DAYTONA BEACH —Volunteers for the effort to promote the 2010 U.S. Census in Daytona Beach are going to take a multi-pronged approach. The concerned citizens have formed several committees that target social organizations, media, homeowners associations, businesses and education. At the kickoff, Betty Goodman, of the Mayor's Census Awareness Team, stressed the importance of getting a complete census count in the city. "There's a lot riding on this," she said. "More than $400 billion in federal funds will be distributed based on census figures. We in Daytona Beach can get our share."

The groups will meet regularly until Census Day, April 1, 2010, to plan promotions and activities to increase c e n s u s

Increase in county garbage fees rankles residents

By Wayne Grant
wgrant@hometownnewsol.com

ORMOND-BY-THE-SEA — Residents of unincorporated areas of Volusia County were surprised when they were notified about a 50-percent increase in fees for waste collection recently.

Officials say a fee increase this large should not happen again.

At a recent public forum on budget issues at Riverview Methodist Church in Ormond-by-the-Sea, the waste collection fee came up quickly. Volusia County Councilman Carl Persis explained that the previous $132 annual rate was in effect for five years and was never increased even when the cost of collecting waste went up.

"It would have been better if we had increased the fee $5 per year," he said.

Mr. Persis said an auditor discovered that the fee was not covering the cost of the service.

Dave Byron, Volusia

County government spokesman, said the County had to pay the contractor higher fees because of the rising cost of fuel and other items.

Rather than go to the Commission and ask for a higher rate to customers, Solid Waste management borrowed money from the landfill fund to make up the difference, Mr. Byron said.

"These are tough economic times," Mr. Byron said. "People hesitate to raise fees," he said.

Mr. Persis said the amount borrowed from the landfill account came to $3 million.

The County Council voted recently to raise the fee to cover the current cost and also pay back the landfill.

The auditor had recommended that the landfill be paid back because money might be needed eventually to build a new landfill.

County Manager Jim Dinneen said the debt to the landfill will be paid back in two years.

"A new contract will come out in 2011, and a new fee will be assessed based on the cost of service," he said.

The increase was first determined to be $197. It was changed to $190 after the Council turned down an "unusual cost adjustment" for fuel requested by the contractor, Mr. Byron said.

Mr. Byron said that fee assessments approved by the County Council now include an automatic escalator to cover rising costs, to prevent having to make up a deficit with one big increase.

Stimulus money provides summer jobs for students

By Wayne Grant
wgrant@hometownnewsol.com

DAYTONA BEACH — A federal program, called the Paid Summer Experience, came just in time for Robert Schiffer-Ross, 17, of Daytona Beach.

The program, coordinated by the Center for Business Excellence, provided training and summer jobs to at-risk youth. It was financed by the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.

"I was looking for a job for a year and was starting to get worried because my girlfriend and I have a two-year-old baby," he said.

"We didn't know if we would be able to buy formula. And then my probation officer told me about this program," he said.

The couple live with his mother.

"My mother works but we needed more money," he said.

Like many of the young people in the summer program, this was his first job.

"I found out I love to work," he said. "It puts money in my pocket."

Mr. Schiffer-Ross said the training he received in the program will help him in the future.

"I feel more confident.

They taught me a lot about how to get a job and how to be a good employee," he said.

It turned out to be more than just a summer job, Halifax Harbor Marina has offered him a permanent landscaping position.

Mr. Schiffer-Ross said having a job will enable him to go to Daytona State University and get his GED and possibly a college diploma.

Christine Sikora of the Center for Business Excellence said the program not only helped hundreds of young people, it provided Leigh Osta and her daughter Fiona of Port Orange walk by the Casements in Ormond Beach recently. Renovations of the historic structure are expected to be complete by late fall.

Public can leave their mark at The Casements

By Wayne Grant
wgrant@hometownnewsol.com

ORMOND BEACH — The public has an opportunity to be part of history in Ormond Beach.

For a fee, people can have a message engraved on a "legacy brick" that will be placed in a new courtyard being constructed at the Casements as part of the current renovations.

The cost is $75 for a 4-by-8 inch brick and $150 for an 8-by-8 inch brick.

The legacy bricks are part of the Casement Guild's fundraising efforts for the historic structure.

Member Phyllis Lowry said the bricks will be a lasting memorial.

"They will be there forever," she said.

People are placing all kinds of messages on the bricks, she said.

"We had a couple place a message marking their wedding date. People are placing memorials for a loved one," she said. "On the larger bricks you can list every member of your family."

Recently, she said, a bride had a brick engraved and is going to surprise her new spouse after the ceremony.

Some people are purchasing bricks just to support the Casements.

"It gives people a chance to give something to the community," she said.

The courtyard will be landscaped, have seating and will be shaded by a large tree, Ms. Lowry said.

"It will be quite a lovely place," she said. "We may get the garden club involved."

Double doors from the gallery area will open onto the courtyard, expanding possibilities for events.

"It will be a nice place for a reception or small party," Ms. Lowry said. The renovation of the Casements is still expected to be completed by late fall.

The annual Christmas Gala this year will be in Rockefeller Gardens rather than inside the Casements building, Ms. Lowry said.

"We weren't sure if the Casements would be finished," she said.

The gala, set for the first weekend in December, will include a tree lighting, carriage rides, Santa and his elves, food, art and live entertainment.

Also new this year is that the gala will be free.

"That's our gift to the community," Ms. Lowry said.

Legacy bricks will be available even after construction of the courtyard is completed. Blank bricks will be installed for future messages.

Charter school for autistic students set to open

By Jamye Durrance
Durrance@hometownnewsol.com

VOLUSIA COUNTY — Mimi Lundell held the brightly colored poster up against the wall and took a small step back, eyeing the edges, her eyes darting up and down, back and forth.

"If it's not straight, they will tell me," she said before stapling it to the wall.

"They" are the six students of the Chase Academy, Volusia County's first school exclusively for autistic students, which will be opening Aug. 24 in South Daytona.

On a recent weekday morning, Ms. Lundell, the school's executive director, was hard at work in a classroom inside the Community of Christ Church getting things together for the students.

Her excitement is understandable. This would be her third attempt to get the school going, a dream she's had since her 10-year-old autistic son Chase was born.

"This time we had help from the community members," the Ormond Beach resident said. "That made the difference."

The school recently received its authorization from the Florida Department of Education and is already taking students up to middle school.

According to the Autism Society of America's Web site, autism occurs in one out of 150 births in the United States. It is a complex neurological disorder that impairs a person's ability to communicate and socialize. There are various spectrums of autism, with each person showing different capabilities.

Ms. Lundell, a former Volusia County School teacher for more than a decade, said even though Chase was in special classes, she didn't think he was getting the proper attention for him to succeed.

Ms. Lundell said autistic children are smart, they just learn in a different way and their social skills often inhibit them from pursuing interaction or more learning. For example, they might be able to solve math problems but cannot tie their shoes.

Public and private schools accept autistic children, but they are often placed into a classroom with students with a variety of learning disabilities or other special needs. They tend to get lost in the shuffle, Ms. Lundell said.

"(They) fit into a model that underserves them, there's a big crack in the system," she said.

Being able to work exclusively with only autistic students will eliminate any problems, Ms. Lundell said.

"Our focus is on the student's known cognitive disability," she said. "They have the capacity, they just have to get there."

That's something Daytona Beach mom Karen Larson is happy about.

Her son, Skylar, 7, will be attending Chase Academy.

"We really wanted a place where he can learn at his level," Ms. Larson said. "We want to have the best for Skylar."

Ms. Larson said Chase Academy is long overdue.

"We've been praying for this for a long time," she said. "I had to quit my job to take care of Skylar. It's been challenging and disheartening. To have something like this is really exciting."

Ms. Lundell said her goal is to ultimately have Chase Academy teach students all the way to high school, a process that will require accreditation.

"We're looking four years out," she said.

Getting autistic students a real diploma versus the typical certificate of completion is important to Ms. Lundell.

According to the Autism Society of America's Web site, autistic adults cost the United States $90 billion a year in care, including disability checks and social services. That number is expected to more than double over the next decade.

Ms. Lundell said if they were properly educated and had an opportunity to go to college that number would decline.

She wants Chase to be able to become a chef, his current dream.

"They need to be put in the best position," she said. "My goal is to let every child have the best and most opportunity to be economically viable on their own."

In addition to learning all the academic basics, students at the Chase Academy will also learn social skills.

"We will put forth the effort to help them assimilate so they are comfortable within society," she said.

Ms. Lundell will be one of two teachers at the school. Both are certified exceptional student education teachers and have autism endorsement within Florida. There will also be a behavioral specialist on staff.

"We have to be on the mark," she said. "These kids cannot afford for us to not be on the mark."

Since the Chase Academy is only in its early stages, there aren't any grants available to keep it going. Right now, they are relying only on donations and the $11,000 per student tuition. Ms. Lundell said there are still many things the school needs and donations are always accepted.

Local entrepreneur says art helps heal

By Wayne Grant
wgrant@hometownnewsol.com

ORMOND BEACH — A visit to a doctor's office or hospital can be nerve-racking, especially if you're waiting to get a diagnosis or test results.

Judith Stein of Ormond Beach says the stress and anxiety that people feel can be reduced with the healing power of art.

Her new business, Creative Artists Network, sells art to health care facilities that is designed to create a relaxing atmosphere.

Ms. Stein said she first realized the importance of art when she worked as director of communications for the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md.

"We had a large research facility and had art everywhere," she said. "They were very aware of how art can affect patients and their families."

She has also seen a need for more appropriate art through personal observation.

