Talk about Pensacola. Talk about Pensacola on the street. Talk about Pensacola when you travel.

Talk about Pensacola when you meet a friend. Talk about Pensacola when you make your daily purchases. Should you see a stranger in the city, speak to him, and talk about Pensacola.

Dream of Pensacola at night; think about Pensacola when you wake up; lay plans for Pensacola while you're dressing; and work for Pensacola every hour of the day. That is being a good citizen. You owe everything to Pensacola.

Of course Gaynor won. Did not The Journal say he would? Hearst and Ivins did their little "best," but it didn't amount to much.

Less than half an inch of rain fell at Tampa during the month of October. Pretty bad. Secretary Dickinson is quite a "trump" in the Harmonizer's game with the South.

The comet ought to bring us news of the vast regions which it visits, as it is said to be a great tail bearer. The advent of the magnificent Haley comet next May is supposed to be connected with the Florida elections.

The message from Old Virginia, is so simple and convincing: "The Democrats carry the state by the usual majority." Enough said. President Zelaya is hitting back in Nicaragua and Estrada is not so cocksure of victory, even if Uncle Sam has expressed his sympathies.

The only trouble about Taft is that he is trying to unite the North and South with republican solder. Perhaps he needs a little rosin. Glad to note that some of our exchanges are beginning to distinguish between "solidity" and "solidarity."

How dull is the meaning conveyed by the first word and how full of wide-awake participation is that of the second. Pah! Kentucky's getting stupid; only one man killed on election day in Breathitt county, after all; and the newspaper world was standing tip-toe in expectation of a genuine sensation.

Let the Children Go to the Circus.

It is still more than a week off, but The Journal wants to put in a word now on behalf of the school children of Pensacola in a request to the school board that school be closed from 11 o'clock when the big circus comes here Nov. 15.

A Pertinent Reply to Escambia's Critics.

The Journal has noted in several of its esteemed contemporaries throughout the state sarcastic reference to the new county jail proposed to be built in Pensacola. For instance, The Palatka Times-Herald puts it this way: "Escambia county now finds it necessary to build a new jail in order to meet the ever-growing number of criminals. Rather a bad showing for boastful 'wet' territory."

Why "boastful"? The Journal has always contended that Escambians do no "boast" half enough, considering all they have to boast about. We are willing to admit, however, that if the county were "dry" the jail would not contain so many tenants—if that is what the Times-Herald is driving at.

More Gold Discovered in Rich Alaska.

Fugitives from justice in Alaska recently made discovery of a new and valuable gold deposit. And to judge by recent news received from the money market this find comes at a fortunate time. The constantly increasing business of the world owing to growth in population, to an ever enlarging area of trade, and to the natural development of the demand for necessities, comforts and luxuries made by peoples advancing in civilization and enlightenment requires a constant replenishment of gold.

That there is now an insufficient supply of the precious metal is evidenced by the stringency of the money market—the high rates of interest imposed by the bank of England and other great lending institutions. Regarding the present condition Bradstreet's for October 30th speaks clearly; and, moreover, what it says along such lines is always worth attention and may generally be relied upon as true. We quote its editorial at length.

"The mere fact that force of circumstances has compelled the Bank of England to make successive advances in its discount in three consecutive weeks is eloquent testimony to the sensitive state of the money market," writes our London correspondent under date of October 22. The general opinion—or, perhaps, hope—in Lombard street was that the "Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" would be able to safeguard its position by making a 4 per cent. a thoroughly effective rate. Recognizing the necessity of this, the market, which, by the way, was denuded of more than four millions of its surplus of floating credits in one week, heaved, there being only a small margin between the "outside" rate for three months' time bank bills and the official minimum. Naturally, the further advance administered a mild shock, and the question which is absorbing most attention is, will even 5 per cent. have the desired effect? If gold cannot be attracted to London (by the way, it is hinted that the Bank of France is quite agreeable to lend assistance on moderate terms) and the normal weekly arrivals of the metal are not secured by the bank, while the heavy seasonal drain for Egypt and South America continues concurrently, the chances are that a 6 per cent. rate will become imperative. Such a contingency has to be reckoned with. Obviously, such a material advance in money values would be likely to check the welcome industrial revival, so that in this respect alone a further increase in the rate is undesirable.

