In his open letter demanding an investigation of the department of the interior Secretary Ballinger, without mentioning Gifford Pinchot, chief of the forestry service, specially directs attention to the necessity of including that department in the inquiry. In writing to Senator Wesley L. Jones, Mr. Ballinger said: "I have reason to believe that the pernicious activity of certain officers of the forestry service has been the source and inspiration of the charges against the interior department and its administration." The secretary thus for the first time throws down the gage to Mr. Pinchot and opens up the most serious fight that has taken place under the Taft administration.
