Joe's Crab Shack should be open on Pier by next spring

By John Bozzo
For Hometown News

DAYTONA BEACH — Once a cultural beacon for residents and tourists alike, the Daytona Beach Pier is poised for revival with Joe's Crab Shack as a tenant.

Years of investment and months of negotiations are yielding plans to re-open a stabilized pier in December and open a two-story restaurant on the pier in the spring of 2012.

"It's going to bring about 300 jobs, that's 200 more than original projections," Mayor Glenn Ritchey said as he announced a proposed agreement during a Friday press conference at City Hall.

In a press release, Mr. Ritchey said the pier would be Joe's Crab Shack's "flagship" location.

City Commission members are expected to consider the deal in November.

"We're getting a pier that's restored and a tenant that's nationally known," City Manager Jim Chisholm said.

Daytona Beach took over the pier in 2009 for $1.4 million. The city has invested about $4 million in preserving and renovating the 85-year-old pier, repairing the understructure and restaurant building.

Joe's Crab Shack plans restaurant renovations of $5 million, including inside and outside seating. Public fishing will continue to be allowed on the east end of the pier. See PIER, A11

Ormond to look at tighter rules on nudity, gambling

By John Bozzo
For Hometown News

ORMOND BEACH — A crackdown on two forms of adult entertainment — nudity and gambling — looms at the Nov. 1 City Commission meeting.

On nudity, commissioners will consider adopting penalties for people who violate nudity rules in places that sell alcohol.

The current rules define how skimpy a costume can be, how much skin can or cannot be shown and prohibits sexual and simulated sexual behavior.

Violation of the city's prohibition against nudity would be a second-degree misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $500 and 60 days in jail.

The city's nudity rules mean that a bathing suit a woman can wear on the beach won't be allowed in a bar, Mayor Ed Kelley said.

"What you see on the beach is more than what you can see by law in a place that sells alcohol," Mayor Ed Kelley said. "Alcohol is not allowed on the beach."

Mr. Kelley said the ordinance was not written to target Cheaters adult nightclub, but covers the entire city.

A number of attempts to get a comment from an official with Cheaters, a "bikini" bar on North U.S.

1, were not successful.

On the gambling issue, the commission on Nov. 1 will consider a ban on commercial gaming devices and regulating game rooms.

"This ordinance will prohibit commercial gaming devices and those commercial establishments that use these devices to create a simulated casino experience (commonly referred to as 'internet cafes')," City Attorney Randall Hayes wrote in a memorandum.

Ormond Beach currently has a moratorium on new Internet cafes.

"If you look throughout the state of Florida, there's been a plethora of Internet cafes opening up everywhere," the mayor, Mr. Kelley, said. "People are calling the State Attorney's Office saying they've lost money. They get hooked."

Mr. Kelley said the state Legislature is expected to regulate Internet cafes during its next session. The moratorium and redefined rules will cover the city until the state regulations are developed, he said.

Internet cafes have opened in Daytona Beach, South Daytona and other cities. Attempts to contact two Internet cafes listed in the phone book with Ormond Beach addresses were not successful. Inter-

Outback restaurant planned for airport property

By Tony Briggs
For Hometown News

DAYTONA BEACH — The shell of what used to be a popular Mexican restaurant near Daytona Beach International Airport has sat empty since July 2008.

That may be about to change.

The Volusia County Council recently voted to move ahead with plans to tear down the 30-year-old, 10,000-square-foot building making room for a new Outback Steakhouse restaurant.

The property is owned by the airport.

"We got the green light," said Stephen J. Cooke, director of business development at Daytona Beach International Airport.

If all goes as planned, Outback and the county will agree on a contract within 60 days. Under the terms of that contract, Outback would build and begin operating the new restaurant about nine months after that, he said.

Outback was one of two restaurant companies that bid on replacing the old

Mexican restaurant on Midway Avenue. But Mr. Cooke said the other bid, from Olive Garden and Red Lobster owner Darden Restaurants, didn't meet the county's requirements so negotiations are moving ahead with Outback.

Outback's proposed contract calls for it to build a new 6,500-square-foot restaurant, which would be the new home for an existing Outback now operating in a shopping center across International Speedway

Ormond Pier bait shop might be up for grabs

By John Bozzo
For Hometown News

ORMOND BEACH — Ike Leary pointed out the window from the Cassin Park Bait House in response to a customer's question last week.

"Where are the fish?" asked a woman from Ponce Inlet.

"Go all the way up the dock," he said. "Big drum. Fifteen pounds."

Mr. Leary, 62, a lifelong city resident and retired plumber, has run the city-owned bait shop for the past dozen years, building a small business and endearing himself to loyal customers.

It wasn't always easy.

City officials asked him to take over the bait shop in late 1999 after the previous operator failed and walked away. Mr. Leary gave up his Happy Fisherman Bait & Tackle shop to keep the Ormond shop open during the holidays and signed a five-year lease in 2000.

The first years were difficult financially until Mr. Leary obtained the local rights to commercially fish for blue crab, which he sells out of the shop.

A popular item, the blue crab caught by his son, Andrew, put the business on more solid ground and allowed him to expand to other items, including ice cream and hot dogs.

Terms of the original five-year lease permit one-year renewals. Those renewals were automatic until this year.

Two weeks ago, city officials told Mr. Leary the renewal would not be automatic. The city was proposing to make him compete with other bidders to keep the business.

Al Weeks will be added to park's name

By Patrick McCallister
For Hometown News

ORMOND-BY-THE-SEA — There is such a thing as people power.

Thanks to citizen action, Volusia County's North Shore Park is getting renamed Al Weeks Sr. North Shore Park.

"I made the motion and it became the Al Weeks North Shore Park," Volusia County Council member Carl Persis said in a phone interview.

On Saturday, Nov. 5, there'll be a small renaming celebration at 1 p.m. Mr. Persis plans to attend and deliver a proclamation from the county council. Celebration organizers said they'll serve minor refreshments, but the event will be low key. The oceanfront park is at 1631 Ocean Shore Blvd.

"He was the unofficial mayor of Ormond-by-the-Sea," resident Mary Yochum said. "He put out a monthly newsletter called Dune Line. He was doing it as a courtesy to the community service organizations here. That brought everybody to him. He was always setting up community meetings."

Ormond-by-the-Sea is unincorporated, so it doesn't have an elected mayor. Mr. Weeks, who was a realtor, died last October at the age of 62. Shortly after his death, Greg Evans — owner of Alfie's Restaurant, which is about a mile from the park — helped form an ad hoc citizen committee to push the county to rename North Shore Park after Mr. Weeks. Among other reasons to rename the park, he explained in an interview before the council decision, was because Mr. Weeks pushed for getting it built.

Mr. Persis, who represents Ormond-by-the-Sea on the county council, initially opposed the renaming. He noted in interviews that North Shore is a nostalgic term among surfers that conjures images of the Island of Oahu, Hawaii. Members of the citizen ad hoc committee went to a county council meeting with hundreds of signatures on a petition to rename the park.

"... if we could perhaps have Al Weeks North Shore Park, or combine the name somehow, how would you feel about that?" Mr. Persis said he asked the citizens. "They shrugged their shoulders and said that would be fine. That opened the door and other council members said, 'Why don't we just do it?'"

At least eight of the county's 54 recreational facilities are named after people, including Tom Renick Park, which is also in Ormond-by-the-Sea. Several more have people's surnames, such as Pooser Park in Orange City. Others were designated for streets or geological features that were named after people, such as Colby Park in Cassadaga.

Nearly $1,000 water bill shocks resident

By Patrick McCallister
For Hometown News

HOLLY HILL — When Schemetta Davis opened her last utilities bill she got an unpleasant surprise. A shock, really.

No typo. Her City of Holly Hill utilities bill really was $899.54.

"Her previous three bills were $46.15," Kurt Swartzlander, administrative services director, said.

Or, about 19.5 times less than the current bank-breaker.

Ms. Davis took the super-sized bill to the last regular meeting of the Holly Hill City Commission. She hoped the commission could get it reduced. By then, the bill was down to $495.30. City staff was able to dismiss some — but not all — of the unusual fees.

Part of the costs of water service is for water in, and part is for water out.

"As soon as they came in and showed there was a leak that wasn't going into sewage treatment, and they'd repaired it, we took off the charge, which was $404.24," Mr. Swartzlander said.

The longtime Holly Hill resident got an abrupt education about how city utilities work — if water went through the meter, it's yours. You pay. Doesn't matter if it leaked out and you didn't know it. No exceptions.

"We have a lot of people come in when their water lines break," Jim McCroskey, city manager, told the commission. "We require them to pay it, but try to help them by letting them make payments."

The charge that was removed was because all of that water did not leave Ms. Davis' house via water treatment lines.

Ms. Davis told the commission she was offered a payment plan. But, that wasn't the point. The huge water use was the result of a hidden leak between the meter and her apartment at 660 East St. Surely, she argued, the city understood she didn't actually use that water, or have any way to know about the leak.

"I told her I wish we could wipe the bill out, but we can't," commissioner Rick Glass said in a phone interview after the meeting. "By law, she's got to pay. In certain circumstances like that, we should be able to do something about that."

Commissioner Donnie Moore, too, said he wanted to wipe away Ms. Davis' unusual charges.

"I was looking for something that I could use to reduce her burden," he said. "The commission has the power to take some things on an individual basis. The problem is that opens a floodgate."

No pun intended.

The story had a mostly happy ending for Ms. Davis. The property owner, Scott Singler, paid $300 of the outstanding bill.

"I have a good tenant who struggles to make ends meet," he said, in a phone interview.

And he figured the water-line break wasn't her fault. He's got about 160 properties spread among four that water did not leave Ms. Davis' house via water treatment lines. The first hidden leak he's encountered. He said the only government that's waived water-consumption fees is Ormond Beach.

"I think they should look at circumstances," he said. "Not all circumstances are the same. If the leak is on my side and I ignore it, it's on me. But when I find a leak and fix it immediately, that's something that should be considered."

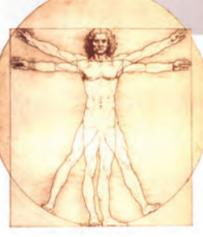

Mr. Swartzlander said pumping stations can't consider whether water use is legitimate or not.

"We have fixed costs, and if we waived the fees we'd end up passing costs to those who are paying," he said. "We try to (waive fees) anyway we can justify giving a break."

He said utilities are like all financial accounts—customers can and should monitor and secure them regularly. Turns out that Ms. Davis' near $900 bill wasn't the King Kong for Holly Hill's record books. Some single-family bills have been higher.

Mr. Swartzlander said unresolved and hidden leaks, vandalism, and even theft often run up water bills. He advised securing outdoor spigots, and shutting off master valves when away from a home or business for more than a few days.

