"MASCOT" One of the attractions at the Orpheum do a clever singing, dancing and talking comedy act. They form one of the best teams of their kind ever to appear at the Orpheum, and from the way the audience applauds, have made a hit. The feature of the bill is "Mascot," the horse with the human brain. "Mascot" is playing this city as one of the highest priced acts to ever appear, and no doubt the Orpheum will be packed to the doors at every performance during the week. "Mascot" on Thursday afternoon of this week will do a mind reading act. On Wednesday of this week the Orpheum will start a souvenir matinee and every lady who visits the theatre will receive a handsome souvenir of cut glass. Watch for the big street parade today at 12 o'clock to see the beautiful "Mascot" and Tederhoa, the real Indian.

Monkey Who Refused the Home of a Millionaire. Can you believe it? And they say monkeys are without intelligence! This statement, however, has been indignantly denied by a young Harvard graduate who, the major part of last summer, experimented with several Simians at the New York zoo. To refute the charge, when he placed fruit in a small cage which was locked, he left the key in the lock for Mr. Monk to open himself, which he did. But think of a monkey who would prefer to travel with a theatrical troupe than to bask in society's whims at Newport, Palm Beach and other social centers. But this is just what "Pete," the trained monkey of "The Red Mill," which is at the opera house tonight, did when the company appeared in Newport recently. "Pete" comes on in the Italian organ grinder's scene. His cue is when the orchestra strikes up "Good-a-Bya, John," and the moment he hears it he jumps from the entrance to the center of the stage and is soon joined by Swor and Woods, who are made up as Italian street musicians. Soon as "Pete" gives the audience a good look to see if the dramatic critics are in front, he commences his capers as one of a well educated actor-monkey can caper.

Mr. and Mrs. Reinold Vanderbilt and party occupied a box and "Pete" appended to Mrs. Vanderbilt so persistently that she requested her husband to seek the manager and learn if he could not be bought. As the curtain fell upon the first act, Mr. Vanderbilt was introduced to Mr. Emery, the manager of the company, and got down to business at once.

"My wife would dearly love to have that monkey, Mr. Emery, and has asked me to buy him. I don't know what monkeys are worth or cost, but I will give you $250 for him." Mr. Emery explained that the monkey was not worth any such price, but in this particular case was worth much more to the Martin & Emery Co., as he was acclimated and thoroughly broken; but he would take him back on the stage and introduce him to "Pete" and see what he thought about it.

They found "Pete" tucked away in his little box for the night, but at Mr. Emery's call he jumped out onto his lap. "Pete" was introduced to Mr. Vanderbilt and then Mr. Emery explained that the millionaire would like to buy him, what a palace he could give him, and how he could live in luxury all his life.

"Now, Pete, what do you say?" asked Mr. Emery, after painting such a home for him. "Pete" gazed at Mr. Emery for a second, and then, muttering and chattering, leaped onto Mr. Emery's breast and placed his arms around his neck, with a terrified expression which distinctly meant, "Not on your life! 'The Red Mill' for me every time."

And so it came to pass that not even gold could tempt a monkey for a millionaire's home, and "Pete" remained with the show. "The Merry Widow." "The Merry Widow," as merry as her name, as vivacious as a coquette and as delightful as a dream, will be seen and heard here again. The Savage production which has created a furore wherever presented and which established a record in this city for attendance and popularity, will play a return engagement opening at the opera house on January 4.

That "The Merry Widow" would return to this city was a foregone conclusion from the first day that the sale of seats opened on the previous engagement. It was evident at once that thousands would be unable to secure desirable reservations or even standing room before the first visit was over, and so the managers of the local playhouse made efforts at once to extend the time of pretty Sonia's stay here. This was then impossible, as Henry W. Savage had already booked a solid tour, and Savage does not disappoint nor break engagements. So "The Merry Widow" had to walk along her delightful way, leaving a host of unhappy theatregoers here who failed to get into the theater.

