THE WEEK'S EVENTS

FRIDAY.
 Meeting of the Social Card club, hostess Mrs. Wm. Walker, on East Belmont street.

THE BETTER LAND.

"I hear thee speak of the better land,
 Thou call'st its children a happy band;
 Mother! oh, where is that radiant shore?
 Shall we not seek it, and weep no more?
 Is it where the flower of the orange blows,
 And the freckles glance thru the myrtle boughs?
 "Not there, not there, my child!"
 "Is it where the feathery palm trees rise,
 And the date grows ripe under sunny skies?
 Or 'midst the green islands of glittering seas,
 Where fragrant forests perfume the breeze,
 And strange bright birds on their starry wings
 Bear the rich hues of all glorious things?
 "Not there, not there, my child!"
 "Is it far away, in some region old,
 Where the rivers wander o'er sands of gold?
 Where the burning lights of the ruby shine,
 And the diamond lights up the secret mine,
 And the pearl gleams forth from the coral strand?"
 "Not there, not there, my child!"
 "Eye hath not seen it, my gentle boy!
 Ear hath not heard its deep songs of joy.
 Dreams can not picture a world so fair—
 Sorrow and death may not enter there;
 Time doth not breathe on its fadeless bloom
 For beyond the clouds and beyond the tomb
 —It is there, it is there, my child!"
 —Mrs. Hemans.

MRS. MONROE ELKAN FIGURES IN A PRETTY SELMA WEDDING.
 Pensacola people will be much interested to learn of the pretty party which Mrs. Monroe Elkan played in the Herzfeld-Eiseman wedding, which was an important Selma social event of Wednesday evening. It had been the plan of the bride to have three handsome matrons of honor, and in taking stock of the very prettiest and most charming young matrons on her list of acquaintances, it is not surprising to the friends of Mrs. Elkan here to learn that she was one of the chosen three. Mr. Elkan was with her, and the following is an account of a pleasant social event, in which it will be noted, they both figured.

"One of the handsomest and loveliest private entertainments of this fall was the dinner tendered Tuesday evening by Mrs. Carrie Herzfeld to her daughter, Miss Frances, and Mr. Morris Eiseman of Atlanta, whose wedding was a prominent social event of last evening in Selma.

The long table was exquisite in its color scheme of violet, expressed in quantities of purple flowers, bonbons, tulle and candles in crystal candle-labrs, says the Selma Times.

Covers were laid for fifty and about eight courses with wines were served.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Eiseman, Mr. Fred Eiseman, Mr. and Mrs. Nat Kay-

NEEDS OF THE SALVATION ARMY STORE.
 The Poor Man's Store, which was established in the city last year by the Salvation Army, under the direction of Ensign Watson, has proved a success beyond the plans of even those who first instigated the idea in Pensacola.

The very worthy poor, the kind who are loath to come straight out and ask for assistance, were provided with a means whereby they were enabled to procure the poor necessities of life in the way of wearing apparel, at a nominal cost, which, in many cases, scarcely exceeded a few paltry pennies.

The poor crept in and were allowed to pay for this sweet sort of charity, and the army was able to give at least one man employment in the work of preparing the articles for sale.

Stores, however, the world over, need new stock every once in a while. There isn't a merchant in the world, you understand, who would figure on carrying on any kind of business at all, with the plan of replenishing it only semi-occasionally.

 He's going to be on the lookout all the time in his work of actually adding to his store if, of course, he wants to do business and stay in the ring. Now you see the point, don't you?
 Because it ought to have been dawned a long, long way back, understand.

Those things that you so graciously sent to the Poor Man's Store some time last year aren't going to keep right on stocking that institution in the way it should be stocked—for they're going to be sold, and a great empty bare place left in their stead, which, in turn, positively cries out and demands your attention.

This is the time of year, in fact, to do this replenishing act.
 Phone the Salvation Army and tell them that you've something for the Poor Man's Store—and see how quickly they'll come 'round.
 Try it this morning!

Grandma costs no more and does the work without hurting your clothes

The large package 15c; also 5c size. Not a washing powder but a borax powdered soap.

Grandma does the work washing powders were used for but won't hurt the clothes. Thousands of women are today using Grandma who wouldn't have a washing powder in the house.

In hot or cold water, Grandma is quick to act, but has no naphtha, no caustic soda or potash, nothing to burn or rot your clothes. The borax in it doubles the power of the soap and water to cleanse. It loosens the dirt but won't injure the finest laces.

Use Grandma this summer. See how well your clothes wear. The sheer white goods won't drop into holes. The colors won't fade.

Don't say it is impossible. Try it. Start using Grandma today

One day's trial makes the workman's staunch friend of Hansen's Gloves. The minute he gets them on he knows they are different—far better than ordinary.

Hansen's Gloves for Lumbermen are built for hard service. First of all they fit perfectly—with no pinching, binding seams in palm or grip. They are comfortable right from the start. They are soft and pliable—yet they wear like iron. They are reinforced at every point of strain—but they are not clumsy or "bulky" like ordinary gloves.

Come in and try on a pair. See for yourself the honest quality of the leather. See how it seems to put on a pair of working gloves that fit comfortably without being "baggy".

We have all of the other Hansen Gloves, too—the special numbers for Linemen, Engineers, Firemen, Farmers and Drivers—the complete line in all leathers and styles—gloves for every working use.