While the money market has now digested the event philosophically, acute depression has gripped the Stock Exchange in consequence of general liquidation by operators who had not sufficiently allowed for the money factor. Naturally enough, speculative initiative will not be shown while money is dear or so long as the prospects remain uncertain and discouraging.

The foregoing is confirmation of what The Journal has declared. A new supply of basic metal must ever flow into the treasuries of the world to meet the demand, and unless this be the case trade is certain to be upset, prices will fluctuate, money stringency will be inevitable and the people must bear the chief brunt of the discomfort, possible depression and suffering. So let us hail with delight every new gold field which is discovered; every claim staked off by greedy pioneers. For each ton of paying ore dug from the earth and each pound of virgin dust washed from the river's sand means the saving of the people from possible disaster.

It's rather late in the day but a good thing that Florida volunteers for the Spanish-American war, or their heirs, are to receive full payment for services from Uncle Sam. It seems a fulfillment of the saying that "everything happens to him who knows how to wait."

The apparently intense desire of the president to get to luncheon as soon as he reached New Orleans occasioned a terrible mix-up in arrangements—the military parade had to proceed without the royal guest and the newspapers have been busy ever since trying to explain away the contretemps.

Tom Johnson doubtless has thoughts about Cleveland's ingratitude; but that ought not to phase a man of his strength of brain, body and purpose who can lift his mind above self and, as Joaquin Miller said in his great poem, Columbus, "Sail on, and on, and on, and on," sure of the goal and scorning the selfishness, the fear and even the mutiny of his companions.

BOAT RACE INFORMATION

Commodore Jas. C. Watson, of the Pensacola Yacht and Motor Boat club, yesterday issued general instructions concerning the regatta. The attention of captains of all motor boats is directed to the regatta date and program. All boat owners are requested to send names of boats they are to enter to W. A. Dunham, captain, or B. H. Thomas, vice-commodore. Classification of boats is given, and instructions of racing over the 3-leg race course are all incorporated.

THE CHAMPIONS TAKE ALL THREE. Three straight games were taken from the Stanleys last night by the Champions, thus sending the badly defeated team to the bottom of the percentage table. Although the Stanleys appeared "classy" by appearing in fine jerseys with a large S on the chest, luck went against them. George Gordon's splendid score of 184 in the second game was a feature of the series. The individual scores follow:

Table with columns: Name, Score, Total. Includes G. Gordon (156), A. Jones (165), W. Abt (160), Peters (130), W. Lurton (130), Stanley (140), G. Pryor (131), Stanley (163), Powers (138), F. Pryor (119), League Standing (660), Colts (11), Crescents (8), Pastimes (7), Champions (8), Imperials (5), Americans (5), Hubs (3), Stanleys (4).

GREAT INTEREST IN TRIAL. Paris, Nov. 3.—Not since 1902 when Frederic and Therese Humbert were convicted of a $12,000,000 swindle has a trial in Paris excited the intense interest exhibited in the case of Madame Adolphe Steinhell which was opened before Judge Devalles in the Seine assize court today. Madame Steinhell is on trial for her life charged with the murder of her husband and her mother-in-law, Madame Japy.

ONE KILLED, 67 INJURED. Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 3.—W. C. Robb was killed and sixty-seven others injured, two fatally, when a crowded street car jumped the track and turned on its side here today. The motorman lost control of the car while going down hill. A large number of the injured are young women.

UNFULFILLED CONTRACT IS BASIS OF SUIT

C. GUNTER ELMORE FILES ACTION FOR DAMAGES TO THE AMOUNT OF $12,000 AGAINST ALABAMA COTTON GROWERS. CLAIMS CONTRACT'S FAILURE.

In the United States circuit court at Montgomery, C. Gunter Elmore, of this city, last Tuesday, filed a bill of complaint against J. A. Prestwood and J. Morgan Prestwood, of Covington county, Ala., for a failure to deliver as contracted for, 1000 bales of cotton. In support of the bill, Mr. Elmore recites that because of a fulfillment of contract on the part of the Prestwoods, he had to buy cotton at a price in excess of that for which he contracted and by such enforced procedure to fill his own contracts, he has been damaged in the sum of $12,000, which he asks in the instituted proceedings of the two defendants.

