ICE! ICE!

Buy Ice From Red Wagons

They say, but if you will examine carefully the ice which melts so rapidly you will note that there seems to be holes in it, that the center is what is called "snow ice," which, being porous, allows it to melt quickly.

"Crystal Ice"

The kind we turn out is as clear and perfect as it is possible to make ice, and is the most economical ice to use. Ask the man on the Red Wagon to stop and see you.

CANDIDATES FOR THE CHAIR

The Man who Forced a Brooklyn Girl to Jump from a Racing Auto to Save Her Honor

New York, Nov. 10.—The autopsy performed on the body of Dorothy Byrnes, a young girl member of a well known Brooklyn family and who died in a hospital in Blackwell's Island last night, brought to light another murder mystery. The autopsy showed that the girl had been assaulted. In a statement which the girl made before her death she said she had gone riding in a motor car with strange men, and that she was forced, to escape their treatment, to leap from the machine while it was going at a great rate of speed. In jumping she fractured her skull. The men went on in the car, leaving her to her fate. She was found in Blackwell's Island and brought to the hospital, where she died a few hours after making her statement.

BEAUTIFUL NEW SILVER

A. E. Burnett, the jeweler, is receiving new shipments of beautiful silver in all shapes and the latest patterns, almost daily. He has this season the best stock of these goods ever carried.

EVERY-ALLEN

It is doubtful if a more brilliant or more beautiful nuptial scene was ever witnessed in McIntosh—famous for pretty weddings—than was the wedding of last Wednesday evening at the First Christian church when the fair hand of Miss Mary Sue, the pretty and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Allen, was given in marriage to Mr. Drayton Allen of Gainesville, and these two plighted their troth, each to the other, to love honor and cherish through life's journey.

At the hour of 6:30 o'clock approached the guests began to arrive to witness the wedding and share in the happiness of the young people and to do them honor.

The girl friends of the bride showed rare taste in their selections of such beautiful palms, bamboo, pot plants and cut flowers, which decorations made the church and appropriate setting to a fairy scene.

Mrs. Flewelen played the Mendelssohn Wedding March and the bridesmaids, Miss Fanny Allen and Miss Virginia Allen, in beautiful dresses of white lingerie elaborately trimmed with laces and ribbons, entered the church from the left aisle, followed by the bride, Miss Mary Allen, leaning on the arm of her father, Mr. W. E. Allen.

The ushers, Mr. Clark C. Chitty of Gainesville, and Mr. Howard Bate-man of McIntosh, entered the church from the right aisle followed by the groom attended by his best man, Mr. M. F. McCook of Gainesville, meeting the bride at the altar, where the beautiful marriage ceremony of the Christian church was solemnized by the Rev. Mr. Coleman of Ocala.

The bride's exquisite gown was a white crepe de chene elaborately trimmed with embroidered net with ribbon and laces, her veil being of white tulle. She carried a large shower bouquet of bride's roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and guests repaired to the residence of the bride's parents, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served.

The fair bride is one of McIntosh's most beautiful young women. She has just reached young womanhood and she has friends by hundreds. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Allen, is possessed of a bright mind, and is accomplished in the arts of home and society. She possesses a charming personality and sparkles with wit and repartee. She will be greatly missed by her many friends, and Gainesville, her future home, is indeed securing for herself a rare jewel.

Mr. Averra is a prominent and successful insurance man of Gainesville and is possessed of all the good traits of a manly man, and will make the young lady who has entrusted her heart and life to his keeping a fit husband and companion.

The young couple left immediately after the wedding supper for Ocala amid showers of congratulations and best wishes. They will visit different points of interest in the state, after which they will be at home to their many friends in Gainesville.

A Friend.
McIntosh, Fla., Nov. 4, 1909.

A Religious Author's Statement

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to my bed for eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy." Sold by all druggists.

HYPNOTIZED TOO HEAVILY

A Somerville, N. J., Man Cast into a Trance from Which the Hypnotist Could Not Arouse Him

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 10.—County Physician Long held an autopsy yesterday afternoon to determine the exact cause of death of Robert Simpson, of Newark, who failed to recover from a hypnotic spell at the Somerville theater Monday night. Arthur Everton, a theatrical hypnotist, is in jail charged with manslaughter. He hypnotized Simpson before a large audience, but when he attempted to bring him out Simpson was cold at though dead. Everton declared him to be alive and in a cataleptic state.

Heroic treatment by electricity and other methods failed to restore Simpson and the physicians announced him to be dead.

WORTH READING

To the Southern Publishers About Their Own Business.

It is true that this letter is lengthy, but we can see none of it that should be omitted. If there is a single misstatement, we invite the severest condemnation from the creators of public opinion. If, however, what we say is correct and the conclusion is based upon reason, then we expect a campaign of publicity by the publishers of Southern periodicals that will proclaim once for all the oneness of Southern thought in expecting a great rush of development.