A return engagement was at once booked for this city and is now about to be filled. The size of the theaters of the country seem to be the only limit to the size of the audiences which have greeted the Lehar operetta ever since it was produced in this country. It is passionate and alluring, comical and demure, it has even a touch of pathos to serve as a background for the sparkling gems of music and repartee that stud the wonderful score which Lehar composed and the engrossing and clever book that Victor Leon and Leo Stein wrote for a delighted Viennese populace. There is a dash of the rhythmic madness of the Hungarian czardas and the plaintive sweetness and naïveté of folk melodies, the swaying deliciousness of a Strauss waltz and the wild abandon of Offenbach in the measures which Lehar has scored, and no one can miss the charm of the story and the plot and counterplots of the libretto.

There will be danger again that many who want to hear the operetta will fall because the advance inquiry for seats is greater this time than last. The reason for this is that all who have seen it will see it again, and since "The Merry Widow" went away have been diligently advertising its charms to those who did not go. The company and production which will be seen here is "number one" in every respect. Savage would not risk his reputation by providing a cast and company inferior to any ever seen here.

At the New Theatre. Manager Jenkins regrets that owing to the delay of his musician, Miss Georgia Allen, of St. Augustine, that he could not give his patron a matinee yesterday, as announced in Sunday's paper, but beginning today he hopes to be able to give his patrons a regular matinee with first-class music and vaudeville and the best selection of moving pictures.

Today he will show Taft at the ball game between the Giants and Cubs at Chicago. The bill this week is extra good and deserves to be well patronized. Dixy Warfield, soubrette, is very good, while Minor and Vincent in a comedy sketch have made a hit to begin with, and Golden and Grey, singing and dancing, is fun for all. In fact, the whole bill deserves special mention. There will be an amateur performance Thursday night. Matinee every afternoon and regular performance at night.

MORE DANVILLE PROOF. Jacob Schraff, 432 South St., Danville, Ill., writes: "For over eighteen months I was a sufferer from kidney and bladder trouble. During the whole time was treated by several doctors and tried several different kidney pills. Seven weeks ago I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Pills, and am feeling better every day and will be glad to tell anyone interested just what Foley's Kidney Pills do for me." W. A. 108 ARRESTS BY THE POLICE

CRIMINAL SIDE OF THE CHRISTMAS TIME HEAVY, BUT OFFENDERS WERE SHOWN MUCH LENIENCY BY RECORDER.

One hundred and eight cases were docketed at the Monday session of the recorder's court, but the fines and costs amounted to but $142, as the recorder was inclined to be extremely lenient with all comers. Four cases were continued, two were not prosecuted, one defendant was bound over to the county authorities and fifty-eight were discharged. In discharging the greater number of them, the recorder felt it incumbent upon himself to say something about the reason why the leniency was extended, the holiday season playing an important part in this heart-to-heart talk. Those who were fined were among the half a hundred who had flagrantly violated the mayor's proclamation, and who had oversteered the bounds of reason in the celebration.

By officers, the arrests were thus accredited: Officer Kelly, 12; Gilmore, 3; Dole, 7; Lowery, 9; Henderson, 4; Reed, 4; Way, 14; Brunner, 4; Jones, Swanson, Milford, Clark, Anderson, Simpson, Kyle, 1 each; Connors, 2; Rice, 3; Barter, 3; Marsh, 3; Bryars, 3; Fillingim, 2; Hall, 2; McCloskey, 5; Sikes, 4; Wilde and Frank, 1 each; Flynn, 2; Sanders, 4; Simmons, 1; Howes, 2.

ALLEGED THIEF IS HELD IN JAIL

WILL HAMILTON, FROM WHOM MUCH STOLEN JEWELRY WAS SECURED, ARRESTED BY THE POLICE.

Will Hamilton, alleged to be the negro who recently entered many homes, stealing jewelry as well as any other valuables that he might find, is held a prisoner in the city jail, and will be turned over to the county authorities today to answer a number of charges. Chief Sanders and officers of the department have recovered considerable jewelry from Hamilton, but they say there is more of it, but Hamilton, after promising to "turn up" those who have the valuables, has failed to make good this promise, so he is to be held on the charges already against him. Among the jewelry recovered is a watch stolen from Mrs. Len LeBaron, and one taken from the home of Mrs. W. W. Watson.

COUNCIL WAS NOT SUMMONED

MAYOR REILLY DID NOT CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION YESTERDAY AS HAD BEEN EXPECTED, DUE TO LACK OF INFORMATION

Mayor Reilly did not have the council called in special session for last night as had been anticipated, because of the lack of news concerning the expected arrival of the consulting engineer, T. C. Hatton. The latter was expected to be here on the 27th at the latest, but he did not reach the city yesterday, and it is now believed that the special meeting for action on the engineer's report will not be held until the middle of the week. The body does not meet in regular session until next week.

