

THE MISSION FESTIVAL ENDS

SERIES OF ENTERTAINMENTS EXTENDED OVER A PERIOD OF FIVE DAYS, ENDING IN DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM SATURDAY.

A large audience greeted the navy band orchestra, conducted by P. P. Ehlers, yesterday afternoon, and from the first to the last number a highly appreciative audience was entertained with the sweet music and nothing would satisfy the audience by encores to nearly every piece.

The evening concert was magnificent, just ask those who were there, starting out with a piano solo by Miss Ruth Coons, and songs by Margaret Hansen, Miss Margaret Macley and Ernest Pourtress. Mrs. Gibson gave some of her inimitable recitations, encores time and time again, and then a request that she give another in the second part of the program.

Intermission was enjoyed by viewing the Mission house and grounds and joining in the several outside entertainments. The second part of the program consisted of a piano solo by Miss Friedman, song by Mrs. Reese recitation by cute, pretty little Miss Gibson, and the wind up from Mr. Brown, in coon songs, made up and dressed in a magnificent silk costume.

This was encores over and over again until the signal was given for the Mission chorus to sing "America," and so ended the series of concerts.

The public may want to know if the festival has been a success. The answer is, yes and no. It has not been patronized as it ought to have been; apart from the charitable and worthy object it had in view, the concerts given and a view of the grounds and work, was worth more than the ten cents charged for admittance, and it is a pity that so few comparatively of the citizens and their families have not taken advantage of the opportunity offered to visit what promises to be one of the most important institutions of the city.

To those who have attended, nothing but enthusiasm and surprise has been expressed at the wonderful changes made, and one of the prettiest sights ever seen was the evening illumination. This park is purposed as a resort for play and amusement, and already the boys and girls are taking advantage of it, and one night, during this last week, people in the neighborhood could hear the shouts and laughter of the boys and girls who were playing, the boys on one side of the central board walk and the girls on the other. It will now be leveled and Mr. Campbell, of the Plaza, who has taken great interest in it and will assist in making this the greenest of all parks, the Plaza not excepted. This is one of the methods used by the Mission to keep the boys and girls off the streets, and when too cold or wet to play, there are amusements in the reading and writing rooms, and other games are allowed.

Night school commences Monday. All wishing to join be on hand at 7:30 and be registered.

Sunday will have the regular services at 3:15. Bible school, good programme is offered and in the evening Rev. R. W. Simpson will preach, as usual.

If you want to hear an informal Mission service, with good singing, visit the Mission at 7:30.

"I LOVE TO STEAL." Ocala Banner.

An amusing incident occurred at one of our down-east churches some years ago. The clergyman gave out on a pleasant Sabbath afternoon in July:

"I love to steal a while away from every lumbering care, and spend the hour of setting day in humble, grateful prayer."

The regular chorister being absent, the duty devolved upon the good old deacon, M., who commenced:

"I love to steal— and then bagged down— and raising his voice to a still higher pitch, he sang:

"I love to steal— and, as before, he concluded he had got the wrong pitch, and deploring that he had not his "pitchtuner," he determined to succeed if he died in the attempt.

By this time all the old ladies were tittering behind their fans, while the faces of the "young 'uns" were all in a broad grin. At length, after a desperate cough, he made a final demonstration, and roared out—

"I love to steal— much: every other but the godly and eccentric person was laughing, who arose, and with the utmost coolness, said:

"Seeing our brother's propensities, let us pray!"

It is needless to say that but few of that congregation heard the prayer.

All Physicians

Must prescribe some of the ingredients that are contained in Hood's Sarsaparilla—for all troubles of the blood, stomach, kidneys and liver.

They include sarsaparilla, stillingia, yellow dock, gentian, wild cherry bark, mandrake, dandelion, juniper berries, pipsissewa, etc.

The combination and proportions are our own formula and give power to cure beyond the reach of any other prescription or substitute. That's why it is wise to get Hood's and only Hood's.