"I'm sure I'm not the only one who has waited nervously in a doctor's office, and instead of looking at something that would ease your anxiety, you're looking at a chart of the digestive system or something," she said.

After retiring, Ms. Stein moved to Ormond Beach about two years ago.

Her business began when she started helping her sister, Harriet Blum, market her photography.

"Harriet has been very successful in placing art in health care settings," she said.

One such setting is the Breast Center of Acadiana in Lafayette, La.

The administrator at the Center, Linda Rose, said the results have been remarkable.

"The women who come here are anxious and nervous," she said. "We want to create an environment of care, serenity and comfort and lessen the anxiety."

Ms. Rose said they have had positive comments from patients.

"Harriet's work is beautiful and has a feeling of home. We have her art in every room," Ms. Rose said. "It makes a difference to the patients and we feel good about that."

Ms. Blum often visits the Ormond Beach area and her photographs include scenes from the Loop and other well-known locations.

In addition to health care institutions, Ms. Stein also sells art for corporate and residential settings.

Art from the Creative Artists Network hangs in the local law office of Snell Legal on West Granada Boulevard.

office.

"We wanted a positive feel in the office and art that reflects the local area," he said.

Ms. Stein started her business a few months ago and represents six artists, including local artist Scott Hiestand, and plans to add a seventh artist soon.

Their work can be seen on her Web site, creativeartistsnetwork.net.

"It's all art that I love," she said. "I've admired some of these artists for 20 years."

The six artists present a wide variety, from acrylic paintings to digital art.

Ms. Blum said the Web site has given her a lot of exposure.

"Some artists are good at marketing their own work but a lot of them need help," she said.

Ms. Stein said she started the new business because of her enjoyment in working with artists.

"I love the art. I love the artists I represent and I want to help them," she said. "And I want other people to enjoy their art."

ICI Homes unveils new incentive offer

ICI Homes, which ranks as one of the nation's largest privately owned homebuilders, has announced its latest homebuyer incentive, a scratch-off promotion with more than 3,000 prizes.

Contestants must take a model home tour to receive a ticket.

Rosemary Messina, vice president of sales and marketing for ICI Homes, said everyone who registers at any ICI Homes community in the state will win either a seven-day, six-night vacation getaway, a weekend getaway, a beach chair or a gift from the ICI Homes' treasure chest.

Major scratch-off prizes range from a $5,000 landscaping package to up to $100,000 off the price of a new home in any of the ICI Homes communities.

Volusia County communities that ICI Homes builds in and where visitors can register for the buyer incentive are Waters Edge in Port Orange, Plantation Bay, Chelsea Place and Breakaway Trails in Ormond Beach.

Ms. Messina said the ICI Homes $100,000 scratch-off runs through Oct. 31, and anyone 18 and older who registers is eligible to win.

After a model home tour is completed, participants will receive their scratch-off ticket, Ms. Messina said.

response.

Population figures based on the census determine how much federal money goes to cities for programs like Head Start, food grants, public transportation, road construction, programs for the elderly, etc.

Also, census figures next year will determine the number of seats each state has in the House of Representatives.

States use the totals to redraw their legislative districts.

The goal is to get a higher response to the U.S. Census than was received in 2000.

The response rate that year was 59 percent, as compared to 67 percent for Volusia County and 63 percent nationwide.

Ms. Goodman said a successful census count will require a big effort.

"They say it takes a village to raise a child," she told the volunteers at the kickoff meeting. "It's going to take all of you and others to get done what we need to do. Daytona Beach needs to get its share."

Jose Martinez of the U.S. Census Bureau said next year the census questionnaire will be the shortest in history, requiring only name, gender, age, race, ethnicity, relationship, and home ownership.

This should make it easier, but many people are very concerned about security and are suspicious of government, he said.

"We have to make sure people realize the census is important, safe and confidential," he said.

Mr. Martinez said the goal will be to count "every living soul."

Enumerators will be going to shelters and outdoor locations to get a count of the homeless.

The census count can also be difficult in gated communities and secured buildings, he said.

Mr. Martinez said 95 percent of census responses are received by mail.

The questionnaires will be mailed in March, 2010.

Schools save energy, $

By Wayne Grant

wgrant@hometownnewsol.com

VOLUSIA COUNTY — It turns out that turning out lights and removing coffee pots can really save money.

Volusia County Schools has reported that the energy management program that started last summer reduced electricity consumption enough to save $2 million during the past school year.

One of the measures taken was having teachers and school staff remove personal appliances.

Nancy Wait, community information director, said there were some complaints at first, but people adapted to the change.

"It was worthwhile to do. We had thousands and thousands of personal appliances," she said.

A "dark campus" policy required lights to be turned off at night but there was no increased vandalism, Ms. Wait said.

"We have people who patrol and have security systems on the buildings," she said.

Other energy-saving measures included turning off computers and issuing guidelines for setting thermostats.

It was easy to make sure lights and computers were turned off, she said, because they are centrally controlled by the district.

The school district reported the following reductions in energy consumption: high schools 23.1 percent, middle schools 17.4 percent, and elementary schools 15.9 percent.

David Michael Fitzgerald

Crime Stoppers of Northeast Florida is seeking information on the whereabouts of David Michael Fitzgerald, 45. Fitzgerald has been living in the Daytona Beach area and is required to register with the state as a sex offender as a result of two convictions for sex offenses in Michigan. On Aug. 12, 2009, a local judge issued a warrant for Fitzgerald's arrest on a charge that he failed to comply with Florida's sex offender laws that require him to obtain a driver's license or ID card identifying him as a sex offender. The warrant calls for Fitzgerald to be taken into custody and held on $5,000 bond. Fitzgerald is a transient who has been living in the Daytona Beach area, and his present whereabouts are unknown. He's 6-feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds and has brown hair and blue eyes. If you see Fitzgerald or know where he is, don't attempt to apprehend him. Anyone with information regarding Fitzgerald's whereabouts is asked to call Crime Stoppers toll-free at (888) 277-TIPS. You can also Text your tip by texting "TIP231 plus your message" to CRIMES. Anyone who provides information to Crime Stoppers will remain anonymous and can qualify for a reward of up to $1,000.

Mail should be checked

The United States Postal Service in Daytona Beach has been delivering my mail to an Ormond Beach resident with a similar name for the past two years.

I am disabled and use a wheelchair. My caregiver has been to the post office downtown and spoke to the man in charge. He assured me it would be rectified as soon as possible.

They blame the postal service in Jacksonville. The addressee in question has been kind enough to tell me that he has my mail and has forwarded it to me, but again my mail was returned to him.

My life insurance policy was nearly cancelled because I missed the due date to be paid.

I have a check coming each month and my greatest concern is if that check does not arrive, I will have absolutely no money.

What defines a hate group?

For over a year a group, calling themselves "Raven," posing as Christians, has been showing up around the Seabreeze bar district, mostly at Razzles, to harass the patrons.

They call out, using an amplifier, "sinners, repent, burn in hell" at people going into and leaving the club.

The leaders appear to be in their 30s, the followers often of high school and even, this past weekend, of elementary school age.

They are judging the patrons and casting verbal stones at them because the club patrons do not share their values.

Most of the club patrons think they are comical and laugh at and about them. A few are offended by the epithets they screech.

I have two concerns. When the police department is busy chasing everyone home after the club closes these people are allowed to stay. Why the special treatment?

Most hate group members get angrier when they are basically ignored or cannot get others to adopt their values. Then violence occurs.

Is Raven much different from these groups?

Smith makes for great reading

Dan Smith's article "The slower pace of summertime makes for easy living" was truly a beautiful piece of writing. I clipped it for a reread.

How many calls does it take?

How many calls does it take for the Edgewater Police Department to actually respond to the numerous drivers who speed down Wildwood Ave?

My neighbors and I are tired of yelling for them to slow down.

We have even offered for the police to park their cars in our driveways.

The city has said no to much-needed speed bumps.

I speak for myself and my neighbors who are taxpayers, homeowners, and tired of Edgewater Police Department not doing anything about it.

Who should you believe about Edgewater's vision?

I cannot get over the gall of some of these blow-hards in Edgewater that want to pull the wool over everyone's eyes all the time.

The article you had in the Hometown News that talks about Edgewater's efforts to develop an economic development plan is pure hogwash.

The real reasons businesses don't move to Edgewater are a variety of reasons, not the least of which is the high tax rate currently in Edgewater, and the even higher tax rate that is being proposed for the coming year.

The city had a visioning session a few years ago that identified some major goals and objectives for the city in planning the future of Edgewater and even enlisted the help of Marilyn Crotty, a highly respected business consultant affiliated with the Florida Institute of Government at the University of Central Florida. The City and taxpayers paid for this visioning session with honest, hard-earned tax dollars.

Guns galore

Jessika Jackson of the Daytona Beach Police Department checks in several BB-guns that Journey Wilt (right) collected from Girl Scout Troop 403 of Sanford, as Police Chief Michael Chitwood looks on during the Kicks for Guns program last week. A total of 356 guns were collected by the police department for destruction. The Daytona Beach Police Department and the Weed and Seed Program sponsored the event.

Compare this with the most recent visioning session where developers funded it and the audience was stacked with developer stooges and special interest groups all wanting to provide a "vision" for Edgewater. What an absolute joke.

When you compare the efforts, I think I would believe the efforts of a respected person such as Marilyn Crotty over the efforts of a developer/special interest funded "visioning session" any day of the week.

To the Edgewater City Council I say, stop trying to deceive the taxpayers and voters! That's not what you were elected to do.

Take care of your distribution locations

I would like to comment on some New Smyrna Beach eyesores that may occur in other communities.

