About Sewing Machines

Why Not Buy The Best?

There is no economy in buying machines that are cheap in mechanism, and high in price, that you will want to trade off in a short time.

A "SINGER" is always the pride of its owner. The Singer Sewing Machine is recognized all over the world as the model of sewing machine perfection, and all other makes are judged by the Singer standard. That is why every woman is proud to own a Singer, sold only by the Singer Sewing Machine Co., dealing directly from maker to user. They are now being sold at lower prices.

Also the best oil, needles, belts, etc., of which we carry a larger stock than any other dealer, and we are on the spot to give careful attention to all customers.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR M'UTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

Von Blitz stood at the landing place to welcome Rasula and his comrades and to be the first to clasp the hand of the man from Brodney's.

At last his figure could be made out on the forward deck. His straw hat was at least a head higher than the turban of Rasula, who was indicating to him the interesting spots in the hills.

"He's big," commented Von Blitz comfortably, more to himself than to his neighbor. "And young," he added a few minutes later. Bowles, standing at his side, offered the single comment:

"Good looking."

As the tall stranger stepped from the boat to the pier Von Blitz turned a look of triumph upon Britt, who had elbowed through the crowd a moment before and was standing close by.

The newcomer was an American!

"I've sighted the enemy," exclaimed Bobby Browne, coming up from Neptune's pool—the largest of the fountains. His wife and Lady Deppingham were sitting in the cool retreat under the hanging garden. "Would you care to have a peek at him?"

"I should think so," said his wife, jumping to her feet. "He's been on the island three days, and we haven't had a glimpse of him. Come along, Lady Deppingham."

Lady Deppingham arose reluctantly, stifling a yawn.

They had come to call the new American lawyer "the enemy." No one knew his name or cared to know it, for that matter. Bowles in answer to the telephone inquiries of Saunders said that the new solicitor had taken temporary quarters above the bank and was in hourly consultation with Von Blitz, Rasula and others. Much of his time was spent at the mines. Later on, it was commonly reported, he was to take up his residence in Wyckholme's deserted bungalow far up on the mountain side in plain view from the chateau.

Life at the chateau had not been allowed to drag. The white servants had become good friends despite the natural dislike that the trained English expert felt for the unpolished American domestic.

Miss Pelham, the stenographer from West Twenty-third street, had set her cap for the unsuspecting Mr. Saunders. She had learned in the wisdom of her sex that he was fancy free. Mr. Saunders, fully warned against the American typewriter girl as a class, having read the most shocking jokes at her expense in the comic papers, was rather shy at the outset, but Britt gallantly came to Miss Pelham's defense and ultimate rescue by emphatically assuring Saunders that she was a perfect lady, guaranteed to cause uneasiness to no man's wife.

"But I have no wife," quickly protested Saunders, turning a dull red.

"The devil!" exclaimed Britt, apparently much upset by the revelation.

But of this more anon.

Browne conducted the two young women across the drawbridge and to the sunlit edge of the terrace, where two servants awaited them with parasols.

"There he is! See him?" almost whispered Browne, as if the solitary, motionless figure at the foot of the avenue was likely to hear his voice and be frightened away.

The enemy was sitting serenely on one of the broad iron benches just inside the gates to the park, his arms stretched out along the back, his legs extended and crossed. It was quite apparent that he was lazily surveying the chateau, puffing with consistent ease at the cigarette which drooped from his lips.

"Mr. Britt was right," said Mrs. Browne irrelevantly. She was peering at the stranger through the binoculars. "He is very good looking."

"And you from Boston, too," scoffed Lady Deppingham. Mrs. Browne flushed and smiled deprecatingly.

"Wonder what he's doing here in the grounds?" puzzled Browne.

"It's plain to me that he is resting his audacious bones," said her ladyship, glancing brightly at her colleague.

Three men were approaching by the path which led down from the far-away stables. Browne recognized the dark skinned men as servants in the chateau—the major domo, the chef and the master of the stables.

"Lord Deppingham must have sent them down to pitch him over the wall," he said, with an excited grin.

"Impossible! My husband is hunting for sapphires in the ravine back of—" She did not complete the sentence.

The enemy was greeting the statuesque natives with a friendliness that upset all calculations. It was evident that the meeting was prearranged. There was no attempt at secrecy. The conference, whatever its portent, had the merit of being quite aboveboard. In the end the tall solicitor, lifting his helmet with a gesture so significant that it left no room for speculation, turned and sauntered through the broad gateway and out into the forest road. The three servants returned as they had come, by way of the bridge path along the wall.