Bleated And Sour Stomach

Need No Longer Be Endured By Sufferers from Dyspepsia.

The stomach and intestines always contain, even in health, a small amount of gases. They seem, both from a chemical and mechanical point of view, to be essential, to some extent at least, to good digestion. A great deal of common air is swallowed with the food, and the remarkable facility with which air bubbles are formed in the saliva is referable to this special purpose.

It follows that oxygen and nitrogen are natural to the stomach, and it has been ascertained that nitrogen is greatly in excess of oxygen, showing that even in the stomach this gas is some way employed in the vital processes. But as gases are easily evolved by fermentation and decomposition of food in the stomach and power of preventing fermentation and other fermentable matters dissolved in liquids are present in the gastrointestinal tube, it results that its aeriform contents are much more complex than is generally supposed.

When digestion is perfectly healthy there can be no fermentation and flatulence, but as soon as indigestion occurs carbonic acid gas and various other gases are freely formed in the stomach and bowels, causing much discomfort.

The remedies employed for the cure of flatulence can be classified as follows: Those which prevent fermentation; those which favor the expulsion of gas, and those which oxidize and absorb gases. Of the remedies which possess the above properties, charcoal is the only one which has the power of preventing fermentation and decomposition of food, and at the same time absorbing all excess gases in the alimentary channel.

Medicines which expel gases from the stomach, known as carminatives, are not to be compared with a remedy which absorbs the gases and prevents eructations or belching. STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES are now used by thousands of people who were formerly subject to fermentation, decomposition, belching, bad breath, and rumbling noises in the intestinal system, and from which disagreeable symptoms, through the use of these powerful absorbent lozenges, complete relief has been obtained.

They are made of the finest willow wood, treated by a special, exclusive, acidulating process and when sweetened with pure honey, a medicinal product is obtained which is at once palatable and wonderfully effective in curing these complaints. Purchase a box from your druggist at once for the result will more than please you. Send us your name and address and a free sample will be forwarded to you by return mail. Address F. A. Capt. Nunez was well-known and highly esteemed in Pensacola and Warrington. He had been a pilot for the past twenty-six years and his record in the association was excellent. He was a member of the Knights of Honor. He was born at Monterey, Calif., fifty-eight years and nine months ago, but had been a resident of Pensacola for many years. He is survived by a wife, three daughters and five sons.

"It is the same thing under different names," said Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the government's food expert, of some new food preservatives.

"The same thing under different names," Dr. Wiley repeated. "It reminds me of the old caretaker of an Episcopal church.

"This caretaker, as he sat smoking his pipe on a tomb in the cemetery, dismissed as trivial certain changes in the ritual.

"The good, old creed keeps the same for all," said he. "Look at me here. I used to be the janitor. The new person called me the sexton. Dr. Thirdly gave me the name of virgin. And the young man we've got now says I'm the sacrilege."—Washington Post.

Each Had a Spoon.

A wealthy clubman of Philadelphia, while hunting in the West Virginia woods, met a boy, a veritable product of the woods, in whom he became interested, so much that he brought the youngster to this city to educate him, says the Philadelphia Times.

On his arrival here the boy was taken to the clubman's home until accommodations could be found for him elsewhere. He was plainly frightened by the new evidences of civilization which he encountered, most of all embarrassed when taken to the dining room.

The rest of the family had dined, and only the boy's place had been set. By his dish he found several spoons. He contemplated them in silence for a moment, and then, turning to his benefactor, said:

"By cracky, youse must all have a spoon apiece."

"Yes, sir." "And the standard authors, bound in calf—Thackeray, Scott, Wash-ton Irving, Cooper and all of them there other fellows?"

"Yes, sir; I have a memorandum of the entire list."

"Well, then, that's off my mind," said Mr. Newrick of Pittsburg, with a sigh of relief. "Now, what I want is something to read. Say, have you got a complete set of 'Old Sleuth'?"—New York Times.