First, there are plastic bags blowing all over the place. What happened to recycling?

Next is the boxes containing free booklets. These boxes are never maintained and neither is the area around the boxes. The booklets often fall out onto the ground, then the booklets get wet when it rains. Someone obviously refills the boxes, but these people cannot take a minute to pickup the trash that these boxes generate? This is really pitiful. Some locations have more than one box with the same booklet. I really don't think that is necessary.

In response to 'Ban smoking on the beach'

After reading the rant about banning cigarettes on the beach because of the mess, I couldn't avoid writing. Instead of a continually griping about this on the beach, let's just ban all humans from the beach. That way we won't have any cigarette butts, no plastic bags, no plastic cups, no broken toys left, no one riding their bikes, no beach concessions and none of the rentals that they offer.

That is just how ridiculous your rant is. While I don't smoke, and I don't like seeing any trash left on the beach, we cannot continue to make ban after ban after ban. You cannot expect our overworked beach patrol to watch for drowning victims, ticket drivers going to fast, get people to turn down their radios, stop drunks from causing problems and now clean up after people who have never been taught respect?

Do you honestly think that by banning something it will stop? That is just an invitation for many to see if they can get away with it.

We cannot be intimidated by nonsense

When Bill Clinton was president anyone who disagreed with him was branded a liar.

Now that it is finally dawning on the American people that we have a socialist in the White House, the liberals are predictably, dragging out their last weapon.

If you disagree with President Barack Obama, you are not only a liar, but also a racist, and if anyone dares to voice their objection, they are to be reported.

We must not allow ourselves to be intimidated by this nonsense. We the people must wise up before it is too late.

Government should not control health care

I object to the government deciding who does or does not get health care. The responsibility of health care rationing belongs in the hands of the corporate profiteers who run the health insurance companies.

Why change it?

Don't worry about government health care

To those concerned about the Federal government administering our health care, take a moment to review the superb resume of the Federal government: Amtrak, postal service, Medicaid, and Medicare.

Why worry?

Health care just a diversion from spending

While we have some here concerned about cigarette butts and vanity plates, we are facing some real national disasters. Our president was supposedly elected because he promised he would get us out of the war and do a "line by line" review of the federal budget.

It should be pretty obvious those were lies as he has done the exact opposite.

Now all we hear about is how President Barack Obama wants to give us all healthcare.

In reality, he and Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi could care less about our healthcare.

This is all about another government takeover and getting further control of our wallets and us.

The timing is to draw attention from his failed pork and welfare stimulus package that has done nothing other than retain bloated, costly government payrolls.

Has anyone seen any road or bridge improvements started yet?

Also it is to draw attention away from to his planned cap and tax scam.

If President Obama's administration really wanted to cut foreign oil dependency, they would have put in an immediate increase in the federal gas tax.

Instead, besides the upcoming tax scam, we are spending $3 billion to provide welfare to mostly foreign cars, showing just how clueless they are.

Health care scam is incredibly bad

We are going to dump 46 million people, of which 25 percent can't speak English, into the health care system before we have an increase in doctors, nurses and hospitals.

Obviously this will cause long waits, just as they have in Canada, including for seniors who President Barack Obama says will not be affected.

There is no plan to cap frivolous lawsuits, which cost us billions.

Every attempt to put specific wording in to not provide illegal immigrants with freebies has been blocked by Speaker of the House Nancy Pelosi's lap dogs, so you can forget that savings.

If President Obama really wanted to help you with health care costs, he would immediately re-instate the tax deduction for medical premiums they took away.

They would require all who qualify for medical coverage from their employers to take it.

Just these two things would dramatically reduce costs to us.

No reminder to how many lives are lost

During President George W. Bush's administration, a gentleman met us at the entrance to the Ormond Wal-mart to let us know how many of our brave soldiers had made the supreme sacrifice.

Since the new administration has taken over it is apparently OK for our soldiers to die, because this gentleman has suddenly disappeared, and we are no longer being informed as to how many have lost their lives in Afghanistan.

Government needs to regulate drivers

Almost every day somebody dies in an auto accident, but yet, the government continues to allow people to operate automobiles uncontrolled and virtually unregulated on our roadways.

Something should be done about this before another person dies.

Dogs should not be on beach

Please do not allow dogs on our beautiful beaches.

Dogs are better than humans

I hope they do allow dogs on Volusia County beaches. My dog is a very well behaved, clean little dog. I make sure he is always on a leash, and he has done his business before he goes near a beach. There is never a problem with him. When I walk on the beach I see all kinds of litter left from humans, and I don't see how dogs can possibly be as bad as a human. Obviously, there should be leash laws, and there should be fines for people who don't control their dogs. I think dogs are going to be better, than people who leave their trash all the time.

ORMOND BEACH

Beware: several scams making their way around area

By Officer Pommel Scalf HHPD
For Hometown News

Citizens should be aware that criminals can find an opportunity to turn them into victims nearly any circumstance! Right now there are several financial scams being operated that are particularly evil. These scammers are taking advantage of the troubled economic times and the technology that is readily available.

in the time specified. The gold has been melted down; the victim has a check in hand for pennies-on-the-dollar; and no recourse they can afford to pursue. Solution: If you want to sell jewelry or precious metals, take them to several reputable local dealers to have them appraised. Compare these appraisals against the published market price and make a deal for the best offer.

are becoming more clever every day; finding new ways to separate victims from their money. In any real estate deal, meet face to face and verify who you're dealing with!

The Holly Hill Police Department conducts Crime Prevention and Awareness training free of charge on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month at Sica Hall located at 1065 Daytona Avenue, Holly Hill, FL 32117.

For more information contact Officer Rommel Scalf at 386-248-9419 or e-mail him at Crime-Watch@HollyHillFL.org. You can also follow the department on Twitter at www.Twitter.com/Holly-HillPolice.

No. 1:

"Government Grants" Scam – Newspaper, magazine, Internet and mass media advertisements "guarantee" access to grant money and Federal Government stimulus program funds. They require the victim to send "application" or "processing" fees of as much as $500 to $1,000. If they do respond; and don't simply take the money and run; they may send copies of genuine application forms that would have been available FREE from the official Government websites. Solution: Check the official sites for any supposed "Government" programs. If it is real, they will have an official site and the information will be free.

No. 2:

"Mystery Shopper" Scam – Classified ads for persons wishing to be "Mystery Shoppers" promise big money for easy work. They send a check for several thousand dollars to the person who answers the ad. They instruct the victim to cash the check, make a purchase or several purchases locally; keep $50 - $100 for the assignment; and wire the remainder of the funds back to another address with a report on customer service, value, etc. The check was worthless. The bank will legally charge back the worthless check to the victim. The victim has spent money from their own account they could not spare, and wired the rest to a money transfer station where someone picks it up immediately and disappears. Solution: Nothing is free or easy. If it is too good to be true; it isn't true! A genuine "mystery shopper" is a regular employee that has attended training on evaluation criteria, company policies, documentation requirements, completed a W2 and gets paid like any other employee since they work for the company they evaluate.

No. 3:

"Cash-for-Gold" Scam – For every offer to "send in your unwanted gold" there are complaints and unsatisfied victims. The companies offer to send the victim a check within a short period of time, and even offer to provide the envelope and pay shipping and handling! When the check arrives, it is for pennies on the dollar for the actual value of the weight of gold sent. The fine print reveals their appraiser sets the value and you have only a limited time to cancel the deal. The trick is that they don't usually send the check until it is impossible to receive it and comply with their rules to decline the transaction

No. 4:

"Instant Credit Repair" Scam – The scammer offers to challenge all negative credit entries and have them removed from the victim's file. A fee is charged and payment must be made in advance. The scammer does challenge all negative entries; and they are in fact removed. However; this is a normal procedure for all credit reporting services receiving a challenge to a negative report. Once the negative item has been verified as accurate it will be replaced in the victim's file. The "instant" fix has been reversed and the victim's money is gone. Solution: Use any extra money to pay off debts and settle outstanding accounts. There is no "instant" fix for past problems, timely and consistent payments on an agreed upon time table is the only true repair avenue.

No. 5:

"Work at Home" Scam – Ads for persons to stuff envelopes, assemble items, or ship products are also plentiful. They ask a victim to send money up front for supplies and shipping costs; promising they will be reimbursed based on their productivity. The scam is that there is no reimbursement coming, the victim may not even receive any "supplies." Their money is gone. Solution: Once again; if it is too good to be true; it isn't true! Never take a job that requires you to pay them! Employees work for someone who pays them to do a job, not the other way around!

No. 6:

"Rent or Lease Property" Scam – The scammer locates an address that is actually available for rent or lease. They advertise the property as if it is their own on Craig's List or a similar Internet site. The victim responds and provides their personal credit, social security and banking information during the "application" process for a credit check along with an application fee. The scammer may approve the victim and request a cashiers check or money order for first, last and security. The scammer takes the money and disappears. The true property owner has no idea their property was used in this manner and the victim's money is gone. Later the scammer may use the personal information they obtained for other identity theft scams, compounding the damage done!

Solution:

Be cautious to whom you release your information. Sophisticated scammers

Local production company aims for big time

By Jamye Durrance

durrance@hometownnewsol.com

VOLUSIA COUNTY — For Richard and Gary Lester, it's not about making money.

And, that's a good thing. The father and son team run Blue Heron International Pictures, a Port Orange-based movie production company.

"This is a film company that loses money every year," Richard Lester said.

But, all that matters to them is that they touch people with a story.

"We make films that inspire a message of compassion, tolerance, understanding, nonviolence both toward animals and people," Mr. Lester, 64, said.

