked for bids for the laying of nine more miles of street pavement at a cost of some $500,000. The city has purchased a lot for a new high school building at a cost of $50,000, and plans are being made for a building, for which $100,000 will be paid. A contract has been awarded for building a primary school which will cost $10,000. The budget includes an appropriation of $5,000 for another negro school. A new fire hall costing $3,000 is being built and an addition is being built upon another at a cost of $3,000.

Knoxville is this year spending twice as much money for public improvements as has ever been spent in one preceding year; yet the tax rate without saloon revenue is five cents lower on the $100 than in 1907, with license.—National Prohibitionist.

A Coward

Two men boarded the street car. They were prominent members of the same church and friends. It was Wednesday evening, and one was on his way to the prayer meeting, the other going to his lodge. Said one, "Did you sign the local option petition today?"

The other replied: "No, I could not afford to. You see some of the signers are my best customers. I could not afford to sign. I'll vote all right, but no signing such petitions for your Uncle Henry. No, sir, a man in business must stand on business, and moral and reform and religious questions must not enter in to disturb business relations. I remember that Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are His. I hope you did not sign it" very anxiously.

"But I did." "Well, well, it will hurt you. I am sorry. Where do you get off?" "Oh, I am going up to the lodge. This I can help the cause a little up there."

"Well, I am going to prayer meeting. I never allow anything to interfere with that."

It seemed to us as we sat in the seat behind and heard the low conversation, that the local option petition signer, church and lodge man went down from the street car and up to his lodge justified, rather than the prayer meeting churchman, who went in before the altar of his God after having been bond-servant to Caesar all the day.—American Issue.

A Crying Shame

The Chicago Daily News—not a prohibition paper, mind you—on the evening of May 6, published the following among its "Talks on Many Topics," as a letter from some Chicago woman:

"Who can tell me what to do with a husband who, through excessive drinking, is going to ruin? Cures do not help any. Sanitariums have failed to make any improvement and liquor dealers have been warned, but they keep on giving it to him whether he has money to pay for it or not. Influential persons have spoken to him time and again, only to gain a promise, which is broken the very next pay day. Must I sit by and see my children, mere babies, become nervous wrecks through fear of him, or wait until he, in a drunken mood, does some treacherous crime? Is there nothing to prevent it? Must I wait until the worst has happened?"

The statement of the case leaves very little to be said. Here is a most vivid picture of a condition that exists, not in one home nor in a few homes, but in almost innumerable homes in Chicago and in every other American city, a condition of things so utterly intolerable and hopeless as to be beyond the power of description, a condition of things that is directly traceable to a legalized institution existing under the provision of laws, the responsibility for which is readily traced to the individual voter. And this poor woman appeals for help practically in vain. Nine-tenths of all the daily papers in the land are sold to the liquor power. The politicians are owned, body and soul—we had almost said—by the brewer and the distiller and the saloonkeeper. The little "statesman" are busy chattering about who shall be United States senator, and the bigger breed of them about what shall be the tariff on stockings, and such like things. And the voters are so helplessly tied to the leading strings of political parties committed to the perpetuation of this infamy, that the task of arousing them seems almost hopeless.

Somebody is to blame—accursedly to blame—for the woes of this poor woman. The saloonkeeper is one such somebody, but he is only one.

How would it sound to say that the soul's blood of this poor woman's woe cries to God against every citizen who has not, in the supreme act of his citizenship, clearly and beyond misunderstanding recorded his utter condemnation of the whole system that creates her sufferings? If every man who voted for Taft or Bryan last fall, would ask himself whether his ballot said "Yes" or "No" to the saloon's request for permission to keep on knocking this poor mother, what answer would he get.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS

Several weeks have elapsed since an article for Christian Endeavor has contained varied news items. We are grateful to editors and readers who shared patiently with us accounts of the state convention, reports of last year's work, and gleanings from the secretary's field trip.

