FLOODS ARE NOW BECOMING VERY SERIOUS

RIVERS ARE RISING VERY RAPIDLY AND AT SOME POINTS THE FLOOD STAGE HAS ALREADY BEEN REACHED—BASEBALL PARK COVERED AT NASHVILLE

By Associated Press. Louisville, Ky., Feb. 25.—With every tributary bank full and swelling the tide, the Ohio river rose steadily all night and at 7 o'clock this morning was within a fraction of the "danger line" for this point—28 feet. Cold and clear weather, which came yesterday afternoon had not time to get in its work of checking and steadying the rise, although its effects are said to become increasingly apparent by tomorrow. A maximum stage of at least 30 feet is expected, however, before the rise halts. Morning found the lower floors of some fifth homes in the shipping part and the western end of Louisville inundated while over twice as many were awash in "the point" district at the eastern end. From many of these places families were moved during the night. Others remained in their second stories. Cellars and warehouses along the river front were flooded, but ample warning enabled merchants to move goods and avoid damage.

By night the number of persons driven from their homes in low-lying districts was doubled and it is expected a number of factories will be forced to suspend. DISQUIETING REPORTS COME FROM LEXINGTON. Lexington, Ky., Feb. 25.—Reports from the Licking river in the eastern Kentucky mountain district today are disquieting. Three towns have been invaded by water so far. Salt Lick, Farmers and Wyoming, while Shelburne and West Liberty are in danger. The Kentucky river is booming and several towns along its course may be invaded. Many families have left their homes.

FOUR FEET OF WATER IN SCHOOLS AT FRANKFORT. Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 25.—Four feet of water standing in the city schools and the entire lower part of the city flooded gives an idea of the damage which has been done here by the largest and most disastrous flood known in the Kentucky river in a decade. Hundreds of families have been rendered homeless and barns and bridges swept away above and below this city. It is believed that today will see the crest of the flood here.

FLOOD STAGE AT MEMPHIS EXPECTED BY NEXT SUNDAY. Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 25.—With the rise to the Mississippi river being more rapid each hour, a flood stage of 33 feet is anticipated at this point by Sunday next and a further rise during the week following is predicted, in a warning issued by the local weather bureau. While the lowlands and western bank of the river would be inundated should the anticipated stage be reached, a serious overflow is not probable unless the volume of water be much greater than expected.

CUMBERLAND RIVER REACHES FORTY FEET AT NASHVILLE. Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 25.—The Cumberland river has reached 40 feet, the flood stage here and is rising slowly. The baseball park is under several feet of water.

COLLECTING RATTLESNAKES

Ponce DeLeon Man is to Place Them on Exhibition Soon.

Special to The Journal. Ponce De Leon, Feb. 25.—Hiram Lee, of Red Bay, captured a very large rattlesnake while at work on his farm on last Tuesday. Mr. Lee brought the snake here today and sold it to Willie Richards of DeFuniak Springs. His snakeship is six feet long and has twelve rattles. Mr. Richards informs the writer that he has recently acquired two other rattlesnakes even larger than this one, one being a female carrying a well developed litter of young. It is his intention to place the entire collection on exhibition as soon as he completes the collection. J. A. Simmons returned from Mobile on Wednesday, at which place he took in the carnival, and reports a very pleasant trip. T. P. Andrews transacted business in Caryville on Wednesday. Rev. J. E. West made a business trip to Bonifay on Wednesday. W. S. Green, a prominent naval stores operator of Argyle, and Thomas Gunn, a prominent farmer of Turner Springs, were among the prominent visitors in town on Thursday.

COTTONDALE

HOW TO GET FAT

Use Samose, Says White's Pharmacy, and Put On Good Flesh. The almost universal interest in physical culture is the best evidence that can be offered as to the need of a simple and scientific method of making thin people fatter, increasing strength and restoring health. Athletics, when carried to an extreme, often result in straining the vital organs; how much better it would be for the average person to regain health, strength and flesh by using Samose. This flesh-forming food is assimilated as soon as it enters the stomach; it helps the organs to assimilate the food and extract the flesh-forming elements; it builds up the muscles and rounds out the limbs into shapely plumpness. Samose has been so successful in making thin people fat, and restoring the weak and run down to strength and health that White's Pharmacy, the popular druggists, sell it under their personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not benefit.