The duo has released more than half-a-dozen films, mostly documentaries, and they are now eyeing the publishing industry with two planned books.

Their latest film, "Safe Haven: The Warsaw Zoo," a Holocaust documentary, recently premiered at the West Hollywood International Film Festival, where producer Gary Lester, 24, received a Special Juror Mention award.

It has been screened internationally and viewed more than three million times on the Internet Movie Database, a comprehensive Web site listing all movies.

"Safe Haven" was also recently submitted to NBC Universal for feature film consideration.

"We've gotten letters from students all over the world," Richard said. "(The movie) belongs to the world."

The elder Lester started Blue Heron in 2005 and the first film released was "Courtney," a story of a teenage girl who died of Rey's Syndrome, a fatal disease that is often misdiagnosed as meningitis.

From there, the Daytona Beach residents produced several other documentaries, including "Fuzzy Little People" about animal shelters.

In 2008, they took a break to do a few scripted films such as "Henry Blackhart is Dead."

Now, in 2009, Richard, who teaches algebra at New Smyrna Beach High School, is stepping back from films to focus on books.

The pair recently returned from interviewing actor Johnny Duncan, who appeared in 60 films and as Robin in the 1949 movie serial "Batman and Robin."

They are writing a biography about Mr. Duncan's time in Hollywood, where he hung out with actors such as Clint Eastwood and Clark Gable.

"He's got an absolutely incredible story," said Richard. "This was the golden age of Hollywood. He knew everybody. With those kinds of stories, we have to do a book."

Additionally, Richard is finishing up the book "Flight of the Blue Heron," a collection of stories about people they have met such as the Gestapo officer who arrested Anne Frank and the son of the sheriff who shot Billy the Kid.

"These are all the incredible people that we have come across," Richard said. "They just fall in your lap. It was more than we could make movies on."

The book is scheduled to be released on Oct. 1.

While his dad is busy writing, Gary will be heading back to school at the University of San Francisco in the fall, where he is studying filmmaking. He previously graduated from what is now Daytona State College with a degree in photography.

In his free time, Gary works with the city of Port Orange and elementary schools to teach children how to make movies.

"It's cool because some of these kids have never picked up a camera ... and what they come up with in their minds is amazing," he said. "Some of them have such a natural talent. We had quite a few kids ... some of them go off to special camps for filmmaking."

Right now, the Lesters don't have any films lined up, but they are planning for the future of their company.

"We're going to be doing a lot more creative stuff," Gary said. "More scripted films. But, if an interesting story comes our way, I don't think we would pass on that."

Staycation

3 cities offer great parks to visit

By Andreas Butler
For Hometown News

VOLUSIA COUNTY — Need a quick vacation or get-away? The cities of Port Orange, South Daytona and Ponce Inlet provide lots of great options for a budget-friendly staycation.

South Daytona's Sensory Park: This two and half-acre park, located at 755 Olive St., is free to the public. The only thing it might cost you is gas in the car to get there. The park features plants and amenities that stimulate not just sight, but smell and hearing as well.

The park is made up of several gardens, a pond, benches, a walking trail that circles the entire park, a gazebo, picnic tables and a fountain with a distinct sound.

"It's just a beautiful place for people to come out and enjoy," said Greg Bartholomew, South Daytona Parks and Recreation director. "There really isn't any other park like this in our area."

The park is handicap accessible and is accommodating to the blind with different sounds and signs that they can enjoy.

For more information, visit www.southdaytona.org.

Port Orange's Spruce Creek Park: This 1,637-acre park located at 6250 Ridgewood Avenue is owned by Volusia County and it is also free to the public.

Adjacent to the Spruce Creek marsh and wetland area, its wild surroundings are a perfect place to enjoy a "back to nature" picnic. It has numerous nature trails, various types of vegetation local to the area, a boardwalk and 15-foot-high observation tower.

Many local students helped to build the nature trails and expansion on the north side of the park that was part of the Rose Bay Legacy Project program. Students, teachers, and local and state governments continue to monitor the environment and re-nourish the wetlands there.

For more information, visit www.volusia.org.

Ponce Inlet Lighthouse: The lighthouse in Ponce Inlet has the distinction of being Florida's tallest, at 175 feet. Located at 4391 Peninsula Drive, the lighthouse attracts 175,000 visitors a year, many of whom climb the 203 steps to the top to enjoy great vistas.

The cost is $5 per adult and $1.50 per child under 11. It opens at 10 a.m. daily. Closing times vary.

Today the structure consists of the tower and a museum with memorabilia and historic facts on the lighthouse and the surrounding community.

The lighthouse was constructed in 1883 but did not open until 1887.

It was first called the Mosquito Inlet Lighthouse when the area was called Mosquito Inlet. The name changed in 1927.

Kerosene lit the structure up until 1920 when a generator was installed, making the transition to electricity.

"Visitors can examine one of the largest collections of lighthouse optics in the world," Director of operations Mike Bennett said.

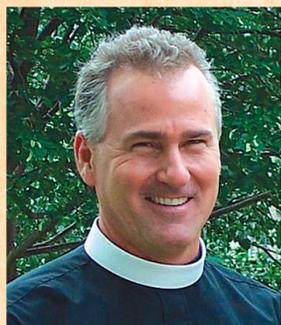

"(They can also) discover what turn-of-the-century life was like for Florida's early coastal residents."

dozens of local companies with employees for the summer.

In the program, young people ages 16 to 24 were given a combination of training in job skills and actual work experience.

To qualify, they had to be from a low-income household and have at least one "at-risk" factor such as low grades or pregnancy.

Mr. Schiffer-Ross' employer at the marina, Marc Phillips, praised his summer workers.

"The kids had a great work ethic," he said. "They were always on time and very aggressive."

Ms. Sikora said four companies that specialize in training were used in the education part of the program.

The companies were Paxen Learning, Hinkels and McCoy, the Chiles Academy, and SaSo Training Institute.

Some participants received six weeks of classroom training while others were trained for a week and then placed in a summer job.

Alexandra Jones of Daytona Beach received a job offer from Daytona Beach Cultural Services after the summer program ended.

Ms. Jones said working in the department was a good opportunity.

"This has opened my eyes to a lot of things," she said. "I didn't even know this type of work existed. Every day I meet new people and see more opportunities."

Ms. Jones plans to study marketing and psychology at DSU and eventually work with children.

Helen Riger, Cultural Services administrator, said it was a winning program.

"We found an employee and she found a job she had never even thought of," she said.

In addition to job-hunting skills, participants were trained in skills such as handling money, making a first impression, developing good work habits and getting along with different personalities.

Ms. Sikora said employers that hired the youth included the cities of Daytona Beach, Deltona and New Smyrna Beach, the YMCA, Girls and Boys Clubs and many private businesses.

The goal at the Center for Business Excellence, Ms. Sikora said, is to help those in the community looking for work, and also help the business community.

"We were able to accomplish both with this program," she said.

New auto center offers choices

By Jamye Durrance
Durrance@hometownnewsol.com

VOLUSIA COUNTY — There's a new auto care center in town and while they may be new here, they've been around for years.

McGee Tire recently opened in Daytona Beach and South Daytona. The family-owned and operated business has been repairing cars for more than 35 years throughout southwest Florida.

Their DeLand location has been open for nearly a decade and they recently made the move into the Daytona Beach area.

McGee Tire is one of the largest independent Goodyear tire dealers in the country, said Bob Lanpher, vice-president of the company.

But, even with their size, they remain committed to one thing: customers.

"It comes down to the old-fashioned customer service," Mr. Lanpher said. "We are honored by their patronage and we show that. Without our customers, we're nothing."

Mr. Lanpher said all the mechanics are certified by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence.

"We have a very, very good crew," he said.

Mr. Lanpher said many of the managers and technicians have been working for McGee Tire for years and are dedicated to what they do.

Even after the mechanics have closed the hood, there's still more, Mr. Lanpher said.

"We do customer follow-up with postcards and reminders (for follow-up service)," Mr. Lanpher said. "The sale doesn't end when they walk out the door."

McGee Tire sells name

brand tires including Goodyear, Kelly, Dunlop and Michelin.

They offer the Goodyear Nationwide warranty, which is good for 12 months or 12,000 miles.

But, it isn't just tires at McGee tires. They are also a full-service auto center.

McGee Tire also prides themselves on being more than just a storefront on a street.

"We're a small business but we are very community-orientated," Mr. Lanpher said. "We contribute to local schools. We believe very strongly in community."

McGee Tire is located at 2401 S. Ridgewood Ave. in South Daytona and can be reached at 386-767-5088. They are also located at 148 N. Ridgewood Ave. in Daytona Beach and can be reached at 386-252-7661. For more information, visit www.mcgeetire.com ment scheme. Police think Holley stole an amazing $640,000 while managing the Days Inn Tropical Seas on South Atlantic Avenue. Holley was a trusted employee for the out-of-town family who owns that property and two others in Volusia County. He had been at the helm of the Days Inn for 18 years and investigators say they think he'd been stealing money for at least three years until he was fired in October of 2008. The family became concerned about discrepancies at that time and hired a forensic accountant who worked for two months examining the breadth of the alleged theft, then called police. Sgt. Mike Fowler said Holley had access to all the hotel funds and had company credit cards. Fowler said he used a number of methods to steal for his personal gain, including offering guests making reservations a discount for cash in advance. Even now, months later, the owners are being victimized, Fowler said, because guests are turning up saying they already paid Holley, and the hotel is honoring the reservations. Holley is not cooperating with police and they said when he was arrested last week, he had $100 to his name. His home is in foreclosure and Holley recently moved in with in-laws in New Smyrna Beach. Police have checked bank accounts, credit cards and more to track the stolen funds, but they haven't found a penny. Holley was most recently working as a supervisor at a county parking garage attached to the Ocean Center. Management there said in the days before Holley was arrested, they had questions for him regarding a $110 shortfall.