"The other thing, we have some folks who'll go out and read their own meters once a week or so," he said. "We're glad to show anyone how to read their meter."

Are you brave enough for the Tomoka Lights?

A young couple drives north on Beach Street leaving behind the last homes and passing through the State Park. The lights of the Tomoka River Bridge are the last on the highway. The moonless night is black — pitch black.

Once deep into the hardwood hammock the lovers turn into an ancient logging road that is now almost grown over. As they pull away from the blacktop the fingers of the palmetto fronds brush each side of their car. It is a cool fall night. Just right to park with the windows down.

Once stopped, all of the car lights are turned off. Not even the dull glow of a radio dial breaks the inky darkness. As the pair embrace they are unaware of the beady eyes of the raccoons and bobcats that stare out of the woods. Nothing will distract them as they answer the call of their youthful hormones. Soon a wet fog envelops the car in a gray shroud. A rustling noise just outside interrupts the pair but only briefly, for these are Florida kids and they know the noise of a foraging armadillo. They stare deeply into each other's eyes, oblivious to all else.

Just then a light appears over the hood of the car and far down the trail. The single light is filtered by the fog but it must be very bright. Is it a motorcycle? They wonder out loud. Maybe, but they hear nothing. The night is silent. Even the crickets and tree frogs have stopped their chorus. Now the strange glow grows larger. It is rapidly bearing down on them. Surely whoever it is will soon stop. In an instant it is upon them and splits into two with a light going along either side of the car. Terrified, they hold each other tightly and watch through the rear window as the light reunites and soon disappears.

The young lovers have just experienced the famous Tomoka Lights, a legend in Northeastern Volusia County.

Now, you may believe this to be a Halloween tale of my own invention, but you would be dead wrong. Sure, I embellished it some for entertainment purposes, but the facts in my story have been retold many times. Almost as long as writers have been inspired to take up pen and paper to chronicle the history of this area there has been mention of the mystical Tomoka Lights.

At first it would be easy to pass these sightings off as net café owners typically liken their games to a sweepstakes, Internet surfing or a card game.

The Florida Council on Compulsive Gambling considers Internet cafes gambling parlors because people spend money on an uncertain chance of reward. Callers to the council's help line reported the same negative impacts as gambling, such as getting hooked, using bill money to gamble and neglecting families.

Twenty-five percent of callers to the council's help line were over age 55, 31 percent had committed an illegal act to finance gambling, 75 percent were female, 48 percent were white and 44 percent were black.

Typically, a player wagers a number of points and punches a button on a machine similar to a slot machine. Rotating images

Quick Answers to Common Legal Questions

Permanent Hearing Loss from Airbag Deployments in Auto Accidents

The Introduction of Automobile Safety Features

With the invention of the automobile followed the inevitable occurrence of auto accidents. As a result, manufacturers and scientists have been developing ways to minimize injuries to people involved in car accidents. New safety features are developed and introduced almost yearly in an attempt to reduce and ultimately eliminate injuries to occupants of automobiles during an accident. Such safety developments include antilock brakes, head rests, shatter proof windows, seatbelts and airbags.

The Unintended Consequences of Airbags

It has been estimated that there have been over two million airbag deployments in the last 10 years. Modern airbags fully deploy in approximately 20-30 milliseconds, with an incredible amount of speed and force that is necessary to deploy it quickly enough to have it inflate before the vehicle occupant strikes the steering wheel or dashboard during an automobile accident. However, deploying an object at such an incredible speed and force often comes with a cost. From an orthopedic standpoint, studies have shown there has been an increase in broken sternums, broken ribs, forearm fractures and shoulder injuries as a result of the power of the inflating airbag. However, studies also show that there is another, more unexpected result from this phenomenon: the effect that airbags sometimes have on an occupant's hearing.

Hearing Loss

The amount of noise associated with airbag deployment from a car accident varies with the type, size and location of the airbag. Deployment of a driver's side front airbag will generate mean peak sound pressure levels of approximately 160 dB (decibels). A passenger side front airbag will generate mean peak sound pressure level of 168 dB, while dual airbag deployments create a mean peak sound pressure level of 170 dB. When you compare these with the level of decibels that can cause hearing loss, the problem becomes evident. Studies have shown that the pain threshold from noise is about 140dB and that a single exposure to sound pressure of this level can cause permanent, severe hearing loss. The most recent development of side airbags as optional equipment in some luxury vehicles has only enhanced this problem. The deployment of a side airbag generates a mean peak sound air pressure of 178 dB. That is more than 20% higher than the level necessary to cause permanent severe hearing loss. Add in the fact that the side air bag deploys closer to the ear and the danger becomes escalated.

Steps to Take After an Accident

If you or someone you love has been involved in a car crash or truck crash that resulted in air bag deployment, it is important to have your hearing checked for any abnormalities. If you have ringing in your ears or experience dizziness, remember to seek immediate medical attention and know that you can always call an attorney for further help. Carr

Crime Stoppers of Northeast Florida is seeking information on the whereabouts of Raheen Rashad Carr, 25. Crime Stoppers has been seeking information on Carr's whereabouts since two arrest warrants were issued for him in August charging him with burglary and failure to show up for a court date associated with a charge of driving on a suspended license. While Carr hasn't been located, Crime Stoppers is renewing its efforts to find him as a result of additional arrest warrants being issued on October 10 charging him with six counts of credit card fraud. Carr is known to frequent the beachside areas of Daytona Beach and Ormond Beach. His last known address was on Kingston Avenue in Daytona Beach, and his current whereabouts are unknown. Carr is 6-feet, 6-inches tall and weighs about 220 pounds and has black hair and brown eyes. If you see Carr or know where he is, don't attempt to apprehend him. Anyone with information regarding Carr's whereabouts is asked to call Crime Stoppers toll-free at (888) 277-TIPS. You can also Text your tip by texting "TIP231 plus your message" to CRIMES. Anyone who provides information to Crime Stoppers will remain anonymous and can qualify for a reward of up to $1,000.

A warning to elderly people

These gentlemen came to my door in Ormond Beach and said they were from the electric company. They asked where they could put a meter without hitting my sprinklers. While I was in the back yard with one of the men, his partner robbed me. Thank the Lord I wasn't injured.

County is obligated to provide transportation

In the Oct. 14 paper "Officials suggest separate tax for public transportation," county officials want to remove Votran from their transportation fund and introduce another tax for transportation. It is the county's obligation to provide transportation for its citizens. We are paying for transportation taxes already. This county isn't being run very well.

Thanks for the trip down memory lane

I really enjoyed the Land Lines article in the Oct. 14 edition ("Back in the old days...") I moved here with my mother and sister in 1968 at the age of 10 and remember those wonderful landmarks as well. Last week, a friend of mine who moved here from Las Vegas was talking about the history in Vegas and how sad it is that they continue to implode the old resorts and how much history it destroys. I then got on my rant about the landmarks that were here and are now gone. I played in the dunes when there were no condos on the North Peninsula. I remember the Coquina Hotel and the Ormond Pier. As a teen I loved to go out on the pier in a storm and feel the power of the ocean as the pier swayed. In my 20s, I worked at the Happy Whale Restaurant. And then, there was the Ormond Hotel — what a shame. Anyway, thanks for the article.

Resident Dorothy Gramlich is surprised by her win during a game with Tyja Davis, 10, of Tomoka Elementary School during Adopt a Grandparent Day at Grand Villa Senior Living Community in Ormond Beach recently. Fifth graders from the school visit with the seniors once a month to spend quality time, playing games and even celebrating a holiday or special occasion.

I really enjoyed Land Lines

I just wanted to say how much I enjoyed Dan Smith's column on Friday, Oct. 14, titled "Back in the old days." It was a nice trip down memory lane. I am also an old-time Daytona Beach resident. I would love to see more columns like this one.

Land Lines is funny

Dan Smith's column about getting his driver's license renewal (Land Lines Oct. 21, "So, now I have to be able to see to drive?") was really funny. If I hadn't experienced much of the same fiasco, I would have thought he was exaggerating.

What is happening to the responsible parent?

To everyone in Florida, I wanted to let you know of a certain type of human that is going extinct. It is the responsible parent. Every year, we see less and less of these people. It is getting harder to find parents that still care that their children get a good education, understand responsibility and put their children's needs first. Unfortunately, these people are going extinct. Every generation you see more and more parents who put their needs and wants first. Then blame everyone else when their child does wrong or bad. So if you happen to know of one of these fewer responsible parents take the time to thank them for caring for their children, thank them for wanting what is best for their kids. Not the latest electronic toy, but a good solid education, good morals and a desire to improve their life.

In response to: 'Palm trees are messy'

I grew up in Florida and palm trees are Florida trees. Palm trees are also on the seal and the Florida flag. I am sorry this person doesn't like the trees. The ranter must not be from Florida. If you grew up in Florida, like I did, you would love those trees. It represents who we are.

Work together to help schools

How long before Volusia County School Board realizes that they need to team with us the community and America's other school boards to make national education reform occur?

It's just utterly foolish for them to alienate our communities (look at Oak Hill!) when our schools so need us. I know that they are the experts, but continuing to treat public members as below them is weakening our public school system. All of us must expect respect of public education from both our schools and our own selves for America to forever remain a world leader.

Why do the youngest students start their day so early?

I have read several recent articles concerning the number of accidents involving school children in Volusia County. This raises several questions regarding the current class times and lack of safety measures. First of all, I am curious as to why kindergarten through fifth grade students have a start time of 7:55 a.m. This means that the youngest students are being sent out while still dark in the morning. Is this the best policy? Why doesn't kindergarten through fifth grade have the latest start and dismissal times? Secondly, I have never understood why the schools start and dismiss so early to begin with. I have been told that the reason is due to the heat in the late afternoon. Really? Aren't schools air-conditioned anyway? It

Loved Dan's column

I am the Supervisor at the Driver License Office on Jean Street, and I just wanted to tell Dan Smith that I loved his article (Land Lines, Oct. 21, "So, now I have to be able to see to drive?").

It was so true. I appreciate the publicity he gave us, and I really appreciate him not trashing us too bad. It was a great article. Thanks

Get rid of old prescription drugs

The Drug Enforcement Administration has scheduled another National Prescription Drug Take Back Day from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, to provide a venue for persons who want to dispose of unwanted and unused prescription drugs.

The Ormond Beach Police Department is a certified collection site for this event. Expired, unused, or unwanted prescription drugs may be dropped off at the lobby of the Police Department located at 170 W. Granada Blvd.

DEA will continue to hold Take Back Days every six months.

Police Department to take old prescription drugs

The Daytona Beach Police Department will participate in the National Prescription Drug Take Back Day from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29.

Organized by the Drug Enforcement Agency in conjunction with state and local law enforcement, National Prescription Take Back Day is an opportunity to dispose of unused and unwanted prescription drugs.

