REALLY CURES BAD STOMACHS

INDIGESTION, GAS, HEARTBURN OR DYSPEPSIA IS THOROUGHLY OVERCOME FIVE MINUTES AFTER TAKING A LITTLE DIAPEPSIN.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if when you eat you feel like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas which sours your entire meal. Interferes with digestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is wanted at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out of order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort all of any kind of food you eat.

plant, snap bean and celery; at Hastings, specializing in growth of potatoes. Of the citrus fruit growers, he said, the Florida grower had no equal in the world when it came to knowledge of fruits and uses, while the pineapple was the finest produced and station bulletins of the growth of the same had been furnished to about every government in the world upon application. These bulletins, he said, had been seen in agricultural libraries in India, Malay peninsula, Hawaii, parts of Africa and elsewhere.

Conditions in Escambia county, however, permitted of the specializing of the potato, as at Hastings, celery as at Sanford, etc., he said, and all grown and marketed early enough to be profitable.

He closed his interesting lecture, which was heard with close attention, by an allusion to institute work, to the interest given the same, to the Escambia county interest, to the agricultural stations, and to what he thought would do well to follow in this county. He replied to numerous questions which were asked.

Several gentlemen followed in short speeches, among them being R. W. Storrs, the Walton county hustler, and J. E. Stillman, all of them giving their unqualified endorsement of everything that had been said. The adoption of the Bingham proposition, as before stated, and the adoption of a vote of thanks to Messrs. Roifs and McQuarrie, were both given with a will. R. W. Storrs made an enthusiastic speech on the coming Tri-County Fair, its progress and prospects, and the meeting adjourned.

not resign under threats. It was then believed that while Senor Moret was determined to unhorse Premier Maura the liberals as distinguished from the republicans and socialists did not desire to assume power as under the circumstances would then become responsible for the expenses involved in the war with Morocco.

The impression continues that the liberals will refuse to assume power, preferring to leave the conservatives to extricate themselves from the present situation as best they may.

REGARDED AS INEVITABLE.
The fall of the cabinet was regarded as inevitable after the bitter speech of Minister of the Interior La Cierva in the chamber of deputies last night, during which he classed the liberals with the republicans and socialists, who were arrayed against the throne. Today King Alfonso summoned Premier Maura, Senor Dato, former minister of the interior, and other leaders in parliament.

REPORT OF A BLACK FLAG OFF BAHAMAS

CAPT. PHELAN OF STEAMSHIP ROWANMORE BELIEVED HE WAS HUNTED BY PIRATES AND MADE AN OFFICIAL REPORT OF IT.

A Galveston, Tex., special reports that Captain Phelan of the British steamship Rowanmore had stated upon arrival that his vessel was menaced by pirates off the coast of the Bahama Islands, the captain taking such a report to the port collector, who made it the subject of an official communication to the department at Washington, following such a report with an urgent suggestion that revenue cutters or other vessels be sent in quest of strange barks plying nefarious business in that part of the Atlantic.

The story as carried by the dispatch makes it a clear case of an attempt at piracy, as other vessels have been sighted in the vicinity of Florida. The schooner was flying the distress signal, the Greek flag at half-mast, and when the British vessel came alongside four men on the deck of the rakish craft attempted to board the vessel. Capt. Phelan stopped them and demanded to know what was wanted. The captain of the schooner said they wanted to leave their ship, which was disabled, but the captain of the Rowanmore could see the schooner was in good condition. The leader of the schooner, the name of which could not be made out, was a hard looking fellow, and the men, and Capt. Phelan tried to send food without having any of the schooner crew come aboard.

About this time other heads appeared above the cabin of the schooner, and in the dim light they were a hard looking set. The schooner swung around aft of the vessel, and three men from the strange craft, whose name the leader said was the Lionface, attempted to climb the anchor chains to the steamship. The crew of the vessel were summoned, and the schooner was surrounded with guns threatened to shoot the first man that came close to the vessel. The yawl used by the three who had attempted to board the steamer put back to the schooner.