Gun buy back was a success

Daytona Beach Police held its first gun buy back and were stunned at the turn out. Matter of fact, they brought in more weapons than any other Central Florida city or county and many were holding buy backs the same day. Police budgeted for 150 guns, and prepared to give out $50 gift cards from Wal-mart for every weapon that was turned in during a 12-hour period. Police said they had that many in the first three hours of the event and quickly ran out of gift cards. Donors came forward with more cards and the Daytona Cubs organization gave 80 free tickets to games but still, it wasn't enough. Police closed the event an hour and a half early when they ran out of cash altogether, but not before taking in more than 350 weapons. Chief Mike Chitwood said the economy was certainly a factor. Many brought guns in that had been at home with them for years, but the promise of $50 in groceries or new school shoes for the kids led them to take part in the buy back. Police received guns that may have been used in crimes and some that still could be in the wrong hands. They said if someone is a burglary victim, suspects often go for guns in the house that can then be used against innocent civilians or even law enforcement.

Police search for championship rings

Daytona Beach police are looking for a pair of championship college rings, stolen from a home July 1st. The rings belong to former Alabama A & M Basketball Coach Anthony Andre, who is now retired from the college and living locally. He was burglarized over the July Fourth weekend and among the stolen items were the valuable NCAA championship rings. Police have been searching pawn shops, but haven't turned up anything. If you have information about the rings, call police right away.

Police look for man who exposed himself

Port Orange police are looking for a man who exposed himself to three young teenage girls. The girls said a man exposed himself to them while they were at the Port Orange Amphitheater at City Center. The teens said the suspect left the area in a dark red or burgundy late 90s model four-door sedan. It might have been a Honda. The girls helped police work up a composite sketch, but though it was widely circulated, they haven't had any calls about the suspect. If you think you've seen him, or have any information, give Port Orange police a call.

Murder suspect trial is set

The suspect in the murder of a Prison Corrections Officer in Daytona Beach is still set to go to trial in October. Convicted rapist Enoch Hall, 40, was serving life at Tomoka State prison last summer when prosecutors said he stabbed Officer Donna Fitzgerald to death with a homemade knife. Last week, defense attorneys asked for a trial continuance, but it was denied. There will be several motion hearings next month with the trial to begin Oct. 5.

Notice of Receipt of Natural Gas Transmission Pipeline Certification Application

- Application number NG-09-02 for certification to authorize location of corridors for, and construction, operation and maintenance of, a natural gas transmission pipeline, laterals, and compressor stations was filed by Florida Power & Light Company (FPL) with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) on July 30, 2009. The Project is known as the Florida EnergySecure Line Project (Project). The locations of the proposed facilities are shown on the accompanying map, and run generally from Bradford County, Florida to Martin County, Florida with laterals running into Brevard County, Florida and Palm Beach County, Florida. The case is pending before the Florida Division of Administrative Hearings (DOAH), Case No.09-4151, prior to action by the Florida Governor and Cabinet, acting as the Siting Board, pursuant to the Florida Natural Gas Transmission Pipeline Siting Act (NGPSA), Chapter 403, Sections 403.9401 - .9425, Florida Statutes (F.S.). FPL is seeking certification of the Project under the NGPSA.
- FPL's Project consists of a proposed 30-inch diameter natural gas transmission pipeline connecting a receipt point near Florida Gas Transmission, LLC's existing Compressor Station 16 located west of the City of Starke in Bradford County to a termination point at FPL's existing Martin Plant located near Indiantown in Martin County, Florida. In addition to this mainline pipeline, two lateral pipelines will deliver natural gas to FPL's existing Cape Canaveral Next Generation Clean Energy Center (CCEC) and existing Riviera Beach Next Generation Clean Energy Center (RBEC) via new 24-inch diameter and 20-inch diameter pipelines, respectively. Two proposed compressor stations also are included as part of the Project; the "Bradford Compressor Station" will be located in Bradford County and the "45th Street Terminal Compressor Station" will be located at FPL's existing 45th Street Terminal in Palm Beach County.
- FPL's Project application seeks certification of corridors in which the proposed natural gas mainline pipeline and lateral pipelines will be located. FPL's "Mainline Preferred Corridor" originates in Bradford County near County Road 235 and traverses east for approximately 50 miles before turning in a southerly direction and terminating at FPL's Martin Plant in Martin County. Approximately 265 miles of this 278-mile corridor are collocated with existing utility rights-of-way. FPL's "Cape Canaveral Lateral Preferred Corridor" extends northeast for approximately 16 miles from the mainline pipeline in Orange County to the CCEC in Brevard County, and FPL's "Riviera Beach Lateral Preferred Corridor" extends southeast for approximately 6 miles from an existing FPL oil/gas pipeline near Florida's Turnpike in Palm Beach County to the RBEC in the City of Riviera Beach. FPL's preferred corridors will pass through the following local government jurisdictions: Bradford County, Clay County, Putnam County, Flagler County, Volusia County, Seminole County, Orange County, Osceola County, Brevard County, Indian River County, Okeechobee County, St. Lucie County, Martin County, Palm Beach County, City of Hampton, City of Palatka, City of Palm Coast, City of Bunnell, City of Cocoa, and City of Riviera Beach.
- FPL is proposing five secondary corridors along the Mainline Preferred Corridor and one secondary corridor for the Cape Canaveral Lateral Preferred Corridor. These secondary corridors, as well as FPL's preferred corridors, are fully described in the Project application which is available for review at the locations listed below.
- The application for certification is available for public inspection online at www.dep.state.fl.us/siting (click on "Applications in Progress") and at the following locations during normal business hours:

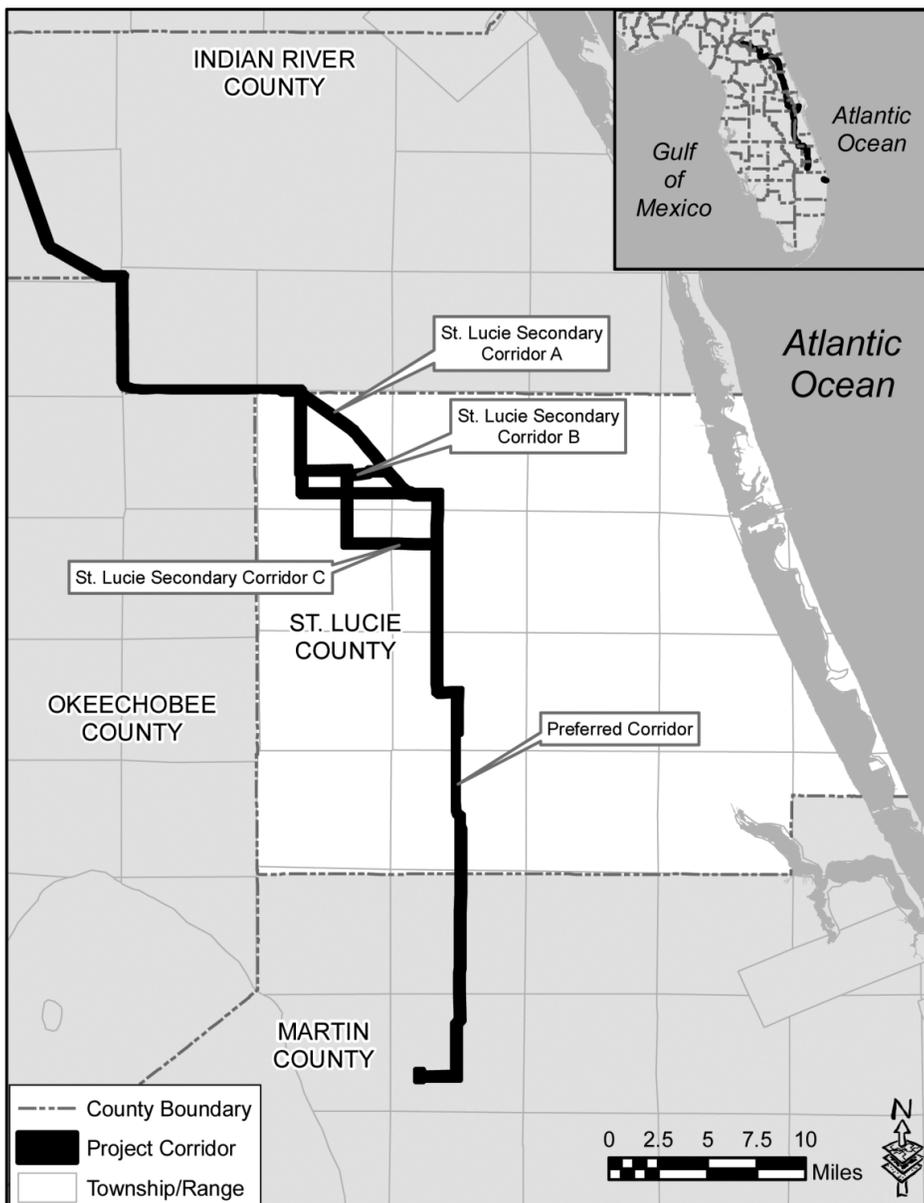

Florida Dept. of Environmental Protection
Siting Coordination Office
Siting Administrator: Michael P. Halpin, P.E.
3900 Commonwealth Blvd. Tallahassee, FL 32399
850-245-2002

