A STRANGE DISCREPANCY.
 High living! What a wealth of things that short expression signifies! Rare dishes, set for hungry kings. Birds, plates, wines, and fainty pies. Rich vintages of costly sort—Also, burgundies, and yellow fizz. Soft nutty sherry, fragrant port—Each harbinger of trouble is.

A constant rout from morn till night, And thence from ever till morn again, Self-given o'er to mere delight, With n'er a thought for fellow men.

High living that! How strange our tongue, Makes "lofty" synonym for "high", When lofty living's last among, The things high lives think to try! Blakeway Gray.

THE PROGRESS CLUB ENTERTAINED PLEASANTLY.
 The Progress Club rooms were filled with interested guests last night, it being the event of the regular weekly euchre party given by the club. A large number were in attendance, all having reported an exceptionally pleasant event. The Progress Club is among the leaders in local society, and its pretty events count for much during the winter season.

THURSDAY MORNING BRIDGE MEETS THIS MORNING.
 The Thursday Morning Bridge Club will be entertained this morning at 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. L. E. Thornton, at 720 North Palafox street. Mrs. Thornton is among Pensacola's popular young matrons, and figures prominently in local circles.

B. P. O. E. LADIES TO GIVE EUCHRE.
 The Elk parlors will be the scene of an interesting event this afternoon, when a progressive euchre party will be given by the Ladies' Auxiliary. The ladies are famed for their pleasant social afternoons, and it is anticipated that a large number will be present today to take advantage of the invitation extended.

THANKSGIVING DANCE BY SHY PROGRESS CLUB.
 One of the delightful social events planned for next week will be the Thanksgiving ball to occur on Tuesday, at the K. of C. hall, the Progress Club having decided upon that night. Those who have attended the pretty events given by the club in the past will appreciate the real interest of next Tuesday's event in local society circles.

"SCHOOL DAYS" FRIDAY NIGHT.
 "School Days," the clever little operette to be given by the Junior Gardeners tomorrow night, will doubtless prove one of the real "hits" of the present season. The young people have been hard-working and energetic in the work of preparation, and there will be nothing to desire when the play is finally placed before the public. "School Days" will be strictly worth your while. It is going to fairly team with an atmosphere purely Pensacolian, and being a Pensacolian, you will appreciate that feature.

THE YACHT CLUB WILL BE POPULAR.
 A feature which is soon to become popular in local social circles is the new Pensacola Yacht club, which is being organized by local business and social men. To those who have never lived in a community where a yacht club flourishes, the charm of such an association of merry skippers is entirely unknown. A yacht club, in fact, furnishes a world of pretty diversion, and there is no end to the attractive events which may be planned. Pensacola is an ideal city to host a club of this sort, conditions being favorable in the extreme for the most interesting results possible.

PRIZE WINNERS OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB.
 Following is the correct list of prize winners at the recent meeting of the Tuesday Afternoon Club: Mrs. Cummings, first prize; Mrs. Jas. White, second and second prize; Mrs. Merritt, booby. Mrs. Johnson was the hostess of the afternoon, the next meeting of the club to occur on next Friday instead of Tuesday.

REV. FATHER REID IS NOW IMPROVING.
 Father Reid, of St. Joseph's church, who has been in New Orleans for some time, where he has been confined in a sanitarium, is much improved, much to the satisfaction of his many local friends. Father Reid is greatly beloved in Pensacola, and it is welcome news to learn that he will be in Pensacola in the near future, where he will resume his interrupted duties.

MR. DADE GREEN ENTERTAINING SISTERS.
 Mr. Dade Green is entertaining his sisters, the Misses Green, of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, for the winter. The Misses Green are the first of Pensacola's colony of winter visitors, and will remain until the close of the northern winter.

IN HONOR OF MISS WILLARD.
 Mrs. J. McGibbo entertained yesterday afternoon at a pleasant bridge party given in honor of Miss Willard, the pretty little northern lady who is the guest of Miss Jennie Stillman. A number of charming events are planned to take place in the near future in honor of Miss Willard, who has become very popular in local society.

PASTIME EUCHRE WILL MEET WITH MRS. LINDSTROM.
 The next regular meeting of the Pastime Euchre club will occur on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Walter Lindstrom on Government street. A pleasant event is anticipated by the members.

SOCIAL CARD CLUB MET YESTERDAY.
 The Social Card club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. Murphy on North Hayne street, a delightful afternoon having been planned by the club's clever hostess. The club prize was won by Mrs. N. Soderquist. Mrs. J. G. Vlestra securing the band. Mrs. Murphy was awarded the consolation, while Mrs. J. J. McCarthy carried off the booby. The next meeting of the club will occur at the home of Mrs. John Jacobson, at No. 12 N. Devillier street.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN WHALEY ARE IN THE CITY.
 Mr. and Mrs. John Whaley have arrived in the city and are guests of the parents of the former, Rev. and Mrs. Percival Whaley, on North Spring street. Mr. and Mrs. Whaley are on their honeymoon trip, and will be welcomed in local society, where the groom has been popular since his boyhood.