The Daytona Beach Police Department will have two drop off locations police headquarters at 129 Valor Blvd. and the beachside precinct located at 510 Harvey St.

The Drug Enforcement Agency will then properly dispose of the medication, which protects Florida's water supply, environment and animals.

Tickets on sale for 'Rockefeller Revisited'

The Ormond Beach Department of Leisure Services will hold "Rockefeller Revisited" from 6 to 9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, at The Casements, 25 Riverside Drive.

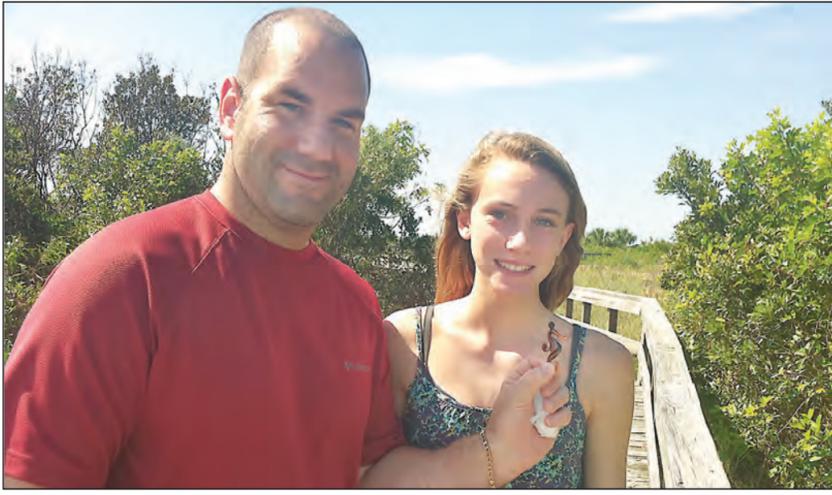

Last year was the first ever "Rockefeller Revisited" with an array of historical characters. Mr. and Mrs. Price, neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Bostrom and John D. Rockefeller's personal assistant Jean Harris, joined the party last year. Who knows who will show up this year? The characters will be in authentic costumes and will share stories of their times with "Neighbor John" as they await the party's beginning.

There will also be candlelit tours of the Rockefeller mansion.

Tickets are $4 per adult. Children are admitted free. A limited number of tickets are available.

For more information or to purchase tickets, call (386) 676-3216.

Geocaching: high-tech hide and seek

By Casey Preston
cpreston@hometownnewsol.com

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Earlier this month, an unnamed tropical storm blasted through Volusia County, relegating most residents to the safe and dry confines of their home. Not the Carni family, who were out geocaching—a high-tech “hide-and-seek” game that has caught the eye of millions all over the world.

“It was only raining, no lightning or thunder, and my kids were just sitting around the house bored,” said 36-year-old Kyle Carni of New Smyrna Beach. “So I figured — why not geocache?”

Geocachers use a Global Positioning System device or GPS-equipped Smartphone to locate the coordinates of a hidden “cache.” They can be anything and range in size from that of a thumbnail to a refrigerator door, but typically caches are shoebox-sized containers that hold a few special items left by each finder and a log book used to mark the date of their find and track the cache’s history.

The main rule of geocaching is if you take something out of a cache, you must put something back in its place. When done signing the log book, the cache must be hidden back in its original location for future geocachers to find.

“It’s the coolest thing I’ve ever seen,” said Mr. Carni, who only discovered the activity about three weeks ago. “It’s a great way to spend time with your family outside the house.”

The first geocache was hidden in Oregon in May 2000 by Dave Ulmer. The 63-year-old retired computer engineer thought it might be fun to test the receiver accuracy on his GPS by hiding a five-gallon bucket in a remote location. Inside the bucket he left a logbook, a pencil, and several small prizes.

He then posted the coordinates on a GPS user group website with the instruction, “Take some stuff, leave some stuff.”

The container was discovered three days later by two separate seekers. They reported back to the user group and members soon began hiding caches.

Although people all over the world have taken up geocaching, it has flown largely under the radar.

“I was shocked to learn that it had been around that long,” Mr. Carni said. “I just wish I knew about it earlier.”

One of the best parts about geocaching, Mr. Carni said, is it is relatively cheap.

The primary cost for geocachers is the purchase of a GPS. Prices vary, but a good unit can be found for under $100.

For those with a smartphone, though, all that is needed is an application that lists coordinates and details of each cache in a particular area. There are several apps to choose from, but the one Mr. Carni purchased, Groundspeak, has a one-time cost of $10.

Signing up for a basic membership at the website that is the hub for geocache coordinates and story logs, www.geocaching.com, is free. From there, members can type in any zip code or address to see a list of all the caches in that area.

Each cache listed on the site typically contains its log, a description of the canister, its size, hints to its location, a photo and of course, its coordinates.

There is also a discussion board so members can share stories and talk about geocaching.

Martin Palmer, 78, of Port Orange, says he takes his 8-year-old grandson Kevin geocaching every weekend, providing an intergenerational connection that he said has brought the two closer than ever.

“When we’re out there, we’re a team,” he said. “It’s the most fun I’ve had with my grandson in years.”

For Mr. Palmer, it is not only an opportunity for family time, but an excuse to get out for some much-needed exercise.

“I hate going on walks, it’s so boring,” he said. “Today, I walked about two miles looking for these treasures and didn’t even realize it.”

According to the website, there are estimated to be about five million geocachers worldwide and about one and a half million registered caches hidden around the globe.

A search of New Smyrna Beach zip code 32169 listed more than 12,500 geo-

'Ask the Pharmacist' slated

Florida Hospital Memorial Medical Center will hold a free "Ask the Pharmacist" prescription consultation event from noon to 5 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30, at the hospital's classrooms A and B, 305 Memorial Medical Parkway in Daytona Beach.

Pharmacists will be available to answer questions about prescription interactions, medication storage, generic alternatives and more. Participants are asked to bring their prescriptions to this event for a personal consultation. Additionally, a free lecture about navigating the complex Medicare system will be available to all. Admission is free, but registration is required.

For more information or to register, call (866)-328-6417.

Half marathon scheduled for this weekend

The Central Florida Sports Commission will be holding the Daytona Beach Half Marathon 2011 on Sunday, Oct. 30. The Central Florida Sports Commission will have a 13.1 mile course that runs through the streets of Daytona Beach. The course will begin and end at the Daytona International Speedway. In between, runners will race through the city streets. More than 1,000 runners are expected for this race. The half marathon will start near the start/finish line at the Speedway at 6:30 a.m. The event should take approximately three and a half hours to run.

All roads and intersections should be open no later than 11 a.m.

Non-event related traffic is encouraged to use Interstate 95, Williamson Boulevard, Bill France Boulevard, or other alternate routes to avoid traffic delays.

For additional information, visit www.daytona-half.com.

Participants needed for Trunk or Treat

The Holly Hill Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual Trunk or Treat from 5:30 to 7 p.m., Monday, Oct. 31, at Hollyland Park.

The chamber is looking for business wanting to participate in this year's event. Participants may set up from 4 to 5 p.m. before the event. More than 800 kids are expected to attend. Participants should bring candy, coupons and advertisements for their business.

For more information, call (386) 255-7311.

Learn about Lap-Band

Florida Hospital Memorial Medical Center will hold a free Lap-Band information session at 6 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 1, at Florida Hospital Memorial Medical Center, Medical Office Building, Classroom A, 305 Memorial Medical Parkway, Daytona Beach.

Registration is required. For more information or to register, call 231-3550.

Learn how to search historical newspapers online

Volusia County library cardholders can explore America's past with America's Historical Newspapers, an online resource available all day.

The database includes newspapers from colonial times through 1922, offering searchable digital facsimiles of thousands of titles from all 50 states. With eyewitness reporting, editorials, letters, advertisements, obituaries and more, this acclaimed collection chronicles the evolution of American culture and daily life.

Genealogy Librarian Kim Dolce will show patrons how to use the database at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 2, in the Daytona Beach Regional Library auditorium, 105 E. Magnolia Ave.

The class is free and open to the public.

For more information, call (386) 257-6037, Ext. 6167.

An exploratory writing class planned

An exploratory writing class will be held at 10 a.m., Nov. 3, at the Ormond Beach Library, 30 S. Beach St.,

UNA chapter to hold annual meeting

The Volusia Chapter of the UNA-USA will hold its annual Florida meeting on Nov. 4 and 5, at the Plaza Resort and Spa hotel, 650 N. Atlantic Ave., Daytona Beach.

The meetings will emphasize what is happening with the UN and how local chapters can be more involved with their communities. There will be workshops on using social media; build membership; raise funds and promote advocacy as well as spreading the word about programs. The participants will learn how to harness the power of Twitter, Facebook, YouTube, Foursquare, LinkedIn and other social media. Additionally there will have demonstrations on using the Model UN. The cost of registration this year remains at $40 and includes Saturday breakfast and lunch.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 a.m. and end at 5 p.m.

For more information, call (386) 677-4811.

swamp gas or some other natural phenomena but the experience of the tellers are so precisely the same it begs for another explanation. Mr. Frank Moore, a recently retired engineer at the Kennedy Space Center told me the story as did Mrs. Susan Heddy, the director of The Ormond Beach Historical Society. Both people of substance, neither knows the other and yet the stories are almost identical. Most who have seen the Tomoka Lights will tell you that they do not believe in the supernatural yet they always inadvertently qualify that with a long pause.

Is it the souls of the Native Americans who once lived there? Do the Timucuan object to those who encroach upon their land? That is one theory but not the only one. Could it be the restless spirits of the French settlers who were massacred by the Spanish in the 16th century? How about The British and their slaves who were killed by the Indians in that very woods? An interesting and tingling conundrum.

Now I will ask you for help. Go out, those of you who are bold enough, go and park and wait. The nights around All Hallows Eve are known to be a time when the spirit world is most active. Find a road up near the northern Ormond Loop and park with your lights out. Sit quietly and watch and wait. You will discover that the loudest disbeliever on the way is the most frightened once there. When the Tomoka Lights appear, hold your ground. Experience it all and then tell me what you have seen, if you are able. With shaky hands, tap out your findings to me in an email to fish-dan@att.net

P.S. Parking on a dark trail is not only reserved for the young...

Goodwill offers job search assistance, training, clothing

By Tony Briggs
For Hometown News

DAYTONA BEACH — Down on his luck and unable to find a job, Stephen Stefano was one of an army of unemployed in Volusia County.

He was once a chef at a Key West restaurant, but the place where he was living burned down and he had moved to Daytona Beach in search of a new life. Mr. Stefano planned to live with a friend until he found a job but "that didn't work out." So he moved into a motel and found himself rapidly burning through what little money he had left while he pounded the pavement in search of a job.