Florida Power & Light Company
Walton Service Center
1050 SE Brandon Circle
Port St. Lucie, FL 34952

St. Lucie West Library
500 N.W. California Blvd.
St. Lucie West, FL 34986

- DEP and other state, regional, and local agencies will be studying the application and preparing reports and recommendations on the Project. Interested persons should review the application and bring matters of concern to the attention of the appropriate agency and FPL as soon as possible. Information regarding the appropriate contact persons at the reviewing agencies may be obtained from Michael P. Halpin at the DEP's Siting Coordination Office, whose contact information is listed above.
- Consideration may be given in this proceeding to pipeline corridors alternate to the corridors preferred by FPL. These alternate corridors may be proposed by persons other than FPL and may suggest an alternate route for portions or all of FPL's pipeline corridors. To propose an alternate corridor, persons must request to become a party to the proceedings (see paragraphs 9 and 10 below), and then must file a notice of proposed alternate corridor with the Administrative Law Judge, all parties, and any local governments in the jurisdiction of which the alternate is proposed, by no later than 50 days prior to the originally scheduled certification hearing, pursuant to Section 403.9412, F.S. The filing must include the most recent United States Geological Survey 1:24,000 quadrangle maps specifically delineating the corridor boundaries, a description of the proposed alternate corridor, and a statement of the reasons the proposed alternate should be certified. Each party proposing an alternate corridor will have the burden to provide the data necessary for the agencies listed in Section 403.941, F.S., to prepare a supplementary report, submit the necessary fees, and the burden of proof on the certifiability of the alternate corridor at the certification hearing. See Section 403.9412, F.S., and Rule 62-807.530, Florida Administrative Code (F.A.C.), for further information and requirements.
- A certification hearing will be held regarding this application in approximately eight months and a notice stating the date, time and location of the hearing will be published in this newspaper at least 80 days before the date set for the hearing. The Administrative Law Judge will receive testimony and evidence from the parties and the public at the certification hearing. If timely requested by a local government pursuant to Section 403.9411(2), F.S., a public hearing where members of the public not parties to the certification proceeding may present oral or written communications to the Administrative Law Judge shall be held in each county through which the corridor passes; however, the public should be aware that the majority of the testimony and evidence in the case will be heard at the centrally located certification hearing. If the Administrative Law Judge proposes to consider communications from members of the public, then all parties shall be given an opportunity to challenge or rebut the communications.
- Section 403.9411(4), F.S., establishes the parties to the certification proceeding, and provides:
 - Parties to this proceeding shall be: FPL; DEP; the Florida Public Service Commission; the Florida Department of Community Affairs; the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission; the Florida Department of Transportation; the Florida Department of State, Division of Historical Resources; the Suwannee River Water Management District; the St. Johns River Water Management District; the South Florida Water Management District; the North Central Florida Regional Planning Council; the Northeast Florida Regional Planning Council; the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council; the Central Florida Regional Planning Council; the Treasure Coast Regional Planning Council; and the local governments in the jurisdiction of which the proposed natural gas transmission pipeline is to be located (see paragraph 3 above).
 - Any statutory party listed in paragraph (a), other than FPL or DEP, may waive its right to participate in these proceedings. If any listed party fails to file a notice of intent to be a party on or before the 30th day before the certification hearing, the statutory party is deemed to have waived its right to be a party unless its participation would not prejudice the rights of any party to the proceeding.
 - Notwithstanding the provisions of Chapter 120, F.S., upon filing with the Administrative Law Judge of a notice of intent to be a party by an agency, corporation, or association described in subparagraph 1 or subparagraph 2, or a petition for intervention by a person described in subparagraph 3, no later than 30 days prior to the date set for the certification hearing, the following shall also be parties to the proceeding:
 - Any agency not listed in paragraph (a) as to matters within its jurisdiction.
 - Any domestic nonprofit corporation or association formed, in whole or in part, to promote conservation of natural beauty; to protect the environment, personal health, or other biological values; to preserve historical sites; to promote consumer interests; to represent labor, commercial, or industrial groups; or to promote comprehensive planning or orderly development of the area in which the proposed natural gas transmission pipeline or corridor is to be located.
 - Any person whose substantial interests are affected and being determined by the proceeding.
 - Any agency whose properties or works might be affected shall be made a party upon the request of the agency or any party to this proceeding.
- Anyone wishing to participate in the proceedings is directed to Section 403.9411(4) and (5), F.S. To become a party, a person must file an appropriate petition no later than 30 days before the date set for the certification hearing. The petition (and all other pleadings) must be sent to: Bram Canter, Administrative Law Judge, Division of Administrative Hearings, The DeSoto Building, 1230 Apalachee Parkway, Tallahassee, Florida, 32399-3060. The petition must reference the application number and DOAH case number NG-09-02; 09-4151 and contain the name, address, and telephone number of the agency or person making the filing. A petition or notice of intent to be a party or motion to intervene must contain allegations sufficient to demonstrate the agency or person is entitled to participate in the proceeding. Those wishing to intervene in these proceedings, unless appearing on their own behalf, must be represented by an attorney or other person who can be determined to be qualified to appear in administrative proceedings pursuant to Chapter 120, F.S., or Rule 28-106.106, F.A.C. The notice or motion must be sent by mail to FPL and all parties. (A list of parties may be obtained from DEP's Office of Siting Coordination at the address and telephone number listed above.)

- Subject to the conditions set forth therein, certification of the Project shall constitute the sole license of the State and any agency as to the approval of the location of the natural gas transmission pipeline, and the construction, operation and maintenance of the natural gas transmission pipeline, except for permits issuable pursuant to a federally delegated or approved permit program. The certification shall be valid for the life of the natural gas transmission pipeline, but shall become void if construction on, or condemnation or acquisition of, the right-of-way is not commenced within five years after the date of certification or such later date as may be authorized by the Siting Board.
 - The certification shall authorize the applicant to locate the natural gas transmission pipeline corridor and to construct and maintain the natural gas transmission pipelines subject only to the conditions of certification set forth in such certification.
 - The certification may include conditions which constitute variances and exemptions from nonprocedural standards or regulations of the department or any other agency which were expressly considered during the proceeding unless waived by the agency as provided in this paragraph and which otherwise would be applicable to the location of the proposed natural gas transmission pipeline corridor or the construction and maintenance of the natural gas transmission pipelines. Each party shall notify the applicant and other parties at the time scheduled for the filing of the agency reports of any nonprocedural requirements not specifically listed in the application from which a variance, exemption, exception, or other relief is necessary in order for the board to certify any corridor proposed for certification. However, no variance shall be granted from standards or regulations of the department applicable under any federally delegated or approved permit program, except as expressly allowed in such program. Failure of such notification shall be treated as a waiver from nonprocedural requirements of that agency.

National Reptile Breeders Expo returns to Ocean Center

For Hometown News
Volnews@hometownnewsol.com

Cold-blooded fun is creeping back into the Ocean Center for the 10th showing of the National Reptile Breeders Expo held through Sunday.

"This is the 20th year of the largest reptile meeting in the world," said Wayne Hill, director of the expo.

It originally started in Orlando, but outgrew the space.

Mr. Hill said the renovation of the Ocean Center was completed just in time. Otherwise, his event would have had to relocate.

The Ocean Center event will be open to the public on Saturday and Sunday.

However, there are lectures and symposiums planned from 7 p.m. to midnight, Friday and Saturday at the Hilton that anyone who is interested in reptiles may attend for free. These lectures will be on herpetoculture and turtles and tortoises.

On Saturday at the Hilton, there is an auction to benefit conservation efforts. This year's recipient will be the Costa Rica Conservation Center. During the last five years, the auction has raised $100,000 for conservation causes, Mr. Hill said.

Across the street at the Ocean Center, there will be hundreds of exhibits of captive-born snakes, spiders, lizards, amphibians and turtles, along with herpetology memorabilia, books and supplies.

There will be 700 vendors selling reptile-related products, Mr. Hill said.

All of the reptiles exhibited are born in captivity and nothing at the show is venomous.

"Nothing is taken out of the wild because we don't rape nature," Mr. Hill said.

The expo will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 22 and 23, in the Ocean Center exhibit hall, 101 N. Atlantic Ave., Daytona Beach.

A "Cold-Blooded Creations Art Show" also will be part of the expo.

Tickets will be sold at the door on event days for $10 (children 6 and under are admitted free) and organizers will provide wristbands, good for two-day admission.

Visitors should note that

STAR SCOPES
James Tucker
Week of 8-21-2009

Aries-March 21-April 19
Aries has a multitude of blessings right now. Why? It's because you give so much, the universe is beginning to pour out blessings in return. You are a true messenger of hope. You always give encouragement and understanding. Also, your courage in the face of challenge is one of your greatest gifts.

Taurus-April 20-May 20
Finish old projects before beginning new ones. Take an inventory of old habits, attitudes, events and things no longer needed and let them go. This makes room for new growth in your life. You can tell how well this is working by your happiness level. If you don't like it, don't do it. Like attracts like, you know.

Gemini-May 21-June 21
See, the lighter touch works when you allow it. Sometimes less is more. Now is not the best time to feel overloaded and burned out. Patience is the key to action. Wait until you have a clear vision before making changes. This puts the odds of success in your favor. Stay focused on your dream and success is yours.

Cancer-June 22-July 22
By nature, your heart rules your head. When you start a project and your heart is in it, you will succeed. If you are in doubt about an idea, don't start it. Your energy is strong right now. Be sure to make a little time each day for fun and recharging. Hit the thrift stores and put together a new outfit. Now life is so much fun.

