MANY FINE SPECIMENS OF FISH ARE SECURED HERE

For the Fishery Exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition.

UNITED STATES FISH COMMISSION CAR LEAVES WITH COMPLETE STOCK OF FISH OF EVERY SPECIES TAKEN FROM THE GULF AND BAY.

Every species of fish taken from the gulf and bay of Pensacola will be seen at the Jamestown exposition. The special car of the United States Fish Commission, which spent several weeks here securing live fish of every species that could be obtained, has left for the exposition, where the fish in their live state will be transferred to the aquariums, and being supplied with fresh water each day will live during the exposition.

The species taken from here include the red snapper, mullet, Spanish mackerel, trout, red fish, groupers, blue fish, skip jacks, catfish, choppers, mummichog, white trout, toad fish, pig fish, pike, gar, sheepshead, flounders, eels, rockers and various other kinds that inhabit these waters. These fish will be supplied with salt water, which will be taken into Norfolk by a water boat.

Other sections of Florida also furnished a large number of various species, and also sponges in various stages of development. The car which was in Pensacola was in charge of I. H. Dunlap, and it was fitted with aquariums for the various kinds of fish taken here. Some exceptionally fine specimens of red snapper were secured, while there is a good exhibit of live Spanish mackerel, trout, etc.

Will Rival Other Exhibits. Speaking of the fish exhibit the Norfolk Pilot in a recent issue contained the following:

"The display of the United States Fish Commission is practically installed in the building assigned to it and will rival the other government exhibits in completeness. It will show specimens of the water products from one end of the country to the other, demonstrating methods both of domestic fishermen and of the department in the catching, treatment, etc., and protective measures. It will show the modes of fishing in different parts of the United States in characteristic attitudes, illustrating the many different ways employed in catching of all marine creatures in any number of climates. The exhibit not only deals with fishes, but shows the oyster, sponge and other shell of parasitical water industries in all of the steps of gathering, treatment and transportation.

"Around the walls of the Fish Commission building, which stands just west of the government building 'A,' have been arranged a circle of live fish aquariums which will be filled with specimens of practically all American water creatures, as well as a number of curiosities and freaks captured by Fish Commission employees. In the center of the building is a large, circular aquarium, which is to hold fishes from local waters.

"It has been a great problem to get salt and fresh water with the right properties to keep the specimens alive, as the water within piping distance of the exposition has not the proper density for the deep sea fishes. Therefore it will be necessary to pump the water used into lighters, probably outside of the bay, and bring it to the exposition grounds by means of tugs. The fresh water for inland fishes will be taken from the Old Point Comfort government reservoir.

"Along with the specimens, alive and otherwise, will be a complete collection of the implements used both by sportsmen and by professional fishermen from coast to coast, including sets of trout and salmon tackle which will delight the hearts of lovers of the sport.

"Also there is a display of food products manufactured from sea produce of different kinds, including fertilizers made from shells, sperm oil, cod liver oil, and a number of other industrial articles. "The Fisheries Building, which is connected with building A by a classic curved pergola, contains an aquarium, in which live fish are to form the principal part of the fisheries exhibit of the government. Around the building runs a frieze of staff composition, the motif of which will be various kinds of fish in bas-relief. The Smithsonian Institution and National Museum Building is similar in general design to the Fisheries Building, but the frieze of the latter has Indian heads and prehistoric trophies as its motive. Each of these annexes is surmounted by a small dome, which lets in light upon the fisheries and museum exhibits. The main government exhibits will occupy these four buildings."

GREAT ESTATES OF GREAT BRITAIN

Special to The Journal. London, May 9.—Mr. M. Rankin Cranston, writing in the Craftsman, has some interesting comment on the housing problem, which is daily becoming more acute in London, but the lack of accommodation is becoming prevalent, not only in city and town, but in village and country. Mr. Cranston finds that most of the evils of overcrowding is due to the fact that much of England's small area is entailed and cannot be sold, while that which may be bought is so valuable that few can afford to purchase even a tiny piece of it. The enormous estates of the very wealthy are laid out as private grounds or kept as game preserves. The Duke of Westminster owns so vast estates that he has been prohibited by law to buy any more in England, and the Duke of Bedford is buying so much that he is likely before long to own the entire county of Middlesex, including a considerable slice of London.

