PENSACOLA, FLORIDA, WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 10, 1909.

Fair today. Are you going to the bluff? The world and his wife will be at the fair—go welcome them.

Four ways to get to the fair, and so there's no excuse for the laziest to stay away. Automobiles run to the fair, so do street cars, so do boats, so do special trains on the L. & N.

When China awakes she'll put Japan asleep—maybe. There's no bluff about the fair, but there's a fair about the bluff.

Treasurer Warriner got a big five and five naughts out of the "Big Four." Not so bad just for a treasurer.

After his abominable tariff bill what sane American would leave the reform of the currency system in Aldrich's hands?

You can't down a man of the name of Sullivan in New York—Little Tim was re-elected though many other tigers bit the dust.

From out the impenetrable darkness of Africa's frightful jungles Teddy has not yet sent word whether he be alive or dead. This is not a bull, dear reader; only a dipodocus.

The wireless telephone will now give way to the gabless telephone—Times-Union.

Not so long as the women folks are the chief users of telephones at home! Will Dr. Gladden commence to shout "talented money" again just so soon as Uncle Johnny Rockefeller begins to put his hook-worm dollars into the South?

New York speculators are having great fun with a few bales of cotton, tossing them up and letting them drop; but the old king continues to smile for he feels that he has the best of his enemies.

Blessed be the "Ty" that binds Georgia and Taft are hereafter inseparable. Cobb did it on Augusta's golf links when he offered his popularity as an addition to that of the "Harmonizer."

The scientific world is almost a unit in opposition to the theory that diseases are inherited; yet there are many who advocate the prevention of procreation by the criminal classes. Is this a contradiction, or what is it?

The white races have been fighting each other so many centuries that it is about time to give the yellow ones a chance to settle their differences. So our philanthropic shipbuilders will no doubt be only too glad to snap up China's proposed investment of $20,000,000 in new battleships and help on the good cause. It's an absolutely open-door policy in America when the "swag" is being passed around.

The mayor of Plymouth, England, who claims to be a humanitarian, recommends the murdering of all lunatics in order that the money spent in supporting them may be applied to other and more useful purposes. Talk about utilitarianism; this official out Nietzsche's Nietzsche, and doubtless looks upon himself as the particular ancestor of the coming superman. But he may be hanged some bright June morning.

Senator Cullom, of Illinois, thinks he looks like Lincoln and is proud of it. But he does not talk like Lincoln although he would gain greater respect by doing so. He wants to be an emancipator, however, and has declared himself in favor of freeing the South altogether of possible negro domination by disfranchisement in that section, while preserving the political rights of his "black brethren" in Illinois in particular and in all other northern and western states in general. His reason for this remarkable proposition is that should the negro vote in the South be entirely eliminated the southern states would become republican. He ought to be put down among the "funny fellows" when, as everyone knows, the southern states have done what they could under the constitution to disfranchise the negro in order to preserve their democracy. And the fight is still on if one may judge by Maryland's continued efforts in this direction.

It is a neat new cover used by the Jacksonville Financial and Industrial Record, and the contents of the paper are equally meritorious; but we think it might have given Pensacola just a little peep out of the big end of that cornucopia. She doesn't like having her light hidden under a bushel or any other sort of contraption, especially when it is burning with its present intense luminosity. However, she can make a noise inside the horn which will be better heard because of her position—something on the order of a phonograph record.

Tammany saved the hide, but lost nearly all the tallow when it lost control of the board of estimate. Mayor-elect Gaynor is now in position to be a reformer of the first water.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

The Age-Herald shows good knowledge of the political situation in Gotham. The board of estimate and apportionment controls the appropriations for the different municipal departments on which depends the power of the political machine for extensive political patronage—the grasp that rules the votes of the masses in New York city. Judge Gaynor, too, because of a victory founded largely upon his personal popularity and the confidence reposed in him by New Yorkers has an enviable opportunity to make one of the best executive records since the days of Peter Stuyvesant. Let us hope he will do so despite past disappointments in Gotham's "reform" administrations.

Individual Drinking Cups a Wise Provision

The Journal feels bound to say a word in commendation of State Health Officer Porter because of the stand he has taken in favor of individual drinking cups in public schools and railroad coaches. The system now in vogue of compelling the general use of one glass in these places simply invites infection. It is a slur upon the knowledge and hygienic methods of the twentieth century.

To bring the question down to a concrete proposition, which one of The Journal's readers would deliberately drink from a glass which had just been used by a person he might know to be a victim of consumption or some other similarly infectious disease? Why, then, should he take the chance of doing in ignorance what he would not do wittingly?

A system which compels such an absurd disregard of sane precaution is clearly wrong. Doctor Porter is eminently right in insisting upon its abrogation and the substitution of the individual for the general cup at all drinking places. He should be heartily supported by the people of Florida in his beneficent purpose.

The Good Roads Question A Business Proposition.