That's when the 50-year-old veteran stumbled across what might seem an unlikely job search ally — Goodwill Industries. Perhaps best known for helping the disabled, it turns out Goodwill also helps people like Mr. Stefano find jobs.

After being referred to the Goodwill Self-Sufficiency Job Center at 141 W. International Speedway Boulevard in Daytona Beach, Mr. Stefano said he quickly got help reworking his resume and received a voucher to get appropriate interview clothes from area Goodwill thrift stores.

"I got a job pretty quickly," said Mr. Stefano, who is now working as a chef at the Crab Shop, just down the road from the Goodwill center. "Going around on my own, I wasn't doing nothing, I was down to my last straw."

He credited Goodwill program facilitator Bonne Trammell for quickly determining his needs, his abilities, providing just the right assistance and pointing him in the right direction.

"I don't know where I would have went," Mr. Stefano said. "I had no family. My main thing was to get a job and she helped me to do that. With her help I got a job and I am on my way."

Those are the kind of success stories Bill Oakley likes to hear.

The president and CEO of Goodwill Industries of Central Florida, Inc. said Mr. Stefano is one of about 2,200 people his organization will work with this year to help find a job in a six county area that includes Volusia, Brevard, Seminole, Orange, Lake and Osceola.

Through the first six months of this year, at least 316 people in the region have found jobs through Goodwill, at an average salary of $8.78 per hour, Mr. Oakley said. The number might actually be higher

"Going around on my own, I wasn't doing nothing. I was down to my last straw."

Stephen Stefano
newly employed

since not all clients report back when they get a job.

"In this particular economy, with the kind turmoil and challenges that people face, I think we are very proud of returning 316 people to work," he said. "And by the end of the year we expect that number to be well in excess of 500."

Employment assistance is provided through Goodwill's network of Self-Sufficiency Job Centers, which provide a wide range of services designed to get clients back to work.

Staffers provide counseling, help in resume preparation and ongoing encouragement through the job hunt, Mr. Oakley said. The centers also maintain job listings, provide computers for clients to use to look for jobs and run multi-day job training programs to prepare job hunters for interviews.

Vouchers for new clothes for job interviews and working also are provided along with referrals to other social agencies that can help clients who need it.

"What we've discovered, particularly over the last 20 years, is that for many people with disabilities, the issues related to going to work are pretty similar to the issues faced by most of the so-called hard-core unemployed," Mr. Oakley said. "Many times, people lack opportunities, experiences and understanding of what employers want or expect. So the skills that we have learned in serving people with disabilities are highly transferable to helping people who are not necessarily disabled but have struggled to hold a job."

While Goodwill's mission is still focused on helping the disabled, he said "we serve more people nationally that are not disabled today than we serve people with disabilities."

Goodwill's job services are available at no cost to anyone who wants assistance, he said.

"Anyone who wants a job or wants a better job can find their way to a self sufficiency center such as the one we have in Daytona and exploit that opportunity to do better in the world of work," he said.

The Central Florida Goodwill organization, which operates on an annual budget of about $30 million, is funded almost entirely on donations and income generated by Goodwill Thrift Stores, Mr. Oakley said.

Let Dr. Costello create "Your Winning Smile"

People choose cosmetic dental procedures for various reasons - to repair a defect such as a malformed bite or crooked teeth, treat an injury, or just improve their overall appearance. For these and many other reasons, cosmetic dentistry has become a vital and important part of the dental profession and one of the fastest growing areas of dentistry. For example, tooth-whitening procedures have tripled over the past five years. Common cosmetic dental procedures can be performed to correct misshaped, discolored, chipped or missing teeth. It also can be used to change the overall shape of teeth - from teeth that are too long or short, have gaps, or simply need to be reshaped.

Survey available for businesses

The Florida Legislature announced recently the availability of "YourVoice" – an online tool that will survey business owners and stakeholders to collect feedback on any potential burdensome rules and regulations for businesses.

Those interested in completing the survey can access it online at: <http://www.surveymonkey.com/s/FloridaRegReformSurvey>.

Users can access "YourVoice" online and complete a survey. The results of the survey may be considered as ideas for future legislation.

Professional selling skills workshop slated

A three-day series of workshops on Professional Selling Skills will be offered in by the Center for Business & Industry at Daytona State College.

The workshop will teach selling and key interaction skills that enable new and experienced sales professionals and sales managers, as well as marketing and support staff to lead mutually beneficial sales conversations with customers – even those who are indifferent or express concern.

The program is facilitated by Ned Harper, director of the Small Business Development Center.

The three-day workshop will be held Nov. 8 to 10 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Conference Center (on Daytona State's Daytona Beach Campus, 1200 W. International Speedway Blvd. Class size is limited to 12 participants and costs $1,495 per person.

To register or for more information, call (386) 506-4224 or email parkerj@DaytonaState.edu.

Hospital receives grant for free tobacco cessation programs

Florida Hospital Memorial Medical Center has been awarded a $13,100 grant from Northeast Florida Area Health Education Center, Inc. to provide the community with free tobacco cessation programs.

The "Quit Smoking Now" programs will be a series of six-week tobacco cessation classes, designed by an ex-smoker. A trained facilitator will guide participants through the many issues related to quitting smoking, including: coping with anger, sleep problems and cravings, which are common for those who quit smoking.

The first class of the six-week series will start at 2 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 3, at Florida Hospital Oceanside, first floor conference room, 264 S. Atlantic Ave., Ormond Beach.

For more information or to register, call (877) QUIT-IT-NOW.

UCP holds employer recognition event

UCP of East Central Florida was joined by other members of the Volusia County Transition Team recently to recognize local businesses that employ individuals with disabilities.

The employer recognition event was held Oct. 12, at the Mori Hosseini Center at Daytona State College in honor of National Disability Employment Awareness month.

Among the employers recognized were the Daytona Beach Police department and Publix Supermarkets.

Susan Rippe, of Port Orange, and Harry McMillian, a student at Atlantic High School, were recognized for successfully completing mentorship programs to prepare them for employment. Ms. Rippe was mentored by staff at UCP and Mr. McMillian was mentored by staff at the Marine Science

Pier

The restaurant chain serves buckets of crab, fish, shrimp, burgers, chicken and drinks in a casual atmosphere at its 188 locations around the country, including 18 in Florida.

Under the proposed lease, Joe's Crab Shack will pay the city an annual base rent starting at $275,000, with annual increases, as well as a percentage of sales over $5.25 million a year.

Net income for the city after five years and maintenance costs, are projected to be $1.7 million.

Joe's Crab Shack is seen by city leaders as a catalyst to begin progress on the new Entertainment Zone, or E-Zone, plan to revive Main Street from the pier to the Halifax River with new hotels, shops, restaurants and parks.

"This will facilitate the whole E-Zone, moving down Main Street to the river," Mr. Chisholm said.

Jim Cameron, vice president of the Daytona Beach Regional Chamber said, "The more you get, the more you attract people to come to your district."

Don Poor, executive director of the Ocean Center, said, "We're trying to make this a great destination."

Two years ago, the city selected a local partnership to operate a pier restaurant instead of Joe's Crab Shack.

Talks resumed with Joe's after efforts to reach a deal with the local group collapsed.

"They were as willing to come back to Daytona Beach again as were to have them," Mr. Ritchey said. "I won't say there weren't some interesting questions."

In a written press release, Ray Blanchette, chief executive officer of Ignite Restaurant Group, owners of Joe's Crab Shack restaurants, said, "We are thrilled to be partnering with the city of Daytona Beach to revitalize the Daytona Beach Pier. The city has done a tremendous job of preparing the pier for Joe's Crab Shack, so that we can open our doors to the public in the spring of 2012."

Bait

"While the city has been generally satisfied with the operation of the bait shop, it has been over 10 years since proposals have been requested," Kelly McGuire, finance director, wrote in a memo. "Therefore, in the interest of competition, staff does not intend to renew the current lease. Instead an RFP (request for proposals) will be issued for lease/operation of the bait house."

Mr. Leary was stunned by the news. His voice cracked with emotion as he asked the City Commission on Sept. 18 to delay a vote to open his business up for competing bids. The vote was delayed until Nov. 1.

"I was shocked," he said. "This is my livelihood."

His customers also expressed shock. "This man is here all the time," Curtis Weaver of Ormond Beach said. "There's no reason for it (seeking new operators)."

Wilfred McCleod of Ormond Beach bought some shrimp for bait as he waited for the night's load of blue crab.

"With his (Mr. Leary's) personality and love, nobody can probably take his place," Mr. McCleod said.

Tommy Atkinson of Ormond Beach said the plan to seek a new bait shop vendor is "ridiculous."

Mr. Leary has always kept the bait shop open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., seven days a week, every day except Christmas.

"I love my job," he said. "I jump out of bed every day and come down here. Most of the time I'm here before 7 a.m."

Opinions are split on the City Commission.

Mayor Ed Kelley said

most of the contracts the city seeks competitive bids for are vendors paid by the city to do a job, not vendors such as Leary who pay the city.

"I personally feel he does a good job," Mr. Kelley said. "He pays rent in excess of $25,000 a year. That's a pretty good return on a $75,000 bait house we built."

Mr. Leary said he also pays the property taxes on the bait shop.

Mr. Kelley said if he was the private owner of a bait shop, he would not kick out a successful vendor. The mayor remembered that at one time, city officials wondered if anyone could run the bait shop.

Troy Kent, at the Sept. 18 meeting, says he supports opening the door to competition.

"If someone else wants to compete with you, that's what's going to happen," Mr. Kent said.

At the bait shop on a steady Friday night, Mr. Leary said the "one thing I'm afraid of" is someone from up north with a boatload of money, who knows nothing about running a bait shop, taking over the business.

Mr. Leary said losing the bidding would mean a $20,000 loss on the blue crab rights and a boat.

"I'm hoping the mayor and commissioners would let me continue as I have done," he said.

ERAU plans full slate of homecoming activities

For Hometown News
Volnews@hometownnewsol.com

This year's homecoming will be a special occasion as Embry Riddle Aeronautical University celebrates reaching and surpassing the 100,000 alumni mark. Alumni returning to the campus can enjoy such events as a dinner dance, a hangar party, and a 10-year reunion for graduates of the applied meteorology program.

Other activities during Homecoming Week, Oct. 31 through Nov. 5, include comedian Bo Burnham, a "Childhood Memories" parade, a muscle car show, a student talent show, and the movie "Harry Potter & The Deathly Hallows, Part 2." Those who are sports-minded can cheer on the basketball and volleyball teams or take part in a scholarship golf tournament. Also planned are tours of the new state-of-the-art James Hagedorn Aviation Complex.

Events are free, unless otherwise noted. ERAU is located at 600 S. Clyde Morris Blvd., Daytona Beach. For more information, visit www.embryriddle.edu.