At the outset we intend to dip right into circulation figures. To prove what? That Southern publishers are one with Southern bankers, manufacturers, merchants, farmers, etc., in not enjoying all the traffic the rich gifts of the South should bring them.

The following circulation figures are eye-openers as to an undeveloped South. (Figures are from Chesman's Rate Book 1909-10.)

THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Massachusetts there are sixteen dailies with more than 20,000 circulation. Arkansas—rich in everything that can make a great state—has just one daily with more than 20,000 circulation.

Florida has not a single daily with 20,000 circulation.

"Glorious old Georgia" has only five dailies running over 20,000. Its highest mark is 55,657.

Louisiana has six, because of New Orleans.

Maryland has seven, because of Baltimore.

Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and West Virginia have none.

Oklahoma (30 years old) has three. Virginia (112 years old) has three.

Tennessee has only seven and the giant state of Texas only eleven; and of these eleven not one goes above 60,000.

Look at it another way and then follow us further—in the 900,000 square miles of the South, there are just fifty-three (53) dailies or Sundays that run over 20,000—in the 94,000 square miles of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts there 74. Say it loud! SEVENTY-FOUR!

What is the answer? Just folks, who can read. Circulation men may persuade readers this way one year only to lose them next year to a more persuasive offer; but that does not make more folks. It is just like shifting money from one pocket to another and calling it prosperity. Guessing contests, "prettiest" teacher competitions, "Mr. Raffles" performances are all picturesque—and sometimes amusing—and temporarily helpful, but they do not reach down to the basic difficulty in Southern circulation. What we need is folks who can read—and want to. Give us those and the fixed charges on a paper will almost stand still while the circulation jumps.

These statements and the conclusion are either true or false. There is no midway. If we are talking absurdities we ask no further reading. If we are talking truth then we beg a few moments more of your time.

Papers cannot live without readers (unless the circulation is for the deception of advertisers and based on the principle "once a reader, always a reader" whether the reader pays again or not.)

Farms cannot be cultivated without labor. Very few realize that only 25 acres out of every 100 in the South are under any sort of cultivation. We talk enthusiastically about Southern agriculture and we are right; for its limits are beyond our ken—if there are folks.

Factories cannot be run without hands. Do you realize that Rhode Island—smaller than some of our Southern counties—has more manufacturing activity than any one of the Southern states—omitting Missouri? We know that the South is to be a great manufacturing region—some day! It is not only the South, but the South that will hasten it.

Trade cannot go on without money (unless we slide back to barter times) and money does not change hands unless there are folks to pass it along.

Are we agreed? The South needs folks who can read; for reading is the test of intelligent interest in the world of affairs. We should all be better off if there were more of us. Very well, then; the interest of every publisher in the South in this matter is exactly the same as that of the farmer with the grover of things, the transformer of things into other things, and with the money handler behind the grill of the bank.

Again we say—what is the answer? The minds of the best sons of the South are needed to frantically read the first word of an answer was framed at Chattanooga in August, 1908, was continued in Washington at the Southern Commercial Congress in December, 1908, and has been continued since through the permanent organization then effected. The basis of the answer at it is taking shape is simple—create in the whole South a greater self-knowledge and thus bring into every business an immutable confidence regarding the possibilities of the future—make the South a known truthfully—bring the South into its rightful place in the nation's commerce and development.

Now comes the second meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress. We come in no beseeching tone to you as a controller of opinion. We come to you to remind you that your very business growth depends upon the right answer to the problem of the South's empty acres and unused opportunities. The stake involved is the greatest in the commercial history of the United States—a Southward rush of development before 1915—a condition of preparedness for the opportunities that rest under the influence of the Panama Canal in producing a Southward swing of commerce—the emergence of the South from its eclipse and its strong voice heard again in national problems of development.

We shall have a good program in December but that is more nothing compared with the contact of earnest men with earnest men for a patriotic purpose. Therefore, we believe your own interests will be ultimately served if without reminder or request from us you bring open your editorial columns to steadily urge your thinking men to come to Washington to meet other thinkers in order that all may think and act effectively for the whole South. The sessions are open to all, for the expense of the meeting are being met by 25 contributions from commercial organizations. Come yourself! Come and see that no man in it is a know-it-all. Come and strike hands with business men just as busy as yourself, but ready to give time to plan and work for a greater nation through a greater South."

Jno. M. Parker, President, (Member of Progressive Union, New Orleans, La.)

Charles Hall Davis, Chairman Executive Committee, (Member of Chamber of Commerce, Petersburg, Va.)

G. Grosvenor Dave, Managing Director, (Formerly Secretary of the Commercial Club, Montgomery, Ala.)

The old, old story, told times without number and repeated over and over again for the last 36 years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health—there is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