Leo-July 23-Aug. 22
Your future is bright because you plan for it in the present then live it one day at a time. You continue to manifest your dreams into realities. You know your capabilities better than anyone. Stay focused on your top priorities. When the work is done, it's time to play. With this kind of balance, life is so much easier.

Virgo-Aug. 23-Sept. 22
Listen to your closest friends and advisors then make your own final decisions. Your time in the zodiac is coming soon. It's time to set daily, galleries: Galleria di Vetro, Jewelry of Joy, Palms Up Pottery, and Ta Da Gallery; as well as Heavenly's, Gone Bonkers, Flagler Tavern, Gyftz, and other shops on the street. The artistic one-foot by 8-foot surfboards are made of wood and are hangable. Several well-known artists, including Cathy Berse, Stephanie Hill and Carol Dunn will be individualizing the boards with their art. A list of the artists and their surfboard locations will be available at any of the galleries or at visiting artist's tents on Flagler during Art Walk. Visitors can bid on each of the surfboards at the sponsoring gallery or shop. Bidding starts at $25. Winners will be notified at the end of the day and will be able to pick up their board Monday, Aug. 23. Visitors can enjoy a wide variety of art works, entertainment and a special prize drawing presented by the Gallery Group as they explore the five-block area of Flagler Avenue between the Indian River and the ocean. DJ

Dennis will be at the gazebo at the corner of Flagler Avenue and Pine Street, playing favorite surfing tunes and making announcements throughout the day. For more information about Art Walk, or to request an artist's application, call (386) 428-1770 or visit www.flagler-gallerygroup.com. •Bandshell entertainment: The Moonlighters will perform big band and patriotic music at 7:30 p.m., Saturday at the Bandshell in Daytona Beach. Chair rental is available. No coolers are allowed in the Bandshell. All concerts are free.

Donations are accepted. Fireworks will follow. The Bandshell is located behind the Ocean Walk Shoppes, 250 N. Atlantic Ave., Daytona Beach. For more information, call (386) 258-9544.

•Ormond Beach Performing Arts: The Flamingos featuring Terry Johnson will perform at 7:30 p.m., at the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center. Come hear Flamingos' hits including "I Only Have Eyes For You," "Goodnight Sweetheart," "I'm In The Mood For Love" and much more. Tickets are $40 for the first five rows and $35 for the remaining rows. For show information, ticket sales and group rates, call the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center Box Office, Tuesday through Friday from noon to 5 p.m. at (386) 676-3375.

•Pinewood derby: New Life Church will hold a pinewood derby family fun day from 9 a.m.-2 p.m., Saturday, at 5231 S. Nova Road, Port Orange. Boys and girls ages 5 through 12 and their parents will construct and race pinewood derby cars on a custom built racetrack. There will be multiple classifications of contestants, with multiple winners receiving trophies and prizes at the end of the day. The event will include live music, free food, raffles, and many other activities including water slides and puppet shows. Admission is two cans of food for a community food pantry. For more information, call (386) 756-5557.

•Ballroom dance: The Greater Daytona Chapter of U.S.A. Dance will hold a ballroom dance from 7-10:30 p.m. at the City Island Recreation Center, 108 E. Orange Ave., Daytona Beach. Cost is $6 for members, $8 for non-members and $3 for students. Admission includes a one-hour group lesson from 7-8 p.m. Attire will be dressy casual. The public may attend. For more information, call (386) 756-8433 or (386) 427-4591.

SUNDAY, Aug. 23

•5K or 10K walk: The Happy See OUT, B9

quarterly and monthly goals for the coming year. Write them down and review them often. This keeps you moving forward rather than being sidetracked on less important things.

Libra-Sept. 23-Oct. 22

Yours is an adventuresome life. You know what you want and you know how to get it. If others around you don't know, tell them. This keeps life running smoothly because of better communications. As your life progresses, be sure to keep releasing the old to prepare for the new. This keeps life in divine order.

Scorpio-Oct. 23-Nov. 21

You are constantly giving birth to new ideas. Your heart and spirit work overtime. You are the eternal optimist. You never give up. Your enthusiasm is contagious to everyone around you. You know so much about life. Your dreams are strong and accurate. Wow. What a wonderful life you have created.

Sagittarius-Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Taking quality time each day is very important for your emotional well being. If you don't make this time, you will survive, but you won't grow. Go to the water once a week. Commune with nature. You may not fully realize the power you truly have. Humanity, more than earthly possessions, is what makes you truly happy.

Capricorn-Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Your accumulated wisdom and experience continues to propel you up to your highest dreams. Your heart is so open and full of love. With this inner glow and strength you are invincible. There is no stopping you. Your light will continue to shine brightly. Life is good. You have made it happen. Great job.

Aquarius-Jan. 20-Feb 18

Try looking at challenges from a new viewpoint. When unsure of a direction, stop, step back, take a deep breath and refocus. Ask for advice from trusted friends when needed. That's what friends are for. Then continue on toward your dream. You don't have to do everything at once. Just put the important ones first.

Pisces-Feb. 19-March 20

Make decisions based on hunches and instincts and you always win. This is what the universal spirit and light is for. Stay in sync with divine timing. It simplifies life and keeps you at full charge. It is all a matter of choices. Make wise rather than hasty ones. When you get that right feeling nothing can slow you down.

James recently created a low-cost custom water ionizing system, the fountain of youth. It creates healthy water at a fraction of the cost of high-priced filtering systems. It helps bring the pH back in balance in the body.

Chicken, coleslaw and a fun desert for a Labor Day party

Hello smart shoppers. Here are some ideas for your Labor Day feast. I remember mom always adding chicken with vinegar to her party menu. I disliked it because the skin on the chicken was soft. Now we skin the chicken and it's delicious. It can be made days in advance and is served at room temperature. If you're old enough to remember Charlotte Russe,

ROMANCING THE STOVE
with the Grammy Guru ARLENE BORG

you'll appreciate this take-off on the original. For those who were born after they seemed to disappear, let me tell you the rest of the story. Certain frozen custard (soft-serve ice cream) stands in New York City sold them. In the bottom of the hand-held container (a white cardboard cylinder with a scalloped top and a push up bottom) a 1/2-inch thick round of sponge cake was placed. It was topped with a huge swirled mound of "real" sweetened whipped cream and finished with a cherry. Your goal was to gobble through the cream as you pushed up the bottom to finally devour that wonderful cake. I remember my excitement as a child when mom said we could have a Charlotte Russe. I found this recipe in a magazine when I was in high school. The memories came back and I knew that someday (when I learned to cook) I would make it.

CHICKEN WITH VINEGAR (NIB)
serves 3-4
low fat

One chicken, cut up and skinned (save the wings for other use)
Canola oil or cooking spray
1/2-cup tomato sauce
Dried oregano, basil, garlic powder, salt and pepper
Extra virgin olive oil

Brown chicken in cooking spray or a little canola oil. Place chicken in baking pan and sprinkle with spices. Pour on tomato sauce and sprinkle with olive oil. Bake at 350 for one hour, turning often.

GARNISH
3 medium-size stalks celery, sliced
1 10-ounce jar pimento olives, drained
1 cup pitted black olives

1 small jar capers, drained
1/3-cup red wine vinegar

When chicken is done, add vegetables and heat on stove top until hot. Add vinegar, reheat and chill in a covered container.

BOB VALENTINE'S COLESLAW
regular and low fat
serves 6-8

My friend Bob made this coleslaw and I thought it was excellent. By using a low-fat or fat-free mayonnaise and an equivalent of sugar substitute, you will have a sugar-free, low-fat or fat-free salad. You can't tell the difference.

- 3/4-cup mayonnaise
- 3 tablespoons sugar
- 2-1/2 teaspoon white vinegar
- 2-1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish
- 1/4-teaspoon celery seeds
- 1 small head green cabbage (about 1-1/2 pounds), cored and finely sliced
- 1 carrot, shredded

NOTE: You can buy packaged shredded cole slaw with carrots in the produce section of the supermarket; saves time.

In a glass or plastic bowl, mix together mayo and sugar; stir in vinegar, horseradish and celery seeds. Add salt and pepper to taste. Add cabbage and carrots; blend well. Store in a covered container in the refrigerator for 4 hours or overnight.

STRAWBERRY CHARLOTTE RUSSE (NIB) 10 TO 12 SERVINGS

By substituting low-fat or fat-free whipped topping for the heavy cream, you can make this a low-fat/fat-free dessert.

If you can't find the sponge cake ladyfingers, ask the baker in the supermarket.

- Two 4-serving packages strawberry gelatin (regular or sugar-free)
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1-1/2 cups crushed strawberries, fresh or frozen (unsweetened)
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/2-cup sugar or equivalent amount of sugar substitute
- 1/8-teaspoon salt
- 8-ounce container heavy cream, whipped, or 2 cups whipped topping*
- 7 or 8 lady fingers
- 8-inch spring form pan

*NOTE: Heavy cream doubles when whipped. Reserve 1/2-cup whipped cream and 6 whole strawberries to decorate top of cake.

Ignore instructions on gelatin packages.

In a large bowl dissolve gelatin in the 2 cups boiling water. Combine strawberries, lemon juice, sugar and salt; stir until sugar is dissolved; add to gelatin mixture. Chill until it thickens to the consistency of unbeaten egg whites.

Fold in whipped cream. PREPARE PAN: Put a 3-inch strip of waxed paper around the inside of the pan. Split ladyfingers lengthwise; cut tip from one end so they will stand. Arrange rounded end up, around the edge of pan, inside waxed paper.

Carefully spoon prepared mixture into ladyfinger-lined pan; chill until firm, at least 5 hours or overnight.