An offer like this certainly shows remarkable faith in the powers of Samose to do all that is claimed for it. No one should suffer any longer from a thin, run down condition, now that Samose's remarkable powers are known. Sent postpaid on receipt of price, 50c.

PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED BY GOV. GILCHRIST

URGES THE PEOPLE OF FLORIDA TO ATTEND THE TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT AND EDUCATE THEMSELVES HOW TO FIGHT THE GREAT WHITE PLAGUE.

Tallahassee, Feb. 25.—There is now being conducted a campaign of education for the study and prevention of tuberculosis in this state. Tuberculosis has been well described as the "great white plague."

The United States census report for the year ending May 31st, 1906, shows that total deaths of the white race for that year was 892,092. Of this number, 87,963, not quite ten per cent, died from consumption. Of the colored race the total deaths were 147,002; 22,236, about fifteen per cent, being from consumption. The total estimate in Florida was 6,482, 559, less than 9 per cent died from consumption. Of these 559, 289 died between the ages of 15 and 24.

The state board of health estimates that the money cost of tuberculosis, including capitalized earning power lost by death, exceeds $8,000 per capita, estimating the number of deaths in 1906 upon this, places the total annual cost in the United States at $1,096,000,000 per annum. The cost of suffering to those who have this dread disease cannot be estimated.

The state board of health states that "scientists not only think, but believe that the disease can be checked, and not only checked but obliterated and effaced from the earth, if a well organized attempt is made in the direction of assistance, and with keen sighted educational measures and supervision."

"Keen sighted educational measures" are now being conducted in the state under the leadership of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. This campaign is being conducted with the co-operation of physicians, health officers, business men and commercial clubs, women's clubs, labor organizations, church societies, fraternal orders, schools and colleges and the newspapers.

I, therefore, recommend: That all the people residing in this state take advantage of the opportunities now offered them, without cost, to become posted upon, and to preserve their health from this dread disease. Done at the executive office, this third day of February, 1909. Witness my hand and the great seal of the State of Florida, ALBERT W. GILCHRIST, Governor.

By the governor, Attest: H. CLAY CRAWFORD, Secretary of State.

THE FAMILY CIRCLE. We have all been compelled to listen to the oft-repeated accusation that we have no manners nowadays, either at home or abroad; that, in fact, we live in a mannerless age. This is a depressing sentiment, after all that for the stump attacks and editorial attacks had been going on. "Were you a subscriber to the Tennesseean?" "I was not, thank God," fervently. "You bought it to read?" "I did not. I read it at the club."

"You objected to the editorial saying the democratic committee was trading Bryan for Patterson?" "I did." "Why?" "Because it was untrue."

"But it appeared first in the American, didn't it?" "I don't care if it appeared in the Holy Bible, it was a lie."

"Not, not until Carmack used it and connected me with it." Fitzhugh led the witness through editorial after editorial asking each time if the witness's name was mentioned in it and each time Colonel Cooper replied in the negative, but said his name was implied. Colonel Cooper denied that he had brought Cox and Patterson together, but said he would have been willing to have done so. He would not consider it a disgrace to have done so, but resented it because it was untrue.

The state continued to revert to the political fight which Cooper was charged with setting. Invariably the testimony was ruled out, but invariably the attorneys returned to the attack. "You had better get off politics and get on to the facts," said the court. "Did you tell Robin Cooper on November 9 that you expected trouble with Carmack?" "I said something to that effect."

"Didn't you make that statement because of the threatening messages you sent to Senator Carmack?" "Yes, sir, and the message I got back through Mr. Craig that Mr. Carmack was in an ugly mood."

"If you got a message from a man who said the town was too big for both of you, what would you understand?" The defense objected seriously and loudly, but the witness said: "Well, you may," said the court. "If I had received the message I sent Carmack, I would consider that either I had to stop attacks or prepare myself to meet him."