The commander of the Lionface said he had encountered a band of pirates, and at the British vessel as the schooner ran for cover among the small isles. The suspicious actions of the schooner's crew and the lies told by the leader convinced Capt. Phelan that he had encountered a band of pirates. He had recently reported other strange schooners approaching vessels off the Bahamas, but this is the first real attempt made to board a steamer.

COL. ROOSEVELT IS AT NAIVASHA
Naivasha, British East Africa, Oct. 22.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by R. J. Cunningham, the hunter and guide, arrived here today, all the members of the hunting expedition are well.

Edmund Heller, the zoologist of the party, returned last night, having ascended Mount Kenya to a height of ten thousand feet, or within three hundred feet of the timber line. Mr. Heller said that Major Edgar A. Mearns was continuing the ascent, hoping to reach a height of 15,000 feet. Mount Kenya is an extinct volcano rising 17,200 feet, and Mr. Heller said it was impossible for the climbers to reach the peak.

With the exception of Colonel Roosevelt, the members of the expedition have at one time or another experienced slight attacks of fever as the result of frequent changes of temperature. All are now in good health.

ARMY OFFICERS TO TAKE ENDURANCE TEST
By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 21.—About thirty-five army officers who chose for their annual endurance test the ninety-mile ride, in preference to the 50-mile walk started from Fort Myer this morning under the lead of General Tasker H. Bliss, president of the army war college. A party of similar size will start next week, headed by General W. W. Witherspoon, assistant chief of staff of the army. They will travel at the rate of 30 miles a day. A dozen officers who preferred the walk have completed their test.

MUCH MEAT CONDEMNED IN THE UNITED STATES
By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 21.—More meat is condemned as unfit for human food in the United States than in any other country on God's green earth. That fact may account for in a contributory way for the present high prices of meats.

This statement was made today by a responsible official of the department of agriculture in connection with the charges of incompetency and carelessness made at the convention of the American Public Health association, now in session at Richmond, Va. The charges were voiced last night by Miss Caroline Bartlett Crane, of Kalamazoo, Mich., the allegations being that the inspectors of the bureau of animal industry, in many instances, were incompetent and careless.

"We know nothing here about Miss Crane's charges, but they will be investigated thoroughly," the official announced.

article on Steel Making in "Success Magazine." I don't mean to go out of the building, but behind the open hearth, in which some steel has been boiled and boiled and boiled, until it is now done and ready to serve. I'm sorry this isn't one of the furnaces that they tip up to pour the steel, but we'll have to make out the best we can. The steel gushes out of the tapping hole with the rich flow of cream, and just about the color of it, if cream could only shine with such an unifying impact of its light that the eyes would shrink and cover before it. And as the dazzling liquid pours, up from the ladle leaps, as it were, a grove of tall umbrella-palms of scintillating fire, that flourish and die down, flourish and die down, each stalk and its outspreading top, in an eye-wink. No sight I ever saw can equal it for sheer magnificence. I stood awestruck, afraid. And presently an exultation mounted in me, and thrilled my blood like wine. It had in it something of the ecstasy of faith. It was faith. Faith in Man, the New Creator. So short a time ago, fifty years—a hundred at the outside —and he commanded nothing but what his puny muscles could move and mold! And now, what Thor what Jupiter, what Hercules is his match in might? So short a time! Yet this is only the beginning. It has all come about within the memory of men yet; living, this almost unbelievable access of power. There are centuries before us, long, long processions of them, endless processions of them, each one accelerating Man's control of Nature's forces, accelerating, not by addition only, but also multiplying. Man, the New Creator!

Miss Louise Gunning, who is starting in "Marcelle," recently received a photograph of unusual interest. The photo shows a profile of Miss Gunning surrounded by a dozen stubs of theatre tickets. These had been purchased in as many different cities by an "admirer," who happened to witness "Marcelle" on each occasion.

Plan to Educate Ten Boys at State University

pay for the "ten scholarships (viz: transportation to and from Gainesville and board while there) to the three-months agricultural course of the State University, payable upon demand to the order of G. A. Waterman, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said monies to be disbursed by him for the purpose stated, said scholarships to be awarded by him so as to result in the greatest spread of scientific agricultural knowledge in the county."