A new documentary tells the story of the city's pioneer surfers and the Smyrna Surfari Club

By Casey Preston
cpreston@hometownnewsol.com

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Nearly 50 years ago, a determined group of teenagers went before the New Smyrna Beach City Commission to fight for their right to surf. Commissioners were considering an outright ban on the new sport, afraid that it might threaten the city's reputation as the "World's Safest Bathing Beach."

Although the teens won their appeal, they were designated only a block's-length of beach to share amongst themselves.

Today, should a similar group of young surfers approach the City Commission, they would be met by Mayor Adam Barringer, whom the youngsters probably would have seen surfing right next to them.

"Surfing is one of the main driving forces of New Smyrna Beach," said Mr. Barringer, who has surfed on and off in New Smyrna Beach since moving to the city in 1979. "It's a major part of our culture and has a much decorated history here."

That history will be on display Friday night at Clancy's Cantina, 301 Flagler Ave., in a two-hour video documentary detailing the journey the sport has taken in New Smyrna Beach, from almost being outlawed in the 1960s to helping make New Smyrna Beach one of today's most famous and consistent surf spots on the East Coast.

The documentary will include pictures and interviews featuring some of the pioneers of New Smyrna Beach surf, including Gordon Smith, Skipper Eppelin and Bud Wright, the "three musketees" who were there for the entire ride.

"(Surfers) were like the Hell's Angels back in the '60s," Mr. Smith said. "Everything has come full circle now."

The documentary will be presented by the Smyrna Surfari Club, a non-profit group created in 1979 to promote the sport of surfing in New Smyrna Beach. Each year, members of the club dedicate their time and money to sponsor several surf contests and fundraising events around town.

All of the aforementioned surf pioneers are members of the group. They are joined by more than two dozen other local men and women.

Among that group is Mayor Barringer, whose membership represents a symbol of how far the sport, and group, has come, said Mike Martin, an inaugural Surfari Club member.

"Before, guys had to go ask the mayor for permission to surf, now the mayor is one of us," Mr. Martin said. "It has come a long way."

The documentary features interviews originally filmed by Paul Auo and Rod Faulds as part of an ongoing project to document the history of surfing in Florida.

The film was edited by New Smyrna Beach High School teacher Kevin Kehoe and his television production class.

"The school took what we gave them and were able to put together something great," said Surfari Club member Jeff Crawford. "We can't thank them enough."

Now, the finished product is a two-hour trip through the city's surfing history complete with stories about everything from early rivalries with Cocoa Beach surfers to surf trips to Hawaii in the early '60s and Hurricane Dora in 1964, which produced the biggest surf New Smyrna Beach has ever seen.

"(Dora) sat in the middle of Florida and spun for three or four days, just deciding where to go," Mr. Wright said. "It was a wave-producing machine."

Law enforcement threatened to arrest any surfer caught trying to brave the harsh conditions, but that did little to stop Mr. Wright, who charged the beach and ended up with the biggest ride of his life.

"You could have driven two trains through these waves," he said.

Throughout its 30-plus year history, the Surfari Club has donated more than $100,000 to graduating seniors from New Smyrna Beach High School. Each year, $1,000 and $2,000 scholarships are awarded to up to three students based on academic performance, financial need and involvement in local surfing.

"We want to encourage kids to continue on with education," Mr. Eppelin said. "We want to give them a shove to say 'hey, there's another side (besides surfing) that's important.'"

This year, the program will add The Surfari Spirit, an ongoing award that will honor members and friends who passed away over the previous year. The new scholarship was introduced particularly in memory of beloved teacher and surfer Frederick 'Fico' Fernandez, who died while surfing this summer.

Outback

Boulevard from the new location. That's the average size for most Outbacks, according to the restaurant's website, and will seat about 200 diners.

Mr. Cooke said the new location will be a good deal for Outback, because "it's an upgrade from where they are now," and for the airport, which will benefit from new lease revenue.

"It's important for the airport to maximize revenue sources," said Mr. Cooke, because the airport depends on that money to fund operations. No local tax dollars are used to support the county-run airport.

Cancun Lagoon, the last of three Mexican-themed restaurants that occupied the old building, paid the airport $100,000 a year, Cooke said. Under the proposed new lease, Outback would pay $175,000 or 2.5 percent of the gross receipts. The higher amount is mandated by the Federal Aviation Administration, which requires new leases to be based on the property value, he said.

The FAA still must approve all leases under the terms of the deal that transferred the airport from federal to local control after World War II.

Mr. Cooke said he does not anticipate any problems reaching final agreement with Outback or getting FAA approval for the deal.

Outback currently has three locations in Volusia County, including Daytona Beach, Ormond Beach and New Smyrna Beach. Outback's Tampa-based owner, OSI Restaurant Partners, also owns Carrabba's Italian Grill, which has a restaurant in Daytona Beach, and Bonefish Grill, which has a restaurant in Ormond Beach.

Champion soccer team needs funds to travel, train

By Chris Harden
For Hometown News

Congratulations to the U-10 Ormond Beach Apollo Red soccer team for winning first place at the Adidas Columbus Day Classic in Tampa, Oct. 7 to 9. They dominated through tropical storm conditions to go 3-0 in pool play and advance to the finals where they defeated Fusion FC. Blue 6-3.

Apollo Red has competed in various tournaments throughout Florida and have earned the No. 1 ranking in the state. They have their sights set on several impressive goals. They welcome the opportunity to compete in tournaments outside of Florida to see how they compare with other clubs in the Southeast Region. They have also been invited to train overseas with the Juventus and A.C. Milan club teams in Italy. Therefore, these talented young athletes are reaching out to their community. Competitive youth teams such as Apollo Red depend on the generosity of team sponsors to help offset such expenses. Anyone interested in sponsoring this dedicated and determined team, please contact either Coach Sal Iamarino (386)405-8308, niagara510@aol.com or Kraig Parker (386)214-3009, spyder627@aol.com.

Want to find a cheating spouse? There's an app for that

Spend any time surfing the Web and you are bound to find stories that are just too bizarre to be true. Here's a sampling, edited for length. Remember, just because it's online doesn't mean it's true!

From blog.sfgate.com: Apple's "Find My Friends" app might have uncovered a cheating spouse

Apple released a new app that lets you keep up with the whereabouts of your friends. This has ominous implications when used in a hostile relationship.

The "Find My Friends" app has been employed by a suspicious husband to check up on his wife, and he may have caught her red handed.

Kashmir Hill reports at Forbes about a posting to MacRumors' forums in which someone going by the name of ThomasMetz says he caught his wife in a lie thanks to the app: "I got my wife a new 4s and loaded up find my friends without her knowing. She told me she was at her friend's house in the east village. I've had suspicions about her meeting this guy who live uptown. Lo and behold, Find my Friends has her right there."

HOW WEIRD IS THAT!

If the ThomasMetz case is real, it will be interesting to see if this evidence holds up in divorce court. Hill points out that a New Jersey court case earlier this year resulted in a ruling that it's OK to track a cheating spouse via GPS.

From TheJacksonChannel.Com: Deputies: Woman accidentally calls cop for drug deal

Hinds County deputies said a 61-year-old Pearl woman is accused of accidentally calling a detective to make a drug deal.

The Sheriff's Department said Judy Weible accidentally called the cell phone of a detective on their Street Crimes Task Force. At first, he thought it was a joke and ignored her follow-up calls. "In initial calls, she wanted to sell some pills. He blew her off, and evidently she didn't like being ignored, so she started sending a series of text messages," Lt. Jeffrey Scott said. "That's when we kind of took it seriously."

Deputies said they were able to set up a time to meet her and make an arrest.

The Sheriff's Department said Weible was carrying 30 hydrocodone tablets. Weible has been charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute.

From news.yahoo.com: Sotheby's to sell real drawing by fake artist

Auctioneer Sotheby's has sold work by artists great and mediocre, famous and obscure — and now, by an artist who never existed.

The London auction house said it is offering a drawing by the talented but fictional American abstract expressionist Nat Tate.

Tate is the creation of British novelist William Boyd, who wrote a fictional biography that included reproductions of the artist's drawings. It was published in 1998 complete with endorsements from David Bowie and Gore Vidal, who were in on the joke.

The work, "Bridge No. 114," has an estimate of $4,700 to $7,900. Proceeds will go to the Artist's Benevolent Institution.

From newsytype.com: Home raided after "heroin for sale" fliers posted

A ring of drug dealers was busted recently in Oregon. Their neighbors had posted "heroin for sale" fliers, alerting police to their address and activities.

The house had been under observation for almost a year because of complaints. One of the neighbors started putting up paper fliers reading "heroin for sale" along with the names and address.

According to OregonLive.com, neighbors kept logs of people visiting the house, noting the time, frequency and license plate numbers.

Police raided the house and found a portable meth lab, 10.9 grams of heroin, 19.2 grams of marijuana, $4,143 in cash, almost 200 pills and a sawed off shotgun.

Seven adults were arrested at the scene but only six had charges filed against them. A 15-year-old boy was placed in protective custody.

According to KGW, a neighbor brought out chocolate chip cookies for the police. Sgt. John Birkinbine said, "We felt like firefighters for a minute. It was good."

Geocaching

cache hidden within 100 miles.

Of the nine caches Mr. Carni has found thus far, his favorites have been those housing Geocoins, which contain a unique tracking number and are intended to be transported from geocache to geocache. Finders then log its number and a trip log into a database on www.geocaching.com so geocachers can follow its journey all around the world.

During a recent geocache in Port Orange, Mr. Carni and his daughter, Chiara, found a Geocoin that originated in Germany and had traveled to France, England, Canada, and all over the United States.

"The trackables are awesome," he said. "These literally travel across the globe."

Mr. Carni, a glass artist who owns Galleria di Vetro Studio and Glass Gallery on Flagler Avenue, has begun creating caches of his own in the form of small glass sea turtles and other designs.

He also includes a discount code on each piece that can be redeemed at his gallery's website, www.galleriadivetro.com.

Mr. Carni's wife, Nicole, is the director at the New Smyrna Beach Visitor's Center. When her husband explained the activity to her, she immediately saw its potential as a way to show off scenic areas around town that often go unnoticed.

"If I was a tourist in town I would love to go exploring," she said. "It's a perfect thing to promote in the area."

Ms. Carni hopes the activity will catch on enough to eventually hold a large geocaching event around town where different merchants place lockboxes outside their businesses and provide keys to participants who can open each box to reveal a clue to a new location. After a lengthy hunt, participants will ultimately go after a grand prize, hidden somewhere around town.

"I can't imagine this not catching on," she said. "It's an activity that all ages can enjoy."

Leslie Williams, a 44-year-old geocacher in Ormond Beach, said she and her 15-year-old daughter go geocaching multiple times per week. Before each hunt through the woods, Ms. Williams and her daughter each grab a trash bag to fill with litter, so they can fulfill one of the "duties" of geocaching: "Cache in, trash out."