The bride, who was Miss Lyon, of Hopkinsville, Kentucky, is a charming young lady and is being admired by all. The recent wedding, in fact, was one of the social events of the season in the gay little city of Hopkinsville, and the young people will return to their home city to be the centre of a round of gay events which are to be planned in their honor.

PROF. SEELE IN GRACEFUL COMPLIMENT.
 Prof. Seele, assisted by his fine orchestra, will do much toward making "School Days" interesting tomorrow night at the opera house, as he has offered the very pretty compliment to the Junior Gardeners by playing throughout the pretty play, his services, and those of his assistants, to be absolutely gratis.

The favor, it is needless to say, is much appreciated by those who are closely identified with the play, and upon whom its success, in a large measure, depends.

NO MEETING OF SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.
 On account of the absence of President Serrill from the city, there will be no meeting tomorrow afternoon of the School Improvement Association. The last rehearsal for "School Days," which occurs tomorrow afternoon, will also prevent any meeting of the sort, and it has been considered advisable to take an indefinite postponement.

SACRED HEART CHURCH EVENT WAS SUCCESS.
 The ladies of the Sacred Heart church conducted a pretty sale last night at the Keyser building, many attractive articles suitable for Xmas gifts having been on display. Refreshments were served, and a large number took advantage of the good cheer offered at the hands of the ladies. A satisfactory sum was realized as a result of the event.

PERSONAL MENTION.
 Miss Hilda Blount is among her local friends again, having returned from a pleasant visit with friends in New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Lamar left yesterday for New Orleans.
 Mrs. C. W. Oliver and children have returned from a pleasant visit with friends in St. Louis.
 Mr. B. Wolf has returned from New Orleans.

Mrs. A. D. Berry and children left yesterday for Selma, where they will be the guests of relatives.

 Mrs. W. R. Gonzalez is entertaining her sister, Mrs. Chas. Gonzalez, of Bohemia.

Mrs. M. A. Smith is enjoying a visit from her son, Mr. B. Smith.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.
 Hoies in plaster walls may be stopped with a mixture of sand and plaster of paris mixed into a paste with water. When dry cover with a piece of paper to match the walls.

Carpets should be beaten on the wrong side first and then, more gently, on the right. Never put a carpet down on a damp floor, for this often results in the carpet becoming mildewed.

When cleaning pantry shelves fold together at least three sheets of newspaper the longest way of the full sheet. Place the fold to the front of the shelf; fit carefully and when next clean papers are needed slip a silver knife in the fold of the outer sheet, cut along the entire length and remove the soiled part. In this way your shelves may be cleaned often and with little labor.

A square of household flannel of the stoutest and coarsest description made into a bag and put over the broom is the best means of sweeping boards or linoleum. When slightly dampened it takes up instead of scattering the dust.

To make beeswax place comb in a coarse muslin bag and put a small stone to weight the contents; put in kettle, cover with water and boil. The wax comes to the top of the water and the sediment remains in the bottom of kettle. Remove wax when cold.

To remove grease spots from wall paper, sprinkle baking soda over blotting paper, place over the spot, and press a moderately warm iron against it for a few minutes. The blotting paper will absorb the grease, and the paper on the wall be free from spots.

Scraps of meat "leftovers" may be utilized by chopping fine and adding enough water to cover, then cooking a few minutes with a little salt, butter and pepper. Taken as you would gravy. Line muffin or gem tins with pie crust and bake, then fill with "mixture" and serve hot.

If one has a bedroom wall on which butresses or certain varieties of flowers predominate as a decorative figure then rugs, following this same idea, are easily made to order at any of the places where this work is done. A genuinely effective and unusual rag rug had butterflies of pale yellowish and brown across the border of a yellowish and brown rug. The butterflies looked as though they had been worked in afterward, for they were a closer weave than the body of the rug. The same idea was carried out in a bird design for a border on a studio rug. For dens and studios these quaint floor mats are most attractive.

It is not obligatory to answer wedding invitations to a church wedding nor is it necessary to send a gift. One can do so, however, and it is probably always best to write a letter of congratulation and send a small gift, providing the friendship is of long standing. There are no hard and fast rules governing such cases, since many church weddings are partially private, with the understanding that interested friends and acquaintances can be present, if they so desire. Invitations to a home wedding, if not including a reception card, do not necessarily need to be answered, although most persons do answer them. When the invitation to the wedding and reception is extended, the recipient should send a gift on the day of the wedding and be present or send regrets.

The spangled or sequined scarfs are in great demand for neckwear, and the girl who is quick at spangling or beading can make one of these at little cost.

Buy figured, dotted or ringed net in black or white, in a supple quality. Outline each figure, dot or ring with gold beads or tiny sequins, and you have the effect of the Syrian scarfs which cost from $15 to $20.

These are heavy and suitable for theatre-goers of rather mature years. The younger girl should content herself with a long, soft scarf of chiffon cloth or figured net, trimmed with lace, or best of all, fine crepe de chine in delicate colorings.

The latter may have deep hems with the owner's monogram embroidered in self-tone on one end.

FOR MILADY BEAUTIFUL.
 With elaborate afternoon and evening gowns sleeves that are strapped with the material of the gown over lace are a good deal used.