Quoting and commenting on a recent Journal editorial which went to show that the farmers are the chief beneficiaries of good roads although their construction in many sections is being hastened by the army of automobilists that is ever on the increase. The Palatka News observes:

While the News is prepared to admit that the farmer will benefit greatly by the construction of good roads, it is also certain that he will pay his full share for that benefit. The chief agitators are the city people, and they are doing a good work, even though their motive is largely selfish. We would simply have them state their true reason for desiring these roads instead of insisting that it is the welfare of the farmer which moves them. The News is quite willing to submit its case without further argument. Of course the farmer will have to pay his full share, and he should be glad to do so, as he will in a very short while save ten times the cost in the facility with which he will move his crops over improved roadways and the saving in wear of stock and vehicles.

As a matter of fact, the moral question hardly enters into the problem. It makes but little difference whether or not selfishness be at the bottom of the move, it is a business proposition. Good roads will prove a god-send to all, a money getter and money saver, and their construction should be one of the first considerations of both city and country people.

The Farmers' Congress Down On Petty Grafting

The Farmers' National Congress in session at Raleigh, North Carolina, has passed several resolutions worthy of much commendation. The majority of these, however, may be regarded as open to argument and will doubtless be disputed for many days to come.

There was one resolution, however, passed Monday, about which we cannot see the possibility of a division of opinion. It declared that the mileage allowance to congressmen should be reduced from ten cents to five cents. The justice of this is so patent that it should not require any argument for its substantiation.

This ten cent mileage now allowed is a small species of graft which the government has winked at for some inscrutable reason. While it has leveled invectives against the railroads—very properly, no one may deny it—lambasted trusts and corrupt corporations and oftentimes even indicted the individual wrongdoer in its pursuit of righteousness, it has permitted this graft to continue without let or hindrance or even harsh censure.

But why, in the name of conscience, should a congressman be presented with ten cents a mile to travel from his home to the federal capital when it costs him only three—perhaps two and a half? It is that way now. In ancient days, before the railroads were partially reformed and tree passes prohibited, the representatives of the people were paid this mileage altogether in what may be called a "Pickwickian sense"—it was simply a grab game.

The farmers are perfectly right. Congressmen are paid a regular salary by the people. They should be satisfied with that and not condescend to small, indecent practices to add a little more to their stipend. Five cent mileage is an abundance—our legislators would make a good "profit" even on that rate.

VOX POPULI.

Pensacola, Fla., Nov. 9.

Editor Pensacola Journal: In the matter of the recent decision of our court in the case of the unfortunate beings of the red light district, whose pitiful lives prompted the editorials in two of our powerful papers, wherein a courage and a conscientious sincerity were exhibited that is indeed refreshing in this day of graft rite and money worship, while the sentiments conveyed were pregnant with truth and to the point and showed a depth of human feeling for the unfortunate of our kind, even as that of the carpenter of Nazareth, when the weeping Magdalene bathed His feet with her tears.

Among the initial steps which lead to the downfall of these women suggested by the various writers and statements by some that the best of the world have failed to solve the perplexing problem, we failed to see mentioned the one great and primary cause of the deplorable condition of these women in their relation to society, the elimination of which would, in a great measure, correct the evil results. I refer to the sweat shop system, to the starvation-wage-and-a-friend method of starting the young girl along the downward path that eventually ends in the suicide's grave.

This damnable disgrace to our industrial system is "sacred" in connection with this perplexing problem, for it means dollars and cents to the inhuman vampires who are sucking the blood of the purest and best of our race. There is where you will find the starting point of the great procession that is headed for the red light district and a life of shame. Behold! The pitiful sum in the hand of the fatherless girl is not enough to supply the necessities of life through the days which must elapse before pay-day again comes around. Can you wonder that the insidious counsel to "get a friend" finally prevails—that the first step downward is taken and a young life, pure and innocent, is blasted in its incipency? Oh, you mothers! when seated at your fire-sides in fancied security, imagine the strength of your husband's love,

Millions Say So

When millions of people use for years a medicine it proves its merit. People who know CASCARETS' value buy over a million boxes a month. It's the biggest seller because it is the best bowel and liver medicine ever made. No matter what you're using, just try CASCARETS once—you'll see.

CASCARETS is a box for a week's treatment, all druggists. Biggest seller in the world. Million boxes a month.

A LITTLE COLD. He caught a little cold. That was all. So the neighbors said. As they gathered round his bed. When they learned that he was He caught a little cold. That was all. —Freck.

You can break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable with a mixture of two ounces of Glycerin, two ounces of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. Take a teaspoonful every four hours for throat and bronchial trouble and to soothe and heal irritations of the mucous surface this formula is highly recommended by the Leach Chemical Co., of Cincinnati, who prepare the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure for dispensing through druggists.

In the sanctity of your homes; as your gaze fondly dwells upon the laughing eyes and golden head of your baby girl, does it ever occur to you to suggest the question: What, of what, does the future hold in store for my child?

