THE WINDSOR HOTEL

The Thanksgiving menus of the Jacksonville hotels were very elaborate and toothsome, but none more so than that served by the excellent Windsor Hotel for its many guests. The Star also notes with pleasure that during the summer the hotel was thoroughly renovated and improved along all lines and hence is better equipped than ever to cater to the wants of the public. A prime favorite in the past with growing inducements and satisfied patrons, the Windsor is one of the elegant hotels of the state's metropolis at which to receive and enjoy the best and most satisfying creature comforts. The Windsor has accommodations for 500 guests. Its plant is the most complete of any hotel in Jacksonville. Its management is efficient, its service is of the highest order, not excelled in the state. Messrs. C. H. Montgomery, manager; C. W. Spellman, chief clerk; John W. Murman, cashier and D. G. Wright, assistant cashier, in addition to the many minor officials who look after the comfort of the guests. The steward, Mr. Edward Regina, is one of the best in the country and bears an enviable reputation for the way he runs the establishment. If you really want to get the essence out of life for a day or a week or longer, put up at the Windsor, Jacksonville, and life will be a long drawn out dream.

THE HUNTERS IN THE SCRUB

Henry Livingston who supplied the Louisville, Ky., hunting club with horses and wagons for their big hunt in the big scrub across the Withlacoochee, after an absence of two weeks has returned home. He said some of the hunters thought they were great shots, but when it came to shooting deer their nerve deserted them and many an easy shot exploded in a miss. An instance in point was that of a New York crack shot, the dogs driving a deer into the lake said sportsman pulled the trigger and still there was nothing doing. The members of the club secured five deer and a lot of other game and enjoyed their hunt and outing on Juniper creek greatly and another season they will come in greater numbers. Mr. Livingston said the hunters were royal entertainers and splendid gentlemen.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stafford of Weirsdale spent several hours in Ocala yesterday patiently awaiting a belated train. Mr. Stafford is one who believes in a local hog law and aided greatly in securing same for precinct No. 19, which is South Lake Weir and Stanton, but with some people in that section it does not sit with good grace, as they own razor backs and prefer to let them feed on their neighbors instead of feeding them themselves. The new law has gone out in adverse sentiment as far as Oxford and some of the old moss backs of that section have deemed it incumbent on them to send anonymous notice to the active workers of the law that if they are not careful Yankee hide will be plentiful next spring in the anti-hog precinct. Expression of such threats comes with bad grace from people who do not live in the district affected and shows a want of comprehensive common sense in the spirit of our laws and institutions. The question was a public one and all interested had an opportunity to express their sentiments at the election, where the majority said no hops to run at large and deprade on their neighbors and the majority must and will rule.

When Mr. and Mrs. Stafford of Weirsdale were in Jacksonville last week Mr. Stafford purchased a very handsome coat. In the chair car a gentleman from New York with very fine overcoat. It being pleasant spring weather the coats were placed on the same rack. At Weirsdale Mr. Stafford was reminded by his wife to get her coat. The parties returned to their homes and later in the evening Mrs. Stafford thought she would examine her purchase and see if first impressions remained about the style and quality of the garment. To her surprise it was a man's coat, and then anxiety began. Would she ever get her coat? Next day Mr. Stafford interviewed the conductor and to his great surprise and pleasure was informed when the train reached St. Petersburg the gentleman from New York was as greatly surprised and grieved as the Staffords to find the lady's coat in the place of his own garment. A few days later the coats were exchanged and now peace, quiet and happiness reigns in the minds of the respective coat owners.

Prof. J. H. Workman and the pupils of the high school are delighted with the improvements made in the enlargement of the recitation rooms, the new seats and the new piano which is a beauty in form and tone, for all of which the principal and school are greatly indebted to the public, who outside of their school tax paid $450 for all of the above, showing how deeply interested the patrons and friends of the school are in its welfare.

There was a great social time at the cane grinding of Mr. Newton Knoblock's the other night. A great crowd was present, including about all of Zuber, who rode out on the engine of the Zuber & Western railroad. The ride and cane juice was greatly enjoyed.

The Star understands a call meeting will be held tonight at the Christian church at which delegates from all the churches in the city will be present, so that a systematic canvass will be made of the city to ascertain the real needs of the poor and destitute and that the same can be attended to and a cheerful and happy Christmas be made for the unfortunate. The King's Daughters will cooperate with this move.

KING'S DAUGHTERS MEET

The King's Daughters held their regular monthly meeting this forenoon in the Methodist church. The attendance considering the weather was good and interest evinced in the work better, as a number who could not be present phoned or sent regrets.

The first thing in order was the election of officers. All the old officers unanimously resigned and in turn they were unanimously re-elected, against all protests, and at last they humbly submitted to the honors conferred. They are: Mrs. C. L. Bittinger, president; Mrs. Charles Rheinauer, secretary; Mrs. Jake Brown, treasurer; vice presidents, Mrs. W. W. Ciyatt, Methodist; Mrs. E. Van Hood, Baptist; Mrs. J. E. Chace, Christian; Mrs. George MacKay, Presbyterian; Mrs. M. Fishel, Hebrew, and Mrs. D. M. Smith, Catholic.

On comparing notes it was discovered that clothes for males, females, children, youths, etc., and bed clothes are needed badly, and whoever has any of the above to give please send same to Mrs. Bittinger.

A helpless youth was found who since his birth, 17 years ago, has been cared for like an infant and his parents being poor a roller chair will be secured for him.

A family was found whose children cannot attend school because of their poverty, the result of sickness at the head of the household and the daughters will see that they are clothed and booked and sent to school.

Several other needy families will be helped. The clothing is desired at once.

Then arrangements were made to prepare a lot of Christmas baskets for the needy. Mrs. George MacKay was made purchasing agent for chickens and meats. The baskets this year will be packed at the home of Mrs. W. W. Ciyatt. Those who hearts go out to the unfortunate and needy will please note the result of this meeting and act accordingly.

A call meeting of the daughters will be held at 10 o'clock the morning of the 18th of December at the M. E. church. The meeting this morning was a very interesting and enthusiastic one and full of the love of human kindness.