"The nerve of him!" exclaimed Browne. "That graceful attention was meant for us. I'll have Britt interview those fellows at once. Our kitchen, our stable and our domestic discipline are threatened."

They hastened to the chateau and regaled the resourceful Britt with the disquieting news.

FESSENDEN AT THE FAIR

science department was displayed. It was like a banquet scene and pleased many an eye during the days it was in place. On account of the rain on Tuesday evening it was not in place at the time the judges inspected. This department of cooking was awarded a special prize.

The list of articles is as follows: Baked ham, baked chicken, salmon croquettes, chicken salad with mayonnaise, loaf of corn bread, half dozen cream puffs, fruit puffs, dozen biscuit, two loaves light bread, iced sponge cake, iced chocolate layer cake, white cake with caramel filling, delicate cake (iced and decorated), mince-meat pie.

The largest exhibit made by Fessenden and the one which spoke most for the work done in this school was the sewing exhibit. A beautiful display of handiwork of all kinds, as well as plain sewing was exhibited. It received praise from hundreds of female critics and those who were capable of noting excellent work. Many admirers lingered to hear from those in charge of the exhibit the plans and details of the work.

The list follows: Baby cap, dollie, centerpiece, large embroidered centerpiece, embroidered collar, bureau scarf, drawn work dollie, handkerchief bag, belt, hemstitched handkerchief, embroidered corset cover, embroidered Dutch collar, Dutch collar, handkerchief bag, blue bow tie and shirt waist, handkerchief bag, drawn work pillow, white hemstitched apron, handkerchief case, handkerchief bag, pin cushion, crocheted centerpiece, house slippers, paper basket, kitchen apron, table napkin, kitchen apron, picture frame, calico dress, embroidered shoe bag, napkin rings, embroidered waist, fancy embroidered apron, turnover collars, embroidered waist pattern, child's dress, embroidered waist, slipper bag, baby saque, plain underskirt, white embroidered dollie, dollie, centerpiece, five belts, baby dress, collar, two kitchen aprons, corset cover, embroidered pillow, night shirt, plain underskirt, white hat (embroidered and braided), table cover, fancy white underskirt, combination suit (corset cover and drawers).

All the work done in the industrial department at Fessenden is technical as well as practical. It is under the direction of good instructors and much is gained by the pupils. They are not only taught how to do plain sewing and cooking, but fancy work and dainty cooking, and preparing meals for the sick. They are given much advantage of the technical side of domestic science. They are instructed how to teach a class of this kind and to conduct a recitation in this line of work. The school has an ideal location near Martin, Florida. Although it is a young institution it has done much mentally and morally for the colored youth. The faculty is composed of Principal J. L. Wiley, Mrs. J. A. Wiley Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Childress Detroit, Mich.; Mr. Childress Detroit, Mich.; Miss Page Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Lewis Nashville, Tenn.; Miss Brown Monroe, N. C.; Miss Ward and Miss Brown Florida.

The Value of Good Digestion

Is easy to figure if you know what your stomach is worth. Kodol keeps the stomach at par value, by insuring good digestion. Kodol cures Dyspepsia.

Kodol insures good digestion by absolutely duplicating Nature's normal process, in perfectly digesting all food taken into the stomach. While Kodol is doing this, the stomach is resting—and becoming strong and healthy. A strong and healthy stomach guarantees a sound and active brain. The man with a sound stomach—a stomach that is doing for the body just what Nature intended it to do—is the man who is always prepared for any emergency. He is "there with the goods." The man with a sick stomach, is a man sick all over. When the stomach is irritated by undigested food, the blood and heart are directly affected. Then dizziness, unnatural sleepiness, sick-headaches, vertigo and fainting spells, and even serious brain trouble develop. Kodol will prevent these. Spurring the stomach and brain to special effort by "tonics" and "stimulants" doesn't cure anything, or accomplish any good. Neither does dieting. Indigestion and the serious ailments which it induces can be averted and corrected only by natural means. Kodol supplies this natural means. It performs the stomach's work for it—just as the stomach should perform it—while the stomach takes a little rest, "for the stomach's sake."

Our Guarantee
Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 3 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle. Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.