Look not with abhorrence upon these unfortunate beings, but rather at the cause of their downfall. They at one time had a mother who loved them even as much as you do your little one. Who can tell of the pathetic appeals that in the silent hours of the darkness arise from the wretched depths of their degradation to the throne of Him who said, "Come unto me, all ye who are weary and heavy-laden, and I will give you rest."

The hand of adversity is heavy upon them; the hand of everyone is against them. May God pity them! The woman of the scarlet letter" should command our sympathies, and every assistance in our power to give should be rendered ungrudgingly, for your eyes cannot pierce the obscurity of the future—that future which will engulf in its unfathomable depths the lives of those you love, when your voice is hushed in the tomb and your restraining hand is stilled forever.

The grasp upon the blood-stained dollar is responsible for the lives of countless millions of innocent girls. Blame her not too harshly, but give a helping hand to remedy the evil; for remember, she is still your sister. Arouse the best that is in the nation against the infamous system which starves the virtue and life out of God's purest and fairest creatures; then and not until then, can you rest assured that all will be well with your loved ones when your eyes are closed to this earth and its uncertainties.

"He that is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone." ARTHUR W. DAVIS.

A TINY BABY can't tell you in words what the trouble is; but if its complexion gets pasty, if it gets weaker and weaker, loses flesh and is cross and peevish you can be certain that it has worms. White's Cream Vermifuge, guaranteed harmless. Expels the worms and puts the baby in a healthy normal condition.

COUNCIL WILL HOLD SESSION

Indications at present pointed to the passage of the new railroad ordinance at the regular meeting of the city council tonight. The understanding is that amendments offered and accepted at the meeting two weeks ago were acceptable to the franchise committee and the railroad projectors alike, and as the measure has left the franchise committee and is now in the hands of the ordinance and engineering committee, its final reading was expected. The ordinance has been amended and delayed in its final report a long time, and citizens were looking for some disposition tonight. Owing to the absence of Mr. Tillis, who is in New York, the measure will not be called up tonight.

Many matters of importance are now before the council, one of which concerns a slight change in the paving plans of North Palafox street to Wright street. Another matter in which a great many persons are interested is the question of responsibility for the Palafox-Baylen slip being filled up by sand. This question has been put up to the council by the board of works, and the harbor and city committee will very likely submit a report at the meeting tonight, as the chairman stated at the last meeting that his absence from the city had made a report on two questions before the committee quite impossible. Scores of boat owners are anxious to see the responsibility in this matter correctly placed.

O, You Lakeview!

STRANG RUNS A WONDERFUL MILE IN AUTO

(Continued From First Page) power Fiat, lost a minute in cranking up and withdrew at the second lap. Rutherford's Stearns also balked, but he continued in the contest. The two Fiats led all the way and finished only a fraction of a second apart, Aiken going the distance in 8:27.22 and the Fiat in 8:27.71. Alfred Austin's Apperson "Jack Rabbit" came third in 8:50.65.

The third race, also a 10-mile stock Chassis, 161 to 230 cubic inches, had six entries, but the E. M. F. car did not get on the track until the race had started. Rogers in a white gasoline, Schrizer in a Fuller, Knipper and Matson in Chalmers-Detroit and Nelson in a Buick, made the start.

Early in the race, the 20 White and 22 Fuller were distanced and the contest became one of the prettiest of the day between two 30 Chalmers and the little 18 Buick.

THREE CARS NECK AND NECK. At the finish the three cars were neck and neck, but Matson in a Chalmers was a nose ahead. Knipper to another Chalmers and Nelson with his Buick was scarcely six inches in the rear.

The following was the order of the finish: First—Joe Matson, Chalmers-Detroit, 9:49.46. Second—William Knipper, 9:49.84. Third—Joe Nelson, Buick, 9:50.81. The 10-mile free-for-all brought eight entries, two Marmons, two Nationals, two Renaults, a Knox and a Buick. Oldfield in the Knox and Aiken in a National started from scratch 70 seconds behind the first car, Harroun's Marmon. Oldfield broke down. Stillman profited by the highest handicap, 70 seconds, and was never headed. His team-mate, Harroun, came in at his heels.

Kincaid was apparently out of the race in the fourth lap with engine trouble. He lost 14 miles, but resumed. Aiken injured his steering gear before going 20 miles. He lost 10 miles, but soon started again. Chalmers-Detroit half a mile and the two Renaults two miles.

CHEVROLET WINS LONG RACE. Louis Chevrolet, in a Buick car, won the 200-mile race, averaging 72 miles an hour. Two of Barney Oldfield's records were lowered, Lewis Strang reducing Oldfield's mark 43.1 for one mile by five seconds. Oldfield in his trial lowered his former record by three seconds. In the 10-mile handicap John Aiken lowered Oldfield's record. Aiken's time

AIR THAT KILLS GERMS

Your Money Back if Hyomei Doesn't Cure Catarrh, Say Hannah Bros.