GAMES SUNDAY IN THE CITY LEAGUE

Double-Header to be Played on Diamond at Fort Barrancas.

Table with columns: Played, Won, Lost, Per cent. Rows: 20th Company, East End, 22nd Company, Orioles, Pensacola, Warrington.

A double-header in the City League will be played Sunday afternoon on the Fort Barrancas diamond, the first being called upon the arrival from the city of the 1 o'clock electric car, while the second will be commenced as soon as the first is completed. The opposing teams in the first game will be the East Ends and Warringtons. The latter has not yet played a game in the league, but from the make-up the club will be one of the strong factors in the league throughout the season. The two teams will line-up as follows:

The Second Game. The Pensacola and Twenty-second Company will play the second game, and both teams are considered very strong ones. These teams will line-up as follows:

Arrangements have been made to have chairs placed for the comfort of those who wish them, and it is expected that this fact will increase the size of the crowds and the enjoyment of the evening. There will also be extra guards to preserve order and keep the spectators out of the diamond.

Joe Fitzpatrick, who has consented to umpire all of the league games, will handle the indicator, and as his decisions are always just there will be no kicking or wrangling.

Schedule of Games. Games for the remainder of the month are scheduled as follows:

May 19—Warrington and Orioles. Pensacola and Twentieth Company. May 26—Warrington and Pensacola. Twentieth and Twenty-Second Companies.

Beginning next month the league will play double-headers each Friday afternoon at Palmetto Beach and double-headers at Fort Barrancas each Sunday afternoon.

Transportation in Barbados. Carrying heavy burdens on their heads has come to be second nature to the black women of Barbados. Whenever one of them has anything to convey from one place to another, no matter how many miles must be traversed, the load is immediately hoisted to the top of her bandanna bound head. It is told of one of these native women that when her mistress gave her a letter to post of force of habit made her put the letter on her head and weight it down with a couple of bricks.—New York Herald.

A BILL TO PROHIBIT DEALING IN FUTURES

Full Text of Measure Recently Introduced in the Legislature by Representative Knight, of Columbia.

Tallahassee, May 9.—Following is the text of house bill No. 93, introduced by Mr. Knight, of Columbia:

A bill to be entitled, an act to prohibit contracts and agreements of cotton, grain, provisions and other commodities, stocks, bonds and other securities, upon a margin commonly known as dealing in futures; and to provide punishment therefor; to define what shall constitute prima facie evidence of guilt; to compel persons participating in such transactions to testify concerning their connections therewith; to provide that evidence given by any such witness shall not be used against him in any criminal proceedings; and to exempt from the operations of this act purchases and sales of commodities by manufacturers or merchants in the ordinary course of business, and to provide that regular commercial exchanges and other bona fide trade organizations may post market prices, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Florida:

Section 1. That from and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person, association or persons or corporations, either as principal or agent, to establish, maintain or operate an office or other place of business in this state for the purpose of carrying on or engaging in the business forbidden by this act, commonly called dealing in futures or margins.

Sec. 2. That every contract or agreement, whether or not in writing, whereby any person or corporation shall agree to sell and deliver, or sell with an agreement to deliver, any wheat, cotton, corn or other commodity, stock, bond or other security, to any other person or corporations, when in fact it is not in good faith intended by the parties that an actual delivery of the article or thing shall be made, is hereby declared to be unlawful, whether made or to be performed wholly within this state, or partly within and partly without this state, it being the intent of this act to prohibit any and all contracts or agreements for the sale and delivery of any commodity, or other thing of value, on margin, commonly called dealing in futures, when the intention or understanding of the parties is to receive or pay the difference between the agreed price and the market price at the time of settlement.