Should the mayor see fit to call the council in special session during the week, the matter of confirming a treasurer nominee will also be made a part of the call. The mayor has nothing to say relative to the success or failure of the late treasurer, H. T. Howland, resigned, but from information which may be gathered from authentic sources, there are two candidates for the position, one of whom is likely to be named when the mayor has occasion to act.

With the confirmation of the next appointee, and the consideration of the rather startling report of the city engineer concerning the DeVilliers street outlet, taken in connection with any explanation which the consulting engineer may deem sufficient to make, the expected special session is likely to be interesting.

For HEADACHE—HICKS' CAPUDINE. Whether from Colds, Heat, Stomach or Nervous Troubles, Capsudine will relieve you. It's liquid—pleasant to take—acts immediately. Try it. 1cc, 2cc, and 5cc. At drug stores.

DEATH TOLL IN RANKS OF VETS. HEAVY FOR YEAR

TEN HAVING ANSWERED CALL TO BAR DURING PAST YEAR AND MEMORIALIZING SERVICE WILL SOON BE HELD.

Rapid has been the march of the Reaper in the ranks of the Confederate veterans, and in the membership of Camp Ward, No. 10, during the past year, and nearly a dozen of the old soldiers who followed the flag and fought for the Lost Cause have been called to their reward. The old veterans, the survivors, remembered and realized this awful and too true fact yesterday, when arrangements were started for a service to be held early in January for the purpose of memorializing the last year's departed ones.

The membership of Camp Ward, No. 1, numbers but 115, and the loss of one or two or three of them is always keenly felt. Consider, then, the feeling when nearly a dozen have been forced to answer the last roll call. The camp started arrangements yesterday for the memorial service, and it has been decided to hold the same on the evening of January 4. At that time the old soldiers will be talked in touching manner by those who survive. Among those who have been numbered among the absent ones are Messrs. J. C. Pebley, Frank Touart, Wm. Kirk, A. C. Berry, George W. Curtis, John Dawson, Henry Baars, John Dixon and R. M. Gray. These absentees were devoted to the cause and were devoted to the memory of the cause fought for and lost. They will be memorialized in suitable manner at the meeting to be held early in January as stated, and it will be public. Suitable attendant services will be held, and the public may be favored with invitations to be present.

Women Who Are Envid. Those attractive women who are lovely in face, form and temper are the envy of many, who might be like them. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation or kidney poison show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. For all such, Electric Bitters work wonders. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin; remove all impurities; charming women owe their health and beauty to them. 50c. at all druggists.

SCENERY CAR WAS ATTACHED

"LEADING LADY" OF PARSIFAL SAID HER SALARY WAS NOT COMING REGULARLY AND AS PER CONTRACT.

All night Saturday and part of Sunday the car of scenery of "Parsifal" stood on sidetrack and could not be moved until arrangement was made for the settlement of the alleged part-due salary of the "leading lady," who was a Miss Lee, deputy Sheriff Nichols held the attachment papers which held the car, and until some sort of a settlement was effected the car was in his custody. The car was released Sunday night, when the settlement was effected. During the afternoon the car left for some place in Alabama, while the troublesome Miss Lee left, ticketed for New York. She disputed a claim of the show management that she was to work for $40 per week during the holiday season, instead of her customary $80. That was what has been let out, at any rate. She must have gotten the money due, although no one was found who would show her receipt for the money.

In explanation of the dispute, it was stated that the contract clause for half-salary during the holidays was inserted in that signed by the leading lady. She could not, or would not see it, and made war after the show here Saturday (Christmas) night. Before the car was loaded the deputy showed up with the papers bearing the great seal of the state of Florida, etc., which held it fast. Arrangements for settlement were started immediately when the deputy boarded the car and stood off all impulsive pleadings on the part of the affected ones by taking refuge behind the legal document he held. When it was found that the attachment would hold good until a settlement for the alleged due salary was made, the arrangements were started in that direction, with the result that the northbound train, carrying the scenery car into Alabama the day after Christmas.