The movement had the immediate endorsement of every gentleman present and before the meeting had adjourned a substantial sum was subscribed by those present for the purpose of carrying the plan to a successful end. Speaking generally, the success of Mr. Bingham's excellent idea depends wholly upon a voluntary subscription totalling at least $750, but $1,000 could be used to fine advantage. Board and transportation will cost for each student not less than $75. Ten of them will be $750. That is the least amount that will have to be in hand before anything like success can be accomplished. In addition to the signed amounts last night, several others were certain when public-spirited citizens could be seen today, and Mr. Bingham expects to hand in to the secretary this evening lists containing the full amount desired. He will personally call upon business men during the day.

Discussing the action of the meeting last night, Mr. Waterman said: "It is a splendid idea. I will announce, as soon as I can, those whom I will call into conference to assist me in determining first how, and then whom, to select for the business men's scholarships at the agricultural college. My idea is that we should send those ten men who will do the most good when they come home, irrespective of their ages, and intelligent selection along this line will repay Pensacola a hundred fold for the cost of the scholarships."

McQuarrie Speaks.
Following the opening of the meeting and announcement of the purpose for which it was called, Mr. Thornton took occasion to pay a compliment to the gentlemen who were to deliver addresses, saying the state was particularly fortunate in having the services of two men whose equal in their respective lines of endeavor was not to be easily found. He said they were going to tell something of what they had observed during their travels in Escambia county, and he first introduced Mr. McQuarrie.

Mr. McQuarrie at the outset showed the value of immigration, illustrating the point by showing that fifty new families would mean an expenditure of another $25,000 yearly in the county, and he said conditions were not unfavorable to immigration, even if it was a fact that there was less waste land in Escambia than in any other county in the state. He dwelt at length upon an idea tried out successfully in Clinch county, Miss., when an agricultural commissioner was named in the person of an intelligent farmer. So much good was evolved from such an appointment that at present seventeen other counties are now following with success the project. The plan of a personal educational agricultural propaganda would never prove a failure in any section, he asserted, and education was what was needed by the Florida planter. He needed someone to help him look problems in the face, meet them squarely and work them out. He was personally glad that the Chamber of Commerce had taken the matter up and thus getting started in a small way an institute which would do good.

Prof. Roifs Lecture.
Prof. Roifs said that agricultural matters were nothing new to him, for such had been his hobby since he was able to take care of himself. He had studied the matter from an educational viewpoint, to take him over any difficulties. He ascribed it to ignorance, in the main, on the part of the growers, for unproductive and unprofitable ventures, for he said, putting the problem up squarely, they did not know what to do. Citing as illustrating his point, foreign results, he said that France, with a population of a little in excess of that of one-half the United States, supports more people on an area less than that of Texas; and Germany, with about two-thirds the population of the United States, supports her people on an area less than that of the state of Texas. The agricultural people of the state, he claimed, made up 44 per cent of the population, yet less than 4 per cent of the agricultural area is now used. "You can't make them do it; you can offer it to them but they want to do it themselves. But they need help," Mr. Roifs said.

Hurriedly passing over the difficulties encountered in getting state legislative aid elsewhere, he said there had been almost parallel conditions here, no great attention having been paid to the desires of the stations. Last year they got a legislative appropriation, which, he said, was rather surprising. "How do you suppose we got that, Mr. Yonge?" the speaker asked, looking at P. K. Yonge, who sat in the audience. "By your good work of last year, I think," quickly replied the Pensacola man.

By way of illustrating the good of personal instruction, Prof. P. H. Roifs gave the following as true of the northwestern states: "The average pay of a lawyer per annum is $500. The average earnings of a doctor is $750, while the average earnings of an adult on the farm is $1100. And the same conditions may exist in Florida." He said people had not the patience to listen when he talked of cattle breeding, of horse breeding, and of grain breeding, but under the system employed now in educating the farmer into scientific knowledge of his work, the 11-bushels-per-acre of corn now would soon be 50 per cent more. "There must be education among the farmers on the accurate work along farming lines—but the whole colony needs to be lifted up."

Applying himself to the state of Florida, he said the state seemed to be developing from south to northward, citing that Sanford now had specialized growers of celery, at Manatee specialized growing of egg-