State President Winnard had planned to attend the International Convention at St. Paul, Minn. July 7-12, but now feels it will be impossible. As transportation agent for our state union he asks every one who is planning to go to St. Paul to write to him at 403 Palm avenue, Tampa, as soon as possible, that he may send such representatives from Florida proper credentials. The officers of the Knit-Ed Society have asked that our banners be on exhibition with those from other states, and Mr. Winnard is anxious that some one from Florida will be on hand to show "our colors" in the great parade. Who will be the first to volunteer?

Miss Emma Y. Hughes, the indefatigable secretary of North Central district is no longer a sojourner in a remote phosphate camp. She and her mother are permanently located in Gainesville, 318 E. Main street, while Mr. Hughes is traveling for a cutlery company. Mrs. Hughes and our secretary are delighted in having church privileges again and on being surrounded with congenial friends.

A much appreciated letter from Dr. Clark tells of the pleasure given him by the brief trip to Florida, and regretted that not more space could have been given the convention in his write-up of his southern field work. Dr. Clark added: "I feel more than ever that Christian Endeavor has still a long way to go in your state. What do you Floridians think about it?"

It is almost time for the asking for reports showing the society work accomplished in the first quarter of this new year, commencing April 1st, 1909. Both Junior and older Endeavorers have nice, new blanks to report on, and it would be well to get them promptly and exact in making these statistics, so indispensable to the district secretaries.

Mr. W. F. Mantey, treasurer of Northeastern district, has sent an urgent, though kindly appeal to each society in his field, asking that the annual dues of twenty cents per capita be paid as soon as possible. Juniors are only expected to give 6 cents per member. One serious drawback often in Florida is the seeming indifference or ignorance shown by district treasurers, resulting sometimes in depleted funds when most needed at convenient times. Let other treasurers take note of Mr. Mantey's business like methods and see if finances are all straight in their own districts.

Miss Leah Brightwell, the energetic secretary of West Tampa Endeavorers, has sent us a bright news letter. Among other items to be mentioned in the following: "The Juniors are progressing nicely. They are now engaged in making scrap books for the Children's Home and are enthusiastic over the work. Mrs. Beyer, the Junior superintendent, has been away for the last two weeks, but will be with the children at their next meeting."

The readers of the Ocala Star will, we think, be glad to hear of the continued prosperity of Rev. Fred Powell, of Carrollton, Ga. A great revival meeting has lately been held in his church with the eloquent Christian church evangelist, Rev. Stephen D. Colyer, in the pulpit.

GRACE A. TOWNSEND, Interlachen, Fla., June 24, 1909.

A SQUARE-DEAL

Is assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and these are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless—even to the most delicate women and children.

Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles in them, viz.—pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or other organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures even the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on-coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

To find out more about the above mentioned diseases and all about the body in health and disease, get the Common Sense Medical Adviser—the People's Schoolmaster in Medicine—revised and up-to-date book of 1000 pages—which treats of diseased conditions and the practical, successful treatment thereof. Cloth-bound sent post-paid on receipt of 31 cents in one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Surprising, What Kodol Will Do

For you, when you need it. But the longer you neglect indigestion, the more you will suffer before Kodol can restore Good Digestion.

And, of course, indigestion if neglected long enough, brings on serious diseases in which Kodol cannot benefit you. Some of these there is no help for at all.

There are, in fact, very few ailments which cannot be traced directly to impure blood. And impure blood is always due to a disordered stomach.

Use Kodol and prevent Nervous Dyspepsia. Kodol will effectually assist Nature to secure a complete restoration of good digestion. It does this by at once digesting all food in the stomach and keeping it digested, until the stomach is rested and can resume its own work. Kodol removes the cause—and the effect quickly removes itself.

When it is recalled that Apoplexy, Heart Disease, Cancer—and even Consumption—are due to poor digestion and poisons thus transmitted to the blood, and throughout the system—the importance of maintaining good digestion is at once realized.

We knew what Kodol would do before ever the first bottle was sold. If we did not know just what it would do, we would not guarantee it the way we do.

It is easy for you to prove Kodol—the next (or the first) time you have an attack of indigestion. And you will certainly be surprised at the results. It is perfectly harmless.

There can be no harm in trying something that may do you a great deal of good—when it costs you nothing if it doesn't.

Our Guarantee Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.
