Mrs. N. H. Cramer and daughter, Miss Ethel, from New Mexico, arrived in Fort Pierce last night, and intend to make this place their future home. Mrs. Cramer's husband is a brother of Harry Cramer, and is a half owner in the Cramer plantation west of town. He will join his family here sometime next year.

The many friends in Fort Pierce of T. P. Howes, will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of his sister, Miss Pattie Howes to Mr. Cornelius Christiancy, in Dennis, Mass. Monday, Oct. 21st. Mr. and Mrs. Christiancy will be in Florida after a short visit in Boston and New York.

The New Smyrna Breeze of last week stated that Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Fairweather, former residents of Jensen, celebrated their twelfth anniversary of their marriage last Saturday by giving a picnic on the river shore to a number of friends. It was a pleasant affair and the guests all wished them many pleasant returns of the day.

O. O. Poppleton, who is the acknowledged leader in the bee keeping business in this section, will soon locate his bees on Key Largo. Mr. Poppleton moves his bees on a large boat built for the purpose and can by this means keep his swarms on new ground at all times. The winter months are ideal for the bees on Key Largo as the black mangrove continues to bloom there throughout the year.—Tropical Sun.

The Fort Pierce Laundry, which has been owned and operated by P. E. Watkins for nearly two years, was sold this week to Robert Gorman and Mrs. W. T. Harbin, who have taken charge. Mr. Watkins has no definite plans for the future, but will remain with the new proprietors for a couple of weeks. He requests us to announce that all laundry on hand that is not called for before he leaves will be sold for charges.

Last Friday S. G. VanLandingham, Sr., had quite a severe fall from his bicycle. He was crossing the railroad in South Miami at Avenue G, where the approaches to the crossing are somewhat steep. Under the strain of going up the incline some portion of the bicycle broke and Mr. VanLandingham received a fall which resulted in a cut in the temple so severe that his physician found it necessary to take a stitch or two. Otherwise Mr. VanLandingham is suffering no inconvenience.—Miami News.