 Hat pins are huge and costly.
 Fancy waistcoats for men are popular.

Plain and chased gold bracelets are popular.
 No end of braid is used on fashionable gowns.
 The appreciation of soutache is greater than ever.

Fur hats are very pretty in new shapes and styles.
 Coats are long and they were never of more graceful cut.

A great deal of swansdowne is used to trim the black hats.
 The belt and bag set is one of the fancies of the season.

Plaited ribbon trimmings appear on the directoire coats.
 Gold tinsel is much employed on evening and dinner gowns.

The colored net waistcoat is one of the novelties of the day.
 Dyed in every available tint, the ostrich plume still holds sway.

Black coats and gray, brown coats and blue, are all to have colored collars.
 The thradom of the "touch of black" is more apparent than ever before.

The bracelet is now often substituted for the ring as a symbol of betrothal.
 The mourning veil of today, though of crepe, is not heavy and is not stiff.

Black and white is likely to be an enduring favorite through another season.
 The great breadth of the crown of the new hats makes the brim appear moderate.

Trimmings on velvet have a certain degree of novelty and in all cases are effective.
 A new boot has patent leather vamps, braided cloth tops and two-inch Cuban heels.

Some skirts are made with the high empire corselet belt in taffetas, generally in black.
 Many blouses are made without collars to accommodate the many becoming neck fixtures.

For actual warmth the goat skin and o'possum coats, lined with cloth, are very successful.
 Big pigskin, warus or leather auto bags, ten by twelve inches, are seen in the shops.

One of the handsomest coats seen this season was made of broadtail in directoire style.
 A run that portends some success has commenced on amber, both the clever and smoked varieties, short necklaces of large, even-sized beads having recently created a furore.

One result of the insistent exploiting of the directoire styles is the long hanging ruffle which is found attached to the bottom of the sleeve and falling over and almost concealing the hand.

Neck fixings this year seem to have been planned to give women swan-like necks—far leaving aside the quallings of ribbon and full ruches. Everything has a long-drawn-out and slender effect.

Little novelty stocks, often copied from French models, are one of the most striking features of the season. They are charmingly made up of ribbon of almost any fur—even pointed fox and black lynx.

The prominence of the high-boned collar in all costumes and separate waists except those strictly for evening wear, together with the application of some form of high collar to street suits and out-door wraps, is a new feature to this season's modes.

A very noteworthy characteristic of the silk flit net blouse is its simplicity. The net is very coarse, in beautiful old-world shades, embroidered clever and round, overlapping tucks being their sole adornment.

One of the newest ribbons is satin-moire—satin on one side and moire on the other. Others are moire with and satin stripes, Roman stripes and satin with large self-colored spots, both Persian and Oriental patterns. There are also Jaquard prints, combined with flowers and foliage.

Danderine

Grows Hair and we can PROVE IT!

The Great DANDERINE Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results.

It enlivens and invigorates the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, resulting in a continuous and increasing growth of the hair.

Letters of praise are continually coming in from nearly all parts of the country stating that Danderine has removed the growth of hair in cases that were considered absolutely hopeless.

A lady from Brooklyn writes: "After a short trial my hair stopped falling, and I now have a lovely head of hair, very thick and over one and a quarter yards long."

Danderine stimulates the scalp, makes it healthy and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp invigorator known. It is a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a small bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

Free To show how quickly Danderine acts, we will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the Kew-Forest Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address of hair, very thick and over one and a quarter yards long.

FINE ORANGES AND POTATOES

West Florida Products Make Good Shownig in Quantity and Quality.

The Journal's agricultural editor was treated to two fine samples of West Florida's productive soil yesterday in the shape of a fine basket of sweet potatoes and an equally fine sack of oranges.

The sweet potatoes were grown by Phil Jones on W. L. Morgan & Bro's place north of the city. There were 18 of them, all from one hill, and they weighed 20 pounds. Not a bad showing in a sweet potato way for any soil or climate, but West Florida's soil and climate for sweet potatoes can't be beat.

The sack of oranges were brought in by Capt. John Rourke of Bagdad, who picked them from the trees of Mrs. Lee, who lives on Trout Bayou, across the bay, about ten miles east of Pensacola. Mrs. Lee has about 25 or 30 trees, says Capt. Rourke, which have never had any particular care, but which are now loaded down with golden fruit. The oranges, when compared with the south Florida product, are far superior both in appearance and taste. Capt. Rourke says that Mr. Otis, at Mulat, also has some very fine trees that are full of fruit.

The Journal's Daily Fashion Feature

EVENING FROCK FOR YOUNG GIRL.
 Pale blue crepe de chine was used for the charming little gown here pictured, but the model could be very successfully carried out in other colorings or materials. The skirt was short and was untrimmed, and stitched in flat plaits to below the hip line. The bodice was simple but very effective in design, and was trimmed with narrow fold scarfs of bias pale blue satin, which were tipped through buttonholes slashed in the crepe. These scarfs were finished with tassel ornament in silver. The yoke was of white tulle, with a lace design in hoisiton braid.