In the bill it is alleged that J. A. Prestwood has an interest in a large gin plant and equipment valued at $10,000. The property is in the name of his son, J. M. Prestwood. It is further alleged that the first-named has personal property such as mortgages, notes and bills, in the Bank of Andalusia and First National Bank of Andalusia. The plaintiff avers he does not know the exact nature of this property, and as they are not accessible under legal process, the two banks and J. M. Prestwood are made co-defendants. He asks the court to propound a list of questions to the parties named in the bill in order to ascertain the nature and present location of property, and an injunction to prevent disposal or removal of property is prayed for. Judge T. G. Jones, who will act on the petition, is in Pensacola, and no action will regard to the desired injunctive process was to be had.

The basis of the action is the alleged failure of the Prestwoods to deliver 1000 bales of cotton contracted for last June. The contract provides that 500 bales were to be delivered at Andalusia in October, and 500 during the month of November. Depending upon the faithful performance of the contract, Mr. Elmore avers that he sold all his cotton to the Prestwoods. He recites that he was at 12 cents, but since failure to receive cotton from the Prestwoods he has been forced to purchase the staple at higher prices to fill his own contracts, thus damaging him, he alleges, in the sum asked.

SAFETY BOARD RE-OPENS CASE OF POLICEMAN

GAVE ONE OFFICER 30-DAY SUSPENSION AND LIFTED INDEFINITE SUSPENSION SENTENCE OF ANOTHER — TRANSACTIONS MONTHLY ROUTINE MATTERS.

At a regular meeting of the board of public safety last night, Patrolman H. A. Cowart, charged with failure to report for duty three times within a month, was tried and found guilty. He was suspended from duty for 30 days, such suspension to begin or date from October 4. In addition to the sentence, the officer was given a warning that if it came to the notice of the chief or any member of the board that he drank intoxicating liquors while on duty, or if found under the influence of liquor while on duty, he would be summarily dismissed. The officer promised good conduct.

R. J. Fillingim, under indefinite suspension as a result of the "educational test," desired that his case be reopened and that he be permitted to qualify. He was re-elected to a position on the force providing his examination is successful. C. H. Clark and W. H. Stubbs were elected as members of the police force pending success in regular examinations. Both applications had the approval of Chief Sanders and certificate of physician was attached.

The Fire Department. The committee on the purchase of hose reported the result of thorough examination of samples submitted, and recommended the purchase of 1,100 feet of Red Cross 2-ply hose at 90 cents per foot. The committee report was received and adopted. A Mr. Joiner, representing the house furnishing hose, was present and said the hose was sold under a guarantee of 36 months service, and was capable of 4000 pounds pressure.

Reports of Marshal. Marshal Sanders submitted monthly report for October, showing total fines imposed during month, $2,936.59. Total collections as turned in to treasurer, $1,881. Total amount remitted, $977. There were 665 arrests, 117 cases were appealed to higher courts. Number of meals served at station, 3,569, at a cost of $211.50, or about 6 cents per meal. The report was received and filed.

Opera House Safety. The committee on safety of the opera house was called on for report. Such was not ready, and further time was asked. After discussion, it was agreed that the committee with the building inspector meet at 10:15 a. m. today, go over the opera house to ascertain if changes ordered had been made and to report thereon. It was stated by all that this was too important a matter to let go by unnoticed.

Gasoline Storage. Applications for permits to store gasoline on premises were received from Charles C. Keyser, residing at Fisherville, and Leslie E. Brooks, residing on Jackson street. Permits were granted on condition applicants complied with the law.

Must Pay Debts. An unpaid grocery bill against a fireman was sent to the board with a request that settlement be made. This brought on a discussion, and a motion was carried directing city employees to pay up as promptly as possible all debts contracted while in the service in compliance with rule 9, rules and regulations. In case of continued failure, chiefs of the fire and police departments were directed to file charges against debtors under jurisdiction of the safety board and present them for trial at convenient periods.

The board approved bills, ordered payment of same and then adjourned.

JAY. Special to The Journal. Jay, Fla., Nov. 3.—The Pensacola Baptist Sunday school convention convened here Friday at 7:30 p. m., and was called to order by Rev. E. B. Rice, president. Rev. J. W. Sontag and J. A. Abbott were in attendance, and the convention proved to be a grand success. The community realizes that it has been greatly benefited by having the convention in its midst.