"The benefits of geocaching are literally endless," Mrs. Williams said. "It just feels good all around."

Local jazzman played with many of the greats

By Barbara Salter Nelson
For Hometown News

"Because of you, I'm not afraid to dream or age with grace...Because of you I try to fix everything, or invent all the things I need that are not yet available. Because of you I hear music in my head that no one else can hear, and that does not scare me..."

ORMOND BEACH — Those words, taken from a poem that Gers Yowell's daughter Gina wrote for him several years ago, provide insights into the 88-year-old Ormond Beach Renaissance man. At an age when most people would be slowing down, Mr. Yowell is not only going strong, he's exploring new frontiers as he continues to pursue his lifelong love of music and "all that jazz," among other things.

Earlier this month, Mr. Yowell's life to date was immortalized in a podcast produced by another local jazz musician, Kenny Mackenzie, a keyboard player who lives in Palm Coast and frequently performs at restaurants and clubs throughout the area.

"I respect Gers' musicianship — his ethos and his taste," Mr. Mackenzie said. "After getting to know him, I knew he was a man whose talents need to be heard more, and whose amazing history should be examined and celebrated."

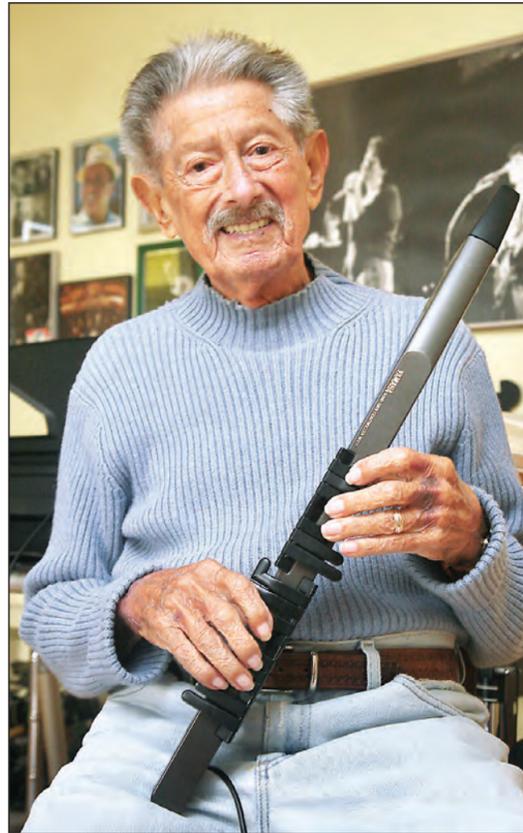

In the podcast, Mr. Yowell talks about his adventures as a musician in the big band and bebop eras. It also includes rare recordings of Mr. Yowell and jazz giants like Charlie Parker, Zoot Sims and Joe Cinderella. A 1950 jam in Mr. Yowell's New York City apartment became Mr. Parker's album "Apartment Sessions."

Mr. Yowell was born in Israel. His parents came to the U.S. and settled in New Jersey when he was a year old. He was surrounded by music growing up. His father played mandolin; his mother played guitar and he had an uncle who played violin for the New York Philharmonic and used to bring him along to rehearsals. Mr. Yowell began his own music study with the piano, but was uninspired.

"I had a lousy teacher," Mr. Yowell said. "We only paid 50 cents a lesson, so we couldn't expect too much."

A clarinet of his uncle's found in a closet heightened his interest.

"I found a good teacher and really learned to play," he said. "When big band started happening, I wanted to play tenor sax

Randy Barber/staff photographer
Jazz musician Gers Yowell of Ormond Beach in his home recording studio recently. Below: Mr. Yowell in the '50s.

so badly that I bugged my parents until they finally got me one. I was in heaven."

His parents were very supportive of his interest in music, but what they didn't know was that he was sneaking out the house in the evenings to perform at clubs.

"My parents certainly wouldn't have approved of me climbing out the window but I hooked up with a black band called the Sultans of Swing," Mr. Yowell said. "They played Count Basie's book and some originals. It was a great experience...a really swinging part of my life."

Jazz has always been the kind of music Mr. Yowell prefers to play.

"It's self-expression...coming from me," he said. "I don't try to emulate anybody. When I'm playing, I'm playing from inside."

His passion for music remained constant throughout his life, but things happened that prevented him from pursuing his music on a fulltime basis.

STAR SCOPES
James Tucker
Week of 10-28-2011

Aries-March 21-April 19

You are a master when it comes to facing and handling life's challenges. Why? Because you are deep. You listen to and trust your inner visions. This deeper wisdom then has a way of getting around and infecting others with the simple truth. Now they are in harmony with your thinking. What a fantastic success you are.

Taurus-April 20-May 20

Two of the main reasons for your success are hard work and devotion to duties. Whether it is with family, or friends, you always sense what needs to be done and then you do it. You remain committed, calm and passionate. You are highly deserving of the rewards that come your way because of this great devotion.

Gemini-May 21-June 21

Ask universal wisdom to guide you. You will make wiser choices, less when you think from the lower will. You slip off the spiritual path when you begin to worry, have doubt, fear or indecision. It's your choice on which way you go. Surrender to the higher will and blessings and success are bound to follow.

Cancer-June 22-July 22

Priorities in life should be to first stay connected to the universe, then take care of the honor and dignity of your family. This is family heritage. A good name is our greatest treasure. Now focus on work. Make someone else happy. It makes you 10 times happier. The love in your heart now blesses everyone.

Leo-July 23-Aug. 22

Life continues to present challenges because of your active lifestyle. How you handle them is the key to success. Refuse to take on more than two or three projects at once. Finishing the old ones and reaping the rewards for the effort is the key. New challenges are always there for an action person like you, as needed.

Jazzman

"Life got in the way," Mr. Yowell said ruefully. He was drafted and served in the U.S. Navy for four years. After that he moved to Miami and played in some clubs there, but before he could break through to the big time, family matters called him back up north where he stayed.

He continued to seek out opportunities to perform at clubs in New Jersey, Manhattan, and Washington D.C. but he finally decided to get a "real" job and went to school to become a dental technician.

"That was my business for 45 years," he said. "I specialized in porcelain caps."

Ever inventive, he combined those dental skills with his love of music and created a line of miniature musical instrument sculptures designed to be worn as jewelry.

"I'd borrow the instruments from a music store and then scale them down by eye, believe it or not," he said. "The detail on each tiny piece is exquisite."

Later, he created another line of jewelry based on American Sign Language signs. He gave the first piece he made, the sign for 'I love you', to his sister Abbie who lost her hearing after contracting spinal meningitis at the age of three.

Mr. Yowell would still perform when he could on nights and weekends, but his dreams of becoming a jazz legend faded over time.

Eight years ago, Mr. Yowell and his wife Myra decided to retire to Ormond Beach.

"We love it here. We're in a great location," he said.

Their spacious condo on scenic John Anderson Drive is in close proximity to the museums and restaurants they visit regularly. Their balcony faces the Halifax River and presents Mr. Yowell with infinite subject matter for his photography, one of many hobbies. "Check this out," he said as he turned on his digital camera and showed off the brilliant red sunset he shot the previous night.

There's a small stage set up in the living room with a keyboard, various percussion instruments and his instrument of choice these days, a Yamaha WX11, an electronic wind controller.

"It's wonderful," he said. "It can sound like several different instruments and I don't have to worry about reeds." He plays a few bars to demonstrate each of the different sounds and it's clear that he's still got "it."

Mr. Yowell still performs when he has the opportunity. More often, however, he and Myra enjoy attending live music performances at local venues. "That's how we found Kenny," he said. "We heard him play at La Crepe en Haut. I invited him over to jam and we became friends. He was impressed that I'm still playing at the age of 88," he said laughing.

"And in spite of everything, I am—playing, laughing and

Podcasts give musicians deserved recognition

Pianist Kenny Mackenzie is a jazz musician and producer of Palm Coast Jazz, a series of podcasts featuring original compositions written and performed by Florida musicians, as well as interviews with those artists.

The Gers Yowell podcast is the second in his series. He also plans to do one on another Ormond Beach musician, Sid Blair, in the future.

"I feel there's a hotbed of jazz talent here in Florida, some of it untapped, and much of it unknown," Mr. Mackenzie said. "The initial thrust of the podcast was to expose these players and their compositions to the jazz fans here in Florida as well as worldwide (we get lots of listens & downloads in Ghana, Italy, Turkey, etc.) and basically connect some real good music to a hungry audience." These musicians don't get the attention they deserve, he said.

"I've met and befriended several jazz cats in their 80s, with incredible pasts and stories," Mr. Mackenzie said. "Most of them are still playing, but in the grand scheme of things have slipped into obscurity, and in some cases, have never gotten the fame they deserved."

Podcasting was a logical fix.

"I saw the podcast as a great way to rectify that, as well as to let people in their communities know about the legends in their midst, and finally, to get their music out to a nice broad audience," he said. "It's been an incredible experience for me, to be exposed to all this talent, young and old."

enjoying life." He gave Myra a hug. "She's my inspiration. There just aren't enough hours in the day for us to be together."

returns as host and emcee of the storied evening. Other notables include Scott Marlowe, author of "Cryptid Creatures of Florida," leading discussion of the Yeti, or Himalayan Bigfoot; Denise Stoner, Chief Investigator of Mutual UFO Network discusses UFO sightings and other aerial phenomena. Lobby attractions feature Barry Anderson, Hollywood makeup artist and sculpture designer for horror films; and Rob and Tracy Robinson, of "Wife Swap" fame - featured in the Bigfoot episode of the program. Broadcasting his Spookhunter's radio show live from the lobby will be Owen Sliter, America's Skeptical Ghost Hunter. This year, prizes will be given for best costume. Charlie Carlson, host of PBS' "Weird Florida: Roads Less Traveled" and star of Syfy's Curse of the Blair Witch brings with him years of experience in the paranormal genre. In addition to the featured speakers, the evening will include mediums, psychics and tarot readers as well as refreshments. A special Fright Night laser show will be ongoing in the museum's planetarium.

Kopy Kats Musical Revue returns

For Hometown News
Volnews@hometownnewsol.com

The 2011 Kopy Kats Musical Revue is coming to the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center Nov. 4, 5, and 6. The Kopy Kats dancers, a talented troupe of local performers, bring the excitement, glitter and glamour of Broadway to Ormond Beach. Included in the cast are a former Dallas Cowboys cheerleader and a former USO dancer and performer.