Sec. 3. That every person who shall become a party to any such contract or agreement as is by this act made unlawful, and every person who shall, as agent, directly or indirectly, participate in making or furthering or effectuating the same, and every agent or officer of any corporation who shall in any way knowingly aid in making or furthering any such contract or agreement, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 4. That every person within this state who shall become a party to any such contract made or to be made in another state, or who shall do any act, or in any way aid, within this state, in the making or furthering of any such contract, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 5. That no person shall be excused on any prosecution under this act from testifying touching anything done by himself, or others, contrary to the provisions of this act; but any discovery made by a witness upon such examination shall not be used against him in any penal or criminal prosecution, and he shall be altogether pardoned of the offense so done or participated in by him.

Sec. 6. That in all prosecutions under this act, proof that a defendant was a party to a contract, as agent or principal, to sell and deliver any article, thing or property, specified or named in this act, or that he was the agent, directly or indirectly, of any party in making, furthering or effectuating the same, or that he was the agent or officer of any corporation, association of persons, or place where are posted or published from information received the fluctuating prices of cotton, grain, provisions, stocks, bonds or other commodity or thing of value, or either of them, shall constitute prima facie evidence of a contract declared unlawful by the terms of this act.

Sec. 7. That proof that any person, association of persons or corporations, either as principal or agent, has established an office or place where are posted or published from information received the fluctuating prices of cotton, grain, provisions, stocks, bonds or other commodity or thing of value, or either of them, shall constitute prima facie evidence of the offense so done or participated in by him.

Sec. 8. That proof that any person, association of persons or corporations, either as principal or agent, has established an office or place where are posted or published from information received the fluctuating prices of cotton, grain, provisions, stocks, bonds or other commodity or thing of value, or either of them, shall constitute prima facie evidence of the offense so done or participated in by him.

constitute prima facie evidence of guilt. Sec. 9. That this act shall not be so construed as to apply to the purchase or sale of commodities required in the ordinary course of business by any person, firm or corporation engaged in the business of manufacturing or wholesale merchandising; nor shall anything in this act contained be construed to prevent or to render unlawful the posting or publishing of market quotations or prices of commodities, stocks, bonds and securities by any regular organized commercial exchange, or other bona fide trade organization, provided that no purchase or sale for future delivery on margin shall be permitted.

Sec. 10.—That any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall pay a fine not exceeding $500, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 11. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with this act, be, and the same are, hereby repealed.

LECTURER TO THE MISSION WORKERS

Richmond, Ind., May 9.—Mrs. Helen B. Montgomery, of this city, has been chosen lecturer before the National School of Mission Workers for the coming year. Mrs. Montgomery's work will consist of lecturing on and explaining the text book which she has been chosen for the coming year. The lectures will be given at various points which were established last year as centres of work. These include Chautauqua, N. Y., Northfield, Massachusetts, Winona, Illinois, Mr. Eagle, Tennessee and Boulder, Colorado. At each of the places a course of study is mapped out. Mrs. Montgomery lectures one week at each of these places on the text book which is the basis of the work. In the past the books have dealt with mission work in Japan, the Island of the Sea, China, India and Africa. The work of studying missions on an internominational basis was started as the result of a feeling which arose at the Ecumenical Council in 1900, that more comprehensive work was necessary. Eight denominations started to study missions in common, and a board composed of a representative from the women's board of missions of each denomination was appointed to supervise the work.

REQUIRE PUBLICITY IN DIVORCE CASES

Wilmington, Del., May 9.—The legislature of Delaware has amended the laws on divorce so as to forbid star chamber proceeding in divorce cases, and to require that all argument that publicity will prove one of the most effective means of preventing collision between parties and will also act as a deterrent against the permanent separation of married couples who would shrink from the publicity of a trial and probably be led on second thought to compose their differences. The correct theory of law is that it should be openly administered.