"Is it not a fact that in your presence at the police station on the night of November 9, in the presence of several others, Messrs. Bradford, Ewing and McConico, a statement for the press was prepared?" "I did not. These gentlemen prepared a statement and wanted me to read it. I refused because that would make it my statement."

"Didn't you see Bradford dictate it to Mr. Ewing, editor of the American?" "I think Mr. Ewing was there." "And didn't you know that you all agreed to put in the third person in order that you might not be bound by it, that it was to be used exclusively in the American here and sent out through the Associated Press?" "I never read it."

"Then where did Mr. Ewing, a newspaper man, and these other men get the facts that were printed?" "I presume from me. Mr. Bradford was my counsel. Mr. McConico was a friend. I talked to them."

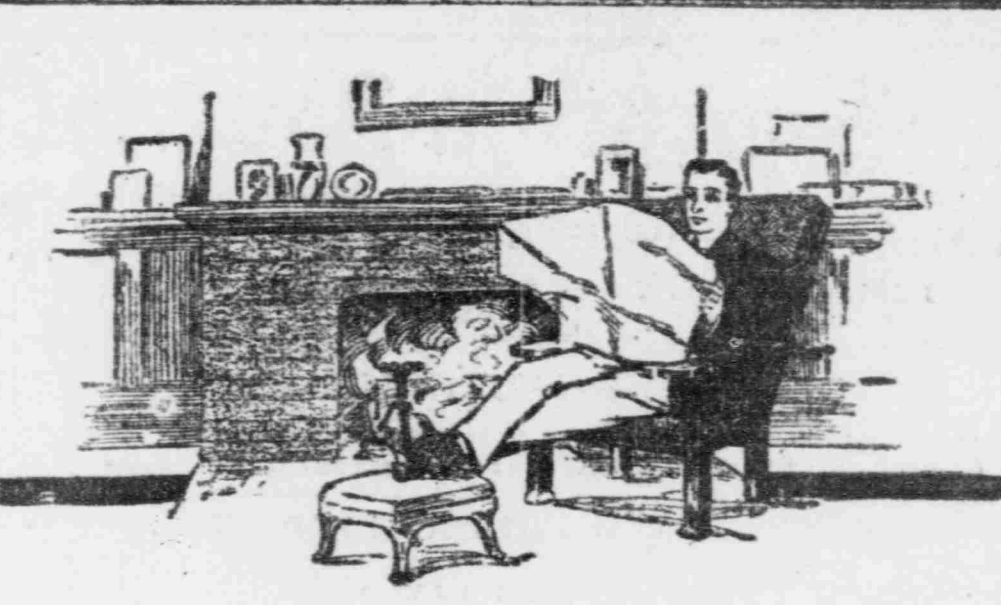

"How did Ewing get it?" "I don't know." "Isn't Ewing the representative of the Associated Press in Nashville?" "I think he is. The American has the franchise in Nashville."

"Now, didn't you all get together and fix up this statement deliberately to Mr. Ewing as well as to counsel?" "No, sir, I did not." "Didn't you make a statement that night in which you said Carmack told Craig that your name would not appear again?" "I did not."

"Did you not say this: 'Colonel Cooper said that Mr. Carmack, after the promise to Mr. Craig, saw fit to further pursue him in the Tennesseean editorial columns?'" "I did not."

"You know Ewing, do you not? He is a stockholder in the American, is he not?" "He is a director. I do not know his very well."

"Didn't you say in this statement that Governor Patterson called you on the phone in Robin's office?" "I did not. I made no statement except to counsel."

ter from J. M. Dickinson, general counsel for the L. & N., thanking me for my service and offering to re-employ me?" "Did you carry that letter ever since?" "No, sir, I got it because I knew you had searched the state from one end to the other to get anything that would hurt me and because the papers in some places charged that I was a lobbyist."

"Did you give Mr. E. B. Craig an order for four months' salary on the L. & N. in advance and didn't you resign in one month?" "Yes, but when I gave him the orders I had no intention of resigning and I would have borrowed it from Craig without the orders."

"Did you pay Craig out of the Honduras salary?" "No, sir." "How much did you get there?" "I got $500 a month."

"Did you pay any debts?" "I don't know. I have always been a business failure from lack of business capacity."
