HEAVY RAIL CLOSE TO OCALA

The heavy steel rail on the Coast Line railroad is being laid as fast as possible, closing the gap between Kendrick, where it now reaches, on the north, to Croom on the south. The west coast division has been completed and it will only be a few months more till the gap will be closed. The watermelon rush delayed the work or it would have been completed. Laying the heavy rail will give much better service through this territory.

SHOPLIFTER ESCAPED

Mary Young, the negro woman sent up about a year ago for shoplifting in Rheinauer's store, escaped from the Marion Farms this morning. She came through the city and was trailed by the dogs until they reached the place where she entered a carriage, probably a hack driven by a confederate. It is not probable that she can long remain at large. This is the woman whose thefts were discovered by R. M. M. Little.

A few days ago lightning struck the scrub near Port Orange bridge, on the beach side, and for two days volumes of smoke issued from the burning brush. Though several houses were in danger, none were lost.

One of the largest beach picnics this summer was given last Wednesday at Seabreeze.