The Kopy Kats are a dedicated semi-professional group and they rehearse five days a week. The cast is led by Jerome Devito, international dance judge and choreographer, and the owner of South Beach Dance Academy. Fosse's "Bye, Bye Blackbird," "Big Doll House" from "Hairspray," "Millie," from "Thoroughly Modern Millie," and "Big Brass Band" from "Sweet Charity," are the anchor numbers of the show. Tickets for reserved seating are on sale now for $15. Show times are 7:30 p.m., Friday, Nov. 4; 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 5 and 2:30 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 6. Tickets are available by phone, or in person, at the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center Box Office, located at 399 N. U.S. Highway 1. The box office is open Tuesday through Friday from noon until 5 p.m., and two hours prior to all performances. For ticket purchases by phone, contact the box office at (386) 676-3375.

Martians come to playhouse!

For Hometown News
Volnews@hometownnewsol.com

What better time for a Martian invasion than Halloween weekend!

The Daytona Playhouse, under direction of Kathy Thompson, is recreating the Orson Welles/Howard Koch classic radio play "War of the Worlds," on stage, complete with a visit from the Andrews Sisters.

The original radio production, about aliens invading the earth, aired in 1938 and caused a panic because of its realistic "news bulletin" style.

While this production won't send audiences screaming into the streets in terror, it will be lots of fun and, maybe for some of our older residents, a trip down memory lane.

Patrons will be invited to be the radio studio audience as the actors project life into their characters through the airwaves. Performers include:

Dave Archard, Jerry Doty, Summer Foley, Ashley King, Jack Rose, Violet Stoll, Brian Schmidt, Larrie Tiffany, Sara Tomarelli and Terrence Van Auken.

An added treat is being able to watch the sound engineers, Donna Day

Rose and Chris Nestor, wrangle a wild assortment of gadgets (think: blenders, graters, cow bells, a box of kitty litter, and such) to produce special effects much in keeping with how it was done in the good ol' days!

Tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for 18 and under. Show times are 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 28 and Saturday, Oct. 29. There is a Sunday matinee at 2 p.m. on October 30.

For more information and to reserve your seat, call (386) 255-2431 or visit www.daytonaplayhouse.org.

Scopes

Virgo-Aug. 23-Sept. 22

It is important to make daily affirmations for all the good and blessings you have been given in life. Give thanks daily for all the love, health, abundance and joy. All this good is because of your own hard work and faith in the higher power. Continue to feel this and the universe will continue to bless it and send more.

Libra-Sept. 23-Oct. 22

You are happy most of the time because of your unconditional loving ways. You are highly spiritual. The universe is your home. You live each day like it is a special holiday. You believe in your heart about the goodness of all forms of life. This sense of oneness is what keeps you going. Thanks for inspiring all of us.

Scorpio-Oct. 23-Nov. 21

Remove any limitations you have placed on yourself and move on and up to new heights of achievement. This month is a time to honor yourself. Celebrate! Yeah! I have done it. Use these recent successes as stepping stones to build your life even higher. You are on the edge of giving birth to your greatest dreams.

Sagittarius-Nov. 22-Dec. 21

You have great inner strength, strong vision and a sweet nature. When you are happy, the glow radiates out and warms the hearts of everyone in your circle. This could be the main reason for all your success. Continue to find ways to increase the joy. You are happy as well as others. Now, all is well everywhere.

Capricorn-Dec. 22-Jan. 19

Keep your eye on the highest goal and refuse to let the world or others bring it down until you achieve it. You are a winner. Claim your higher good. Know in your heart that you are worthy to receive. Strong past efforts are ready to pay off and bring many rewards and blessings. Go for it. Life is good. So many blessings.

Aquarius-Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Your heart is like a deep well of creativity, continually flowing with inspirations, dreams and new ideas. Listening to and trusting this divine source for answers to life's challenges is the secret to your great success. The possibilities are endless. Spirit is the fuel that keeps the Aquarian fire going. Yours is strong.

Pisces-Feb. 19-March 20

You are at your best when you are centered, focused and relaxed. Now, all your inner tools are working. It drives type A, ego-based people crazy. Patience is the key. You don't have to be everywhere at once. Figure out a plan that keeps you focused and then delegate things you can't handle. Life will be better for it.

Have a starry week everyone.

•Exhibition Film Series: The Southeast Museum of Photography is showing "Red Desert (Il Deserto Rosso)" at 1:30 p.m., Friday, presented in celebration of Italian cinema inspired by the photographs of Douglas Kirkland, who completed a photographic homage to the greats of Italian film for Italian Vanity Fair by restaging iconic scenes from these landmark films. Contemporary Italian screen stars acted out the principal roles in Kirkland's restaged "stills." The movie will be shown at the Madorsky Theater, Daytona Campus, Daytona State College, Building 1200. Movie admission is by donation. For more information, call (386) 506-4475 or visit www.smponline.org.

SATURDAY, Oct. 29

•East Coast Paddle: On Oct. 29 discover the creepy creatures

lurking in the depths of Mosquito Lagoon on a paddleboarding adventure tour with East Coast Paddle. At sunset paddleboarders will embark on a quest paddling through New Smyrna's backwaters in search of local haunts. There will be plenty of tricks and treats as guides swap New Smyrna ghost stories and share candy. The best costume will win a discount on the next paddle tour. Costumes are welcome, but not required. The tour will launch from JB's Fish Camp in New Smyrna at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 29. To register call (407) 432-6332 or e-mail Cheryl@eastcoastpaddle.com.

•Green Halloween: This event is a national, non-profit, grassroots, community initiative striving to create healthier and more eco-friendly holidays starting with Halloween. Green Halloween of Daytona Beach's signature event is the Hallogreen. Hallogreen takes place on the last Saturday of October (Oct. 29 this year) from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on City Island in downtown Daytona Beach. For more information on Green Halloween and the Hallogreen event visit greenhalloween.org/daytona, call (386) 676-0011 or "Like" Green Halloween of Daytona Beach on Facebook.

•Plant sale: The Magnolia Garden Club will hold an indoor plant and garage sale from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., Oct. 29, at 837 N. Oleander Ave., Daytona Beach. All proceeds go toward community projects.

•Rockefeller Revisited: The Ormond Beach Department of Leisure Services will hold "Rockefeller Revisited" from 6 to 9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, at The Casements, 25 Riverside Drive. Last year was the first ever "Rockefeller Revisited" with an array of historical characters. Mr. and Mrs. Price, neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Bostrom and John D. Rockefeller's personal assistant Jean Harris, joined the party last year. Who knows who will show up this year? The characters will be in authentic costumes and will share stories of their times with "Neighbor John" as they anxiously await the party's beginning. There will also be candlelit tours of the Rockefeller mansion. Tickets are $4 per adult. Children are admitted free. A limited number of tickets are available. For more information or to purchase tickets, call (386) 676-3216.

•Halloween Fest: The Museum of Arts & Sciences will host a Family Halloween Fest at its Gamble Place property this Oct. 29, from 10 a.m. - 4 p.m. The event will feature live music and entertainment. Trick or treating will be offered for children - costumes optional. Admission to the event is free for museum members and $3 for non-members. Gamble Place is located at 1819 Taylor Road in Port Orange.

•Festival and haunted forest: A fall festival and haunted forest is being held from 5 to 10 p.m., Oct. 29, at the Southeast Volusia Family YMCA center, 148 W. Turgot Ave. Edgewater. Admission for this event is a donation of one non-perishable food item per person (no one will be turned away). The collected food will be distributed to area food banks under the national Trick or Treat so Kids Can Eat program. The fall festival will consist of a festival, trunk or treat and haunted forest. The festival and trunk or treat is designed for all age groups, and consists of games, costume contests and other children's activities. The Haunted Forest is designed for older children and adults, and consists of various sections exhibiting scary scenarios. The actors within the Haunted Forest will be New Smyrna Beach High School drama students.

•Halloween dinner dance: A Halloween dinner dance will be held at 5 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Port Orange Elks Lodge No. 2723, 5207 S. Ridgewood Ave., Port Orange. The event benefits the Elks National Foundation, which supports college scholarships, drug awareness events, children's activities and grants to local lodges. Members and their guests are being asked to come in costume. Prizes will be given for the "most" original costume, the most funny costume, and the "best" clown. Games will be played so that members will have a chance to win drink tickets. The $10 dinner consists of roast pork with stuffing, mashed potatoes, vegetable, salad, roll and pumpkin pie. Music will be provided by Tony Lee of "Starting Point." Tickets are available at the bar. For more information, call (386) 767-8572.

•Soccer shoot out: The Port Orange Elks Lodge "Soccer Shoot Out" has been rescheduled for Saturday, Oct. 29 at 9 a.m. due to poor weather earlier in the month. It will be held at the Port Orange City Center field. Four brackets of boys and girls are invited to play: 7 and under; ages 8 and 9; ages 10 and 11; and ages 12 and 13. Parents are asked to bring their child's birth certificate. Participants will be registered the day of the event. A luncheon will follow at the Elks Lodge immediately following and awards will be given out at that time. For more information, call (386) 788-9242.

•Elks soccer shootout: The Ormond Beach Elks Lodge 285 will hold its first ever soccer shoot out on Saturday, Oct. 29, at the Ormond Beach Soccer Club Field No. 3 at U.S. Highway 1 and Hull Road. The event begins at 9 a.m. and is open to all boys and girls in four age brackets. For more information or to register, e-mail pathubert@att.net or call (386) 677-6367.

•Harvestville: Tomoka United Methodist Church will hold its Harvestville from noon to 6 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, at 1000 Tomoka Road, Ormond Beach. Admission is $1 per person or an item of canned goods. There will be hay rides, petting zoo, castle jump, carnival games, leaf romp, pan for gold, food and music. Participants may enter to win an I-Pad. Trunk or treat will be held from 6 to 7:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 31, at the prayer garden. For more information, call (386) 672-6722.

•Haunted Hay Ride: The VFW Post 4250 will hold a haunted hay ride with food and games from 5 to 9 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 29, 2350 Sunset Drive, New Smyrna Beach. The ride is for children ages 14 and younger. Admission is free. Costumes are optional. For more information, call (386) 423-1789.

SUNDAY, Oct. 30

•Half marathon: The Central Florida Sports Commission will be holding the Daytona Beach Half Marathon 2011 on Sunday, Oct. 30. The Central Florida Sports Commission will have a 13.1 mile course that runs through the streets of Daytona Beach. The course will begin and end at the Daytona International Speedway. In between, runners will race through the city streets. More than 1,000 runners are expected for this race. The half marathon will start near the start/finish line at the Speedway at 6:30 a.m. The event should take approximately three and a half hours to run. All roads and intersections should be open no later than 11 a.m. Non-event related traffic is encouraged to use Interstate 95, Williamson Boulevard, Bill France Boulevard, or other alternate routes to avoid traffic delays. For additional information, visit www.daytonahalf.com.

•Trunk or treat: First United Methodist Church will hold a Trunk or Treat from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30, at 336 S. Halifax Drive. There will be pizza, popcorn, candy, inflatables and games. For more information, call (386) 677-3581.