Remove side of pan and waxed paper; lift cake and bottom of pan onto a large serving plate. Decorate top with cream and whole strawberries.

When a recipe is not in my cookbook it will have (NIB) next to the title.

Local youth baseball coach takes over Halifax Academy's program

By Andreas Butler
For Hometown News

VOLUSIA COUNTY — Halifax Academy named Peter Hinson its baseball coach for the 2009-10 year this past week.

"I have been trying to get this position for two years," Mr. Hinson said. "This is a special opportunity. The school and its baseball program are both young. I believe that I am the steady coach that they need."

Halifax athletic director Shamus Dougherty said he thinks Mr. Hinson will be the perfect fit for the small school.

"We like his enthusiasm," Mr. Dougherty said. "We needed someone who wanted to build the program. He accepted the challenge."

The school, located at 275 Williamson Boulevard in Daytona Beach, has around 80 students.

Mr. Hinson takes over a program that is going into its sixth year of existence. Last year's team went 2-9, and the program has only six wins in the past three years. Mr. Hinson takes over after the departure of Russell Dotson, who spent one season as coach. Jimmy Perry was the coached for the first four seasons.

Mr. Hinson has an extensive baseball resume.

He played from little league to college. He lettered three years at North Miami Beach senior high and four at Edward Waters College in Jacksonville, where he received his degree in Business Administration.

Mr. Hinson has seven years of coaching experience, four spent as an assistant at Miami Norland high and one at Atlantic high. For the past two years he has been coaching little league in Daytona Beach and is partially responsible for bringing youth baseball back to the city. Mr. Hinson also works in the Weeks II Success youth baseball program.

After college, Mr. Hinson took a shot at professional baseball. He tried out for the Florida Marlins, Cincinnati Reds, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

"I was a pro prospect in 2000 after my sophomore season but I did not want to leave school because the money was not right," he said. "I also was a prospect after my senior season in 2002. Injuries really slowed me down, I played injured throughout college."

Mr. Hinson said as a coach, he could be considered something of a strict dad.

"I bring tough love and a family oriented style of team unity," he said. "The players will bond together on and off the field."

Turning all of his athletes into ball players is his biggest challenge.

"I will have some duel sport athletes," he said. "I need to get them to kick the bad habits and turn them into baseball players. I hope to get them a shot at playing college ball and most important, a college degree. Academics are most important. My motto is God, family, academics and baseball."

Jackie Robinson heritage night celebrated

In the year that Jack Roosevelt "Jackie" Robinson would have turned 90-years old, the Daytona Cubs, the Links Foundation and the County of Volusia are celebrating his lasting mark on baseball and society with "Jackie Robinson Heritage Night" on Friday, Aug. 28.

Mr. Robinson broke baseball's color barrier on March 17, 1946, when he played in the first racially integrated professional baseball game at City Island Ballpark in Daytona Beach. At the time he was playing with the Montreal Royals, a farm team of the Brooklyn Dodgers, the major league team he would play for one year later.

A doubleheader against the Clearwater Threshers will begin at 6:05 p.m.

Four thousand tickets to the game are available now to the public at no charge and can be picked up at local libraries in Daytona Beach, Ormond Beach, Port Orange and New Smyrna Beach.

The tickets will be handed out on a first-come, first-serve basis.

As part of the celebration, former Negro League players will be on-hand to share their stories of playing baseball in the Jim Crow South, as well their memories of Jackie Robinson and how he shaped the game. Alongside them will be several distinguished guests to welcome the public during a pre-game ceremony.

Prior to the game the first 1,000 fans will receive a team photograph.

Between games one and two of the doubleheader select Cubs players and former Negro League players will be on-hand for autographs on the riverwalk. During the game the players will be sporting Jimmy Buffett style jerseys that you can win off the players' backs.

After the game there will be a post-game concert by Riptide, a Jimmy Buffett cover band.

For more information, call (386) 257-3172 or visit www.daytonacubs.com.

Hometown News $UPER BUY$ of the week

When using coupons, keep your eyes on the prize

I'm sure you know by now that I love getting groceries for free with coupons whenever possible. But we can't get everything for free all of the time. Here's a fun way to maximize coupon savings and get items very inexpensively, even when they're not completely free.

Super-couponing secret: Buy small and save the biggest for free.

Manufacturers will often issue coupons for an item that's free "when you purchase any of these three brands." The coupon often shows various other brands or products sold by the same manufacturer.

I recently had a coupon offering a free package of hot dogs if the shopper purchased three other items from the same manufacturer.

During the sale at my store, the hot dogs were on sale for $3.99. If the total cost of the three additional items is less than the sale price of the hot dogs, I'll get the hot dogs cheaper than I could have purchased them otherwise, plus, I'll have three additional items to take home as part of the deal, too.

When I spot coupons like these, I will look closely at the additional brands featured. I do not necessarily think about whether I want or need these items. Instead, I calculate what would be the least expensive thing to buy to make the larger item cost as little as possible.

COUPON QUEEN

The additional products with the hot dog deal included coffee, crackers, condiments, gelatin desserts and powdered drink mixes.

Of those items, the gelatin desserts and powdered drink mixes seemed like the best candidates. They're both usually pretty inexpensive, and buying three of either will qualify me for my free $3.99 package of hot dogs.

After checking the prices on both, I saw the gelatin was on sale for 33 cents a box. I could pay 99 cents for three boxes and get a free package of hot dogs, too. Not bad at all.

But then I checked the price on powdered drink mixes. They were on sale for 10 cents each. Whether I plan to drink them or not, buying three packets of drink mix became my means for acquiring the $3.99 package of hot dogs for just 30 cents.

In my coupon classes, I refer to this as the "take one for the team" couponing strategy. Sometimes it's necessary to buy something we don't necessarily want, because it's our means to acquire the item we actually do want for a much lower price.

Here's another example. I recently saw tear pads of coupons in the produce department of my store near the salads. The coupons provided $2 off produce when you purchased any of a certain manufacturer's salad dressing. I looked at that brand of salad dressing and realized the manufacturer makes both bottled salad dressings and the dry seasoning that come in a small packet, the kind you mix at home with oil and vinegar. The packets of seasoning cost 79 cents. So for each packet of the salad dressing I purchased, I used one of the coupons. I was able to buy $2 worth of fresh produce for 79 cents. I didn't necessarily want the salad dressing, but it allowed me to purchase my produce items at a much lower cost.

Next week, I'll answer some more reader mail and we'll take a brief break from coupon tips to discuss the best way to organize all of the coupons that we receive each week in the newspaper.

Jill Cataldo, a coupon workshop instructor, writer and mother of three, never passes up a good deal. Learn more about couponing at her Web site, www.super-couponing.com. E-mail your own couponing victories and questions to jill@ctwfeatures.com.

Fishing frenzy and kid campers: two great days of angling

We went down to Oak Hill and right at dawn launched Al Houser's skiff at Lopez Fish Camp.

After idling south through the no wake zone, we were up on plane and skimming across the big glassy lake that is Mosquito Lagoon. The sun was just peaking over the distant peninsula, but it provided enough light for me to spot a school of baitfish.

Al shut the engine and dropped the trolling motor for a closer look. Menhaden had schooled up to cover about a half-acre and were splashing the surface with a purpose. Before I had left home, I had baited three rods. One with a walk-the-dog type surface lure, another with a suspending Mirro Lure and the third with my trusty jig.

On my first cast, the top water plug disappeared before it had settled into the water.

After a spirited fight, I landed a five-pound sail catfish.

INSHORE FISHING
DAN SMITH

Not the quarry I had hoped for, but fun nonetheless.

In rapid succession, Al and I caught three each — big hard fighting catfish. When the catfish stopped hitting, ladyfish and trout took up the slack.

As we caught fish, we could see that several tarpon in the 50-pound range were closing on the school of bait.

Just as they came close enough for us to make a cast a huge school of two-pound bluefish rushed in and began tearing up everything in sight.

In the clear water, we could see them slashing into the bait all around us. It became impossible to get a lure to the tarpon for as soon as it hit the water, we had a blue. For two and a-half-hours we drifted along with the Menhaden caught up in the center of a feeding frenzy, birds and fish diving and jumping all around us. So many fish were caught that we didn't mind when a pod of six bottlenose dolphins showed up to end the fun.

Later that day we found a school of trout and caught around 30 to finish a great day of fishing.

Another great day came my way when I was asked by the city of Ormond Beach to help out with the Casements kids summer camp fishing day at Fortunato Park.

Sixteen enthusiastic anglers showed up to try their luck. After a few fidgety minutes listening to me tell them of safety and the careful release of anything caught, they were ready to fish.

When nothing came up in the first 15 minutes, I began to lose them. When you are between 5- and 10-years-old, patience is not one of your strong points.

Alissa Baum of Daytona Beach scored first with a fat dogfish. As she pulled it to the surface, it began shaking its big head and disgorging pieces of partially digested fish. "Gross," the kids screamed. I couldn't argue. The dogfish or toadfish is a most unattractive creature. In fact, I was pretty sure that Alissa had won both our prizes for biggest fish and ugliest fish with that one catch.

I didn't count on Walter Baumann of Ormond Beach catching an eel. The squeals of the kids told me that it had to be the ugliest fish. That day several of the youngsters told me that they had caught their first fish. I loved it! Thanks to Casements Director Siobhan Daly and her staff for the great job they do with the kids and for allowing me to be a part of it.

Dan Smith has fished the waters of Volusia County for 40 years. When he's not fishing, the retired contractor is heavily involved with the Ormond Beach Historical Trust. For questions or comments send an e-mail to apes123@mybluelight.com.
