Attorney Smithwick Entertains Friends.

Attorney John H. Smithwick was the host yesterday, at a delightfully informal luncheon to several members of the Pensacola bar, including Judge Francis B. Carter, one of the latest acquisitions to the local bar, Hon. J. Walter Kehoe, state attorney, John T. G. Crawford, Emmet Wilson and W. B. Crawford.

The luncheon consisted of a number of courses, and the gentlemen spent some time very pleasantly together.

Mrs. D'Alemberte's Dinner for Miss Fleming.

Mrs. H. H. D'Alemberte will give a small and informal dinner this evening for Miss Isabelle Flemming, the charming guest of Miss Cora Hunt.

Complimentary to Miss A. G. Chipley.

A recent issue of the Florala News contained the following clipping, highly complimentary to Miss A. G. Chipley, the efficient deputy to the clerk of the United States court:

A lady who is often placed in very trying positions and who invariably comes forth from them without the least outward manifestation of an irritable frame of mind or impatience, is Miss A. G. Chipley, deputy clerk in the office of Frederick W. Marsh, United States commissioner for the northern district of Florida, whose office is in Pensacola. Miss Chipley seems to have the details of that office at her finger-tips and can attend to any ordinary part of the office and we are sure few men could do it with such accuracy and despatch. When court is in session she is a very busy woman, but she always remembers to use that gentleness of manner and patience toward all that all people possess more or less of, and so few cultivate.

SCHOOL TEACHER and Coffee Drinking.

Many good people are loth to give up coffee, even though they admit that it is doing them harm, because they fear that nothing else in the way of a hot beverage will satisfy them. A school teacher says:

"I always enjoyed coffee for breakfast. The day seemed lost without it. But in time I began to experience bad results from its use. I grew very nervous and lost flesh and finally was prostrated by a complete nervous breakdown. Then I was compelled to abandon the use of coffee.

"I adopted Postum Food Coffee as my hot beverage at breakfast. Have been using it for more than two years. My health is restored and I am able to take an interest in life once more.

"My whole family, children and all, drink Postum Food Coffee, and we all thrive and keep healthy on it. It is to us a delightful drink, delicious and tempting and with none of the harmful effects that usually followed the use of coffee. The choicest brands of Java and Mocha, offered free, would not tempt us to quit the use of Postum Food Coffee." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. "There's a reason." ENTERTAINMENT FOR GERMAN OFFICERS

Jacksonville German Club Gives Elaborate Luncheon to Visitors.

The officers and men of the German cruiser Bremen, were royally entertained by the German citizens of Jacksonville yesterday, says the Jacksonville Times-Union.

During the morning the officers were given a luncheon at the Germania Club, by the officers of the club and Sons of Hermann and in the afternoon the officers and men were given a smoker and spread in the Germania Club building.

Yesterday morning at 11 o'clock the officers of the Bremen, who were not on duty at the ship, visited the Germania Club where they were cordially received by the Germania Club officers. After drinking several toasts the party, including the Bremen officers, the officers of the Germania Club and Sons of Hermann, were seated at a long table in the garden of the Germania Club, where lunch was served.

The lunch was prepared by Charley Wichtmann. After the lunch had been finished the happy party bid one another adieu, for the time being and the Bremen officers returned to their ship.

The Afternoon.

It was a great gathering at the club house and grounds during the afternoon.

Invitations had been extended to every officer and every member of the crew, to visit the club during the afternoon as an afternoon of enjoyment had been provided.

Promptly at 4 o'clock the boats on the Bremen, were lowered and every jackey who was off duty was allowed to get into the boats and come ashore Boat load after boat load were carried in from the cruiser and after they had all safely landed they were formed at the foot of Main street. Marching in fours, and headed by the cruiser band, the jackies marched up Bay street, across the viaduct, and to the club. It was indeed a fine looking body of men that marched up Bay street. Their parade took place at the time when Bay street was crowded and nothing but favorable comments could be heard pertaining to the German jackies.

At The Club.

When the jackies arrived at the German club they were made to understand the club was theirs. The German citizens of Jacksonville received them most cordially and nothing was too good for the men of the German navy.

After the sailors had been at the club a few minutes they felt entirely at home and during the afternoon and evening they mingled with the Jacksonville citizens.

It is characteristic with the Germans to have their beer and that pleasant beverage was not missing at the Germania Club. There was beer and plenty of it for everybody. As soon as a glass, or stein, was empty there was a waiter on deck to fill up the all in article.

Never before has a more happy gathering assembled at the club than the one yesterday afternoon. The German lads were made to fell that they were with their people and that nothing was too good for them.

The Decorations.

The Germania hall was prettily decorated for the occasion. In large letters over the stage was Bremen Wollkomen.

On one end of the stage, resting on an easel, was a splendid picture of Emperor William II., and on the other end of the stage was a good likeness of President Roosevelt. Both of the photographs were appropriately decorated.

Special decorations were secured from Philadelphia for the occasion. It was a late hour last night when the Bremen men left the Germania Club for their ship and it was the sentiment of each and every one that the first Sunday spent in Jacksonville was one that will long be remembered.