•Fall festival: White Chapel Church of God will hold its fall festival from 5 to 7 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 30, at 1730 Ridgewood Ave., South Daytona. There will be inflatables, games, cake walk, chili cookoff, trunk or treat. Food, music and more.

•Halloween Spooktacular: Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University will host a fun-filled evening of trick-or-treating during Housing & Residence Life's annual Halloween Spooktacular Event, to be held on campus from 5-7 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 30. Hungry little ghosts and goblins can fill their bags and baskets with candy at McKay Hall. During the same time period, a carnival specially designed for children will be held in the same area of campus. The carnival will feature face painting, a fortuneteller, crafts, games, and light refreshments. The event is free and open to the public. ERAU students and staff will oversee the activities, but parents should accompany their children and provide them with a container to put their goodies in. The campus is located at 600 S. Clyde Morris Blvd. in Daytona Beach. Parking will be directed by campus safety officers at the main entrance to campus at the intersection of Clyde Morris Boulevard and Embry-Riddle Drive. For more information, call (386) 323-8000.

Banana and cranberry bread and fire prevention advice

Before the recipes, some important information. A TV report about a house fire caught my attention. The fire started in the kitchen, while the stove was not on and when nobody was home. A fireman said they had no idea yet what happened, but people should unplug some appliances, such as toasters, when not in use. Aha! Maybe now my kids will listen.

When I was a new mother living in our lovely apartment with everything new, I was bathing my 4-month-old son in the bathinet in his room. After laying him down I went to the kitchen to warm a bottle. While approaching the kitchen, I could feel heat and a terrible odor. The toaster was a flaming red and waves of heat were rising from it. In shock I quickly pulled the plug noticing that the paint on the underside of the cabinet was starting to bubble. Apparently, the spring broke and lowered the toasting mechanism on this new toaster. Thank God I was home or everything would have been gone. I have preached this over and over again and still they don't all listen. True story and believable.

Now another story, while true, will have you shaking your head, but remember, many of my stories have you doing that.

A few years later, while ironing, a salesman selling several products along with extension cords came to the door. When I said I didn't need anything he noticed I was using an extension cord.

"You do realize when using anything that produces heat you need a special heavy duty cord and you're using a cord that will help a lamp reach the outlet?"

"No problem," I said. "I've never had any trouble, thank you for stopping by."

I hope you're sitting down; within 15 minutes a flame shot out of the center of the cord and blew the circuit breakers. I pulled the cord and sat down in shock. By the way, it also burned a hole in my carpet; thankfully, it was a black-and-white tweed.

This week I will give you some delicious recipes. The banana-nut bread has been in my family for years. The other is from my cousin through marriage, Ermalina Turner. She had her own bakery and a baker with innovative ideas.

More breads to bake next week, wrap well and freeze for Christmas gifts. Enjoy!

BANANA NUT BREAD

You can cut the cholesterol in this recipe by using canola oil in place of the shortening and egg substitute for the eggs. This is a family favorite and unbeatable served with cream cheese.

- 2-1/2 cups flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2-teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs or equivalent amount of egg substitute
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2-cup melted butter, butter substitute or canola oil
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1-1/3 cups mashed bananas (about 3 medium bananas)
- 3/4-cup chopped walnuts or pecans (optional)

Sift dry ingredients together, set aside.

Using a strong electric mixer (batter is very stiff), beat eggs with sugar and butter.

Slowly add flour mixture, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla and bananas, mix well. Stir in chopped nuts.

Treat a loaf pan with cooking spray. Pour in batter. Bake in a 325-degree, preheated oven for about 1 hour or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean.

By dusting the nuts with flour first, they won't sink to the bottom.

CRANBERRY BREAD NIB

I have not tried the low-fat alternatives but I'm sure they will work.

- 1-1/2 cups cranberries, washed
- 1 cup sugar or 1/2-cup sugar and 1/2-cup Splenda
- 1 large egg
- 1 cup orange juice
- 2 tablespoons butter or butter substitute, melted

- 3 cups bread flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- Grated rind of 1 large orange
- 3/4-cups chopped nuts (optional)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Spray two loaf pans, set aside.

Coarsely chop cranberries in food processor. Remove from processor and mix with 1/4 cup sugar, set aside.

Mix the egg, orange juice and melted butter, set aside. Sift together flour, remaining sugar, baking powder, baking soda and salt. Stir in grated orange rind and chopped nuts that were mixed with a little flour and combine with cranberry mixture. Pour into prepared loaf pan and bake for 1 hour.

Enjoy panoramic views of the ocean, inlet, and inland waterways by the light of the full moon. Join the old lighthouse keeper as he leads you on your journey into the past and discover the unique history of this National Historic Landmark. Toast the setting sun with sparkling cider and hors d'oeuvres provided by Inlet Harbor Restaurant. This special event is limited to 25 participants. Tickets must be purchased in advance by calling (386) 761-1821, Ext. 10.

Daytona Beach Film Festival: Friday, Nov. 11, marks the opening of the ninth annual Daytona Beach Film Festival.

Three days of films, parties and events will be shown at the Cinematique Theater and the News-Journal Center. Cinematique of Daytona, celebrating its 20th year in the community, is the non-profit group behind the annual festival and Volusia county's only dedicated, year round art house cinema. In November of 2010, Cinematique opened the theater located at 242 S. Beach Street. A selection of about 20 feature films will be shown along with two shorts programs, and several opportunities to meet and mingle with the filmmakers, plus the annual student film competition. This year's All Festival Pass will also include the Halifax Food and Wine Festival, taking place on Saturday night of the film festival. Other festival highlights include: An afternoon with actor/author Peter Ford and a film composition workshop with nationally known, Daytona Beach native, composer Richard Gibbs. For more information, visit www.cinematique.org.

Thanksgiving Day Gifts. Participate in family activities and make Christmas ornaments that you can take home with you from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., Nov. 25, at the Ponce De Leon Inlet Lighthouse, 4931 S. Peninsula Drive, Ponce Inlet. Included with regular admission, no advance reservations required. For more information, call (386) 761-1821, Ext. 18.

IMAGES Tour of Homes: The IMAGES Tour of Homes presents seven homes in New Smyrna Beach festively decorated for the holidays by area florists. A boutique, featuring handmade gift items, is also open during the Tour, which runs from 9 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 3. Presented by Atlantic Center for the Arts, the tour benefits the 36th annual IMAGES: A Festival of the Arts in January. The IMAGES Tour of Homes Boutique features refreshments and items created by the artists from the ACA Volunteer League. It is held at the Whatmore Commons at Atlantic Center for the Arts, 1414 Art Center Ave, New Smyrna Beach, just north of the municipal airport off U.S. 1. Items for sale include handmade purses, shell angels, hand painted aprons, tablecloths and napkins; painted bowls, earrings, hypertufa, key ring bracelets, T-shirt bags, button dolls, embellished glasses and embellished paper bags. League members will continue working on new items right up until the tour. Tickets for the IMAGES Tour of Homes and Boutique are $20 each. Tickets will be available at the Images office, 214 S. Riverside Drive and Atlantic Center for the Arts, 1414 Arts Center Ave., both in New Smyrna Beach. # Art Notes

Art Guild works on display

The Ormond Beach Art Guild will be displaying their art works at the Ormond Regional Library during the month of November.

The art is a collection of watercolors, oils, acrylics and pastels done by the members of the Art Guild.

Closing reception slated

The Rose Room Gallery will hold a closing reception for the exhibit "Permutations of Personas" from 5 to 7 p.m., Friday, Oct. 28, at the Peabody Auditorium, 600 Auditorium Blvd., Daytona Beach. The reception is open to the public at no charge. Visitors are asked to enter through the Wild Olive Avenue patio gates.

The works in Permutations of Personas deal with political statements, hopes, dreams, faith and strength. It's a mixture of strong personal opinions by four Palm Coast artists: Peter A. Cerreta, Diana Gilson, Richard Schreiner and J.J. Graham.

The exhibit runs through Oct. 31.

The Rose Room Gallery is open 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Monday to Friday. The gallery is closed Saturday and Sunday at this time. There is no fee to visit the gallery and it is wheelchair accessible.

'Unnamed storm' may take away our good fishing

Oh well, we had a pretty good run.

Fishing in the northern Halifax River had been back to normal for most of nine months after more than a year of dealing with the brown swamp water and lack of fish brought on by the downpours of mid December in 2009.

As I have reported many times, the flow of the Halifax was slowed by bridge construction and other thoughtless acts of man. So, with the slow tidal flow the polluted run-off could not make it out into the Atlantic where it can disperse. To see this phenomenon in action, if you are near Ponce Inlet on an outgoing tide, watch as the brown water approaches but only a small amount manages to escape while the incoming tide pushes it back north from where it came.

The "unnamed storm" of

FISHING WITH DAN
DAN SMITH

Oct. 8 and 9 has started that cycle once more. Let's see this time how long it takes before a strong north wind combines with the right tide to push it out of the inlet.

After watching the wind blow the palm fronds about for days I was antsy to get on the water. As soon as a partial calm set in I was out the door. The water had definitely changed but was not yet as bad as it will become once all of the rainwater makes it into the river. One rule that seems to be a constant is that for the first two or three weeks after a big rain the fishing is great. Then, on a given signal all of the fish leave and the river becomes almost barren.

On this morning my very first cast brought in a nice 11 spot red of 19 inches. Good start. Trout were hitting all around me and I hooked two good ones without landing either. They don't bear the moniker "weakfish" for nothing. That name refers to their extremely soft mouth. If you are lucky enough to get into spotted sea trout expect to lose a few. Finally I got on a roll and bam, bam, bam! I had three trout in rapid succession. That bite ended early as it has for the past couple months. After the trout quit biting I began to miss flounder. Two small ones managed to swim about with my jig and then escape without ever having been hooked. Then just as I was about to lift my bait from the water for another cast—POW! A really big flounder hit only a rod's length from me. It's always hard to land a big fish that bites right at the boat or at the end of your rod so I knew I had my work cut out for me. I quickly loosened my already loose drag and held on. The flounder did its best snook impression and made a long run for deep water. I could tell it was a doormat by the slick circular footprints it was leaving on the surface. "That's either a big flounder or a small manatee," I smiled.

Knowing full well that flounder are expert escape artists I soon realized this fight was lasting much too long for the odds to be in my favor. Finally, I did land it and when I looked into that cavern of a mouth the hood was way back and into the top of its throat. When I loosed the tension it just fell out. The barb was never in the fish. Any slack created by me or it would have lost my prize. Just a shade under 24 inches, it may have been the largest one in my premier flounder year of 2011.

Remember, if the Halifax does get overly polluted, and the fish leave, go to areas less affected like the creeks and the Tomoka River. You lucky souls who fish the Indian River on a regular basis won't have to worry either. So far the fingers of progress have not managed to bottle up that river. If things turn for the worse up here, watch for me there.
